That would be a good way to determine whether high school fellows really work wholeheartedly for their school and their friends. And in this case the person to ask is Mrs. Evelyn Hall, the gay, likeable stage supervisor and teacher of world geography at West High School.

Mrs. Hall, who completed her fifth year at the local school on Feb. 1, enjoys working with the boys and the seniors most because she thinks that "they need the most attention." There is no doubt as to whether the boys like working for their stage manager either. During the hour in which your reporter talked with her, she was hostess to at least three or four former pupils and had to take time out to instruct some of her present students who were "waiting" to be given work to do.

This popular lady has been associated with the stage in one manner or another for quite some time. She first went on it while still a child but her next tour was with a Russian ballet which performed both in America and Europe. Her third visit found her studying dancing in Paris, France, where she later became head of the Trocadero School of Dancing. While in France she spent two years with a French comedy troupe and a season with an opera ballet.

Mrs. Hall's next venture was with the Russian government, for whom she worked while in Leningrad, Russia. Madrid, Spain, was the site of her next position, where she helped to organize and modernize the systems in two schools, the Escuela Internacional and the Escuela Plurilingue. However, a revolution broke out in Spain and suddenly after being bombed and her life endangered, the local lady returned to the United States. The year was 1937.

Had Own Studios

Now living at 72 S. Oakley-av, Mrs. Hall has worked with Raymond Duncan, well known in dancing groups, and has maintained her own studios at various times where she taught rhythmic dance and drama in dance form.

When completing work for her master's degree at the Colorado College of Education, the school accepted plays she had written and produced instead of having her prepare a thesis.

The position of school teacher is no easy job, as any teacher will verify, due to the extracurricular duties expected of them. In the instance of the West High stage manager there are even more responsibilities to be met. For even though her free periods and early morning hours are spent with her loyal stage hands there are many evenings when all of them must return to the scene of their work in order to prepare backdrops, props and other essentials for coming productions.

The local teacher, besides being an ardent cultivator of flowers during the warmer months, is also very fond of animals. For instance there have been many times when the prop room became shelter for an injured or lost dog, for an afternoon or evening. The boys always know where they can provide a haven for an injured pet until aid arrives.

During the summer months Mrs. Hall usually drives to Colorado where her mother lives. There she is active in the "Little Theatre of the Rockies," another of the little theater groups. She didn't say so in "so many words" but the general impression is that there she is again at home in all of the play and production surroundings and it no doubt is one of the things to which she looks forward with the greatest pleasure.

Mrs. Hall first met her husband in the United States, then while in Russia they met again. It was not until their return to this country, however, that they were married. "I really didn't pay a whole lot of attention to him for a while," she confided with a merry smile. But rate must have been on the job, for now he no doubt receives his share of attention from a wife who "just loves her teaching."

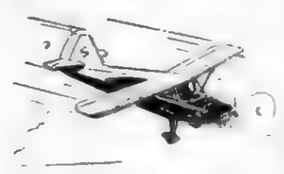
March To Church

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club has a church-going slogan that is worthy of imitation not only in March but during the other 11 months of the year. It is "March To Church In March."

Many churches are feeling the effects of irregular church attendance that so often characterizes prosperous times. People get lazy and indifferent concerning supporting their church until a personal or family need develops. It is then that they appreciate what their church has been offering them all along.



Particularly during this Lenten season, join the Kiwanis movement of more regular church attendance at the church of your choice.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

It would be but a false sense of modesty that would keep me from feeling proud of the recent designation your newspaper has bestowed upon me.

In keeping with the objectives of the orchestra being allowed to participate in as wholesome a civic project as the promotion of your YMCA branch is adequate reward for any efforts we may have exerted, nevertheless the generous thoughtfulness of yourself and the Rosebud Floral Company resulted in making me genuinely happy.

May I close by indicating that I am fully aware of the fact that the part played by the corps of musicians and the administrative personnel of the orchestra was largely responsible for this most gratifying action on your part.

Gratefully,
Victor Voeller

To the Editor:

"If The Shoe Fits"

An answer to Mrs. Ophera Starcher's letter of March 11th.

Dear Madam:

First let me introduce myself, and tell you why I feel qualified to answer your letter. My name is Maxine Francis (Mrs. Richard Francis). It was my husband who founded the Booster Club and had the honor of being the president for two years. I am the mother of three children, who all attend Sunday School and church every Sunday unless sick in bed. I also attend faithfully, as would my husband if our living did not depend on his job, which unfortunately demands his presence seven nights a week, Sundays holidays and Wednesday. So I do feel justified in speaking in behalf of the men whom you seem to feel are being detrimental to the community.

Rest assured that we do agree on one important fact—that God and the Church should and must come first in everyone's life if we are to become the Christians Jesus wished us to be. I know that from the facts you have before you, you are sincere in your accusations. However, Mrs. Starcher, this being a democracy and all parties accused of wrong doing stand not guilty unless proven otherwise, and without concrete evidence, it is best not to become an accuser. Also why hedge around the bush Mrs. Starcher? Don't be afraid to name the culprits. Or do you believe in the old adage ("If the shoe fits")? Perhaps it does in this case, but we find it is several sizes too big. I will tell you why.

When the Boosters was first organized it was for the sole purpose of helping to combat juvenile delinquency, by bringing fathers and sons closer together on a common meeting ground through the athletic activities of the school. I am sure you feel as many of us do, that church work can be carried on and must be carried on everywhere, not just in the church proper. By bringing the parents of the boys and girls into closer association with the activities their children are participating in, the Boosters hoped to weld a closer bond between parents and children; to bring a feeling of importance to all participants in the games, not just a few headliners.

However, in trying to improve upon and purchase new equipment for the West High Athletic Field, it became necessary to raise money. Several things were tried but for the program laid out before them their financial fund had to grow quickly. After careful survey of not just the city Booster Clubs, but of the state's Booster organizations, they found that huge paper drives, although hard and tedious work, were the most satisfactory way of accomplishing what they wanted. The West High Boosters having many members on their board who are church officers and members of good standing in the churches of the Hilltop, were faced with the problems of how to have a paper drive on Sundays without keeping anyone away from the church, especially the boys and girls who would help.

M. E Sensenbrenner, whom we all know and respect as an outstanding worker for Christ, accepted the position of chairman of the drives when my husband, Richard Francis, explained to him their problem. Not like other Booster Clubs in the city which started their drives at 9:30 a. m. West High Boosters started at 11:00 and 12:00 a. m. This was done so all boys and girls helping on the drive might first attend Sunday School. Not only this but a personal plea was made before the entire student body by Mr. Sensenbrenner that all who helped please attend their Sunday School or church before coming to the school. This request was made twice before each paper drive.

You mentioned in your letter that Wednesdays could be used as a day for paper drives. My dear lady, the trucks used on these drives are donated by up town firms which do not close on Wednesdays and most of the men who help are employed by firms which do not let their employees off for a mere paper drive. Besides the paper company will not accept paper after a certain hour on Sundays. The Boosters even quit dealing with one company over this matter because that company demanded they start their paper drive earlier on Sundays. They sold their paper at a loss rather than be responsible for anybody using the paper drive for non-attendance of church. I am glad to say the paper company saw the light and again has accepted their terms.

In your letter you asked which is more important the day set aside by God or man? There is no doubt as to that answer. But Christ did not wait for the people to come to Him. He went among the heathen and untaught. He worked with them, ate with them and slept with them. They were His Brethren. Many of the children here on the Hilltop have never been to Sunday School, nor have their parents attended in the past years. Is it too much to hope that by associating with others who are church members and Sunday School teachers, in doing something for their community, that those who have neglected their spiritual training might not be induced to come into some church? Surely we cannot be condemned of doing wrong in trying in our way to make this possible. Jack Sensenbrenner is a wonderful teacher in Hoge Memorial and the Boosters are proud of his work on their behalf, as they are proud of all their members who are associated with the church. As for the food concessions, they don't open until noon. And on the last paper drive the committee serving the refreshments were all faithful Sunday School members or teachers. I am sure they felt quite able to face their Lord when they said their prayers that night without having guilty consciences, because they contributed to a paper drive.

As to the D-5 permits you mentioned, I assure you there isn't an active member of the Boosters who doesn't feel as you do and would be glad if liquor was unattainable for their children. But neither they nor the Kiwanis have as much influence over what business establishments can sell on their premises as they would like to have. So the next best thing is to make other places more attractive to their boys and girls. Next to the activities of the church, nowhere will you find a more common meeting place than the schools. Our Catholic friends realize this better than we do, I am afraid; for if you look around you at a game, whether baseball, football or basketball, swimming, etc., you will see not one but many priests. They are proud of their boys' or girls' capabilities and are not afraid to show it. They have one on us there. Because seldom is there a Protestant minister on hand to pat the boys on the back or say a prayer with them in the dressing rooms as they go out on their field of battle. Here I feel we are falling down on the job. If the mountain will not come to us, then we must go to the mountain as Christ so often did in his teachings. He fished with the fishermen and when He left them they were His. He held the children on his knee and played their games with them. The parents followed their children. If our ministers would cease being so stiff-necked and afraid of criticism, I feel sure many more boys and girls could be won to Christ. My every prayer is that this may be done before it is too late. Because only through bringing the church and Christ into every home will the world be at peace.

I sincerely hope I have not offended you by my frank discussion of this problem close to all our hearts. But I did feel called upon to stand in defense of those wrongly accused, and I do hope you will feel more lenient toward those organizations that are trying to do a good and commendable deed. May I add, all money received for these paper drives is contributed to the betterment of athletic equipment of all kinds for both girls and boys. Also I would like to say in closing, Mrs. Starcher, membership is open to ladies in the Booster Club and they would be only too glad of your co-operation in any way. At any time you are welcome to come to their meetings and stand before them and speak your mind. For, after all, we can all benefit from criticism of a constructive nature.

Sincerely,
Maxine Francis

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HILL TOPICS By PW

Fellow Hilltoppers. The time for action is now.

I am announcing herewith and for the first time the formation of my new EXCLUSIVE organization to be known as the Djac's. Originally I had planned to start my membership campaign at a time that would not conflict with the Red Cross, the Hilltop YMCA or other worthwhile drives, but I am convinced that the need for my organization is so desperate that delay might be catastrophic.

The thing that prompted such haste in launching this long-needed type of institution was an incident that happened last week, to wit:

Jack Sensenbrenner, the Hilltop's most effective ticket seller, was lunching in at Helen's Sandwich Shop and selling a ticket to something or other to almost everyone who came in.

Who should walk in just then but genial Dr. R. J. Miller.

"Give me a buck, Doc," was Sensenbrenner's greeting.

The always-obliging Dr. Miller reached in his pocket and handed over the likeness of our first president. "By the way, what's this for?" queried the donor.

"Your tickets to the Kiwanis Basketball Game," was the reply.

"Gimme back my buck," roared Doc, "I got a whole pocket full of 'em."

That's a true story and no doubt has been duplicated more than once in the past. There are so many people selling tickets to so many things that you have to label your salesmen any more to keep 'em from selling tickets to each other.

This experience was related to me little more than two weeks ago. A loyal Hilltopper started out to sell tickets to the Civic Orchestra Concert. He sold $12 worth of tickets and in return he had to purchase four of his own pocket) $7 worth of tickets and chances on this and that.

How does Djac solve this complicated social problem?

Well, it's all quite simple. Djac (which doesn't make any more sense when spelled backward) stands for Don't Join Anything Club. As I said before, it's an exclusive club that everyone can join. In fact I don't know any organization that requires less red tape to join. All you have to do is NOT send in an application for membership. All persons failing to do this, automatically become members and are eligible for all the rights and privileges to be enjoyed.

Djac is non-incorporated, non-political, non-sectarian, non-profit and and non-sensical. There are no dues to pay so you can never become a delinquent member. There are to be no meetings, so you won't have to sit through long uninteresting speeches and eat unappetizing meals. Entertainments, concerts, etc., are taboo so you will never have to buy tickets to anything or lose friends by trying to peddle unwanted ducats every time you go out in public. There will be no committees so you won't lose time from your work and run the risk of being canned because of the time you spend promoting good old Djac.

Djac will have no elected officers so all members can remain on speaking terms with each other throughout the year.

Djac provides more leisure time for its members, keeps families together more, reduces the divorce rate, etc. (I'll probably think of more benefits to be enjoyed by Djac members as the membership roll continues to mount.)

There's only one obligation asked of prospective members: DON'T JOIN ANYTHING. Anyone found to violate this condition will be immediately and everlastingly dropped from the membership.

So DON'T swamp me with letters next week if you want to become a member of Djac's. You're all eligible.

With spring just around the corner the homemakers' thoughts turn to thoughts of—you're right—thoughts of spring cleaning!

Now is the time to plan ahead: you can help yourself and others too by making your appointment with Goodwill Industries. Just call AD. 3944 and arrange to have a Goodwill truck collect your useable clothing, furniture, newspapers and magazines. The handicapped employed and trained at Goodwill Industries depend on the homemakers of Columbus and Franklin County for "Not Charity, but a Chance!" The quality of your furniture and clothing means a lot, for the weekly wage of the Goodwill employee depends on how many useable articles he can produce from day to day. New officers of the Girl Scout Junior Planning Board are shown in this picture by J. Curtis Allen. The girls were interviewed recently over WCOL by Mrs. Jip Huston on the "Listen Ladies" program.

You Just Can't Win

One day last Spring, the sun was sunning, the buds were budding, and I was eyeing the glamours of pretty Miss Nature. Something had to happen—and it did. A thought came to roost on my furrowed brow. "Hellow!" it said, "I don't believe we've ever met. I'm a good intention, who are you?"

Wilson

Knowing what an intoxicant Spring air can be, I ignored the little voice and continued my walk homeward. "I say, I'm a good intention," the voice persisted, "and I'm not long on patience. Either show me a little respect, or I'll leave!"

"Wha-er, YESSIR!" I said, taken aback by the sharp baritone. "What can I do for you?"

"You can change your habit pattern, that's what you can do," the thought retorted. "Every evening, you go home, mumble 'hello' to your wife, ask for the supper menu and then ignore her the rest of the evening. That's no way to act. You should DO something. Be a little helpful. Show the girl you really care."

I gave it careful consideration and decided that the thought was right. I had been a bit neglectful, of late and I'd have to do something about it. So I hurried home, exhilarated with my "good intention."

After supper I jumped into my old clothes, went back to the kitchen, and pushed my wife away from the sink. Then I washed the dishes. After that, I mopped the kitchen floor, then I went after the woodwork—then the windows—and the refrigerator. Next, I straightened my clothes in the closet and my shirts in the chest-of-drawers. I remembered that the screen-door needed hanging, so I did that and, feeling still a little energy left, I put up the window-screens—well, two of them, anyway. Besides, it was late by that time, so I figured I'd go hear what the little woman had to say about her new Super-husband.

For several minutes she didn't say anything, just sat there looking at an upside-down magazine. I thought she was simply being coy. Pretty soon, I told myself, she'll bounce in and cover my face with grateful kisses. But she didn't bounce.

"Whatsamatter, I heard you going like an express to get started here."

"Hmmph!" she pouted. "And is the first you've noticed me all evening."

BOY SCOUTS
IN THE Southwest District

Scout Commissioners Hold Monthly Meet

The monthly Southwest District commissioners' meeting was held March 10 at the home of Ted Webb, 29 N. Oakley-av.

The meeting was opened by District Commissioner McCready. Reports were received on troops in the district. Commissioner Barbee announced that a meeting is to be held at the council office at 7:30, March 19, to discuss plans for the forthcoming Scout-O-Ral. All scoutmasters and troop committeemen are urged to attend this meeting. Commissioner Howells reported that the cub packs would hold their rally at West High School Gym April 6.

A new explorer post was reported at Hoge Memorial Church, S. Eureka-av; also a new cub pack is being started at St. Aloysius Church.

Field Executive Cliff Matthews and Commander Harry E. Crawford held a charter review for the instruction period. This was a very interesting review as it acquainted the commissioners with the outline of troop activities and how reports to the sponsoring institutions should be made.

Matthews stated that a scoutmasters' training course will be started in May. This will be a beginners' course. All Southwest District scouters are invited to attend. Many problems in troop leadership will be ironed out, so bring your problems along with you.

A general discussion of the relationship of cubbing and Boy Scouts was held. Many fine points were brought out. The district staff is very anxious that these two programs be tied closer together. This can be done by scout troops furnishing more Boy Scouts to serve as den chiefs, also scoutmasters visiting cub packs and catching these cubs when they graduate. It was reported that only one out of every 15 boys in cubbing enters scouting. Another fine point brought up was that there is not enough parental backing in the scouting program. Scouting needs more parents to work with the boys. Our aim is to help to tie the home and scouting closer together.

Ted Webb then showed the entertainment by showing movies of the senior units in action at camp and at home. General discussion was held over coffee and doughnuts.

The next meeting place will be announced later in this column. We urge all men interested in this grand and exciting movement of scouting to contact any of the commissioners' staff and come out to the next meeting.

Those present were Jack Sensenbrenner, C. Matthews, J. McCready, H. Eisle, T. Howells, H. E. Crawford, H. Rolwey, R. Morrison, V. A. Barbee, T. Webb, W. W. Weatherman and W Davis.

Native Son Studies Ohio

BAND LEADER VAUGHN MONROE pauses between shows in Columbus long enough to catch up on the history of his native State. He is shown here with Madelyn Russell, vocalists with his band; and John R. Advent, executive secretary of the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission. The book has just been published by that commission and is free to anyone interested in the many interesting historical spots in Ohio.

Biggest Yet!

What you read and hear may make you think in terms of a push-button rocket weapons in event of another war, but nevertheless, newer and deadlier models of the same old guns are being developed. This is a pair of Navy's new six-inch, rapid-fire anti-aircraft guns, biggest yet, under test at Dahlgren, Va. They're for warships. Note comparative size of men at left.

Cars of Tomorrow By the Boys of Today

The two top winners in the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild model car competition, James Mariol, 15, (left) of Canton, O., and Charles Jordan, 19, of Cambridge, Mass., study their futuristic car designs against a background of the city of the future. University scholarships worth $1,000 each went to the boys, who designed and built the cars on the extreme left. The other cars earned $2,000 scholarships for Donald Stumpf of Buffalo, N. Y., and Philip Rauth of York, Nebr. Jordan will use his scholarship to continue his studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

His Majesty's Court: The Nursery

A man's home may be his castle, but the indisputable lord of the manor will be the inhabitant of the room shown above. Because of his importance, the junior member of the family deserves a setting befitting his superior station.

Teddy bears, puppies, and kittens romp across the wall paper of this nursery and give the young man of the house an opportunity to get acquainted with these animal favorites. However, the wall paper background is in soft pastels to insure a restful atmosphere and will not keep his nibs awake during his afternoon nap.

The same muted shades are carried out for the furniture and accessories. This is a practical room, too — there is ample space for a good sized chest, a high chair — well-padded for comfort, and a play-sized contrivance to hold small coats and bonnets.

Modern Poetry

By Esther Weakley

THE BRAVE GO ON

"The brave go on!" Such little words they are
But they are winged sandals for my feet,
And for my hand a shining scimitar
With which to slay the obstacles I meet!
I bind the sandals on, and think how stout
And beautiful they are, though they are plain;
And struggling with discouragement and doubt,
I find the hard-fought conflict not in vain.

"The brave go on!" Perhaps they catch the gleam
Of radiance from the Cross of Him Who overcame
He seemed destroyed. His mission but a dream—
Betrayed by faithless friend—O act of shame!
Yet even death could not His saving purpose slay;
The grave was impotent to quench the love He bore,
Even for those who slew Him, and today
The vanquished find in Him fresh courage to explore,
And to surmount, the barriers which make rough life's way.

RETURN.

Now moves the slow crescendo of our days
Between the lull of parting and the blaze
Of song which is return. Oh I have heard
As from the spirit's immemorial bird
A far-off music—and a far-off song
More delicate than flutes grows trumpet-strong.
Time's walls fall down, and you are everywhere—
One with the sound of glory in the air.

THE ENDLESS SYMPHONY

Such fragile songs are those I sing
They will not last another spring;
So faint the music in my mind
Tomorrow I may only find
An echo of a melody.

But still the endless symphony
Of muted seas will stir the breast
Of earth herself, and all the rest
Of mankind will awake to hear
That muffled music in its ear.
The wind will blow a thin refrain
Upon the slender reeds of rain,
And snow along a hemlock bough
Will sift with singing, then as now.

Oh, why should I attempt to be
Her instrument of melody
When Beauty has, herself, a voice
To make eternity rejoice.

Minstrel Ticket Sale Progresses Smoothly

Last Wednesday at noon a line of about 40 persons assembled in front of the Lowell Sullivan Insurance office to get their tickets for the Hilltop Minstrel. This was a much smaller line than in previous years and soon the entire crowd was disposed of and everyone had tickets for the show.

This is no indication that the show has lost any of its previous popularity, however. In previous years the tickets have been held until the Saturday before the first performance and as a result everyone rushed down and stood in line for hours to get tickets. This year the tickets were placed on sale two weeks in advance of show time and every seat in the house is being reserved. As a result, people have not been so hysterical about purchasing the tickets but all the while there has been a steady sale of them and even today some good seats are yet available.

We believe the public has been appreciative of this new method of handling the ticket sale.

Don't Damage The Lawns

It's that season when people have a right to complain when the newsboy or bill passer cuts across the lawn.

Right now, following a long hard winter, lawns are soft and considerable damage can be caused by such persons or playing children.

Everyone enjoys bright green lawns when summer comes. Why not make it a point to protect them now so we can all enjoy them in a few more weeks.

A "Human Interest" Episode

When Harvey W. Morley, editor of the Angola, Indiana, Herald, stated, half seriously, that all men and many women have many seldom, if ever, worn neckties, he mentioned a well realized fact. But when he suggested that they be sent to Europe to "doll up" men's drab suits, the newest being five years or more old, because 24 ration stamps a year did not permit purchasing new ones, what with 9 being required for a pair of shoes, 7 for a shirt, and so on, while 26 were required for a new suit, he really touched off America.

Thousands of cravats have been sent to him from all over America. Hundreds of newspapers, columnists, radio and movie stars, magazines of national circulation have publicized the so-called "Morley Plan." It was not a plan at all, it just grew, like Topsy. Grateful letters from overseas, commenting, not soliciting, coming mostly from newspaper folks and school teachers, took all of the humor out of the campaign. So kindly folks from coast to coast and border to border are sending to Angola, Indiana, to Harvey W. Morley, surplus neckties.

Plans are taking shape to take them ALL to Europe for distribution by a recognized agency. The campaign will continue until April. It is such a little thing for us to do, it means so much to folks who are worse off than we are that we should all get our names on the roll.

Plenty Of Good Seats Are Available For Hilltop Minstrel To Open Wed.

There are still plenty of good seats available for each night of the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel, the committee announced this week. The show will be held at West High School auditorium on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, March 31 and April 1-2

All seats are reserved this year and are priced at 85c each. Tickets may be purchased now at the Lowell Sullivan Insurance Office, 2211 W. Broad-st, at Clarendon-av.

When tickets went on sale last week about 40 persons were in line to get choice seats but they were soon taken care of and since that time there has been a steady sale of tickets each day. The committee has been well pleased and the public has expressed approval of this method of handling the tickets, thus cutting down on the heavy demand that attended the sale of the ducats in previous years when they were placed on sale so close to the actual show dates.

The ticket office will continue to be open daily until 6 p. m.

Finishing touches were being put on the show this week by C. Carlton Hartley, director, and Clark Eberle, chorus director. A western theme has been adopted this year and reports are that the show will stack up with any of the past 18 years.

Dress rehearsal is scheduled for 7 p. m. at West High Monday evening. Only members of the cast will be admitted.

Curtain time each evening is promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Tickets are now available for the party to be given following the Friday night performance to be held in the school cafeteria. Each member of the cast will be a guest. Friends may purchase tickets at 60c each, from Goodwin's Pharmacy, Campbell's Pharmacy, Jerry Watson Market or The Hilltop Record.

Garden Project Will Continue Again This Year

The Westgate Gardening Project will be carried on as usual this year.

The 90 plots which are located on a school site owned by the Columbus Board of Education, were first cultivated during the war years as victory gardens.

C. F. Dresbach, 315 S. Westgate-av, is the president of the group of gardeners while John Rohr, 255 Binns-blvd, is secretary-treasurer.

According to Rohr there are only 10 lots which have not as yet been spoken for and the group has a waiting list of 10 or 12.

The lots, which are in a tract of land bounded by Westgate-av, Fremont-st, Huron-av and Wicklow-rd, are approximately 35 by 120 feet.

Anyone desiring further information in regard to the gardening plots may call Mr. Rohr at RA. 4763 in the evening.

MISSIONARY GROUP PLANS BAKE SALE SATURDAY

The Women's Missionary Association of the Edgewood Chapel United Brethren Church will hold a bake sale on Saturday, March 27, at Sharon's Confectionery, located at 2284 Sullivant-av. Home made cakes, pies, cookies, and rolls will be sold, all during the day.

6 Days Until '48 Tags Are Needed

If you are among the many who have not yet purchased thore 1948 license plates for your car, this is a reminder that there are only six more days left to get them without running the risk of running afoul of the law.

The Hilltop's permanent license headquarters is now open each evening until 9 o'clock to take care of the anticipated "last minute" rush. The plates are on sale daily at Robinson Electric Store, 2403 W. Broad-st (corner of Wayne-av).

Russell Henry, deputy registrar, in charge of the license sale for the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, said this week that the sale had been moving along steadily but that a big rush is expected from here on until the end of the month. Wednesday is the last day the 1947 plates can be displayed legally.

Hearing Is Set In Biltmore D-5 Application

A public hearing will be held at Room 209, Liquor Control Building, 33 N. Fourth-st, on April 2 on the D-5 application of the Biltmore Restaurant, 2414 W. Broad-st. The hearing is set for 10 a. m.

Representatives of 3 churches within a 500-foot radius of the restaurant have been notified of the hearing. Pastors of all three of these churches have filed formal protests to the granting of the night club permit.

To further strengthen their position in the matter, petitions were circulated in 13 local churches Sunday protesting the issuance of the liquor permit. A spokesman for the church group opposing the license said that approximately 1,000 signatures have been obtained.

Hoge Memorial Presbyterian, Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran and Hillcrest Baptist Church are all within the 500-foot radius of the restaurant

The hearing was first set for March 26 but was changed when it was discovered that it was Good Friday, a religious holiday.

Millinery Shop Owner Dies Here Friday

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Minnette Harbaugh Wagnitz, 69, of 16 S. Wayne-av, who died in St. Francis Hospital Friday. The body was taken from the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home Monday morning for burial in Lancaster.

New Church Home Started This Week

Ground was broken this week for a new $25,000 church to be erected on the bluff overlooking West Broad Street at the intersection of Demorest-rd. It will be the home of the West Broad Street Church of Christ.

At the present time and since its formation two years ago, the church has been held in the headquarters of Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, at W. Broad-st and Burgess-av.

The new building will be of the tabernacle type with an auditorium seating 320. It will be a brick one-floor structure facing Demorest-rd. The foundation will be 50 by 75. In addition to the worship auditorium, there will be four classrooms.

The church will be located on a tract of ground with 90 foot frontage on Broad-st with a depth of approximately 130 feet.

William Cunningham is the contractor. He estimates that the building will be completed in three months.

H. G. Allen, 162 N. Ogden-av, and Gale Reeder, 617 Townsend-av, are heading the building committee for the church. At present the congregation does not have a regular pastor.

Many local churches were filled to capacity already Sunday at the annual observance of Palm Sunday. Several churches will hold identical worship services at different hours next Sunday to accommodate worshippers.

Two Union Good Friday services will be held on the Hilltop tomorrow. Churches affiliated with the Hilltop Ministerial Association will hold their service at the Glenwood Methodist Church, 64 S. Highland-av, starting at 1 o'clock. Five West Side and Hilltop Lutheran churches will conduct a three hour service at the Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran Church at the corner of W. The Hilltop YMCA - - -

"Of The Hilltop, By The Hilltop, For The Hilltop"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles pertaining to the operation of the Hilltop YMCA.

Q. When do you anticipate the program will get started?

A. A secretary has been hired and will be on the job by May 1, at which time he will start organizing various activities.

Q. Where will the "Y" headquarters be located?

A. Offices for the organization will be set up in the building now occupied by the Hilltop Teen Canteen at Burgess and Broad-st.

Q. Will the Hilltop Teen Canteen be discontinued?

A. Definitely not. The new "Y" secretary will continue to operate the canteen program along the line of self government by the members of the Teen Club. His training and background should provide a well rounded program.

Q. In comparing the Hilltop YMCA with the South Side "Y" please give some idea as to what services were rendered by the South Side "Y" last year and how many participated.

A. Last year there were 104,745 who participated in all events at the South Side "Y". This was spread over a total of 3,911 members and numerous people who were not members. The "Y" worked with 178 different clubs and groups, operated 140 teams, had seven special interest groups, had 40 church groups, 20 school groups, 10 community groups, 168 volunteer workers, held 438 conferences with leaders, churches agencies, sponsored 286 games and sports events and held 60 religious and worship programs.

Q. Give a statement regarding the relationship of the Hilltop "Y" Board with that of the Central "Y".

A. The branch will operate within the policy of the YMCA, with regard to balanced budget, professional personnel, quality of program service, cooperation relationships, etc.

The branch board has great freedom of function and action within the framework of the constitution. The Hilltop branch board represents the leadership of this community. It will be alert in matters of determining policy as to what facilities should be used and by whom. It would naturally want to set a standard consistent with the ideals of the YMCA and the best environment which one would find in the community.

Q. How are members of the Hilltop "Y" Board elected?

A. At the annual meeting of the Hilltop "Y" membership each voting member will be given the right to vote for candidates for office. The board is made up of 12 members with terms of four of them expiring each year. Officers of the group are then elected by the new board members each year.

Q. Who determines how the money shall be used?

A. No expenditures may be made without the approval of the local board.

Q. Do you anticipate building a new building for the Hilltop YMCA?

A. Yes, but such a project will of necessity have to wait until such time as the program is actually working well and until necessary funds can be raised for that purpose.

Q. Are you soliciting funds for a building program now?

A. A building fund has been established and it is hoped that persons interested in seeing a building erected at an early date will make their contributions now and each year. Money in excess of the funds needed for the operating budget will be placed in the building fund.

Q. What is the Cramer Memorial Fund?

A. Dr. C. O. Cramer was the chairman of the original committee named to investigate the needs of this program. At the time of his death many of his friends who knew of his great personal interest in the Hilltop YMCA program established this memorial fund and deposited money to it with the understanding that it will be used in the building program when it is started. At the time of the opening of the new building a fitting memorial to the memory of Dr. Cramer will be dedicated.

Q. Do you want other memorial funds established?

A. Yes. There can be no finer memorial that will live for many years to come than to assist in this program. Establishment of any such memorials may be made by contacting any member of the board. Inquiries have also been received as to how a bequest may be made to the Hilltop "Y". The board will welcome any further requests for similar information.

"Y" Secretary Hired; To Locate In Teen Club

Two major developments in the Hilltop YMCA program are being announced this week by the Hilltop "Y" Board. During the past week an executive secretary for the local branch was hired and the Hilltop Community Council has extended an invitation to the "Y" to make its headquarters in the Weber home at Burgess and Broad now occupied by the Hilltop Teen Canteen.

Representatives of the Hilltop YMCA Board and members of the executive committee of the Hilltop Community Council met at the canteen quarters Friday evening and decided that the Hilltop Teen Canteen would become an affiliate of the Hilltop YMCA and as such would be directed by the new executive secretary of the "Y".

Cy Rawlings, president of the Hilltop Community Council, sponsors of the canteen, pointed out that his organization is enthusiastic about the establishment of the "Y" program on the Hilltop and desires to cooperate in every way possible.

The council extended an invitation to the YMCA to take over the Weber home at Burgess and Broad and establish the "Y" offices there but at the same time maintain the operation of the canteen for the Teen Club.

It was pointed out that members of the Hilltop Community Council will continue to sponsor the Teen Canteen and will serve on the advisory committee to continue its operation.

Mel Griggs has served as director of the Teen Club since its adoption as a Community Fund Project more than a year ago.

The canteen will continue to be operated by the Hilltop Community Council until Mr. Averill Thorn, new executive secretary of the Hilltop "Y" comes to Columbus about May 1 at which time he will assume direction of the program and set up "Y" offices in the building.

C. O. Rawlings, president of the Hilltop Community Council, issued the following statement this week:

"Our organization extends the following proposition to the Hilltop YMCA: Offer you ample office space in the Hilltop Canteen, turn over operation of the canteen to the Hilltop YMCA, Hilltop Community Council to act as a "Y" committee in canteen operation, present canteen director to be retained until his notice of leave expires. We will actively support the extension of the "Y" program on the Hilltop, the "Y" secretary to direct canteen activities according to "Y" procedure and the canteen property to be controlled by the Hilltop "Y" Board subject to the approval of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.

"We of the HCC believe this action will be a step forward in behalf of all citizens of the Hilltop. There are mutual advantages to be realized by all. We know that the YMCA branch is desperately needed and the quicker it can be established the sooner the community as a whole will realize how vast and all embracing the program really is."

Plans Complete For Egg Hunt Here Monday

Glenwood Park will again be the scene of the Annual Easter Egg Hunt, sponsored by the Hilltop Community Council in cooperation with the Hilltop Business Association and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. Grade school students and parochial school children, up to and including the sixth grade, will participate.

The affair will be under the supervision of a number of Parent-Teacher Association members from the Hilltop schools, headed by Mrs. Earl Abram, 100 N. Huron-av, Mrs. Roy Hastilow, 197 Midland-av, Mrs. E. M. Bradfute, 330 S. Ogden-av, and Mrs. Harold Beard, 635 Woodbury-av. Jerry Jeroux and Betty Rush, supervisors at the shelter house, will assist the committee.

Two hunts will be held simultaneously, one for the very small youngsters and one for the older youngsters, with prizes to be awarded to winners in both groups.

The hunts will start promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Watsons Celebrate Sixth Anniversary

Jerry Watson's Red and White Market, 3117 W. Broad-st, last week celebrated its sixth anniversary with a sale of Red and White as well as other nationally known food items.

Watson announced this week that he was very much pleased with the response to this special event, and is carrying on the sale through this week-end.

April 27 has been set for the date of the United Business Men's annual stag party. It will be held in the Chittenden Hotel. The regular monthly meeting of the association will be held at the Village Restaurant March 30.

Local representatives of this city-wide organization are Jack Merriman, Harold Green, William Ewald and Ray Eyerman.

Local Park To Get New Wading Pool

Glenwood Park is scheduled for a new wading pool.

Columbus City Council Monday night approved the expenditure of $92,100 for field houses, wading pools and other playground improvements all over the city. The Glenwood Park wading pool is a part of that expenditure.

N. J. Barack, recreation director, ordered work to proceed at once on the contracts approved by the city officials. Work is to be completed within 60 days.

Body Of Iwo War Victim Coming Home

Pfc. Toohey

The joy of this Easter season for one Hilltop family will be dampened by recollections of the cost of World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Toohey, 225 S. Eureka-av, were advised last week that the body of their son, Pfc. Willis N. Toohey, was to have arrived in San Francisco Monday along with 164 other Ohio war dead. Pfc. Toohey lost his life in the battle for Iwo Jima March 5, 1945, while with the Third Marine Division.

Arrangements have been made with the Jerry Spears Funeral Home to complete plans for services when the remains arrive in Columbus. Tentative plans call for Marine services with burial following in Sunset Cemetery.

Young Toohey had enlisted in the Marine Corps immediately following his graduation from West High School in February of 1943. He was home on furlough over Memorial Day that year. That was the last time his parents saw him. A few months later he shipped out and went immediately to the Pacific Theater. There he took part in the assaults of Guam and Bouganville before landing on Iwo.

Accordine to brief information learned from letters from his chaplain and a buddy, Pfc. Toohey had gone out at night with a detail to bring back wounded companions. He met almost instant death by enemy fire. He was just 20 years of age.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Thelma McDade and Mrs. Evelyn Wilson.

Funeral Director Flies To Conduct Service At New Paris

Another use for the personal airplane was discovered by a Hilltop funeral director this week.

The Jerry Spears Funeral Home, 2693 W. Broad-st, was faced with the problem of conducting four funerals yesterday—one of them being in New Paris, Ohio, near the Indiana state line. The busy day required that Jerry Spears, Sr., and Jerry Spears, Jr., each be available to direct two of the services. So Jerry, Jr., who served as a transport pilot in the Ferrying Command in World War II, solved the problem by flying to New Paris for the burial services for Mrs. Jeanette Bowers in that village at 11 a. m. Following the services there, he flew back to the Jones Flying Service Field in time to handle one of the two afternoon services here on the Hilltop.

Services here were scheduled at 9 a. m., 2 p. m. and 3 p. m.

BAKE SALE PLANNED FOR THIS SATURDAY

A bake sale, sponsored by the Missionary Circle of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, will be held in Haas Market, Saturday, March 27.

Late last week the Hilltop "Y" board extended an invitation to Averille M. Thorn of Akron, to become executive secretary of the Hilltop Branch and he accepted the position. He will move his family here before May 1, at which time he will start setting up the local program.

Thorn has been associated with the East Akron Branch YMCA for the past two years after returning from the army where he served as pilot of a B-25 bomber in the Pacific area. He was in service for nearly three years.

Previous to the war he had been associated with the Akron "Y" for about three years. He is a graduate of the University of Akron and has his master's degree in social administration at Western Reserve University.

He comes to the local position highly recommended by his superior executive in Akron, where he has been active in organizing boys' and girls' activities.

Members of the Hilltop "Y" Board are asking that anyone having information relative to locating a two bedroom apartment or small home for Mr. Thorn and his family should contact a board member at once.

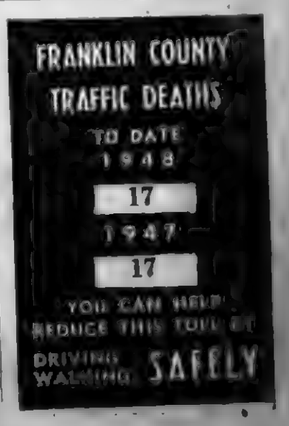
Sebastian Story Dies In Cincinnati Monday



Funeral services were conducted in the Noble L. Allen Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon for Sebastian S. Story, 86, who died at the home of a daughter in Cincinnati Monday morning. Burial was in Sunset Cemetery.

A former watch repairman, he had been in business on W. Broad-st for 21 years. Ill health forced his retirement a little more than a year ago. Until quite recently he had made his home with a son, Clarence Story, operator of Story Dry Cleaners, who lives at 208 N. Terrace-av. Mr. Story was a native of Meigs County. His first Hilltop business location was at 2285 W. Broad-st. Later he moved into a part of what is now Seiler's building, then into a small building where the Biltmore Restaurant now stands and more recently to the present location of Story Cleaners at 2420 W. Broad-st.

In addition to Clarence Story, he is survived by a son, Emmett, of Palm Beach, Fla., and the daughter, Mrs. Irene Rath of Cincinnati. Another son, Frank, is deceased. His wife, May, preceded him in death by 13 years.

THE HILLTOP RECORD

An Independent Newspaper Devoted to the Interests of the Hilltop

Entered as second class matter Jan. 21, 1943, at the Post Office, Columbus, O., under the act of March 3, 1879.

William James Joins Prudential Ins. Co.

Russell B. Tilton, manager of the Columbus Agency, The Prudential Insurance Company of America, is announcing the addition of William H. James to the Agency Staff.

James graduated from West High School in 1943 and in the same year entered the Navy. During his period of service he served one year in the Pacific Theater of Operations. After his discharge in 1946 he entered Ohio State University and continued his education until joining the Prudential Family in February. He has just completed a very comprehensive training plan with the company and has received his certificate of proficiency.

James resides at 101 S. Harris-av.

Sanitary Sewer Project Delayed

The Josephine-av sanitary sewer project is now in the engineering planning stage, it was learned this week from the sanitary engineer's office.

A spokesman in that office said that the project is temporarily held up because the City of Columbus has not been approving any additions to the sewage load because of inadequate sewage disposal plant facilities.

The Franklin County Commissioners had approved the project of providing sanitary sewer facilities for the residents of Josephine-av, several weeks ago. The new sewer line is said to eliminate pollution of the lake in Westgate Park.

V. A. Approves Contract With Telex Hearing Center

The Prosthetics Appliance Division of the Veterans Administration has approved Telex High Fidelity Hearing Aids under the terms of a new contract providing all hard of hearing veterans with two hearing aids instead of one, according to Mr. R. A. Fuller of the Telex Hearing Center, 21 E. State-st. It was explained that experience with approximately 30,000 hard of hearing veterans who now use hearing aids showed that one hearing aid was not adequate. Veterans had to be without a hearing aid while their own aid was being repaired. Mr. Fuller said that the new contract eliminates this problem by providing a spare for each veteran.

The Telex Hearing Center—featuring exclusively Telex High Fidelity Hearing Aids, manufactured at Telex Laboratories, Minneapolis, Minn.—is the first to announce government approval of their instruments under the new contract. Mr. Fuller, manager of the local Telex Hearing Center, advises veterans to visit their regional office for further explanation of their rights under the new plan.

MARRIED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Coffman started on their second quarter century of married life following the observance of their 25th wedding anniversary on March 14.

"Music In The Air" To Feature Local Players Apr. 2-3-4

Jerome Kern was probably in one of his most blissful moods when he composed the score of "Music in the Air," the forthcoming musical play which the Independent Players of Columbus will produce at the Hartman Theatre, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 2, 3, 4.

"Music in the Air," virtually an enchanted music box, let flow such memorable melodies, chorals, and waltzes that the country is still singing "I've Told Every Little Star," "The Song is You," and "There's A Hill Beyond A Hill," as well as many others.

Miss Maxine Oney, 37 Binns-blvd, will be featured in the special modern ballet and dancing chorus. Walter Geho, 64 W. Park, and Estelle Stedman, 490 Belvidere-av, will also appear in prominent parts.

Hoge Downs Burgess; To Represent Loop In Playoffs

By Dave Miller

Hoge Memorial defeated Burgess Avenue EUB Tuesday evening at Schiller Park by a 22 to 19 score to clinch the representative role of the West Intermediate Church League into the final Church League eliminations.

Last week Hoge defeated West Park, the third team that was tied for first place in the league, to take the honor of playing Burgess Tuesday.

Burgess, rated as a very small team in the league, just didn't get started early enough to put out a Hoge uprising. The Hoge five held leads of three to five points throughout the contest. At the end of the first half, the ultimate winners held a 12 to 9 margin.

After this, each quintet settled down and held the other to 10 points. It was due mostly to the fact that Burgess couldn't hit on the easy bunny shots. Throughout the season's jaunt this factor has proved to be the thing that beat the Burgessites.

Curt Westerman, star West Cowboy guard, and Jim Birle, another West attender, were the thorns in Burgess' side all night. Don Skipper and Pat Collins tryed desperately to keep the UB's in the game, but it was well in everyone's mind that Burgess was on to its fourth straight loss.

A check with Walter Gerber, city recreation official, proved that the final standings were those indicated on the night of March 9 with West Park, Burgess EUB and Hoge all tied for first place. However, Hoge is the team that will represent the West Church Intermediate League in the church eliminations.

Final Standings West Church Intermediate League

Central High Alumni To Present Revue

The Central High School Alumni Association is sponsoring a variety show, "Riverside Review of 1948" to be presented in the school auditorium Wednesday, March 31, at 8:15 p. m.

The entire proceeds of this production will go toward the purchase of a suitable memorial to be presented to the school in honor of the boys and girls who gave their lives in World War II.

Featured artists on the program will be the Georgia Crackers, stars of WHKC, stage, Columbia Pictures, and Victor Records; Sally Flowers of Station WBNS; John Agnew, staff organist, and Paul Frank of WHKC; Johnny Murphy Dancers; and a host of other well known entertainers.

Tickets are 60c, including tax, and may be obtained at the following places of business:

The Hilltop Record office, 2465 W. Broad-st; Betty Fulks of High-Town Branch of the Ohio National Bank; Ben Ratner's, 163 N. High-st, and the Central High School office.

BRINGING IN THE SCRAP — A delivery truck for the Perry Fay Motors Company unloaded the first load of scrap steel at West High School last week as the West High Boosters Club scrap steel drive got under way. George Wing, a teacher at West, took the picture.

K. M. (Slim) Elder, 110 S. Southampton-av, is chairman of the drive. Hilltop service stations are serving as collection centers for the drive. All proceeds from the scrap collection will be used to further athletic activities at West.

Large Crowd At Eagles Dance

Augila Aerie, F. O. E., held its annual St. Patrick's Day dance at the Aerie Home, 2358 W. Broad-st, Wednesday night, March 17. A capacity crowd was present. Cash prizes were given in the individual contests.

Thomas S. (Mack) McGlaughlin, whose birthday comes on this date, was called to the stage and after birthday greetings, was presented with a high plug hat decorated with shamrocks, a large green sash was thrown over his shoulders and hung down in front of him, and he was handed a large cane painted green. He gave an exhibition of Irish dancing, as the band struck up some Irish melodies, which brought a round of applause and congratulations, for Mack is one of the oldest members of the Aerie.

Everyone is looking forward to Monday, the date set for the initation of a large class of candidates and the old-fashioned sauerkraut and pork dinner which is being sponsored by Fred Martin and John Arnold.

Civic Award

The civic award will be presented on this date to the officers of the Thirteen Club. It was decided to award this citation after it was learned of the club's meritorious and charitable activities in the community. The entire membership of the Thirteen Club has been invited to attend this presentation and will share in this honor. The officers representing the club, who will receive the award are as follows: William Krause, president, 321 S. Richardson-av; Howard Minnameyer, vice-president, 125 S. Terrace-av; Charles Neesham secretary, 287 N. Burgess-av; and Lee Weigand, treasurer, 3181 W. Broad-st. The presentation will be made by Past Worthy President Guy Peden of Aguila Aerie.

Rehearsals Under Way For Band Show

Rehearsals are in full swing for the Ninth Band Variety Show to be put on at West High School April 22, 23 and 24.

Tickets went on sale at 75c each at the school yesterday. Reservations can be made starting Tuesday, March 30. The 75c covers the cost of the ticket and the reservation. All seats will be reserved.

Persons interested in becoming patrons of the show may do so for $1 or more by contacting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham, 822 Wiltshire-rd. Their number is RA. 3094. The Grahams are serving as chairmen of the patrons' committee rather than the entire production as stated in The Hilltop Record last week. Mrs. E. B. McCrady, 178 S. Roys-av, president of the Band Parents Club, sponsors of the show, will also take care of calls of prospective patrons. Her number is RA. 2037.

West Park Wins First Game In Senior Eliminations

By Dave Miller

West Park Methodist, North Broadway Methodist, Hope Lutheran, and Peace of Gahanna were the winners in the senior church eliminations played at Glenwood Monday night.

Bob Lathmer and Dick Smith paved the way for West Park, current West Senior Church League winners, in the opener of the night. The West Park five edged out a 33 to 30 victory over Zion of Grove City.

North Broadway trampled Wilson Church of Christ in a loosely-played game by 35 to 23. It was the first loss of the season for the Wilson quintet. Top scorer was Bob Rice of the winners with 17 tallies.

Linden Methodist went down in defeat for the first time this year by dropping a 34 to 22 verdict to a tough Hope Lutheran five. The Hope team was undefeated in nine outings this season in the new Lutheran Senior loop. Dick Bain paved the way in scoring for the winners wh le McCorkle topped the losing Linden's cause with six points.

In the final tilt of the evening Peace Lutheran of Gahanna came out on top of a rough and tumble affair with St. John Evangelical by a 29 to 19 count. Dick Kessler of St. John took scoring honors in the fray with 10 tallies.

Instead of suing her husband for divorce when he blew smoke in her face while she was ironing, why didn't the Des Moines woman slap the iron to him where it would do the most good?

Hilltop Kiwanis Edges DSAC Here In Exhibition Game; Hilltonia Wins

By Dave Miller

Hilltop Kiwanis edged out a 44 to 40 victory over the DS Athletic Club last Wednesday evening at West High in an exhibition contest.

The winners, made up mostly of West Side men just out of school, were never ahead in the contest. However, mainly due to the fact that they held their opponents scoreless in the final quarter, the Hilltoppers went ahead late in the final canto.

With the score in favor of the ultimate losers, 40-39, Dick Layne, star cager in the Friday Night Glenwood League, sank his second free toss of the game to tie it up at 40-all. Bob Shade of the Hilltoppers sank a quick long one to put his mates ahead. Later on with 36 seconds remaining, Don Hutchinson, 1948 West cager, sank a bunny for the deciding margins of victory.

The Hilltop team was behind at intermission periods, 12-8, 22-14, and 40-32.

Shade Top Scorer

Bob Shade of the winners took the game scoring honors with 15 points, followed by teammate Hutchinson with 14. Norman Devine tallied 12, and Jack Chambers, 11 points to lead the DSAC team onward.

The announcer at the game said before the contest that he had been trying for 30 minutes to find out the real meaning for DSAC. When asked by your reporter, one of the players remarked that it stood for "Don't Smoke Any Cigarettes," and many other names.

In a prelim to the Kiwanis-DSAC affair, a girls' game was played between Hilltonia EUB and Carl's Athletic Club with the former taking a thrilling 16 to 15 win. Laura Steele and Donna Spring sparked the way for Carl's AC, and Ann Herbert tallied 11 points to help Hilltonia to its victory.

Between games, the fans were entertained by the "Franklin County Singing Sheriffs," billed as a thousand pounds of harmony. Other articles of interest were eight door prizes given away for the benefit of the game.

Sport Notes

By Bob Humphrey

Orrie "Red" Lehman, West Junior High's athletic coach, proved himself to be an "ace picker" last week. The Junior Cowboys' pilot named eight boys in his selections for the honorary All-City Junior High basketball team and every one of the eight gained a place on the all-city team selected by the coaches. Lehman's selections were Bob Strawser of Barrett, Harold Hines of McKinley and Ronnie Watkins of Champion, forwards; Bob Kavanaugh of Crestview and William Hairston of Mound, centers; Milt Young, Barrett, Roy Davidson, Franklin, Ray Wakeman, West Junior, and Louis Wright, Roosevelt, guards.

Ray Wakeman, West Junior's star guard, gained a high honor, being chosen to a position on the All-City Junior High basketball team selected by the coaches last week. Ten of the 11 coaches turned in their selections. Wakeman received six votes.

Dick Ucker, a Hilltop boy, who starred in basketball at West High school a few years ago, was awarded a place on the honorary All-Columbus Basketball League team selected by the managers last week. A center, he received five votes out of a possible six. Ucker starred for Falter-Packers this season.

Jim Shackleford, Jake Scheiderer and Dick Layne teamed together to score 19, 12 and 10 points, respectively, to lead Layne's Service, a Hilltop team, to a 51 to 39 victory over Greene's Clothiers in a Central YMCA Class AA Basketball League game last week.

With Bob Moore and Jerry McDaniels scoring 16 points each, Hilltop Van and Storage turned in a 49 to 27 victory over Ohio Bell Telephone last Thursday. The Hilltoppers, by virtue of the win, are tied with Linden Billiards for first place in the Central YMCA Class B Basketball League.

Hilltonia EUB gained an 11 to 4 victory over Holy Family in a South-West Church Girls' Basketball League game last week at West Market Hall. In the same league, another Hilltop team, Hoge Memorial, went down in defeat, losing a 13 to 7 verdict to South Methodist.

Ray Stinson, a former West High star, scored 15 points to lead his team, American Legion No. 249, to a 29 to 18 decision over Ace's Service Station in a Linden Independent Basketball League game last week.

After the completion of last week's games, the Glenwood team, coached by Jerry Gercoux, supervisor at the Glenwood Recreation Center, had a perfect record of six wins and no losses in the City Recreation Center Basketball League.

Paternalism "practice of exercising control . . . by government, sometimes constituting an invasion of individual rights."

Wherever paternalistic governments establish bureaus, financed through taxes, or compulsory health insurance, the "will to stay sick" (or malingering) becomes popular. Where practiced, this is very corroding to the integrity and character of both the patient and physician.

Where paternalistic governments collect billions in taxes, and dole it out from political bureaus, it not only costs the sick and well, but encourages the unscrupulous and lazy to "play sick" or "stay sick."

Under such systems, medical practice is brought to a level of mediocrity. Under our incentive system, Doctors are taught to plumb the depths of scientific fact on every case, and use every possible means to cure each case.

"Paternalism"—substituted for individual relationships and personal incentive—lowers the QUALITY of medical service.

English Paper Tells Of Hilltop's 11th Stork Derby

The Saddleworth-Mossley Chronicle of Oldham, England recently carried a story on the Hilltop Stork Derby. Its winner, Mrs. Richard E. Finneran is formerly of Lees, England. The article read in part:

"A G. I. bride from Lees has won the eleventh annual Hilltop Stork Derby, meaning that she was the first woman to have a baby in Hilltop, Ohio, this year. The baby arrived at 1:50 a. m. on New Year's Day, and, as one might expect with the Americans, it was an "occasion"—the Stork Derby, arranged by the local newspaper, the Hilltop Record, in co-operation with 24 business firms.

"The mother was formerly Miss Eva Bernice Wood, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. W. Wood, of 32 Beckett-st, Lees."

Mrs. Finneran was employed at the Rome Mill, Springhead when she met the Hilltopper and was married in Oldham.

Mr. Finneran was serving with the American Eighth Air Force at the time. She arrived on the Hilltop approximately one year ago with her first daughter, Eileen Mary. The Finnerans are living at 211 S. Eureka-av.

A salt solution injected into pitching arms appears to relieve soreness, according to the latest information from baseball circles. Mickey Harris of Boston and Floyd Bevens of New York are two pitchers who have been helped by these shots, and Sid Hudson, of Washington, is a third who believes injections may be aiding him. Said Hudson: "Anyhow, I've got my fast ball back." Massage, liniments and osteopathic treatments were the earlier cures for sore arms.

Olentangy Post Clinches Title In Glenwood Independent

By Bob Humphrey

Although one more set of games remains to be played, Olentangy Post No. 4615 clinched the Glenwood Independent League title last Friday with a record of nine victories and no defeats. All other teams have suffered at least three defeats.

In the final set of league games Friday at Glenwood Park gym, Hilltop Kiwanis Club faces Mellman Corner at 7 p. m., Olentangy Post engages Spears Funeral Home at 7:45, Hilltop Van and Storage takes on Standard Oil at 8:30 and High-Buttles meets South-East A. C. at 9:15.

In addition to the league title last Friday's victory over Mellman Corner by a score of 37 to 26 clinched Olentangy Post a berth in the City Recreation Department's eliminations.

The Glenwood League's Class B divisional title and an elimination berth went to High-Buttles following a 42 to 36 win over Standard Oil.

In other games last Friday, Spears Funeral Home upset Hilltop Kiwanis Club, 43 to 36, and Hilltop Van and Storage nosed out South-East A. C., 31 to 30.

Olentangy Post held a commanding lead over Mellman Corner throughout the game, being out in front, 20 to 8, at the half. But Bill Allman of the losers took scoring honors of the game, tossing in 16 points, while Gene Clark recorded 10 points for the league champions.

Only Four Players

Spears Funeral Home enjoyed a half time margin of 28 to 12, but Hilltop Kiwanis came back to shorten the lead in the last two periods. The Kiwanis team was undermanned, having only four players. Don Borror of Kiwanis hit the net for 15 points, while Howard Johnston of Spears turned in 12 points.

High Buttles came from behind to win after trailing, 16 to 15, at the intermission. Ray Stinson turned in a stellar performance in a losing effort for Standard Oil, connecting for 19 points. Abe Walters' 14 points were high for High-Buttles.

After piling up a 17 to 8 lead at the half, Hilltop Van and Storage was forced to go on the defensive in the latter part of the game. Joe Case scored 11 points for Hilltop Van and Reiser marked up nine points for the losers.

Stinson Tops Scorers

Ray Stinson of Standard Oil has a rather comfortable lead in the league's individual scoring race, being credited with a total of 124 points, followed by Gene Clark of Olentangy Post with 112.

The 12 leading scorers in the league follow: Ray Stinson, Standard Oil, 124 points; Gene Clark, 112; Don Borror, Hilltop Kiwanis, 109; Joe Bennett, Olentangy Post, 88; Dick Layne, Hilltop Kiwanis, 83; Don Ijams, Hilltop Kiwanis, 75; Bob Tracey, Olentangy Post, 74; Harvey Eader, Olentangy Post 72; Ray Grabill, Hilltop Van and Storage, 62; Tom Arnold, Spears Funeral Home, 61; B. Allman, Mellman Corner, 56; Harry Hopwood, Standard Oil, 50.

Fellow Djacs

Our Don't Join Anything Club is a success. As expected, our mail has not been flooded with replies. In fact there hasn't been a darn one, which makes the new setup 100 per cent effective. (Anyone who writes to the editor automatically forfeits his opportunity to become a Djac.)

It's a good thing we launched the membership drive when we did, too. No sooner had we written the charter and by-laws for Djac last week when what do I hear but reports on the formation of another Hilltop service club. Up to now the whole thing seems to be a deep dark mystery. No one with whom I've talked wanted his name mentioned in connection with the club but five persons admit they have been approached on the matter.

I was even asked by one individual not to mention the name of the organization that was investigating the possibility of establishing a Hilltop group. I won't betray that requested confidence but I am permitted to give you this hint. The group's name spelled backward is "Spoil Bulc." (Sounds almost as bad as Djac.)

Because of the wide scope of our Djacs and the unlimited number of eligible members, it will be some time before I can give you authentic figures on the size of our organization. I believe the next census will be taken in 1950 and that should give us a pretty good basis to work from.

Spring Is Here

Even without looking at the calendar or feeling the zephyr-like breezes earlier this week, I know that spring is officially here. Boss Man Hartley just walked into the office with a new chapeau. It's probably the last time we'll see it around the office too. He buys a new hat every spring and wears it home and that's the last we ever see of it here. He must be collecting 'em.

Spring Walk

Man can live without the automobile — for a while that is, especially if he has enough friends to fall back on.

Last week my jalopy had to have new brakes installed and the operation became more than a one day job."

"I can get along without it until tomorrow," I told the garage man graciously.

Bob Maxwell took pity on me that night and drove me home. Even offered to come down after me again in the morning.

Came the next morning and spring was in the air.

"I'll just walk to work this morning and surprise 'em," I told the Missus, getting up from the breakfast table. "It's a nice morning and the walk will do me good."

So I set out on foot from 1640 Reaver Lane. The sun was painting a beautiful picture on the eastern horizon over Green Lawn Cemetery. The air was chilly but the birds were already striking up a rousing chorus in the leafless trees.

By the time I reached Central and Mound I was really enjoying the walk. I had warmed up enough to get my hands out of my pockets (even without gloves). There Attorney Don Smith wanted to pick me up on his way into town but I motioned that I was headed west. By the time I reached Sullivant-av I had unbuttoned my coat.

"This is really the life," I said to myself, "I'll just walk on out to Broad Street and save six cents.

By the time I reached Broad Street, however, the old "dogs" were beginning to grumble and besides I couldn't turn down the offer of a ride to the Hilltop from a former neighbor.

PRAIRIE TOWNSHIP FIREMEN ON THE JOB—Volunteer firemen in and around New Rome lost little time in answering an alarm recently just as Photographer J. Curtis Allen happened along. The 1931 Model A Ford, pictured at left, was extensively damaged about the interior before firemen arrived on the scene on Johnson Road. The owner, Leo Hall, of Galloway, said the car had been driven only 40,000 miles in spite of its age. Fire Chief Joe Lamb can be seen fighting the blaze that destroyed most of the upholstery at a damage estimated at $100.

It's a fact—from the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce: It takes from three to 11 times as much distance to stop a car when pavements are slick. So, give yourself plenty of room to stop by keeping well behind the car ahead of you.

Slitting Crow's Tongue Won't Make Him Talk

Wildlife officials of the Ohio Division of Conservation have been asked to advise if the slitting of a crow's tongue will enable him to "make like a parrot."

The popular belief is that if you slit the tiny membrane that supports the under side of the tongue of certain birds it will improve their ability to talk. (A lot of folks are anxious to find some method of slitting certain humans' tongues to make them talk like a clam.)

Slitting the tongue of a bird is a cruel practice and the result just doesn't justify the action. Crows, magpies, blue jays, brown thrashers and some other species often learn to speak words and even sentences almost as well as parrots. Crows and magpies in particular can often be taught to talk, but their ability in this respect is not favorably affected by any operation on the tongue.

The experts claim that the most practical way to encourage a bird to talk is to confine it to a quiet room and upon entering the room the person should speak one word distinctly. By this means a vocabulary of a talking bird can be considerably increased until it will speak a number of words and phrases.

MINIATURE OF A MAN
He loves the feel of simple things,
Simple in strange complexity;
The acorn smooth against his palm,
Housing its broad and rough-barked tree.

He loves to dip deep in a bin
And sift small seeds between his hands;
They will be barley on the slope
And tall wheat drifting down his lands.

He loves to stroke a tawny head
And touch brown freckles, one by one,
This seed of his will thrust through years
To sturdy-farmer strength—tall son!
Anobel Armour, in her book DOWN QUIET LANES.

HEART STRINGS
I said I would not bind my love
With flattery or lies,
I said I would not hold my love
With lips or hands or eyes.

It is not right to forge a chain
Of love's own tenderness,
And soon or late the heart destroys
The dream it would possess.

I said I would not tie my love
With woman's wiles or ways,
But well I know how much he likes
The carefully turned phrase.

And so I keep my love with words
And think it is not wrong
To tie his heart with pretty sounds
And hold him with a song.
Lola S. Morgan,
in Ohio Poetry Bulletin.

SPRING WINDS
The little winds, the feather-light
Small winds that roam through lilac lane
In spring are lavender and white
As crocus winds beyond the wall.
But now that you are far away
There are no colored winds at all

FIVE GENERATIONS—There's always news in a five-generation photograph and particularly when four of them are Hilltoppers and one of them a well-known ball player. This family group photographed recently in Hamilton, Ohio, shows Elizabeth Burkner, 90, holding her great-great-granddaughter, Terry Lee Hoover, tiny daughter of Richard (Dick) Hoover, 2373½ W. Broad-st, popular baseball player now in training with the Jersey City Giants at Jacksonville, Fla. Mrs. Leona Hoover, 142 S. Ogden-av, is at the left beside her son, Dick. Mrs. Hoover's mother, Mrs. Martha Mcloeny, 8 S. Wayne-av, appears at the right side of the group.

PUSH BUTTON WAR

With jet planes roaring through the skies and newer and better atomic bombs reportedly being built, John Q. Citizen is ready to believe that push button warfare may be a reality some day.

So is John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman and head of the Scientific Research Board.

Push button warfare is altogether likely, said the board in a report to the president urging doubling of scientific research.

March To Church In March -- A Joyous Experience

By Rev. A. F. Wold, Pastor Moss Memorial Presbyterian Church

Rev. Wold

Christian experience and worship may mean different things to many people, depending upon early training and the background in which they have been raised. But regardless of early experience, background and training, religion, in its basic function, should add to the enrichment of life. There is no substitute for a true religious experience, regardless of the religious culture which has brought it about. A true religious experience does something to the inner life of man that no other activity can duplicate. That is the common opinion of all who have drunk deeply out of the well of Christian Faith.

It is significant that other movements have come and gone, but religion continues, as a basic function in human society. And it is a proven fact in history that anything which ceases to have value for human life passes the way of all flesh, and vanishes from the scene of human concern. How often the cry has risen which Voltaire sounded in the eighteenth century: "Ere the beginning of the nineteenth century Christianity will have disappeared from the earth!" But it is still here. Its expressions change but at the heart of it are creative factors that everlastingly keep their hold. From this fact it is clear that religion is one of the little group of fundamental interests in human life that everlastingly change, and everlastingly persists. The reason is, no doubt, that it is of God, and that it contributes something to life that is basically essential to its happiness and welfare.

One of the perennial results of the worship experience is that it produces an inner satisfaction that may best be described as "joyous." Here is something that no material duplication can match. To experience God in a worship service is never the same as the momentary elation that comes with other functions and experiences in life. It is something deeper and more lasting, and produces more profound changes in a person's life. When Wordsworth says: "I have felt a presence that disturbs me with the joy of elevated thoughts," he is speaking a language common to all Christian people who have learned how to worship God "in spirit and in truth."

The church, too, provides opportunity for enjoyment which comes from the highest and finest fellowship and companionship that life can produce. Not all church people are as good as they should be, for the church is not a museum for the display of perfect specimens. It is better described as a hospital existing for the cure of souls. But it is true, however, that the highest and the finest type of human beings are found in the church fellowships. Some of the most lasting and fruitful friendships have been formed there, because religion has a way of bringing out the finest and the best in the human soul. How often we have heard people say, in substance as one said to us the other day: "My church has meant more to our family than any other organization of which I am a member. My church has provided the most fruitful source of friendship for my entire family."

In the church, also, we find opportunity for participation in constructive and worthwhile services and enterprises, providing for the uplift of the whole community. We humans are so constructed emotionally and mentally that we must find something enduring and worthwhile to work for and live for, if, indeed, life itself is not to end up in a frustrated feeling of futility. The happiest and most contented people in the world are they who have found great and enduring causes to live for and to serve. No person can continue to live an ingrown, self-ish life for any length of time without losing a sense of life's meaning and purpose. The Master said, that even though one might gain the whole world for personal selfish enjoyment, he may do so at the risk of losing his very soul. And truly he is a lost soul who has missed the point and direction of purposeful and meaningful living. Though he may leave a million dollars in his estate, he dies the death of a pauper. Lasting inner contentment comes from an assurance that we have contributed our part in making the world a little better than we found it. The church provides an opportunity for joyous living on the high level of unselfish service.

But probably by far one of the most profound and satisfying experiences comes from having one's inner need supplied. The worship service is more than an intellectual exercise. It should be intellectually stimulating and thought provoking, but deeper and beyond that, it should and does supply a felt need within every normal soul. The real function of the worship service is that known as mediating forgiveness and cleansing for the inner life of man. The value of forgiveness and inner restoration is recognized by the medical profession as essential to physical well being. No person can go for any length of time living in disharmony with the laws of God without feeling a sense of failure and the harboring of guilt. The worship service makes provision for the individual to come before God, to confess his sin, and to receive forgiveness and an inner sense of release. This often takes place between the individual and his God in the worship service, and often without the knowledge even of the minister.

The word "salvation" has often been "walked in undesirable intellectual company and gotten incredible connotations." When St. Paul's Cathedral in London was finished, the architect displayed it to the king on a state occasion and the king called it amusing, awful, and artificial. The architect was highly pleased at the royal compliment for in those days "amusing" means "amazing", "awful" meant "awe inspiring," and "artificial" meant "artistic." So "salvation" in the finest and the best sense should carry the meaning of restoration of man's inner life. All of this may be described as a joyous experience.

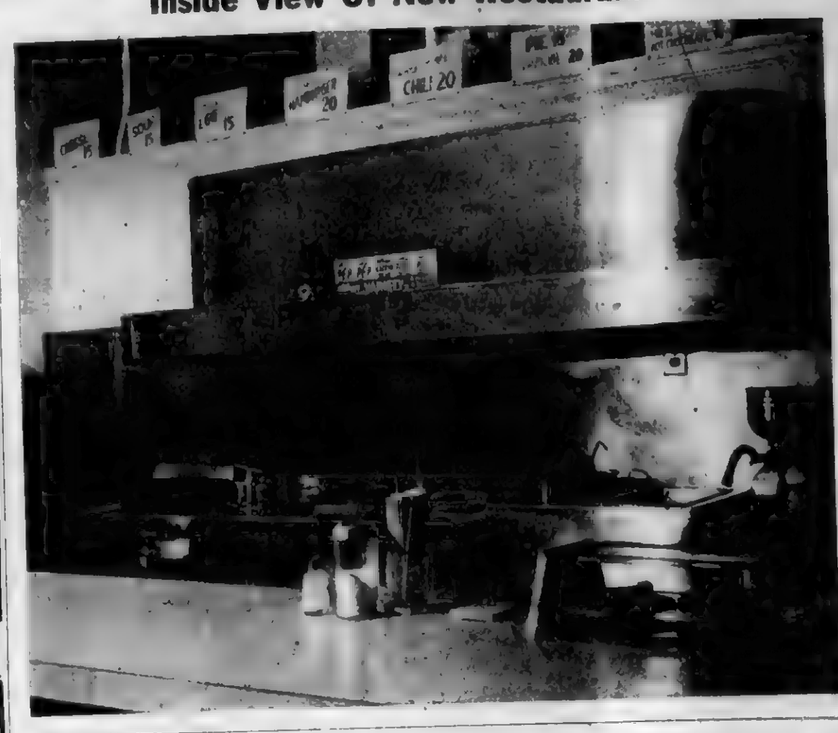
HARLEY SAPP'S DRIVE-IN TO HAVE OPENING SATURDAY!

THAT FOUR-MINUTE MILE

Miler Gil Dodds, as good a distance runner as we have had since the day of Glenn Cunningham, says a four-minute mile will be stepped off some day by some one, but it will take ideal conditions to do it. Now 29, Dodds doubts that he will be able to get his own time that low. A runner achieving four flat, he thinks, must feel his very best, the track must be exactly right, and climatic conditions just about perfect. Dodds holds the indoor mile record at 4:06.4.



The Hilltop Record can be mailed to a friend. $1.50 per year anywhere in Franklin County.

Just Drive-In And Honk Horn

How do people get hurt? Hospital reports in one city show such accidents as the following: A woman was severely injured when butted by a goat. A little girl was struck in the face by her father's practice golf swing. A woman was seriously burned when she lit a cigarette while applying rubbing alcohol to herself. People were bitten by monkeys, rabbits, turtles, parrots and babies. The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce says many accidents occur because people fail to expect the UNEXPECTED hazards. Be watchful and careful ALL THE TIME.

Elementary School Happenings

West Broad

The first grades at West Broad Street School visited a maple sugar camp recently at the Freshwater Farm, one mile north of the Columbus Zoo. Last week the other two groups visited the camp.

The children dressed warmly for the trip, which was made in a school bus. The big thrill was seeing the buckets of sap hanging on the trees.

After their lunch they were taken into the grove and allowed to inspect the trees. Next they were escorted through the sugar house where the sap was made into maple syrup.

Each child filled a jar with the sap which was taken back to school and boiled into syrup, at a maple syrup party.

The 4B and 5A Junior Red Cross members of the school have completed a spring project for the Veterans' Hospital at Chillicothe. Faster decorations were made for the rooms of the institution, and paper flowers were made for stage decorations for a play which the veterans plan to present in the near future. Mary Boland was in charge of the project.

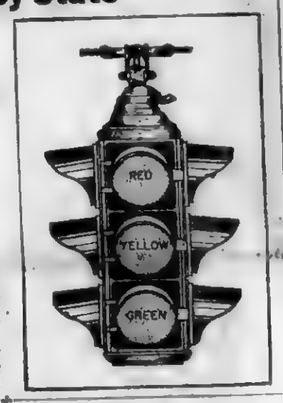
New Garden Plots Are Now Available

If spring has given you the urge to get out and plant a garden this season, Harold Cunningham may be the man to talk to—particularly if you lack a garden plot.

Harold is opening up his second garden tract this spring. The newest location is just across the railroad tracks from the end of North Westmoor Ave. The 4½-acre tract will contain 20 gardens approximately 60x140. About a dozen of the plots are still available.

For several years Cunningham has encouraged home gardeners by offering prizes for those who have lots in his garden project on Valleyview-dr. He will again offer cash prizes of $10, $5 and $2.50 for those who do the best job at amateur gardening.

As soon as the weather permits, he will plow and prepare the soil for those early onions, radishes, peas, etc. Anyone interested in space in this new garden tract may contact Mr. Cunningham at FR. 8-5439.



THE YOUNGER SET — Today we introduce four more Hilltop youngsters in the current series of baby pictures photographed by J. Curtis Allen for The Hilltop Record. The young lady in the upper left corner is Michele Lynn Daugherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Daugherty. The couple also has twin daughters, Joellyn and Janine, 14 months old.

Michael Hobbs, aged two years, is the young gentleman in the upper right corner. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hobbs, 2542 Steele-av. The boy's father is an engraver for the Terry Engraving Company. His mother is the former Patricia Smith.

In the lower left corner is David Eugene Edger, two years of age when this photo was taken. He has a baby brother, Stephen Louis. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Edger, 859 S. Richardson-av.

Donald Eugene Kline, 3½ years, is the fourth member of today's younger set. He has a baby sister, Beverly Marie. Mr. and Mrs. George Kline, 105 S. Eureka-av, are the parents. Mr. Kline is a moulder at the Federal Glass Company. Mrs. Kline is the former Imogene Roads.

Standardization Of Traffic Signals Is Sought By State

Standardization of traffic control signals is being sought by the Ohio Department of Highways in its program to achieve uniformity throughout the state in the use and application of traffic control devices.

Traffic control signals, where warranted and when properly used, are useful is reducing traffic delays, in preventing accidents and in improving the orderly and convenient movement of the motoring public, according to the Division of Traffic and Safety of the State Highway Department.

However, it is pointed out, the full effect of these benefits is lost if the use and application of the traffic control signals is not uniform throughout the state.

This uniformity is provided for in the "Ohio Manual of Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways," prepared by the Division of Traffic and Safety of the Ohio Department in conformance with the requirements of the Uniform Traffic Act. This act provides that all traffic control devices erected by local communities after the effective date of the act—Sept. 6, 1941—shall conform to the Ohio manual.

The motorist is confused in his driving if traffic signals are not uniform; that is, if the green color is at the top in some signals while the red color is at the top in other signals. This is particularly confusing to color-blind drivers who depend on the position of the colors in the signal to guide them.

The three-lens type of signal face has been adopted as standard in the "Ohio Manual of Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways" because of its general predominance and because of the important functions of the yellow light, which it is felt cannot be satisfactorily taken care of with a signal having but two colors. The important functions of the yellow light are

(1) The yellow interval warns approaching traffic and provides necessary time for vehicles in the intersection to clear it.

(2) When the signal is not being operated as a STOP and GO device, the flashing yellow is valuable as a caution signal.

The three lenses prescribed in the manual should be arranged with the red at the top, yellow in the center and green at the bottom unless the signal face is in a horizontal position, when red should be at the left, yellow in the center and green to the right.

The "Ohio Manual of Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways" applies whenever an old traffic control device is replaced or whenever any new traffic control device is installed by local authorities.

The Family and Children's Bureau, a Red Feather agency, generally has more than 150 children being cared for in its foster homes.

Hi-Y Members Plan "Work Day"

On Saturday, April 10, approximately 600 boys of high school age, members of the 11 Hi-Y Clubs of the Columbus High Schools, will engage in a "Work Day." They will accept odd jobs, such as carrying out ashes, washing windows, yard work, etc., and the money they earn on that day will be given to the World Youth Fund of the YMCA to help in the reconstruction of the 110 YMCA buildings destroyed in Europe and Asia during the war.

The Hi-Y Clubs of Columbus have accepted a goal of $2000, of which more than $600 has been raised; it is expected that the "earn and give" program for April 10 will succeed in raising the balance.

People who have odd jobs to be done, and would like to have a Hi-Y member do the work, are asked to call the office of the high school in their community, leave their name, address, and type of job to be done. This will be referred to the Hi-Y Club and a boy will be sent to do the job.

The president of the Columbus council of Hi-Y Clubs is Robert Smith, a senor at West High School, who attended the National Conference for High School Youth at Grinnell College, Iowa, last summer, at which plans for world reconstruction were discussed.

PRINCIPAL ATTENDS NEA

By Rose-Marie Klein

Lester Huber recently attended the meeting of the American Association of School Administrators, at the NEA in Atlantic City. He made the trip by train.

While he was away he visited various schools in Philadelphia, some of which had curricula in which all girls take mechanical arts courses and all boys take work in home economics.

Among the highlights of his visit were the opportunities to hear a talk by General Omar Bradley, a concert by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, and a chance to eat his fill of seafood.

GRADUATING CLASS PRESENTS RECORD ALBUM

By Inez Evans

The recent graduating class gave an album of records to the school as a farewell present. The records will be used in the juke box for the noon dances. Songs included were "I'll Dance at Your Wedding," "The Best Things In Life Are Free," "You Do," and "Old Devil Moon."

A club of women at Gladden Community House, Red Feather agency at 623 W. Town-st, meets every Tuesday to do quilting. Proceeds go into the club treasury.

Cherry Pie Champ

"You don't do anything special; but stick to the recipe and watch what you're doing." That's the advice of Miss Valeria Johnson, 17, Chicago, recently crowned champion cherry pie baker of the nation in competition with entrants from eleven states conducted by the National Hatchet Club in Chicago. And here's her tip on how to serve cherry pie for best eating: serve it with a generous wedge of aged cheese.

Pie Crust

2 cups flour — 1 tsp. salt
⅔ cup shortening — Water

Sift flour then measure. Sift again with salt. Cut in shortening with Pastry Blender. Add water needed. Flour pastry cloth and rolling pin stockinette. Place in pie pan, add prepared cherries. Trim crust. Cover with top crust after steam vents have been cut. Turn top crust under bottom crust and flute edge. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 45 minutes.

Filling

4 cups cherries
½ cup cherry juice
1½ cup sugar
4 tsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. butter
½ tsp. almond extract

Put sugar in sauce pan with ¼ cup juice and bring to boil point. Mix rest of juice (¾ cup) with cornstarch and add to sugar mixture. Cook for a few minutes. Remove from stove and add butter and almond extract. Add cherries just before filling lower crust.

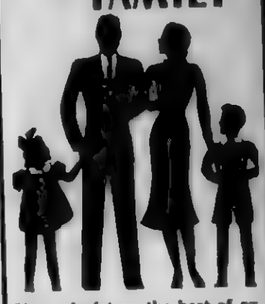
Franklin Township Zoning Plan To Be Discussed Apr. 13

A plan for zoning and building regulations will be presented to residents of Franklin Township in a special meeting scheduled for Wilson School on the evening of April 13.



Grover Clements, county planning engineer, said that all residents of the township are invited to attend this important planning meeting. The meeting is preliminary to a further study and hearings by county planning and zoning officials.

The matter of rural zoning is the outgrowth of a state zoning law passed by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio last year. The law is generally known as House Bill 22. It stipulates that general meetings shall be held in all townships to consider suggestions and plans for ultimate passage of a zoning law in that township.

Clements pointed out that this meeting will be purely for informational purposes. Questions will be encouraged and all available information on this subject will be presented. Final enactment of any zoning law must be approved by the voters of the township.

George A. Goodfleisch, secretary of the zoning commission, will also be present to assist Mr. Clements with the meeting.

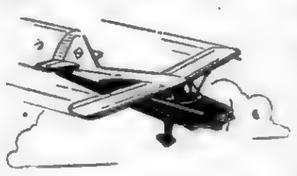
The Champion

Robert L. Finch, director of public relations for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, had some interesting things to say about a champion in his address last week before the West High Boosters basketball banquet crowd.

One of his observations was especially significant in athletics and can be carried into much broader application in the everyday life of most of us. He said, "A champion is willing to pay the price to win the game."



How many of us today are willing to pay the price of success in our chosen vocation? In every walk of life we see those who are content to give only a minimum required to hold their jobs. Their day's work consists of the least amount of work that will get them by. They prepare for their jobs in the same manner, putting forth the amount of preparation that will let them "get by."

It's often hard to change a person once he's gotten into that rut for so many times his lack of success has caused him to take a bitter outlook on life.

No athlete ever reached the top without being willing to "pay the price" in study, practice and downright hard work. There's no shortcut to becoming the best in your field of sports just as there is no shortcut to becoming a leader in your life's work.

Mr. Finch's fine address was good for a bunch of young athletes, it was an inspiration to coaches and faculty members and it was doubly good for those of us engaged in various methods of gaining a livelihood.

This Was It

There we were. I was sitting in the chair, trying to look calm. He was standing beside me. And that light—that awful, glaring light was shining in my eyes. I tried to make idle chatter, but the lump in my throat left only enough room for rasping squeaks to come out. I reached for my cigarettes and fumbled one from my pack, hoping that it would soothe my nerves. But I couldn't hold a match steady enough to light the thing. Then he flashed a lighter in my face and the snap of it caused me to flinch. I took a deep drag, and exhaled slowly. It helped, alright, but it didn't change anything. I knew — we BOTH knew that this was it. I could stall him off for a few minutes, perhaps, but the end was inevitable.

Wilson

I'd known this guy from way back. I'd seen how he operated, and he wasn't the kind to change his mind. This constancy of nature made us respect him, but it also made us fear him. And I was scared now. I'd opened my mouth just once too often and I was going to pay for it. Of course, I might have argued the point. I could have told him that I didn't mean what I had said—that I was satisfied with things as they were. But I figured it would be futile. You only complain to this guy once. After that you don't have anything to complain ABOUT. Besides, he was enjoying this, by now. I could tell by the little smile that curled the left side of his mouth. He was looking forward to this job, and he was going to make the most of it. He knew that words would have made it easier, too, and that's why he wasn't saying anything. He wanted me to suffer for awhile before he did it And I WAS suffering. I was going through it a thousand times in my mind and, each time it felt like the real thing. I wasn't sure just HOW he was going to do it, but I knew that he wouldn't choose a method out of consideration for ME. It would be HIS way and that meant torture.

My cigarette was almost finished now and my heart was pounding so loud that I was sure he could hear it.

Finally, he spoke, and it was a kind of relief to me.

"Soon as you're through smoking," he said, "I'll pull that tooth."

In renewing the Hilltop Record for another year for our daughter, Mrs. C. L. Hull of St. Louis, Mo., I wanted you to know how very much she enjoys your newsy paper of the Hilltop folks. In her own words, she says:

"Thanks so much for sending us the Hilltop Record for another year. I sure enjoy it and the minute it arrives I take time out to sit right down and read it all through."

After she reads it then she passes it on to her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Short of Glendale, Mo., and former residents of the Hilltop.

Hilltop Record
One Sunday recently, I heard over the radio four (4) sermons on the Second Coming of Christ, and not one of them mentioned that the "Prince of this World" was to precede that event (Jn. 14,30).

While Jesus hung on the Cross, the rulers, chief priests, scribes and passers-by mocked Him with, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save." Mar. 15, 31. For Jesus to have forsaken the purpose for which He came into the world, would not have saved others.

The MAN today with more disciples than Christ, is Anti-Christ, and those disciples are not Christ's Disciples, though their names are on church records. "Ye err because ye know not the Scripture nor the power of God." (Mt. 22, 29). "As in the days of Noe, so will it be at Christ's Coming (Mt. 24, 27) Are you and I among the few?

A prayer for Easter—Lord open blind eyes!

Dear Mr. Hartley:
Please accept my sincere thanks for the lovely flowers and the recognition which you so graciously tendered me in regard to the Westgate Fire Engine House. These expressions are accepted most humbly and with the deepest appreciation.

I shall continue in my present capacity to serve the citizens of the Hilltop in any worthy cause on their behalf. I personally feel that every man owes something to God which can best be expressed and accomplished by unselfish service to his fellow-man.

It is with a sense of humility that I thus serve as president of the Hilltop Community Council.

Very truly yours,
C. O. Rawlings

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The Property Owners' Association of Franklin County, Ohio, at its regular semi-monthly meeting in the Neil House assembled Friday evening, March 5, unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the relocation of the Ohio State Fair Grounds, for the following reasons:

Because an ample acreage of cheap ground is available adjoining the present location to provide Ohio with one of the largest fairground sites in the United States, and within proximity to the Ohio State University, which seems to be a commendable idea;

Because the present location is more accessible and convenient, not only for Columbus residents on Columbus Day, but for the general public, for in most cases they have other errands in the city, while in attendance at the State Fair;

Because the relocation would cost millions of dollars more than to extend and improve the present location;

Because, we think that the voters of Ohio would approve, two to one, the present location.

The Property Owners' Association of Franklin County, Ohio, five hundred strong, vigorously oppose the relocation of the State Fair Grounds.

C. O. Chapman,
Secretary.

Dear Mr. Wichterman:
I want to thank you for the splendid column you wrote on the Cartoon Matinee held at the Westmont and six other Academy Theatres on Saturday, March 6.

The response received from enthusiastic parents has been very gratifying in all parts of the city. In this atomic era, too often the very young folks are neglected when producers discuss their plans around the conference table.

In response to your column's suggestion that we have special children's matinees once a month, you will be interested to know that, as a result of your kind words, we are making plans for a similar type of show for early in May.

Many thanks again for your enthusiastic cooperation.

Cordially yours,

Editor, Hilltop Record:
To the skeptic who asks, "What will I get out of a veteran organization, if I join one," permit me to cite them just a few national veteran figures who have been and still are active in veteran organizations, as evidence that it does pay to belong to the organized veterans.

President Harry Truman; Governor Herbert; Lt. Governor Paul Herbert; Sheriff Paul; Senator John Bricker; Justice Supreme Court Harold Burton; Congressman John Vorys, James Van Zandt; FOUR College Presidents of Ohio are veterans, Harvey Firestone, Jr., Col. E. A. Deeds, International Cash Register, William Umstaddt, Timken Roller Bearing Co., John S. Knight, Publisher, Akron, Detroit, Chicago and Miami, Paul Bellamy, Cleveland Plain Dealer Editor, as well as many well known Columbus veterans, prove conclusively that it does pay to join the organized veterans.

The veteran organizations have often been termed by the persons who judge them by the actions of a very small minority seen at conventions, etc., as a gang of hoodlums and just plain drunks.

The above list of well known veterans is ample rebuttal to that charge and is also proof of the fact that veterans do play a major role in the national life, through the present day veteran organizations.

Many of the above listed veterans have received their early training as officers and members of some veterans' organization and have been founded in the basic principles of true Americanism, as found in the work of all veteran organization work and laws.

Now, as never before in the history of man, must men and women of good will hand together to protect their own native land from aggression and to work with all nations who strive constantly for a true and lasting peace on earth. Will YOU lend your support by joining the veteran organization you are eligible to join?

BEACHCOMBER

Life and living, death and dying,
Mortal tides which ebb and flow,
Begin and end when tide is lowest,
Whether flood be high or low.

So, in rising and in falling
Measure not how high they reach,
But instead upon their ebbing,
What they leave upon the beach.

JOSE

One night I dined in Monterrey—
The place? It little mattered where.
The food? I knew not what I ate.
The cost? I soon forgot to care.

A youth came in, with spangled coat,
Embroidered trousers, scarlet vest,
Jet hair sombrero-crowned . . . he sang:
Each heart renewed its dearest quest.

Caught in the notes of his guitar,
The ageless passion of his song,
There burned the white flame of romance
By which the world is lured along:

It seemed that spring must always be,
That love must ever have its way.

What mattered time or place or fare
That night I dined in Monterrey!

THE CLEARANCE

We cleared the garret yesterday,
The rubbish that had lain for years
And gathered dust,
We brought to sunlight's better view
And found among discarded things,
A box of valued treasure.

We cleared our mind the self-same day,
Of rubbish that had gathered there,
We kept the best,
But threw away the idle thoughts,
The unkind word we might have said,
And found an untold pleasure.

The CROSS

For generations the Cross was an emblem of sorrow. pain and death.

Thieves, murderers and other transgressors of the law paid the penalty for their crimes on the Cross.

It was not until after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ that the Cross ceased to be an emblem of shame. It became the insignia of Christian Society with the promise that whosoever looked upon the Cross and believed would have life abundant and eternal.

Sunday, March 28, is Easter Sunday in every church throughout the land. Pastors will again tell the story of life, death and resurrection of this same Jesus who changed the Cross from one of death and disgrace to life, honor and glory.

You are invited to attend church somewhere Sunday. A welcome awaits you. You will hear a message that will help you bear your Cross without complaint.

The sponsors of this invitation take this method to urge you to attend the church of your choice this Easter.

Eternal Life

Lesson for March 28, 1948

"THE Lord has risen indeed," and because he lives, we too shall live. Easter is the day that reminds us of this blessed truth—the truth of eternal life. Well has Henry Burton expressed it in these lines:

"There's a light upon the mountains,
And the day is at the spring,
When our eyes shall see the beauty
And the glory of the King;
Weary was our heart with waiting,
And the night watch seemed so long,
But his triumph day is breaking,
And we hail it with a song.

"He is breaking down the barriers;
He is casting up the way;
He is calling for his angels
To build up the gates of day;
But his angels here are human,
Not the shining hosts above;
And the drumbeats of his army
Are the heartbeats of our love."

READ John 21:1-14 for the exquisite account of Jesus appearing to his disciples in the early morning at the sea of Tiberias. They had been toiling all night, and had taken nothing. Bringing their boat near to the shore, they saw one standing there, "but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus."

Dr. Newton

Jesus told them to cast their net on the right side of the ship, which they did, and they caught 153 "great fishes." Jesus then summoned them to breakfast. He had prepared the bread and fish on coals of fire. And they did eat.

• • •

BLESSED ASSURANCE

BEFORE his death, Jesus had said to his disciples, "Because I live, you will live also," John 14:19, but they did not fully grasp the meaning of the great words. But that morning on the sea shore, they understood. They remembered that he had died on the cross, and now they were assured that he was really alive, for this was the third time he had appeared unto the disciples after the resurrection.

How happy they must have been! How happy we should be on this recurring, Easter season, assured that he is alive evermore. And because he lives, we too shall live.

• • •

WHAT IS ETERNAL LIFE?

SUNDAY'S lesson leads us on to the answer to the question, What is eternal life? In Colossians 3:1-4 and 12-17, we have the declaration, "Your life is hid with Christ in God. . . " If we have believed on him — cast ourselves in implicit trust into his keeping — we have eternal life, which is his gift to every believing heart.

Paul goes on to admonish those who have "entered into life eternal," through faith in the riven, risen, reigning Saviour, to put on the garments of his presence and power and peace — kindness, humility, meekness, long-suffering, forbearance, forgiveness.

The evidence of eternal life is to be found in the fruits of the Spirit in our daily lives.

• • •

CERTAINTY OF ETERNAL LIFE

WE READ in John 17:3 this word of further assurance, "This is eternal life, that they know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." And in I John 5:11-12, we read, "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."

In another passage John tells that we know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren.

Easter is the day of eternal hope. It lifts above the fog of earthiness the glory of the blessed hope that fadeth not away. We have God's own testimony that we shall live with him forever, through Jesus Christ, our risen, reigning, returning Lord.

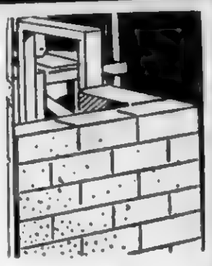
The Modern Kitchen Must Have Beauty As Well As Efficiency

Choose your kitchen as you would your wardrobe! Your kitchen, as well as the other rooms of your home, should be designed not only for comfort and efficiency, but should also be decorated for the charm of personal living.



In selecting a wardrobe, you usually start with a few good basic items and choose accessories for variety and color. Kitchen planning works on the same principle. Basically, your kitchen is a workroom and should be planned to simplify kitchen duties and shorten kitchen hours.

An efficient kitchen is designed around work centers. The refrigerator or food storage center provides storage space for fresh and frozen foods. Lighted cabinets store staples and canned goods, and also provide work surfaces. The refrigerator center should be adjacent to the outside door where deliveries are made. The electric sink or dishwashing center provides for automatic dishwashing and the disposal of all food wastes. Cabinets provide storage for dishes. The sink center should be located between the other work centers. The range or cooking center provides speed cooking, combined with cleanliness and safety. Lighted cabinets provide storage for utensils and work surfaces for food preparation and the use of small appliances. The range center should be near the dining room entrance to shorten serving distances.

Your work centers can be arranged in any of four basic designs—U-shaped, L-shaped, two-wall, or one-wall, depending on the size and shape of your room.

The U-shaped kitchen is an ideal arrangement, offering good spacing of work centers, plenty of work surfaces, and room for extra storage cabinets or appliances. It is a spacious room—organized for step-saving. The curved counter adjoining the range makes a convenient extra work surface and can double as a snack and serving bar.

Many Columbus People Suffer From Food Poisoning Dr. Kennedy Reports

Many people are poisoned in their own homes every year. They are victims of food poisoning caused by improper preparation and preservation of food, according to food experts of the Columbus Health Department.

Often persons who suffer from an upset stomach or other intestinal disturbances after a meal blame over-eating for their discomfort when, in reality, food poisoning is the cause.

Besides minor disturbances, food poisoning can result in serious illness. Five members of a family in Columbus ended the Christmas holiday week-end in a hospital. They all had eaten contaminated food. A ham had been cooked for Christmas dinner, and because the refrigerator was already filled to capacity with holiday food, the ham was left in the kitchen to stand at room temperature from Thursday to Sunday. When members of the family ate the ham on Sunday, they all became violently ill.

There are only two sure ways to preserve food—keep it hot or keep it cold. Heat kills bacteria and cold inhibits its growth. At room temperature bacteria thrive. And bacteria causes food poisoning.

There are 60 various kinds of communicable diseases transmitted from person to person. Of that number, 40 per cent can be transmitted through food.

Milk and meat have been found to be most susceptible to contamination. In fact, milk is used in the laboratories to culture bacteria. Therefore, particular care should be taken to avoid letting milk stand at room temperature.

To prevent food contamination in the home, Dr. Rufus Kennedy, supervisor of food inspection for the Columbus Department of Health, has outlined the following steps:

1. The refrigerator, where the food is kept before serving, should be thoroughly cleaned.

2. All utensils used in the preparation of food should be thoroughly sanitized by placing them in water of 170 degrees for at least two minutes.

3. To keep food cold enough, the temperature in the refrigerator should be under 50 degrees.

4. When pre-cooking or partially cooking part of a meal, the food must be kept either hot or cold until time to serve.

5. Cooked food which is not to be used immediately should be placed in a refrigerator right away.

Lots Of Milk

Ever stop to think about the risks you take? Safety first, last, and always is a fine motto, but, it is not always put into practice, says the Columbus Milk Council. Sure, you use safety devices, the newest gadgets, even wear protective clothing, but—do you use good sense when it comes to safety in your eating habits? That body of yours is long suffering, no question about it. It's remarkable the way it tries hard to get your appreciation and cooperation. Your body doesn't scream out at you and break down in the middle of High-st. Instead, it blinks its caution lights—you can't sleep or eat, you have no pep but plenty of nasty aches and pains. Then you have no patience, instead an irritable disposition.

To keep fit, just follow these simple safety rules for eating habits:

1. Three meals a day at a regular time—breakfast, lunch and dinner—add snacks if you should.

2. At least a pint of milk each day for an adult. More won't hurt you. It's not restricted to babies!

There's really joy in eating. Don't think that safety in eating habits deprives you of happiness. To be sure, safety first, last and always adds to the zest of living.

MAILBOX . . . IS CAT'S DOOR

Fluffy, year-old cat belonging to the Phillip Peterson family of Chicago, uses the mailbox to get into the house (left), scrambling up the brick wall and emerging inside (right), where Mrs. Peterson looks on. The Peterson children educated Fluffy to the trick so they wouldn't have to bother with opening the door.

Vegetables Are A Menu "Must"

Vegetables are an every day table "must" in most homes where a completely rounded menu is worked out. Try these tempting dishes on your family this week.

Recipe for Cooking Dried Vegetables

Place in cold water to soak over night, to loosen any grit they may contain, then wash in cold water the number of times necessary. Put on stove to cook in cold water. When they boil down, add hot water as may be necessary. Add salt and ground black pepper just before they are fully cooked to flavor as may be desired.

Stuffed Baked Peppers

Six large green peppers; ½ cup hot boiled rice; 2/3 cup moist bread crumbs; ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon white pepper; 2 tablespoons butter; ¼ tablespoon celery salt; ¼ cup diced bacon; 1 medium onion, chopped fine; 1 cup tomato pulp. Cut stems from peppers, remove seeds and parboil five minutes in water, to which ⅛ teaspoon baking soda is added. Fry out bacon, dice in saucepan, add onion and cook slowly until onion is brown. Pour over rice and bread crumbs, add seasonings and ½ cup tomato pulp. Mix thoroughly, and stuff with pepper cases. Place peppers in deep baking dish; cover thickly with buttered crumbs. Add a little water to remaining ½ cup tomato pulp, and pour around peppers. Bake slowly in oven for 40 minutes.

Lyonnaise Potatoes

Six boiled potatoes; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 onion, chopped fine; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon minced parsley; 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Cook butter and onions in an omelet pan, add the potatoes and seasoning, mix and saute a nice brown. Just before serving add parsley and lemon juice.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes

Wash 6 medium-sized potatoes. Bake in a hot oven for about 40 minutes. Cut slice from each end, scoop out inside and mash well, adding ½ cup of cream, 2 tablespoons of butter, a little nutmeg, salt and pulp of 1 canned pimiento. Refill shells with this mixture, sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake until well browned.

Use Tapered Darts To Alter Neckline

Pattern alterations are not difficult if you make the alterations before cutting out your garment. Sometimes, though, when you have made certain the pattern fits perfectly around waist, hips, or bosom, there is still an unattractive pulling near the neckline. This usually occurs with women who have square shoulders.

To alter this situation, pin the pattern together at shoulder and underarm seams. If, after trying on the garment, you find that the shoulder slope of the pattern is higher at the neck, a dart across the front and back will make the shoulder slope smooth.

Be careful when making the dart to allow for smooth tapering. The dart should taper from nothing at the armhole to the needed amount at the neck edge. Baste the dart before sewing.

Fashion Forecast For Spring - Summer, 1948: Navy Is Leading Color For That "New Look"

When shopping for a new wardrobe for this coming spring and summer, what new fashions can women expect to find? Plenty of new ones, say the fashion editors, and all stamped with 1948 style character. They will find more fashions comprising narrower, more rounded, more natural shoulders; smooth, neat bodices; the most flattering of little waistlines; and skirts long and full—but this spring they're not too long and not too full, and some are narrow.

The big new STYLE TYPE for spring of 1948 is the full-length coat paired with a dress to make a complete costume. This ensemble will be found in all price lines.

The BIG COLOR for spring is incontestably navy. This is one spring when black plays second-fiddle to navy, and it's navy across the board—in coats, in suits, in daytime dresses, in afternoon and cocktail dresses. Navy accessories and navy shoes give greater strength to this navy fashion.

The trend toward softer, prettier, romantic fashions is reflected in everything from ready-to-wear through millinery and accessories. Pastel colors, especially mauves, lilac and lavender shades, corroborate this feminine fashion mood.

This, then is the style story in general terms. Specific style types for the coming season are described by Women's Wear Daily fashion experts as follows:

Double Choice In Coats

IN COATS—The customer has two choices for her 1948 spring coat—the long way or the short way. She also has two choices in color—the light way or the dark way. The long coat is the important coat for spring. It is snugly fitted at the waistline, fully flared, and long enough to cover dresses 12 inches from the floor. Navy is a welcome choice in these long coats. There are plenty of navy accessories this season to complete the costume; and there are pastels to give new contrast. Chamois yellow gloves are coming back again, and to match the gloves there are chamois toned pearls. This feeling for pastel gloves and pearls is expressed in all the blossom tints.

The short way in coats brings the favorite topper or shortie into prominence again. That comfortable toss-on topper that is easy over suits as well as dresses may be hip hugging in the newest cocoon silhouette, or loose and flare-back like any abbreviated domino.

IN SUITS—The newest story concerns the short jacket and flared skirt. This is translated into fabrics of all types, even in men's wear worsteds. For the customer who wants a classic tailor-made, there is still a good choice—again shoulders are narrower, waistline small, and skirt slim and easy

Capes—And More Capes

CAPES—deserve special mention because they register all the way along the line. Full-length and hip-length capes in wool; elbow-length capes in print to match a print dress; capes in fur—these are all wonderful new choices for spring.

In Dressses—The narrower shoulders and taut bodice, the little waist and full skirt get beautiful expression in dresses for spring—in the prints, which range all the way from all-over abstracts to neat geometrics and a whirl of polka-dots; and in the plains, which give top place to navy. In addition to all the one-piece dresses, which are decidedly softer and prettier for spring, there are dress types which are decidedly softer and prettier for spring, there are dress types which are complete costumes in themselves.

The cape ranging from elbow-length to full length; the bolero, from bust length to waist-length smooth fitting, wrapped snug like a little cocoon or flare at back; the fitted jacket—all these added to dresses, speak up for the costume look.

The petticoat dress is already one of the pets of spring; this means the full-skirted dress with separate whirling ruffled petticoat as well as the dress with petticoat frothing at the hemline.

In formal fashions, watch for the ankle-length as the newest and smartest length in evening dresses. One good interpretation of this type pairs crisp ankle-length skirt with lingerie or tucked chiffon blouse. In elaborate evening dresses in floor-length look at the really old-fashioned dresses with a Victorian air—they are very new fashion for 1948, especially in rich, stiff fabrics.

Sportswear Goes Feminine

IN SPORTSWEAR — Femininity is paramount from the most classic active sports types to the softest dresses suitable for cocktails and dancing.

Separates promise to be tremendous right through summer; skirts and blouses are the No. 1 candidates, along with jackets, for medium and popular price spring and summer selling. And even more separates for summer play.

Sunback dresses are building up sky-high for summer promotions and selling. These reflect the importance of strapless bodices in swim and play clothes as well. The importance of capelets, shawls and scarfs, in addition to jackets of all kinds, make these dresses suitable for street wear.

Softened casual dresses reflect the major silhouette trends of the year. The most classic houses have softened up in their spring and summer lines, and the same may be said for summer suit dresses.

There are many good fashion reasons for a big swim suit season in 1948. First is the return of elasticized fabrics of natural rubber, many of these combined with metallics. Straplessness is a big feature of classic models and dressmaker suits as well. There are also plenty of pretty and frilly suits for swim and play wear. Beach ensembles of many kinds—skirts and jackets over swim suits, a well as many variations of the beach coat—carry the costume look into the sportswear department.

Hats Are Flat

IN MILLINERY — Plateau types are newest, flat and usually undulating, and sloping "like the roofs of Paris." These fit with the entire feeling for romanticism in hat design, which applies not only to silhouettes but also to colors and trimmings. The flat effect also appears in round, small berets with a padded look, with and without narrow visors; in "in clover hats" which have the four-corner curves but remain flat and head-fitting. Renoir bonnets which are small and frame the face are part of the fragile look in spring millinery.

Complementing the feeling for feminine effects are the timid colors — the wheat-to-beige family, pale grays, pink, mauve and pale yellow, also glacier green.

Bass Soloist

Ivan K. Reed

The singing postman might well describe one act of the 19th Hilltop Minstrel featuring Ivan K. Reed in the role of bass soloist.

A postal carrier on the Hilltop for 30 years, Reed now works out of the main post office and has 32 years service to his credit. He possesses a deep rich bass voice that has been heard in many of the past minstrels where he has been a member of the Hilltop Male Chorus. Only twice in the past has he taken solo roles.

Reed lives at 894 S. Hague-av. For several years he has directed the choir at the Hilltop Church of Christ.

Comedy – Dancing – Good Music Just A Few Of The Many Features Of The 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show

There was a time when Uncle Sam
Could exercise his powers
Well within his income,
And quite outside of ours
Grace Fisher, Mich.

If things always went to suit us, we believe we'd enjoy life a great deal more.

"What is the largest possible number?" asks a magazine. Offhand, we'd say it was the number of ways the average woman can answer a question without saying yes or no.

The late Wilson Mizner once said, "A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while he learns something." Maybe so, but it must be a slow process, as those who do most of the talking invariably know very little.

"An unusual hobbyist is a Kansas woman who has collected 8,000 buttons."—newspaper filler. Unusual? We thought there was one in every laundry.

We don't believe a can can see in the dark one bit better than the small boys who dash into a movie house off a sunny street and rush down the dark aisle at top speed.

Being president of the Hilltop Business Association becomes more than just an extra activity, especially at minstrel time. Joe Goodwin, 53 N. Westgate-av, is rapidly finding that out as the night of the show's opening draws near.

Joe operates Goodwin's Pharmacy at 2772 Sullivant-av. In addition to his activities with the HBA and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, he is also a leader in central Ohio pharmacy groups.

Men To Wear More Town Wear

Men will find that clothes designed especially for town wear have a more dressed-up look than for some time. Coats, suits and accessories are all styled with a marked formal note and are detailed with artfully subtle fabric patterns and tailoring construction. Guard model coats, Chesterfields and Homburg hats, worn with very conservative shirts, will be high fashion notes for urbanites.

In suits there is a tendency towards modified square shoulders and a straight-hanging back. The extra-full drape is gone. Double-breasted jackets continue to stress a low-waisted look. Three-button styles are expected to show a great gain in favor among single-breasted suits. Jacket sleeves are more noticeably tapered.

New topcoat styles stress lower button placement, roomier cut and the revival of patterned fabrics. One new model is a roomy raglan with a very full skirt and military collar. These features give the coat a truly casual and sporty air and make it highly desirable for comfort in traveling as well as for general use. Topcoats meant for town and dress-up wear are slightly fitted, come in single and double-breasted models, and will be available in wider color ranges of fine coverts and tweeds.

The 1948 sports jackets are featuring single-breasted designs with three buttons and three patch pockets. Most of these are very light in weight and some are longer than before, with two rear vents and slanted pockets. Fancy backs with shirring and half-belts have been revived somewhat in the newest models. Many new colors have been added in this field, since men will accept new color ideas most readily in their leisure clothes. Slacks to wear with these also come in a greater color variety. These bring new interest with added colors in flannels and featherweight worsted gabardines. Color offerings in all sportswear include bright shades of rust, blue, green and yellow.

Gabardine's Versatile

Gabardine emerged in the current Men's Fashion Guild of New York offerings as the most important men's fabric of the year. Prominently featured in almost every item of a man's wardrobe, sleek gabardine has been tailored into handsome topcoats, suits, leisure jackets, and slack ensembles, sport shirts and swim trunks.

Paris Offers Treat The Kids

Stores all over the United States are now able to offer American children high fashion clothes with a French flavor hitherto beyond their reach—through the efforts of Dominique, Parisian couture house making infants' and children's custom fashions. M. Rene Mola, designer and head of the firm, has brought a selection of his Paris models to American manufacturers and he himself has carefully supervised their execution. The clothes are scaled to American children's sizes and made under American methods of production.

The models in the collection include dresses and coats and range from christening and infants' dresses through teen age costumes. Dresses for youngsters from two to six are carried out in lustrous cotton broadcloths and fine cotton cords, and are identical with those of the seven to fourteen group so that little sister and big sister may dress alike. The coats in corresponding sizes are made in fine wool fabrics of check and tweed patterns as well as solid flannels. The teen age dresses include two three-piece costumes with short bolero jackets and full skirts becoming that age group.

Ben Rothchild, coordinator for the American manufacturers who are making the replicas of these fashions, believes with M. Mola in the necessity of simplicity of line in children's clothes with room for freedom of action and careful adaptation of the mode of the moment to the needs of the young. The good taste and common sense representative in the Dominique group have led to its acceptance in high style department and specialty stores all over the United States.

New items will be added and the fashions will be expanded as circumstances prove desirable. In the future, it is quite possible that shoes, millinery, carriage robes, knit items and other goods will be added. The first group to reach consumers will be fashions for spring, 1948. To help launch them successfully, M. Mola has come to this country to appear personally in the stores featuring the Dominique designs to discuss the basis of successful designing for youth, with store executives and customers.

Made for Admiration

The picture for spring, '48, is a pretty one with all of the fashions soft and lady-like in line and detail, each one destined to catch an admiring glance from fellow man!

Hurry,
Whether the waitress is lovely, enchanting,
Or homely and looks like a frump,
Depends upon whether she's serving your neighbor,
Or coming to you on the jump.
Edna Herron, Ill.

He's Arrived

Keith Miller

Keith Miller feels that as an entertainer he has finally "arrived."

Keith plays an accordion—plays it very well as a matter of fact. For several years now he has watched the Hilltop Minstrel shows and hoped for the time when he could step into the spotlight as one of the entertainers. But Keith has a conservative estimate of his own ability, so in spite of prompting from friends, he has shied away from appearing for a tryout in the show.

A few weeks ago he was playing for hospital patients in the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital. His music was so well received that another member of the entertaining party insisted that he put in his bid for a spot in the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel. Keith followed that advice and was given a place on the program.

He is an honor student at West High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Miller, 369 Nashoba-av.

Minstrel Money Helps Finance Community Work

Have you ever wondered how much of a financial venture the Hilltop Minstrel really is?

A glance at the record books for last year's show reveals that ticket sales for the three nights totaled $2532 but all but $565 of that amount went back into the cost of putting on the entertainment. In fact $1967 was the total of all bills relevent to the 1947 three-night performance.

Here are some of the larger items of expense. Rental of the school building for the three performances and two rehearsals amounted to $195. It cost $320 to costume the show. Scenery and professional stage hands cost $165. Police protection must be provided at any public gathering of this kind. This amounted to $50. Music, including the orchestra, accompanists and something for the Hilltop Male Chorus for its work came to $500. Another $500 went to the state and federal government for admissions tax.

So you can see that while the HBA deals in fairly large figures it pays it out in almost like sums.

Here are a few of the projects that the HBA contributed to or sponsored entirely during 1947. This of course did not come from minstrel receipts alone.

The organization purchased a new loud speaker for use on Magly Field and bought a new microphone for the auditorium. It helped the West High School band; purchased raincoats and galoshes for grade school safety patrols; helped with the work of the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts; sent a boy to the Buckeye Boys' State; made contributions to local playgrounds; supported the YMCA, the Red Cross, the Community Fund, the Disabled American Veterans and helped many local churches by purchasing ads in programs or in other ways; made contributions to the Columbus Zoo, the Philharmonic, the Civic Opera Club and the Franklinton Sesquicentennial.

Director

C. C. Hartley

Flowers and brickbats are the two extreme audience reactions most producers can expect at one time or another. Seasoned by years of experience at producing minstrels on the Hilltop, C. Carlton Hartley, director of this year's show, takes it all in stride.

Tempermental performers, irate mothers whose offspring fails to rate a spot in the show, must be dealt with diplomatically. Years of experience at dealing with the public have given him a sympathetic understanding of such situations that tends toward harmony throughout the show.

Between minstrel shows Hartley publishes The Hilltop Record and the Greenfield Daily Times. He lives at 1370 Wilson-rd.

There's Fun For Young And Old In The 19th Annual Show

The stage of West High School Auditorium, home of the Cowboys of athletic fame, will take on a strong western flavor as the curtain goes up next Wednesday night on the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel.

Curtain time is set for 8:15 p. m. for two full hours of comedy, song and dance that will be repeated on April 1 and 2. C. Carlton Hartley, a veteran of many past shows, is again directing the production sponsored by the Hilltop Business Association.

The western theme will be carried out in the curtain backdrop, the attire of the Hilltop Male Chorus, the type of music and songs throughout the show. Even the six end men will don chaps and spurs along with their burnt cork makeup to sing western songs and make with the merriment.

The show will get under way with the Chorus singing "All Around the Hilltop," an original song done to the tune of "Deep In The Heart of Texas." The number was written especially for the show by O. H. Craft, local real estate dealer and song writer.

A newcomer to the middle-stage spot of interlocutor this year is M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner. Funnymen will include Leo Phillips, Bill Coon, Al Bettinger, and George Hardy, all veterans of one or more shows; newcomer Franklin (Duke) Reynolds, and Lee Koontz, who has had many spots in past minstrels but never before as an end man.

Here is a sample of what's in store for minstrel goers this year:

Blonde Jinx Jordan, better known as Jinx Witherspoon, will be heard in a blues number.

Song and dance routines of George and Jackie Hardy.

Allan Snoddy, a hit in last year's show, will again be featured in the tenor vocalist spot.

Dance instructor, Eddie Walker, and David Fisher, one of his pupils will do a fast tap routine.

Herb Germaine, trombonist, with Mac Tooill's orchestra, will do a "slip horn" specialty.

Keith Lovewell and her Novelteers will be seen in "Red Silk Stockings and the Green Perfume."

Mac Tooill's band will be featured in an orchestra number.

Diane Kay (Mary K. Marchant) will do her "Saber Dance."

The Cline Sisters, Jerry, Kitty and Shirley, will harmonize on "April Showers."

Lois Fuller will be seen in a Spanish Dance routine.

Nancy Bailey will appear in a tap number.

The Hilltop Male Chorus will sing "Dry Bones" and another selection.

Mary Jo Cramer and Philip Goldslager will represent the small fry talent with their novelty dance.

Of course no minstrel show would be complete without a male quartet.

Local mail man, Ivan Reed, will hit the low notes in a bass solo.

Dorothy Hartley returns to the show again this year singing "Golden Earrings."

Keith Miller will entertain with accordion selections.

Each of the end men will do some specialty number.

Of course that's not the order of the program and its by no means all that is in store for show-goers. Director Hartley promises at least a laugh per minute in the fast-moving show.

Interlocutor

Jack Sensenbrenner

Serving as interlocutor of a minstrel show is one of the few jobs that M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, 335 Guernseyav, has not undertaken at one time or another. But he's always game to give it a try.

Jack has headed more drives, served on more committees and made more speeches during the past four or five years than perhaps any other individual in the community. He is at home before an audience and can be expected to keep things moving in true minstrel style.

We don't know where our money goes. But we do know where goes that portion paid as income taxes — and we don't like it.

In the current session of the United Nations delegates seem determined to leave no stone unthrown and no name uncalled.

Ducat Seller

Lowell Sullivan

The most sought-after-man on the Hilltop each year just before minstrel time is the person who handles the tickets to the show. This year Lowell Sullivan, insurance man with offices at 2211 W. Broad-st, has that responsibility. Some changes have been made this year in the method of handling the show ducats as all seats will be on a reserved basis.

Lowell has been one of the work horses in the Hilltop Business Association the past three or four years. As one of the membership committee, he has signed up many local firms as members of the organization. This year he heads the membership group largely responsible for building the present roster to close to the 150-mark.

WHAT A GREAT SHOW

The Hilltop Business Association puts on each year for the Hilltop in the noted

HILLTOP MINSTREL

That's why folks have looked forward to it yearly for 19 years and jammed the hall to the doors.

AND

For 38 years these same people and their parents have consistently patronized SEILLER'S—the popular store for all the family—where they always find nationally advertised clothing and household needs at economical prices.

Have you discovered these two great Hilltop Institutions?

Local Dancers Form Snappy Chorus Line

Keith's Novelteers, a high-stepping line of local dancing girls, will again appear with the Hilltop Minstrel. This year their routine will be worked around the novelty number "Red Silk Stockings and the Green Perfume."

Here's a story of a roaring mining town and some gals who really knew their way around. They still talk of that event, cause the way they came and went. They took that town and turned it upside down with their red silk stockings and their green perfume. They blew into this man's town with the silver boom, never was any trouble but they started some soon, with their red silk stockings and their green perfume.

The above story is told in dance form by the following group of dancers:

The miners: David Grannan and Keith Lovewell.

Deep rivers empty themselves almost noiselessly, yet make the largest contribution to the sea.

Some of the new model cars have scarcely enough ground clearance to pass over a pedestrian.

A man is drunk when he feels sophisticated and can't pronouncee it.

Veteran Singer

Leo Phillips

Almost as much of an institution in the community as the Hilltop Minstrel itself is Leo Phillips, veteran end man, chorus director and interlocutor.

Leo, a retired police officer, has been an end man in most of the past shows but last year directed the Hilltop Male Chorus and served as interlocutor another year. He will join the "burnt cork" boys for the merrymaking again this year and take a turn at vocalizing.

Broadcast Of Minstrel Was Problem In '40

Each of the 18 past Hilltop Minstrels has presented problems peculiar to the time they were presented. The show of 1940 was no exception.

Back in those days it was not uncommon for Bud Sweeney to bring his WHKC microphone out on the stage of West High School to broadcast a portion of the show for central Ohio listeners. On this particular year Bud put in his appearance as usual on the final night of the show to do his broadcast but that was when his troubles began.

Music lovers may recall that at that time Ascap was feuding with the networks over the use of their protected songs. Most popular (and many unpopular) tunes were on the restricted list and could not be broadcast. Bud took one look at the evening's program and his brow took on a troubled expression. Hardly anything in the show (in the musical line) could go over the air.

A hurried conference was called with C. C. Hartley, director of the show, Dale Gilliland, chorus director, and some of the soloists. After some discussion, the program was re-arranged so that Sweeney could pick up a few songs, some end man jokes and a little of the color of the show for his 30-minute stint.

That was the last time a broadcast was ever attempted directly from the show itself.

Teacher, Pupil Act Is Slated

A teacher and pupil dance act will be a part of the Hilltop Minstrel this year.

It will feature Eddie Walker, 240 Demorest-av, dance instructor, and David Fisher, 8-years-old, in a rhythm dance. David is another veteran of last year's show.

The thing that keeps men broke is not the golf at the door, but the silver fox in the window.

Fashion note: Men's pockets are being worn much flatter.

Appearing For The 8th Time

Jackie and George Hardy

Appearing for the eighth consecutive time in the Hilltop Minstrel will be Jackie and George Hardy, a father and daughter act that has been a hit each year.

George will hold down one of the end man chairs. Daughter Jackie, 15, will join him in some snappy dance routines. George is president of the West High Alumni Association and is well known around Columbus as an arbiter of amateur athletic events.

Jackie is an 11A student at West High School.

Maestro Tooill To Play Show

As much a part of the Hilltop Minstrel as the show itself is Maestro Mac Tooill whose orchestra will be playing for its 10th show this year. Although a native of the North Side, Mac takes a personal interest in every number in the show and over the years has been one of its most enthusiastic boosters.

Mac plays piano and provides accompaniment for most of the show's numbers. The band will be featured this year in a specialty number.

One of the better-known members of the band again this year is Herb Germaine, trombonist extraordinary. He will be spotlighted in a solo number.

As a general rule, you're wasting time when you use soft soap on a sore head.

They Select Costumes For Show

Clarence Story

Paul Leighninger

Finding costumes for a cast of more than 100 performers requires a bit of doing and the two men selected to handle this chore for the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel know something about clothes. Clarence Story, who operates a dry cleaning establishment at 2420 W. Broad-st, is one of those handy men to have any time there is a show to put on.

Paul Leighinger, his coworker, is a member of Seiler's Department Store organization at 2404-12 W. Broad-st. Paul is active in sports promotion on the Hilltop, particularly with the youth. He is an active member of the West High Booster Club.

W. High Girls Form Line

New to the minstrel show this year will be a chorus line made up of girls from West High School.

Latest information has it that their number will be of the "can can" variety and will be built around the tune "How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm". The girls have been working hard for a spot in the show.

"A bee flies 5,000 miles to produce a pound of honey."—Newspaper filler. And then somebody steals the pound of honey. It is no wonder that a bee's disposition seems always to be terrible.

Customers looked curiously at the bowlegged floorwalker who kept saying, "Walk this way, please."

Dear Jack and I would like to wed,
And have a flat in town;
But if father doesn't settle up,
We'll never settle down.
Alberta M. Knoch, Cal.

Tuneful Trio

Again meet the Cline Sisters.

A favorite with minstrel goers last year, they're back again this year with their own tuneful arrangement of "April Showers." The girls, Jerry, Kitty and Shirley (reading in the usual manner) are really sisters, too. They live at 33 Powhatan-av.

Their sweet harmony and exacting rhythm has been heard on several entertainments around town during the past couple of years.

Tenor Soloist

Allan Snoddy

A hit last year with his singing of "Caroline", Allan Snoddy will be back in the role of tenor soloist again this year. Although he has lived in Columbus less than two years, he has built up quite a reputation as a soloist throughout the city.

Snoddy is a native of St. Joseph, Mo.

The Way of the World

The fashions come, the fashions go—
Now longer skirts, now shorter—
But everything that women wear
Makes prude reformers tear their hair
And say they hadn't oughter.
Miss Colleen Springer, Okla.

Beware of the girl with the baby stare; a man is safer in the electric chair.

Male Quartet To Harmonize

Strictly on the "barber shop" side.

That pretty well describes the singing of a male quartet that will step into the spotlight for a novelty medley in the 19th Hilltop Minstrel.

Personnel of the foursome includes Paul Alden, 760 Chesterahire-rd, first tenor; Jack Swicegood, 309 S. Warren-av, second tenor; John Glass, 593 Wiltshire-rd, baritone, and David Camp, 188 S. Terrace-av, bass.

The boys have been doing considerable singing together in recent months. All are students at West High School, three are members of the Hilltop Male Chorus.

New Funmaker

Duke Reynolds

Franklin (Duke) Reynolds, one of the six end men for the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel, admits that he will be making his debut as an entertainer when the curtain goes up Wednesday night.

It's a safe bet that if he gives out with the same brand of humor on the stage that his customers at Helen's Sandwich Shop get daily, his part in the show should be a hit.

Duke grew up on the Hilltop and attended school at John Burroughs the first day the building was used. He has a daughter at North High School, but is an ardent West fan, being an active member of the West High Boosters Club.

The federal government is that incomprehensible agency which pulls such stunts as burning potatoes by the carload to keep prices at high level, and then launches investigations to find out why food is scarce and prices are high.

To a New Car

Twinkle, twinkle, little car.
How I wonder where you are,
I ordered you a year ago,
But my dealer still says "No."
Maurice Seitter, Ill.

Bill Coon

Back again in the role of end man is Bill Coon, one of last year's comedians.

A former acrobat on the professional stage, Bill enjoys singing and entertaining of the minstrel variety. He is also a western horse fancier. He has his own horse which he rides in western horse shows throughout this area.

Minstrel Fans From Far & Near

The Hilltop Business Association (previously known as the Hilltop Business Men's Association prior to 1947) was organized in 1927 with a handful of members. Today it enjoys a membership of almost 150.

Easily its outstanding and most widely-known accomplishment has been the production of the annual minstrel shows that rival in popularity the Pumpkin Show of Circleville and other outstanding projects of a similar nature throughout the state. The Hilltop Minstrel is known far and wide. Every year out-of-town minstrel fans call, write and come in person in hopes of getting a seat in what is usually a packed house.

The HBA has been a leading factor in creating community spirit over its 20-year history. Its work has not been limited to the production of good entertainments. It has contributed to the support of school projects, encouraged its members to be more business-like in their operations, has fostered "buy on the Hilltop" campaigns and played a leading role in fighting for civic improvements when the need arose.

Stage Settings Important To Minstrel

The West High stage crew is a very essential part of any assembly, play, basketball game, dance or any activity connected with "lights, action, and camera," which is given at the local school. The boys and their advisor, Mrs. Evelyn Hall, spent much time in preparing the lighting effects, plans, etc., for this year's Hilltop Minstrel show.

The job of stage hand is not a "fly by night" affair as some may think. Whenever there is an early morning assembly the stage must be readied for its occupants long before the first bell sounds. And after school it's back to the grind again, not to mention all the hours that are spent on the "effects" after the evening meal, while a production is underway.

When a play or variety show is in the offing, Mrs. Hall and her proteges go to work immediately and draw a sketch from which to make the necesary backdrop. The drop is painted to fit in with the general theme of the production.

Another interesting aspect of the stage crew is that they make many of their own props. Their one problem (anyhow an important one) is that with study halls in the auditorium and a class in a room behind the stage, they have a very limited area in which to use their paints, hammers, etc.

Mrs. Hall doesn't have to go begging for stage helpers either. It's considered an honor to be one of the crew, and each fall a list of 100 or 150 boys is submitted to her as potential stage workers.

Fast Stepper

Nancy Bailey

A specialist in fast tap routines is Nancy Bailey, a senior at West High School.

Nancy, who lives at 821 S. Eureka-av, appeared in the 1946 edition of the Hilltop Minstrels as the feminine half of a dance duo with Pete South.

Many are beginning to fear that millions of Europeans will be content with a hand-to-mouth existence as long as the hand is Uncle Sam's and the mouth is theirs.

Lies not in doing what one likes
But in liking what one has to do.

—Frank Kiernan, N. Y

"Eating Can Kill You."—Title of a magazine article. Not at the rate we can afford to do it.

Dr. C. O. Miller Has Been In Every Show

"The other war being over, and being too old for this one, I've been in all the Minstrels."

This is the reasoning of Dr. C. O. Miller, who, according to records kept by Bob Nichols, is the only member of the Hilltop Male Chorus to appear in all of the 19 shows.

"W. Haydn Jones, director of the group, came to me one day and invited me to join a chorus he was forming," said Miller. "I was in my office next to the Hillcrest Baptist Church, and a few nights later 'all eight' of us were rehearsing in the church parlors." This was the beginning of the Hilltop Male Chorus.

The eight original members of the singing group were W. Haydn Jones, director, Bob Nichols, Henry Jones, Roy Hastings, Cliff Kohn, Dr. C. H. Lose, Dr. C. H. Campbell and Dr. Miller. Ethel Greiser was the pianist. J. Howard Young was director of the music committee.

The chorus of eight men was organized officially in October of 1931. They called themselves "The Hilltop Business Men's Association Male Chorus."

Dr. Miller, an optometrist thinks the thrill of the first minstrel back in 1930 was the highlight of all the shows in which he has appeared. And in his office, at 2484 W. Broad-st he has a program of that first minstrel, called "The All Hilltop Minstrel Frolic." He took part in a skit, "The Missing Umbrella," and in the program the characters for the playlet are listed as Dr. Black—R. D. Hastings; Patient—C. C. Miller; Nurse—Lucille Miller; and Cheerful Henry—Carlton Hartley.

"Another thing I remember," said Doc, with a laugh, "was in the 1933 Minstrel when they reduced the price of the tickets from 35c to 10c. That really brought a crowd!"

Sings Of "Golden Earrings"

Dorothy Hartley

Returning to the Hilltop Minstrel after an absence of several years is Dorothy Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd. She appeared in her first local minstrel show while still a student at West High School where she frequently sang in duets with Robert Ferguson.

Later she sang solos in several of the shows. This year she is singing "Golden Earrings." Mrs. Hartley, the former Dorothy Clark, is the wife of C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of The Hilltop Record and director of the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel.

The Hilltop Male Chorus gained much of its publicity through the fact that just before that '33 Minstrel they won the Jackson Eisteddfod, a competitive singing event. The chorus presented a 20 minute concert that year.

Dr. and Mrs. Miller reside at 105 Binns-blvd. They have four children, Mrs. O. L. Anderson, Mrs. Ed Aufderheide, Pauline Miller, a senior at West High, and Victor Miller, in the research department at OSU.

The trouble with most would-be uplifters is that they make you feel lower than ever.

Sensenbrenner Gets Plenty Of Advice And All "For Free"

If advice is of any help to an emcee, Jack Sensenbrenner should really be a wow in his role of interlocutor in the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel.

From the very first day that the announcement appeared in The Hilltop Record that Jack was to be the front man in the show, his telephone has been ringing constantly. Most of the calls have been friendly advice to "keep the show clean" and tips in general for ways to improve the show.

Jack takes it all in stride and by curtain time should be one of the best coached interlocutors the show has ever had.

Record Campaigned For Reserved Seats

Following the presentation of the eighth annual minstrel show back in 1937, The Hilltop Record in a front page editorial strongly advocated the adoption of the reserved seat plan.

While this idea has been adopted in modification for several years during the 10-year period that followed, this is the first year that all three nights of the show have been put on an all-reserved seat basis.

A chip on the shoulder always indicates that there is wood higher up.

To Appear In "Saber Dance"

Diane Kaye

That "professional touch" will be given to the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel by Diane Kaye, better known to her Hilltop friends as Mary K. Marchant.

Diane (or Mary, as you prefer) first appeared in the Hilltop Minstrel eight years ago as the feminine half of the dance duo of Marchant and Moore. She and her dancing partner, Firman Moore (now a student at Ohio State University) were called back for a second performance the following year, then she went professional.

For the past five years Miss Marchant has danced in hotels and supper clubs throughout Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Pennsylvania. She has always been billed as a solo act specializing in tap routines. In this year's minstrel show she will do her "Saber Dance."

During the past several weeks she has been learning a new role — that of homemaker. Other than a few one-performance appearances, Miss Marchant has retired from professional dancing in preparation for her marriage some time this summer. Her husband-to-be is Ronald Maggard, manager of a Newport, Ky., night club. She met him several months ago while appearing in his club.

Although she has been "on the road" most of the time since leaving the Hilltop, she has made it her business to get back home for most of the minstrel shows since her last appearance with the cast. The former West High School student studied dancing locally under Jimmy Rawlins, Jack Sherick and some ballet under Jorg Fasting. She and Firman Moore went to the finals in a talent hunt put on at the Palace Theater by Frankie Masters in 1942.

About the only voice a man gets in running the home is the invoice.

Press Agent

Curtis G. Wilcox

No minstrel show could be a success without an effective press agent. Handling the "down town" contact among newspapers and radio people is the job that almost annually falls to Curtis G. Wilcox. In fact he's handled the publicity so effectively that newsmen annually seek him out for the "inside dope" on the coming shows. Curt, who lives at 2997 Palmetto-st, is with the downtown office of Ohio National Bank.

Last year the Dispatch Magazine Section featured a full color photograph of Harold Greene, an end man in the 18th show. Few entertainments in the city receive more "ink" than the Hilltop Minstrels.

The seaman stood rather timidly before his commanding officer.

"You see," he said, my wife thinks I ain't being advanced fast enough. She told me to ask you to recommend me for a rate."

"I understand," smiled the CO, "and I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll ask my wife if I can."

Ad Salesman

Ira Claggett

The job of heading the advertising committee for the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel is an important one for it is from that source that most of the revenue is realized. A former confectionery operator, Claggett now heads his own real estate organization at 2630 W. Broad-st.

That he has done a good job on the advertising is evidenced by the size of this minstrel supplement of The Hilltop Record.

Local Dentist Wrote '32 Minstrel Score

Dr. C. H. Lose, 2657 W Broad-st, a dentist, wrote the melody for the opening number of the 1932 Hilltop Minstrel. He also sang first tenor in the quartet and was a member of the Hilltop Male Chorus.

Opera Singer Starred

J. Howard Young, once a member of the Capitol Opera Company of New York, was a featured singer in the 1930 and 1931 Hilltop Minstrels. Prior to his work in opera, he had played the major vaudeville circuits.

Gal: We're going to give the bride a shower.

Gob: Swell — I'll bring the soap.

"I see by the paper that nine officers and one seaman were hurt in a wreck."

"Poor chap."

FRIENDS OF OUR COMMUNITY

Through the years that we have served you there have been many tests on the endurance of the people of the United States. The extreme test, of course, being the World War II.

Now, however, we can foresee wonderful possibilities of the future. A future, we pray in which people will again realize the fullness and joy of living.

The forces of war affected all business activity so that "service" became almost extinct. Our service also fell off considerably during those pressing years, due to an "overfilled and speeded-up" schedule. We can only express our regrets regarding that poor service.

We are now ready once again to offer the most complete and friendly service obtainable. Our equipment is the finest and our men of the highest calibre.

The majority of our men are ex-service men. It is rumored that many ex-service men are "ne'er-do-wells." We find them the extreme opposite; hard-working, capable, and conscientious men.

Our service to you of our community has been a service of pleasure in that we are able to satisfy and to please our patrons. We shall, in the future, attempt to add to our pleasure, and to yours, by adding to our service.

With sincerity

Show Committee Among First To Be Selected

It takes the combined efforts of many people to put on the Hilltop Minstrel on the scale that it is produced in 1948. One of the first committees to be set up by the president of the Hilltop Business Association when he takes office each year is that to head up the planning of the show.

Joe Goodwin, 1948 HBA prexy, is heading the minstrel committee as its chairman. Director of the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel is C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of The Hilltop Record and producer of many of the shows of past years.

Advertising solicitation is headed up by Ira Claggett with Lowell Sullivan handling the tickets. Arrangements are by Curt Roberts with Delbert Pack providing the scenery.

The job of costuming the show this year fell to Clarence Story and Paul Leighninger. Harriett Huff, Mary Lou Kimball and Hazel Bercaw will be in charge of makeup. Dr. Fred Marach is to be host for the minstrel goers and Curtis G. Wilcox is handling publicity for the downtown papers and radio.

The archbishop had preached a fine sermon on the beauties of married life.

Bridget: "'Twas a fine sermon his riverince gave us on marriage."

Maggie: "It was, idade — and I wish I knew as little about the subject as he does."

A jittery woman, whose husband was about to be reclassified for induction into the armed forces, fainted when her young son came along from Kindergarten and announced, "Mamma, I was just put into 1-[illegible]."

True to Type

Rookie: "I just swatted five flies — two males and three females."

Yardbird: "How can you tell?"

Rookie: "I got two on the card table and three on the mirror."

First Hilltop Minstrel Was Held In West High Auditorium In 1930

The first Hilltop Minstrel was presented by the Hilltop Business Men's Association (now Hilltop Business Association) in the West High School auditorium in 1930.

It played two nights and was directed by Harry Freeman. End men in the first show were George Painter, Paul Hubbard, Dick Becker and C. Carlton Hartley, director of the 19th show. L. E. Saunders was chairman of the show committee, a position he has occupied in almost every show since that time.

The following year it was presented at West High School where under Hartley's direction it featured a seagoing liner. H. G. Deems was the skipper and one of the big laughs of the show was evoked by a sextet of business men decked out in South Sea Island costumes replete with grass skirts and little more.

By 1932 the show had attracted 2300 paying customers at the two performances. S. P. Edwards was chairman. Floyd Green was interlocutor, and end men were Paul Hubbard, Dick Becker, Don Smith and Raymond Hill.

The 1933 show featured a 20-minute concert by the Hilltop Male Chorus which had just previously won the annual Jackson Eisteddfod, at that time an outstanding competitive singing event.

A patriotic pageant in a colonial setting was the feature of the 1934 minstrels directed by Tom Lewis. It also featured a "Last Day of School" skit.

Lewis again had charge of the 1935 show that featured an imaginary trip to Mandalay. The late Ray G. Haunts was master of ceremonies over the "olio" acts that constituted the last half of the show.

The 1936 show came early, being scheduled on Feb. 27 and 28. Harry Barton was the director and a rural theme was carried out. Dr. J. H. Czatt was [illegible] that Mr.

An Ensign, playing left field, missed three easy flies. After the game he said to the coach, "I guess I'll have to get glasses."

"You're too far gone for glasses," said the coach. "Only one thing will help you."

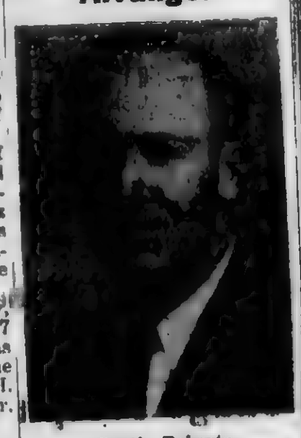
"What's that?" inquired the Ensign.

"Radar!" answered the coach.

"I represent the Mountain Wool Company, ma'am. Would you be interested in any coarse yarns?"

"Gosh, yes! Tell me a couple."

Banjoist



Al Bettinger

What would a minstrel show amount to without a banjo player?

Al Bettinger is just the man to liven up the show with the true minstrel flavor with his five-string banjo. You can bet that toes will start tapping all over the house before Al has finished his "Bye, Bye Blues" number.

A repeat performer from last year's show, Al will again portray a black face role. He lives at 748 Thomas-av.

Arranger

Curtis Roberts

Few minstrel shows in recent years have been without the services of Curt Roberts, operator of Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av. He has handled the tickets, worked on advertising and most of the other show committees and has had a place in the HBA "chorus" line.

This year he is in charge of arrangements, a job that covers a multitude of responsibilities. Always a hard worker at whatever he does, Curt will be a busy man for the next several days.

Mrs. Smith inquired at the gates of Heaven for her husband.

"What's your name?" asked the guard.

"Mrs. Smith."

"But we have thousands of Smiths here. What's your husband's first name?"

"James Smith."

"Oh, but madame, we have thousands of James Smiths here. Can you be more explicit."

"Well, my husband told me just before he died that if I went out with another man he would turn over in his grave."

"Of course I know your husband," and turning to an assistant he ordered, "Run upstairs and get Whirling Jim."

"A mouse fell in this bucket of milk."

"Did you take it out?"

"No, but I put the cat [illegible]"

Beauticians To Apply Grease Paint

Hazel Bercaw

Mary Lou Kimball

Harriett Huff

A trio of local beauticians each year inherit the job of applying grease paint to the several score minstrel performers. No entertainer appears before the footlights without the proper application of makeup.

Hazel Bercaw operates a beauty parlor and gift shop at 2842 W. Broad-st. Harriett Huff has a shop at 2154 Sullivant-av while Mary Lou Kimball has operated at the corner of Hague and Broad for more than 10 years.

Hilltop Shows Come And Go But The Minstrel Flavor Lives On

Hilltop Minstrels come and go but the general flavor of the show does not vary greatly from year to year.

Take a look at the bill of fare of the 1937 show for instance. Directed by Harry Barton, it featured Floyd Green as interlocutor, Harold Sinclair, Dick Becker, Leo Phillips and Barton, himself, as the ends.

Earl and Bernice Goodchild were a hit with their dance duo number. Joe Hutchinson sang "Chapel In the Moonlight" while Billie Grace donned chaps and a ten-gallon hat to sing "Empty Saddles." James Messmer did dance routines and a male quartet made up of Anson Fox, George Stein, Williard Breese and Leo Amspoker sang "On The Beach At Bali-Bali."

A three-ring circus was featured in the latter part of the show in which Jack Shank and Curtis Wilcox were billed as dare devil equestrienne and champion bicycle rider, respectively. Ray Bowyer and Bill Birle provoked mirth with their "Slim and Pewee" number.

Dr. J. H Czatt emceed the third part of the show that was highlighted by brilliant tap routines by the Three Riepenhoffs, Jack Anna Lou and Virginia. Libby Lee Czatt and Juanita Hutch did a novelty buck dance and Art Currier was a hit with his singing of "Ole Man River."

In addition to the Hilltop Male Chorus there was the Gamble Accordion Band composed of 15 local musicians.

So you can see shows come and shows go but the minstrel flavor lives on each year.

Chief Host

Dr. Fred Marsch

Serving as host to the 4000 or more customers who will throng West High School Auditorium on March 31, Apr. 1 and 2 will be Dr. Fred Marsch, optometrist at 2446 W. Broad-st. This year with all seats reserved, he will have a large staff of ushers on hand to see that everyone gets to his seat without delay.

Dr. Marsch grew up on the Hilltop and has followed the shows with interest over a period of years. Last year he was a member of the HBA "chorus" line.

There was a Swede who lived practically on the border between Minnesota and Wisconsin. For years he wasn't certain which state he lived in. Finally he got a state surveyor to make a special investigation of the problem.

"You live," decided the surveyor, "in Wisconsin."

The Swede threw his hat into the air with great glee.

"Thank Heaven!" he cried. "No more of those terrible Minnesota winters!"

Lady Visitor: "I want to see the captain of the ship."
Sailor: "He's forward."
Lady Visitor: "I'm not afraid. "I'm used to men."

"Who introduced you to your wife?"
"We just happened to meet. I don't put the blame on anybody."

Medical Officer: "Now really, seaman — in civilian life would you come to me with a trivial complaint like this?"
Sick Seaman: "No, sir. I'd send for you."

"Holy 'smoke," yelled the preacher, as he set the church on fire.

What's the matter there my little fellow?"
"My ma's gone and drowned all my little kittens."
"Oh, that's too bad."
"Yeah, she told me I could do it!"

GREETINGS

The Physicians and Dentists of the Hilltop welcome the opportunity to extend their greetings on the occasion of the Hilltop Minstrel Show. The very nature of our profession does not allow us the many opportunities we would like for participation in the many activities of the civic side of our community but we are wholeheartedly behind the community in its every endeavor.

Your physician and dentist are grateful for the confidence you place in him and will ever extend his services toward guarding the health of the community. He spends many hours in study, observation, and comparison with research workers in order that you may have the help that will keep your family fit for work and play. "Depend on your Family physician and Dentist . . . They are the guardians of your health."

Property Man

Delbert Pack

Responsible for obtaining appropriate scenery for staging the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel this year is Delbert Pack, who operates a shoe repair service at 2394 W. Broad st. He headed the same committee in the 18th annual show last year.

Visitor: "How did your horse happen to win the race?"

Jockey: "Well, I just kept whispering in his ear, 'Roses are red, violets are blue — horses that lose are made into glue.'"

I see by the paper that Earl Carroll recently crowned a six foot one inch gal as a beauty queen. I bet she keeps the boys on their toes.

One fish pole well tended will catch more fish than two or three half-tended.

A tutor who tooted a flute
Tried to teach two young tutors to toot.
Said the two to the tutor:
Is it harder to toot, or
To tutor two tutors to toot?

"You told me how good you were when I hired you two weeks ago," said a foreman to one of his men. "Now tell me all over again, I'm getting discouraged."

He who can take advice is sometimes superior to him who can give it.

Hilltop Chorus Is Background For Minstrel

Under the direction of Clark Eberle, the Hilltop Male Chorus will again be the musical background for the 19th Annual Hilltop Minstrel. The chorus has had a part in every show since its organization.

Mr. Eberle took over as director of the chorus last fall and members all testify to the hard work he has been doing in rounding the singing group into shape for this year's show and a series of concerts that are being planned.

Inactive during the "war" years, the group of men last year re-established the chorus on a year-round basis for both concert work and participation in the show. The men were assembled each year for the annual Hilltop show, however.

Plans are being completed for the first concert to be given in Mt. Vernon sometime in April. The choral group has been working hard to bring the standard of high class music up to the point maintained by the chorus during its impressive history. Many of the old members are back and, of course several new faces are seen in the group.

The teacher had spent most of the morning telling the class something of the wonders of nature. At the finish she said— "And isn't it wonderful how the little chickens get out of their shells?"

One quick-witted lad went her one better.

"Teacher, I think it's far more wonderful how they get in the shells."

A pessimist is a man who looks at the world through morose colored glasses.

No matter what side of an argument an intelligent man gets on, he always finds some people with him he wishes were on the other side.

Very few men have been able to learn a business from the top down.

Funnyman Koontz Is Back

Jackie Lee

Many Hilltop Minstrel performers have gone on to make entertaining their life's work but in the case of Jackie Lee (better known as Lee Koontz to Hilltoppers) the exact opposite happened.

Lee was a professional entertainer when he volunteered his services for a spot in the 13th annual show. That contact got him acquainted with C. Carlton Hartley, show director and publisher of The Hilltop Record. Hartley needed a stereotyper for his shop and Lee was looking for a job where he could settle down with his family. The result—Funnyman Koontz has been doing the stereotyping at the Record ever since.

His Record job does not keep him out of the entertaining field entirely, however. He does shows throughout Ohio and as far away as Charleston, W. Va., returning in time to work the next day without missing a day of work.

Koontz was, incidentally, in the first Hilltop Minstrel. As a boy he did a song and dance routine and worked in a comedy skit. While attending West High School, he spent his summers on the road doing professional entertaining — singing, dancing, comedy and emceeing shows. In 1929 he took to the road and followed that profession for 10 years.

He started out using his own name of Lee Koontz. In New York he teamed up with the Davis Brothers as a dancing trio. The billing Davis, Koontz and Davis didn't appeal to the hoofers. So the act was changed to Davis, Lee and Davis. It was then that he added the Jackie portion to his moniker.

Koontz is married and lives with his wife and two children at 175 S. Sylvan-av.

He has been in each show since 1942 in one way or another. He directed three of the shows and has had a comedy spot in the others.

This year he will serve as an end man and double in comedy with some of his inexhaustable supply of zany acts. He is one of those individuals who is as funny off as on the stage.

"If you don't want your elephant's head smashed, come get him out of my tulip bed." —Lansing, Mich., housewife, calling circus headquarters.

Billy (proudly)—My sister has a wooden leg.

Jackie—Aw, that's nothing. My sister has a cedar chest.

"COMMUNITY COOPERATION"

11 Years Ago The Price Was 2 Bits

Admission to the 1937 Hilltop Minstrel was 25c to all comers with no seats reserved. Needless to say, the house was packed each of the two nights and the SRO sign went out early on the final showing with an unestimated number turned away.

Park Policeman—Hey you, don't wash your clothes in that reservoir. Don't you know that people have to drink that water?

Hobo—That's all right, officer, I ain't using soap.

Wife (to late retiring husband) "That you, dear?"

Husband: "It had better be me."

Division

What is the Mason-Dixon line?

It is the division between "you all" and "youse guys."

Sergeant (during a war game)—Private Hurja, don't you realize your are exposing yourself to an imaginary enemy only 250 yards away?

Private — That's all right Bjones. I'm standing behind an imaginary rock 25 feet high.

Tubbs — Who's the lady with the little wart?

Bjones—Sh-h-h! Keep still. That's her husband.

Lady—I never feed tramps.

Weary Willie—I ain't askin' yer ter feed me lady. Just gimme the grub an' I'll feed myself.

Pancake—I am indebted to you, sir, for all I know.

Prof. Saline—Nonsense, my boy. You don't owe me a cent.

"This is true love, Judge!" —Cleveland woman, insisting on going to jail with husband who tried to throw her off a bridge.

Tourist — What are your room rates here?

Hotel Clerk — First floor, $10; second floor, $8; third floor, $6.

Tourist—Sorry, your hotel isn't big enough.

Overheard on the party line: "She's as two-faced as a new Studebaker."

It takes a mighty good rule to work even one way.

Maybe there's just as good fish left in the sea, but are you sure they'll bite?

A man is as old as he feels a woman, as old as she feels like admitting.

New Street Markers Are Appreciated

The Hilltop can well extend a hearty "Thank You" to city officials responsible for the selection and erection of the new street markers. They are now being erected here, first in the city, and are a distinct asset to the community

Nothing is so confusing as poorly marked streets. It is a real satisfaction now to be able to drive along any street of the Hilltop and at a quick glance know immediately the names of the various intersecting streets.

Many cities have street markers that are hard to read as you approach them. Not so with the new ones in Columbus. One glance and they are easily recognized.

The community can well be proud of having been selected to have the new markers installed here first.

Calls It Florida Racket

Hilltopper John Davis was in telling us about his recent fishing excursion at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and John thinks the boys down there have a fine racket.

He and a party of four others paid $60, the normal and advertised charge for a deep sea fishing trio. They were fortunate in catching a lot of fish which at market prices were estimated at $160 worth Came time to disembark and each man was told he could have a fish to take home . . . "A fish" . . . John inquired what was to happen to the remaining fish. He was told they belonged to the operators of the boat. "But we caught them and have already paid you for the trip," replied John.

Considerable argument ensued with the result that John took his share of the fish home "Those people would starve to death down there if it wasn't for the northerners," was John's observation

Sensenbrenner, Green Tangle Over Who Is To MC Minstrel

Feud Interrupts Opening Night Performance

Consternation developed in the ranks of the Hilltop Minstrel cast and almost stopped the first performance of the show on Wednesday evening. What was termed as an exciting situation was not completely settled last night and those who attend the show tonight or tomorrow night may be in for a little extra fun they didn't bargain for.

The whole trouble centered about who was to be master of ceremonies for the show. The two characters causing the rumpus were Jack Sensenbrenner and Floyd Green.

Since early this year it had been announced that Sensenbrenner would be interlocutor for the show. In rehearsals right up until this last week end everything had worked out well and all plans for the show were under control.

One day this past week Sensenbrenner called on C. C. Hartley, director of the show, at his office at The Hilltop Record. Sensenbrenner at that time registered a strong protest over the costume selected for him in the show. He objected to wearing the tight fitting Mexican cowboy suit that Hartley had selected.

Hartley insisted that he knew more about the type of costume that Sensenbrenner should wear than did Jack. After a heated discussion in which Hartley refused to give in to Sensenbrenner, the latter said he would refuse to play in the show and announced that he was through.

This left but one course open to Director Hartley, who immediately called upon Floyd Green, for many years interlocutor of the show, and asked that he take over in the center position. Floyd agreed to this and immediately all the end men were called together for quick rehearsals. Intensive practice over the week-end and in dress rehearsal brought the show around to normalcy—at least all those concerned thought so

Pandemonium reigned for a while Wednesday night just as the curtain was about to go up when out on the stage rushed Sensenbrenner attired in his natty Mexican cowboy outfit only to meet Green head on.

Hartley, who believes in a prompt opening curtain, had no time to negotiate a peace between the two men. He signalled to Green to take over as the curtain opened and two stage hands were rushed out to carry Sensenbrenner from the stage as he screamed, "You can't do this to me."

Twice during the early part of the performance Sensenbrenner broke loose and appeared on the stage and threatened to strike Green in the face if he didn't relinquish the center place in the show. Each time stage hands marched across the stage escorting Sensenbrenner by force.

At one point the audience got a big laugh and thought it was part of the show when both Sensenbrenner and Green tried to pull each other's hair. Both men had little to hold on to and a comic scene ensued.

At last reports Green was insisting that he would continue to MC the show tonight and tomorrow night. Sensenbrenner's last words as he stormed from the building last night were, "I'll see my lawyer. I'm the interlocutor of this show."

Those who attend the performance tonight and tomorrow night may be in for a little additional excitement in an already exciting show. Incidentally there are seats available yet for both nights and early comers will be able to get in.

Kip Selbach Reached The Top In Two Sports - - Baseball and Bowling

By Dick Ardle

Sixty years ago Kip Selbach started a star studded career which led him to the top in two of the major sports of this country, baseball and bowling

Kip, who last week celebrated his 76th birthday, was born March 29, 1872, down in the south end of Columbus. Even at his birth he was near a bowling alley as his father operated one of the first alleys here in this town. At that time the alleys were 96 feet long and three feet wide. Wooden balls ranging from the size of a duck pin ball to regulation size were used The balls had no holes in them and were rolled down the alley by palming the ball the way you would a duck pin ball. The pins were wooden but were arranged in a diamond shape instead of triangle shape and there were only nine of them. Since there was a law against bowling on Sundays someone decided to use 10 pins and the game thus became known as ten pins.

Selbach's real name is Albert but due to an incident when he was a small boy he acquired the name of "Kip." In the neighborhood where Kip lived there was a policeman named Fred Kip When the kids used to play cops and robbers they used to call Selbach "Policeman Kip." He has carried this name through his entire life and has now adopted the name entirely.

In 1888 when he was only 16 years old Kip started bowling as a team member. He was the first bowler in Columbus to average over 200. He once averaged 203, a feat which very few bowlers here in Columbus ever equalled. Kip was the first man from Columbus to take a team to the ABC and for 20 straight years afterwards he always had a team represented. In 1903 he paired with Herman Collin to win the ABC doubles championship with a 1227 score at Indianapolis.

The 1903 doubles leaders rolled:

Herman Collin	193	223	188	—604
Kip Selbach	201	200	222	—623
Totals	394	423	410	1227

In every one of the 20 years he rolled in the ABC's he always went into the doubles with Herman Collin.

In 1908 he was a member of the Bonds team which won the ABC five-man championship with a 2927 score at Cincinnati. At that time Kip rolled games of 177, 187 and 222 for a 586 total.

When Kip went to the major leagues as a ball player he didn't give up his bowling as would be expected. As soon as the regular baseball season was over Kip would return to his home town and begin his bowling. He would roll two or three times a day and enter pot games until bowling season started and then he would be ready to start. Kip once bowl

New Street Markers Are Erected Here

Streets of the Hilltop took on a bit of class" during the past week as new attractive street markers were being erected at west intersections by the city engineering department.

The Hilltop was first to come in for installation of the new markers. The area south of Broad-st and west of High-st formed the first quadrant to be installed. The northwest quadrant will follow as soon as this section is completed. Howard Edwards, a city engineer, estimated that the installation of the first quadrant would be complete by April 1.

A few scattered intersections have been missed on the first time through the community. Edwards explained that there has been a shortage of steel standards and some installations will have to be made at a later date.

The new street signs are made of heavy sheet metal, galvanized and bonderized to prevent rusting. Letters are four inches in height, large enough to be seen at a considerable distance. The signs themselves are six inches high and vary in length from 24 to 32 inches, depending on the length of the street name. The signs are finished in baked enamel. The letters are black on a white background.

West Boosters To Conduct Record Subscription Drive

The West High Boosters Club, assisted by students of West Junior and West Senior High Schools, will again conduct a Hilltop-wide subscription drive for The Hilltop Record this year. The Boosters are planning on increasing their already active athletic program participation, and hope to secure sufficient funds to make their stadium and athletic field improvements a reality in time for the opening of the football season next fall

The drive will be conducted from Wednesday, April 7 to Saturday, April 17, starting Wednesday evening with the distribution of a copy of The Hilltop Record to each home on the Hilltop

The drive this year will be headed by Paul Leighninger, associated with Seiler's, Inc., 2404 W. Broad-st. He will be assisted by members of the Booster Club and approximately 150 students of West High School

The Record is making a very liberal commission allowance to the club for all new and renewal subscriptions, so that all subscriptions turned in will be aiding the school athletic program.

Prizes will be awarded to the student bringing in the most subscriptions in dollar value: first prize, $25.00; second, $15.00; and third, $10.00. In addition to these prizes, the leading student in each group will receive a prize of $5.00

Each student solicitor will be equipped with proper identification credentials and temporary receipt forms. In view of the fact that they will not have the exact dates of expiration of all their customers at hand, the Record will mail a receipt showing this information within a few days after the subscription is turned in Leighninger announced this week that a special meeting of all Booster members who have volunteered as supervisors will be held Monday, April 5, at 7 30 p. m., at West High School.

As an added incentive to the supervisors this year, Leighninger announced that a Stetson hat will be awarded to the supervisor whose group makes the best returns.

New Fire House Site Is Studied

That much discussed Westgate fire house site is in the news again

Another location seems to be getting the attention of city officials. A few weeks ago Westgate Park seemed destined to be the selection of city planners after having previously rejected that location. Later a location on the northwest corner of Sullivant-av and S. Brinker-av was studied and was apparently to have been recommended to City Council.

This week it is learned that Chief Clarence Ogborn and other city planners have been giving consideration to a location where the Sullivant-av trolley buses now use a turntable near Binns-blvd. The assumption seems to be that the Columbus and South ern Ohio Electric Company, operators of the transportation line, will be moving farther west to accommodate residents of the Westgate Park area

Morgan Evans, an official of the transportation company, told The Hilltop Record that he knew of no plan to extend the Sullivant-av line in the immediate future. He said that tentative plans had been discussed with City Council for extending the line "possibly some time in 1949," however, nothing further had been said.

He pointed out that materials needed to move the turntable further west would require 10 months to a year for delivery he said his firm at present has no lease on a location for this change

Chief Ogborn said that the two lots now used for the turntable plus two adoining lots would make a desirable location for the Hilltop's second fire house expected to be built in the near future

Club and members of the West High faculty all believe that a campaign of this type will enable each and every Hilltopper to assist in the Booster Club's endeavor to make Magly Field and West High's athletic program the best in Columbus.

HILLTOP "Y" SECRETARY —Averille M. Thorn, associated with the East Akron Branch YMCA for the past two years, will serve as executive secretary of the new Hilltop YMCA program effective May 1.

The cooperation of local residents in this problem is solicited by members of the Hilltop YMCA Board. Any person knowing of a two-bedroom apartment or small home is asked to contact any member of the board or call The Hilltop Record, RA. 1125.

The Hilltop YMCA - - -
"Of The Hilltop, By The Hilltop, For The Hilltop"

Editor's Note. This is the fourth in a series of articles to acquaint the public with the Hill-top YMCA program, preparatory to the financial drive to be held Sunday, April 18.

Q. What are the expansion plans for the future?

A. Members of the Hilltop "Y" Board are of the opinion that to successfully carry out the "Y" program it will be necessary to have a YMCA building in the near future. It is impossible at this stage to state definitely where such a building could be located or what it might cost However, it is their hope that plans can be developed in the near future to expedite the building fund campaign to such proportions that they may make such plans for a building that will house the necessary recreation facilities and meeting places so that a much larger number of residents of the community may participate in the program

Q. Does the national "Y" offer any aid in a building program?

A. Financially, no. But the local "Y" board would have access to a building service provided by a national staff of architects and engineers qualified to assist in helping to determine the type of building and facilities needed to house a modern program for the Hilltop community.

Q. What would the local board do first toward a permanent building?

A. They would select a proper location. It should be large enough to provide for expansion in a rapidly growing community It might be possible to start with a unit type building whereby units may be added as money is available and needs grow

Q. Do you want contributions to the building fund at this time?

A. Yes. The board believes that a building fund started now can be made to grow each year until such time in the next few years when they will be in a position to take advantage of opportunities that may develop. All money received for the building fund will be held on deposit at the Hilltop office of the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn

Q. If I make a contribution to the "Y" at this time how will my money be used?

A. Any contributions up to $5 will be used for current operating expenses of the organization for the period from now until July 31, 1949. Amounts over $5 will be deposited to the building fund or if the membership drive nets over the required amount for operation beyond the year or if economies can be effected the money will go into the building fund.

Q. How much money will be needed for the first year's operation of the Hilltop Y?

A. The board has determined that certain expenses will be involved in opening headquarters, such as purchase of office equipment and supplies, that will not be in the budget in succeeding years. Therefore the first year budget has been estimated at about $15,000.

Q. What paid personnel will be on the staff?

A. The Hilltop "Y" will have a paid executive secretary, an office secretary and custodian

Q. When is the Hilltop "Y" membership drive?

A. Sunday afternoon, April 18

Q. Who will conduct the drive?

A. A large group of volunteer workers. About 250 have been signed up at present and another 100 persons are needed Anyone willing to offer their services for about two hours that afternoon should contact any member of the Hilltop "Y" board at once

CHEER UP! — The solution to the world's ills and troubles is just around the corner. The only thing wrong is people, and scientists are rapidly working out a way to rid the world of them.

During the current session of congress, Republicans and Democrats will frequently accuse one another of playing politics, and in at least 49 cases out of 50 the accusations will be well-founded.

"Our Lives Affected By Outside Forces," Dr. Timmerman Tells Kiwanis Group

"While we are a liberty and freedom-loving people, much of our life is compelled by forces outside our control," Dr. Donald Timmerman told members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club in a Holy Week address last Thursday.

Dr. Timmerman, who is executive secretary of the Franklin County Council of Churches, reviewed some of the incidents leading up to the crucifixion of Jesus. He singled out Simon of Cyrene, one of the least-known characters in the Bible, who came into prominence because of a situation thrust upon him by a Roman soldier. It was Simon who was forced to carry the cross of Jesus on that infamous march up Golgotha Hill.

"Simon of Cyrene had probably never seen Jesus before—possibly had not even heard of him," Dr. Timmerman pointed out, "yet it was he who told the Disciples most of what they knew about the crucifixion."

Thus because of a compelling influence in his life, Simon came to be an important figure in giving first-hand information on the death of Jesus. The speaker used this to illustrate the fact that many people are motivated to do good because some force beyond their control pushed them to the fore.

"The compelling thing in the life of Jesus, however," the speaker declared, "was from within rather than from without."

Dr. Timmerman emphasized that a love for freedom and liberty alone is not enough in the life of the average person.

"We need the influence of the church to keep us out of the moral ditch," he said.

Today's Kiwanis meeting will feature reports from committee heads. Next Thursday is to be "tall story day." At that time eight local Kiwanians will vie for the honor of telling the "tallest" story.

Mode Of Life Slower In England, British War Bride Of Hilltop Observes

By Libby Downing

A chance meeting with an American Eighth Air Force officer, and the conversation that ensued, were the first two events set up by fate in November of 1940, to bring to the Hilltop, Mrs. Richard E. Finneran.

A native of Lees, England, where the entire mode of living is much slower, according to Mrs. Finneran, this pretty young mother of two small children, "thinks this is a nice country but would rather in England."

"There just aren't enough English girls to talk to here," said the local lady, who arrived in the U. S. by plane a little more than one year ago, with her vivacious little daughter, Eileen Mary, who will be two this month.

The winner of the 1948 Hilltop Stork Derby, the Finnerans named the baby Sharon Elizabeth. Sharon is now three months old.

"That is about the most exciting thing that has happened to me since being here," she said, "and we certainly received a lot of nice presents."

Mr. Finneran is at present studying at the Kelly Barbering College. He served three and one-half years in the army.

Mrs. Finneran has two brothers, two married sisters, and her mother still living in England. She is quite anxious for them to see her family. Confidentially she has been suggesting to her husband that they move to England in a few years.

"I really haven't gotten too far with him though," she said, "because, although he likes my country too, he wants to be sure food conditions would be much better before we take the children there to live.

Towns Quite Different

"Our towns are quite different from yours," she said, "not in any definite way though. Our countryside is quite hilly and we have very damp weather for the most part, but you don't get cold in the drizzling rains we have, as you do here. And the hot summers over here take my breath away. The girls in school over there wear white blouses and dark skirts, and all dress the same. They don't have the choice as you do. After you have completed your necessary schooling if you are clever enough or have money, you may finish your schooling. If not you go to work, at the age of 14."

Mrs. Finneran was employed at a paper mill in Springhead when she met her husband. During the war years the mill was converted to a munitions plant, but is producing its original product again, now.

Mrs. Finneran says that she enjoys going to a show more than anything else here. "You can't do too many things with two small children," she said. The theatres in England have organs on the stages, and between films words are flashed on the screen for the audience to sing, and that's another thing she misses.

When asked whether the English really did think the Americans were "fast", she replied, "They certainly do! If it isn't one thing it's something else and they are always on the go. When we children were at home, my parents went out very little, but here everyone is always running about."

Incidentally, the soap ads would do well to copy her "peaches and cream" complexion. And to top that off her hair has a beautiful natural curl. (We've heard that the English climate will do wonders for the fair sex.) Due to housing conditions the Finnerans are living with Mr. Finneran's family at 211 S. Eureka-av, but hope to have their own home soon.

You couldnt' drive across the street without the use of petroleum products. They are indispersable in this day of motoring, yet there is nothing so destructible to the rubber parts of the machine. Keep oil and gasoline away from tires, hoses, etc.

Cushion for dad. If you have an office worker in the family, it is wise to invest in a flat felt cushion for his chair. This will keep trousers or skirt from becoming shiny and smooth.

PENNY ON THE CEILING—

Not "pennies from Heaven" but "penny on the ceiling" is the claim to fame of Helen's Sandwich, 2415 W. Broad-st. (The penny can be seen in upper left side of the above photo if you look real close. Earl Carper was the penny tosser. There's nothing fishy about it either, as Franklin (Duke) Reynolds, proprietor, will testify.

The one-cent piece was lodged in the thin metal ceiling when Carper tossed the copper to decide something-or-other. It hit the ceiling so hard it embedded itself in the ceiling. It's still there.

West Park, Hoge Advance To Finals In Church Playoffs

By Dave Miller

Another West Church Senior League team advanced to the finals of the Class A Church Eliminations.

West Park, current West Church League winner took a thrilling 37 to 36 victory from North Broadway Tuesday evening at Schiller Park.

Led by the alert floor play of their stellar forward and captain, Dick Smith, West Park held leads of not very wide margins throughout the main part of the game. However, the West Park five closed fast to cut the gap to one marker and give them their fourth victory in as many tries in the church eliminations.

The other Class A teams clashed in the next scheduled contest, Hope Lutheran and Peace Lutheran. Hope won its fourteenth game of the season in as many starts by defeating the rival Lutherans, 37 to 28, in a well-played game.

The Class A winners of Tuesday, Hope and West Park, will meet next week to decide the championship of the Senior Church Class A.

Another West Church League team in the playings of the Class B, Hoge Memorial No. 1, defeated Linden Church of Christ in an overtime thriller, 44 to 37. In the other Class B outing of the evening, Ohio Evangelical downed St. Paul Lutheran, 33 to 27.

The win for the Ohio Avenue Church gave them the honors of playing Hoge next week for the championship of the Class B.

As it may work out, two West Church teams may turn out to be the winners of both the Class A and Class B.

The West Church Intermediate representative, Hoge, went down in defeat last Wednesday evening to North Broadway.

games. In each of his 290 games he left the 10 pin standing in the opening frame.

Turned Professional

Kip's greatest fame came when he was only 30 years old. In 1902 he turned professional and captained the All American Trio. The object of the trip was not for financial gain, but for the purpose of perpetuating and stimulating interest in the bowling game and incidentally to help others who were striving hard to become expert at the game. At the time the trip was to start Kip was playing ball with the Baltimore Orioles but was given permission to leave early so as to join the bowling brigade on scheduled time. Four outstanding bowlers were selected as according to the plans, the trip, sponsored by the Crawford, McGregor and Canby Co. of Dayton, called for one of the quartet to enjoy a day off every day. Other members were John J. Voorhies, New York; Phil Wolf, Brooklyn; Ernest Peterson, Chicago, and Sam Karpf of Dayton, who managed the tour.

The trip started on the 1st of October, 1902, and ended Jan. 6, 1903. It covered 108 days, 17 states, and each man traveled nearly 11,000 miles. The tour was a huge success from the time the first ball was rolled at Chicago Ill., until the great Voorhies made the closing strike at Sandusky, Ohio.

The team rolled 81 series each containing five games and the team never lost a series. They won 352 games out of 405 games.

The best game was rolled by Voorhies in Dubuque, Iowa, Dec 27, 1902, when he rolled 279 to lead the threesome to a 707 total for a single game world record.

The individual records of the four bowlers follow:

Bowler	G. B.	T. P.	Avg.
Voorhies	324	62,337	19[illegible]
Wolf	[illegible]10	65,255	188
Peterson	[illegible]81	52,465	18[illegible]
Selbach	243	44,038	[illegible]181
Totals	1,197	224,095

Selbach Led First 110 Games

Captain Selbach was leading his traveling pin smashers in the averages for the first 110 games when he met with an unavoidable accident. The party had reached San Jose, Calif., when one of those always-present pests who hang around sports celebrities became too vociferous for all concerned.

This particular California pest chose Selbach as his target. One thing led to another and the Westerner swung at the bowler. The latter ducked and instantly swung a right and followed with ed two games of 290 and ended with a 202 in one of these not a crashing left. Result: The Californian suffered a cracked jaw while the bowler broke a knuckle on his bowling hand. The injury kept Selbach off the alleys for practically four weeks. The police discovered the man was a holdup man so things didn't turn out too badly for the Columbusite.

In June, 1927, Kip took over the Hilltop alleys, which he owned and operated until 1936, when Bill Wolfe, present owner, took over.

One night while Kip was bowling, one of the teams needed a sub. Kip picked up a man from the room back of the alleys and taught him to bowl right then and there. The fellow didn't roll terrific scores but he liked to bowl and in a couple of years became a pretty good bowler. Today that man is one of the best bowlers in the city. He is none other than the great Don Shafer.

Not only is Kip the greatest bowler to come out of Columbus but also the greatest major league ball player ever to call Columbus his home.

Kip started in organized baseball in 1893 when he was sent to Chattanooga, where he received $75 a month. In one month he was sold to Washington of the National League, thus becoming the first and only ball player ever to skyrocket into the major leagues in so short a time. The strangest part of this story is that Kip entered the Washington club as a catcher and in less than one month was playing the outfield and batting in the cleanup spot. Kip is the only person in the world to be on an ABC championship bowling team and a pennant winning major league ball club. He was on the Boston Red Sox team when it won the pennant in 1904.

Kip started his career with Washington. He also played for Cincinnati, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Providence and finished his career with Harrisburg of the Tri-State League.

His all-time batting average was .313 and his greatest year in baseball came in 1900 when he batted .395 for the New York Giants and had 30 assists from his outfield position to lead the league.

Not only does Kip have the knack of handling ball players but also of handling animals. While this reporter was interviewing Kip he told Kippy (his three-year-old Scotty dog) to go get his pipe and tobacco. When the dog returned with the pipe, Kip asked her where the matches were. The dog immediately took off like a shot and returned quickly with the matches.

Kip and Kippy live at 61 S Warren-av. with Selbach's niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mount.

Truly, Kip Selbach is as much a landmark of Columbus as the Statue of Liberty is of New York Harbor.

Too many movies are tailored down to the low I. Q. of people who leave their chewing gum on the undersides of their theater seats.

Mark Stephens Busy Planning Baseball Loops

Mark Stephens, 666 S. Eureka-av, the Hilltop's most enthusiastic amateur baseball supporter, is busy again with plans for the summer campaign.

Last week Mark met with representatives of 15 prospective teams for the Saturday Amateur Baseball Loop and discussed tenative plans for the league's organization.

In addition to supervising the Saturday circuit, Mark will also direct two teams in the Knothole circuit and one American Legion nine.

Eight members of teams coached by Stephens last season have signed professional baseball contracts this spring. The eight are Charles Voss, Tom Pappas, Jack Gallagher, Don Kelley, Jack Lavelle, Tom Crossley, Jack Flynn and Don Stewart.

Only 5 Days For Voters To Register

Only five days remain for persons to register for the May 4 primary election, Frank Marsh, clerk of the Franklin County Board of Elections, warned this week.

Registrations and transfers will be accepted until Monday, April 5. The office at 214½ S. High-st, will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., except Saturday, when it closes at noon.

Injured In Crash

Edmond Martin, 23, 2077 W. Broad-st, suffered minor chest bruises last week when the auto in which he was riding with his brother, Henry W. Martin, 306 N. Hague-av, was in collision with a car driven by Ernest Jameson, 162 Olentangy-st, at Duncan-st and Medary-av. He was treated at University Hospital and released.

Former West High Athlete Heads Miami Coaching Staff

One of West High School's former athletes has made the grade in collegiate coaching circles.

He is George E. (Gus) Blackburn, named last week to take over as head coach at Miami University, succeeding Sid Gillman, who resigned to become line coach at Army.

Blackburn has been backfield coach at Miami during the past three seasons. His coaching career has included assignments at Pomeroy, Gallipolis and Cincinnati Western Hills High Schools before moving up to collegiate football.

The former Hilltopper graduated from West in 1931 after starring in football, basketball and baseball. He was quarterback on the Findlay College eleven for three years before graduating in 1936. He later attended Ohio State University before entering the coaching field.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Blackburn, 129 S. Terrace. While playing at West he was a teammate of Woody Wills, Dana Deshler and others of that era. He grew up on the Hilltop and did his first coaching with sandlot teams he organized on local playgrouds.

Last season the Miami Redskins went through the season undefeated but tied in one game by Xavier University. The season was climaxed by a 13-13 victory over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

THEY'RE CHURCH LEAGUE CHAMPS AGAIN—For the second straight year the West Park Methodist Church entry in the West Senior Church Basketball League carried off the loop crown. Last year the team went all the way to the city championship game before being defeated.

Rain And Cold Delay Start Of Practice

Rain and cold weather has delayed the start of regular baseball out at the Magly Field lot but a little warm weather is expected to find things humming. The Cowboys are scheduled to meet the Central Pirates at the West High field April 13 and that's a scant two weeks away.

Up until press time this week, Coach George Williams had not even had a look at his 1948 material. Illness kept him away from the diamond on the few nice days last week although the pitchers were out throwing a couple of times. A practice was set for 10 a. m. Monday, that being a holiday at the school, but a continuation of the Easter cold snap and a wet diamond were anything but conducive to practice.

Mound duties are expected to be shared by Paul Theisen, Jim Hamrick, Phil Young and Chuck Weeks. Theisen saw considerable service last season while Hamrick is one of the reserves. Weeks also did some pitching last year but may be used in the outfield or behind the plate as the need may arise. Young is just up from junior high. He was a regular there and has had an impressive record in sandlot ball the past couple of seasons.

A newcomer to the pitching staff this year is Tom Wilson, a transfer student from an Indiana school.

Coach Williams is starting the season with the smallest number of letter men in years. Only Dick Kirk, Don Little, Theisen and Weeks are in that class.

Don Skipper, Johnny Cherup, Hamrick, Dick Culbertson and Al Andrews saw limited service last year. Six others have moved up from junior high competition. They are Bill Thrush, David Caton Barry Emerick, Young, Don Nafzger and Paul Thomnson. Jack Pickens, an infielder, is another transfer student.

West Junior High Baseballers Plan For Start Of Season With 2 Lettermen

By Dave Miller

Franklin, Champion, Roosevelt, Mound and Starling will be West Junior High's baseball opponents this season, in that succession in the City Junior Baseball League.

In the league, which includes 11 teams, each school plays five games. Linden McKinley is the defending champion and has five returning lettermen in Kermit Troutman, Bob Vanette, Harold Hines, Paul Burns and Don Vollmuth. The Troutman and Vollmuth will be the same batteries as of the undefeated last year's nine.

West Junior, which last year had a 4-1 record and lost its only decision to Roosevelt in its final outing of the year, looks like a contender for the title this year. However, the pitching staff is not as satisfactory as was expected.

Ted Fladt and Bill South, both right-handers, have the mound chores practically clinched. Joe Balacer and Eugene Thompson look prominent enough to fill South's and Fladt's shoes in case of trouble on the hill.

Last year, pitching was no trouble to Coach Red Lehman as Phil Young, now in West Senior, led the Junior loop and also set a record by striking out 66 men in league competition. It was outfield that troubled Lehman and the same thing is worrying him this season.

In an intra-squad game played Friday afternoon in the rain, Ron McElwee, last year's one of two returning lettermen, slammed a terrific homer that put his team in the lead, 2-0. However, this contest was called at the end of the first inning because of the continuous downpour.

The two returning lettermen, McElwee, an outfielder, and Morris Dobbs, snappy third baseman, proved to be the top showers around the recent practices.

The squad will be cut to 16 members. Still in the running are: catchers, Harry Bradley, Ron Farley and Jerry Fry; infielders, Jerry Johnson, Russ Friend, Dave Morgan, Irvin Denune, Chuck Leipensberger, Bob Mehrs and Dobbs; outfielders, McElwee, Dick McDermitt, Dick Morris, Al Shade, Dick Wray and Bob Seeds.

In a practice scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, Lehman will get a chance to view his up and coming seventh and eighth graders. Lehman is being assisted by a graduate of Ohio State, Jack Conley.

Turning back to this season's schedule, the complete league play is listed below.

Date	Opponent	Place
April 1	Linden McKinley*	West
April 14	Franklin	Park
April 21	Champion	West
April 27	Roosevelt	West
May 4	Mound	Central
May 11	Starling	West

*Game classified as non-league affair.

Free Swim Classes Open At The YMCA

The annual free swimming school for boys started with a large enrollment at the YMCA this week.

Each term of free instruction for beginners lasts two weeks, and the series of terms will continue throughout the spring months, with approximately 100 boys in each term taking six free lessons.

Boys who do not receive an application in the mail by April 15 may request one at the YMCA Boys' Branch, 40 W. Long-st. This is a free service which is offered each year by a Community Fund Agency through which thousands of Columbus boys have learned to swim under highly competent instructors where conditions are both safe and sanitary.

Each summer hundreds of boys are better able to enjoy their camping and other water sports programs because of the basic training in swimming skills at the YMCA. Many of them in time have become expert swimmers, life savers and aquatic instructors.

Sport Notes

By Bob Humphrey

West Junior's schedule this season in the City Junior High Baseball League follows: April 13, vs. Franklin at Franklin Park; April 21, Champion at West Junior; April 27, Roosevelt at West Junior; May 4, West Junior at Mound; May 11, Starling at West Junior.

Three Hilltop cage stars were honored with positions on the honorary All-Linden Tuesday Independent Basketball League team selected by league officials last week. They are Donn Heines and Joe Davis, both of Ace's Service Station, and Ray Stinson of American Legion No. 249.

Dick Ucker, former West High athletic star, a Hilltop resident who is well known in Columbus basketball circles, will serve as manager of the Ben Brew Beer team in the Linden Tuesday Night Independent Softball League.

Glenwood Center, City Recreation Center League champion, suffered its initial defeat of the season and dropped out of the race for the city title, losing a 24 to 22 decision to City Decorating in an elimination game last Thursday evening at Schiller Park gym.

Don Ijams romped in with 14 points to lead Glenwood Center to an easy 31 to 18 victory over the Recreation Center League All-Stars last week at Glenwood Park gym.

Monty Dunlap, a Hilltop resident, is slated to serve as manager of Ace's Service Station team this summer in the Linden Tuesday Night Independent Softball League.

Looking Ahead With Jean Worrel

"Look," said an acquaintance of mine the other day, "I'm a firm believer in insurance. I think it's a wonderful idea for people who have their future plans cut and dried and who know just how they are going to be situated this time next year. But how can I choose the type of insurance that I should carry when my plans are all so indefinite? Why should I saddle myself with a policy that may be entirely unsuited to my needs in a year or so?"

"No reason in the world," I retorted, "But how would you feel about a policy which is really four policies in one, with five years allowed for deciding which one suits you best?"

"You can lead me to it," he said. "If there is such a plan I'd like to get in on it while I'm still young and healthy."

The Adjustable Policy IS such a plan. For the first five years the assured is covered for the full face amount of the policy. At the end of this period he can choose a Limited Life Policy, an Endowment Policy, or a Whole Life Policy for a considerably increased amount. He can, if he prefers it, continue the policy on the Whole Life basis for the original face amount but at a much reduced premium. Thus, at no additional cost, and without evidence of health, the assured can limit his period for paying premiums or have the policy mature to his own benefit, increase the amount of insurance or decrease the amount of his premiums.

Could anything be more adaptable? Why not obtain further details of this plan-of-many-purposes? Call me today. You will incur no obligation, and I shall be glad to be of service to you.

The Bicycle Hazard

The death last week of an 11-year-old West Side boy, who fell from his bicycle beneath the wheels of a truck, brings to attention the constant hazard of bicycles on the streets of the Hilltop every day. Nearly every motorist and pedestrian has seen frequent incidents of near accidents caused by careless operation of bikes by children of varying ages. We realize full well that all of the responsibility is not on the shoulders of the youngsters but in too many cases carelessness, a lack of knowledge of traffic laws or both, leads to accidents or near misses.

In the first place it should be understood by motorist and cyclist alike that a bicycle is governed by all and the same laws as the motorist. The cyclist must ride on the right side of the street, stop at marked intersections, use hand signals and give right of way to pedestrians at cross walks the same as every motorist. Ignorance of Columbus traffic laws is no excuse and in the case of children, the responsibility of knowledge of the laws should rest on the shoulders of the parents. Possibly to the surprise of many children and parents alike, the cyclist is subject to penalties the same as the motorist. In the case of younger children found in violation of the laws, the bicycle may be impounded by police officers and held until parents and rider alike can be gotten together in conference with a representative of the enforcement agency.

The operation of bicycles after dark without lights is a common violation. Again the parents must shoulder a good share of the responsibility if their children ride unlighted bikes after dark. There are many other violations that can easily lead to broken limbs or death on the part of the rider, motorist or pedestrian. Every parent should see to it personally that his boy or girl who uses a bike understands the law and has some sense of the dangers involved in its use. Last year there were 25,000 bicyclists—most of them children—killed or injured in street and highway accidents.

The Columbus Safety Council in cooperation with the Police Department has conducted educational meetings in the interest of youthful bike riders. The public schools have done a reasonably good job of emphasizing the need for caution on the part of bike riders. But all this is not enough. There are as yet not enough policemen to educate and enforce the law on bike violators. The schools can go only so far without parental cooperation and support.

This is a serious matter on the Hilltop as in every part of the city. Spring days mean that bicycle riders will be on the streets more hours than during the winter months.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:
I am wondering if through your paper and the Hilltop Business Association something could not be done in order to keep bill passers from going through yards, hedges and tramping down all our tulip beds.

It seems a shame that we have sidewalks and they are not used.

Meter readers are in this class too.

Mrs. C. F. Shell

Hilltop Record
The Hilltop Record played an important part in making the 1948 Red Cross Fund Campaign a success.

The Red Cross Chapter, and I personally, wish to express our sincere gratitude for your cooperation. And, may I add another big thanks for all you do for us during the entire year.

We feel definitely that the results we get from community papers mean much to the success of the Red Cross program in Franklin County. We want to be of service and you tell the people in your area what services Red Cross has to offer them.

Again, thanks.

Re-routing of West Broad streetcars and Sullivant Avenue busses from High-st to Front-st will be opposed by two Hilltop councilmen, Milton Westlake and Wyatt Millikin, at the special meeting to be held tonight, it was indicated Wednesday.

Another outbreak of rabies this week vied with the smallpox epidemic for first place in the Hilltop news. Eight Hilltop dogs were bitten by infected animals.

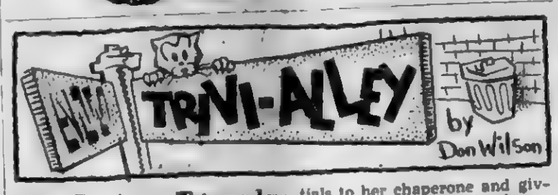
West High Round-Up — by Shalmir Springer—Some of the boys with those "glamour" haircuts are "Rabbit" Evans, Louis Erf, Dick Gilbmore, Bob Harvey, Joe Moore and Don Sturdevant. Perhaps they did it to keep up with a fashion of fads set by girls who wear their hair braided: Phyliss Gill, Gladys Sahr, Ruth Black, Marilyn Mitchell, Jane Dugan and Shirley Bradford.



Woodrow Pickering has been elected president of the Otto Magly Chapter of the National Honor Society, and June Heaney is secretary. Thirty-eight West seniors have been selected for membership in the club.

20th Century Tragedy

A boy. A girl. Just passing by. Their eyes met and it happened: WHAMBLOOIE!! Palpitation of the heart. Temporary paralysis. Love at first sight!

Ah, love, the inspiration of mankind, citadel of happiness.

Had it happened on a nineteenth century boulevard, the boy could have turned and followed the girl at a discreetly nineteenth century distance. The girl could then have dropped her glove or tripped over her skirt and given the boy a chance to come to the rescue and introduce himself. If he could then suffer the scrutiny of her father and mother, and Aunt Flotsam for about two or three years they might have become respectably engaged.

Wilson

Had it happened at an eighteenth century opera, the girl might have swooned at the proper moment, and the boy could have offered his credentials to her chaperone and given an assist in taking her home. This, though it would have involved more red tape than in the nineteenth century solution, could also have developed satisfactorily.

Had it happened in a seventeenth century king's court, the boy could have gotten a loan from His Majesty, rented a ship, and sailed off for new horizons. If he'd had any good luck at all, he'd have found at least ONE uncharted island, and he could have planted his country's flag, returned a hero, and put his bid in for the fair maid's hand.

But, unfortunately, it didn't happen in the seventeenth century, nor the eighteenth, nor the nineteenth. It happened in the twentieth century. The world had already been completely discovered, chaperones were passe, and the dropping of gloves was considered just plain clumsiness.

It wasn't in a king's court, nor at an opera, nor on a boulevard. It was in a department store, on an esculator. The boy was on the down side, the girl was on the up. And, before either had a chance to do anything about it, the boy was in the first-floor haberdashery, and the girl was in second-floor ready-to-wear.

The Ole Fishing Hole

It's weather like we've had recently that makes me think of fishing in the early spring along Sunfish Creek in Monroe County. That was the only time to fish — before the water got warm and the suckers from the Ohio River were heading up stream to spawn.

We had a system all our own down on Sunfish. Today it would be considered slightly unlegal but when I was a kid, game wardens were seldom heard from, so we never bothered to check the legality of the system so long as we got the suckers.

Our fishing equipment consisted of one long strong cane pole, preferably one that would reach a good distance out into the stream. To this pole we would tie a length of strong cotton twine — at least the length of the pole. Our hook was usually a home-made affair. It consisted of three large hooks soldered together to form a small grappling hook. A good-sized chunk of lead, for a sinker, was fastened to the line about 18 inches from the hook.

We never used bait and one requirement was that the water had to be reasonably clear so you could see the gravely bottom. The suckers usually traveled in sizeable schools. We would usually find a hole where we could stand up on a fairly high bank. From this vantage point we could see the fish as they swam slowly up and down the stream. Very cautiously we would drop our hook to the bottom and wait until the fish swam across the outstretched line, a quick jerk would snag a fish that crossed the line between the hook and the sinker.

The more adept hook wielders would slip the lead down to the hook and very carefully drag the hook up to the nose of a lazy sucker. A quick jerk toward the fish would bring him out almost every time.

That was fishing. You never had to wait until the temperamental fish made up his mind to bite on a baited hook. The fish always tasted better too, because the water was still cold, thus the meat was firm and tasteful.

Of Easter Eggs and Stuff

There are those people who feel a patriotic duty to eat eggs on Easter the same as the Irish wear green on St. Patrick's Day. It's always sounded silly to me, being a "now and then" egg eater. I knew one man who would lap up as many as a dozen eggs on Easter and then never touch them the rest of the year. Not much wonder.

Then there was the fellow who would start off Easter morning by stowing away 9 or 10 cackleberries. His usual breakfast called for at least four. Easter should be a good season for the poultryman. It might even be compared to Christmas for the toy manufacturer.

Maybe our 15 hens down at 1640 Reaver Lane understand the mind of the Easter egg buyers. They vacationed all winter and recently started to pay for their board bill by producing 8 to 10 eggs per day.

DO NOT THROW AWAY THE KEYS To TRUE FREEDOM!

The longer a sick man refuses to face the truth, the less chance he has to get well. Just waiting to see what will happen, or doing nothing about one's personal health until serious damage is done, is as unreasonable as locking yourself in a room and throwing the key out the window.

Your Doctor cannot get you well without your cooperation. Give your Doctor the facts that will help to open the door. Vital health is worth working for.

Some wise man has said, "you do no good by helping a man up—if he cannot stand on his feet. It is innate that man must do for himself."

The two most important keys to true freedom are: HEALTH that will fully free your brain and body for achievement; WORK, as a free man or woman, to pursue the opportunities so rich at hand.

Put forth the personal effort to make and keep these keys your own.

They're Back Again; Those Flying Saucers

Flying saucers have put in their appearance over Columbus again.

Mrs. C. A. Worthen, 147 Dana-av, said she saw what she assumed was a flying saucer about 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

"It came out of the northeast," Mrs. Worthen said. "At first I thought it was the moon coming up until I saw how rapidly it moved. It separated into six or seven parts and disappeared toward the south."

Mrs. Worthen said it was a white light, easily visible. She said that it was gone in "just a few minutes."

West High Boosters Launch Annual Hilltop Record Subscription Drive

One hundred and twenty-five members of the West High Boosters Club and students of West High School are "all set" to conduct their annual Record subscription drive during the coming 10 days. A liberal commission on every new and renewal subscription will go to the Boosters to assist them in carrying on to completion their plans to make Magly Field the best in Columbus.

Paul Leighninger, associated with Seiller's, Inc., 2404 W. Broad-st, heads the drive this year. Leighninger, in his instructions to his fellow workers Monday night, called on them and every resident of the Hilltop to assist in this drive.

"We need—and we WANT—the best equipped athletic field in Columbus. We can realize our ambitions and make this program a reality if we enlist the wholehearted support of EVERY Hilltopper.

"Every resident of the Hilltop can help—if they now subscribe to the Record, get their renewal—even though it may not be due at present. If they do not subscribe, get their subscription—the distribution of this issue of the Record to every home on the Hilltop will acquaint them with its many features, and will sell itself.

"Remember this—we must impress our youth with the fact that we are back of them in every constructive venture for the building of a better community—we are not doing things for the boys and girls of West High—but with them."

Prizes Offered

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 are being offered to the students securing the most subscriptions, with a special $5 prize going to the highest student in each group. Last year Fred Harris, 233 N. Oakley-av, won the $25 prize; Al Crosbie, 531 S. Wayne-av, second prize of $15; and Norris Booth, 514 N. Harris-av, third, $10.

A Stetson hat will be awarded to the supervisor whose group makes the best returns.

Booster Club members who will serve as supervisors are Gil Coffman, Bob Christman, Clarence Story, Sam Alford, Bob Case, "Slim" Elder, H. S. Elliott, Jack Alkire, R. Beem, Richard Francis, Gil Buckingham, Fred Braithwaite, Gus Johnson, E. J. Hegenberger, Phillip Stout, Forman Slager, Lee Weigand, R. F. Wilson, Harold Fox, John Speakman, "Woody" Clark, Lou Klees, Curt Roberts, Fred Bell, Bob Wilson, Dick Murray, "Red" Dolby, Don Cathers, Chuck Weigand, Jack Merriman and George Tarbutton.

This issue of the Record is being distributed to every home on the Hilltop by the students of West Junior and Senior High schools as a means of acquainting newcomers to the Hilltop with their community newspaper.

Take Orders Monday

Monday afternoon, April 12, the students will start their solicitation. They will give each subscriber a temporary receipt, a final receipt showing the expiration date to be mailed from the Record office within a few days.

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of the Record, stated this week, "It is a pleasure and a privilege to be of assistance to any group such as the Booster Club—any organization whose efforts are designed to help Hilltop youth. The Boosters are to be congratulated on their fine efforts to assist West High in its athletic program and deserve the support of EVERY citizen of the Hilltop."

"Y" Drive Needs Your Support On April 18

Someone will come knocking at your door Sunday afternoon, April 18, in behalf of the Hilltop YMCA. He or she will ask you to become a member of the "Y" and to take memberships for the members of your family.

To become a voting member in this worthwhile community project you should be prepared to give the worker $5. If you have youngsters from 10 to 19 years of age in your family and want them to support the program with a purpose membership give the worker $1 for each of them. Better yet, if you want to see this project get off to a real good start and help in getting a building for the "Y" on the Hilltop make a contribution of over $5. In fact make it as big as you can. It is for a good cause. And you can deduct it from income tax so if you are in a high bracket now just remember that in giving to the "Y" you are going to save on income tax, so you really aren't cut as much as you might expect . . . and who enjoys paying income taxes?

The "Y" program will get started here soon after May 1, at which time the executive secretary will come to the Hilltop. (Incidentally he needs a two-bedroom house or apartment, unfurnished. Help the cause by giving a member of the "Y" board a tip on where he can locate a house.)

Every organization on the Hilltop will profit by the establishment of the Hilltop "Y". So let's have your support . . . remember the date—the 18th of April.

That story in last week's Hilltop Record telling of the fight between Floyd Green and Jack Sensenbrenner on the opening night of the minstrel was an April Fool story if you didn't turn to page eight and finish reading it as you were instructed to do.

There were many amusing incidents relative to this story. A lot of people swallowed it hook, line and sinker without taking the trouble to read it through, which is further proof of one of our contentions of a long time past . . . that people do not read long stories. Many people read headlines only and think they have the complete story.

Recreation Dept. Starts Park Improvements Here

Hilltop parks and playgrounds will reflect the expanded recreation program by the time they are ready to open for the summer months, N. J. Barack, recreation director, told The Hilltop Record this week.

Work has already started on the installation of lights for the six tennis courts at Westgate Park. Three blacktop courts will be installed at Holton Park and two at Glenwood Park.

Approximately $30,000 will be spent on the remodeling and renovation of Glenwood Shelterhouse, badly in need of repairs. Bids are now being advertised for this work, which is scheduled to be done during the summer months so that it will be available for full use by fall.

Other playground and park improvements include repair to toilets and wading pool at Westgate; repairs to the roof of the shelter house; toilets and wading pool at Holton, and a new wading pool at Glenwood. The Glewood wading pool is already under construction.

The city-owned property east of Columbian-av, south of Sullivant-av, is to be partially conditioned for the installation of some playground equipment.

"While the Columbian Avenue improvements will be of a modified nature this summer, there will definitely be supervised playground facilities for the kiddies," Barack said.

He pointed out that for the time being they would level off only a portion of the five-acre tract for playground use. Considerable more fill will be required to put the main park in operation due to the marshy nature of the land.

HEADS SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE — Paul Leighninger, 2393 Fremont-st, is serving as chairman of the West High Boosters Club annual Hilltop Record subscription drive being started this week. Leighninger is a partner in Seiller's Department Store, 2404 W. Broad-st, and active in civic affairs of the community.

Hearing Is Held On Biltmore D-5 Application

About 25 Hilltoppers, including five local ministers, attended the hearing on the Biltmore Restaurant D-5 night club application held at the Department of Liquor Control Friday morning.

W. R. Morris, assistant chief of the department who conducted the hearing, said that a ruling in the case would be announced in about 10 days from the date of the hearing. The case had taken on considerable interest in the community since there are three churches within a 500-foot radius of the applicant. The pastors of all three of the churches—Hoge Memorial, Hilltop Lutheran and Hillcrest Baptist — filed formal protests to the granting of the night club permit. All three men spoke in opposition to the application at the hearing.

Rev. A. J. Wold, pastor of the Hoge Church and spokesman for the group, said "This type of business (night club trade) will contribute to delinquency rather than the upbuilding of our community."

Also voicing opposition to the granting of the liquor license were Harold Fox, who operates a grocery store on the corner of Eureka-av and Broad-st. M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, chairman of the Southwest District, spoke on behalf of the Boy Scout movement on the community, and others.

All of the seven persons who spoke in protest commended James Phillips, owner of the restaurant, on the "high type of trade" his place now enjoys, and asked that he continue to operate without the sale of liquor of any kind in his place. Phillips was represented by legal counsel but had no witnesses.

Phillips' attorney based his appeal on the fact that only three other permit holders operate within a radius of more than three-fourths of a mile and that the restaurant does not face any of the three churches that protested.

A state law makes it mandatory to notify churches, schools or libraries when they come within a 500-foot radius of the place of business of any liquor permit applicant. The Biltmore already has a D-2 (high powered beer and wine) permit in escrow.

Phillips declined to say whether he would use the D-2 permit if the D-5 application was turned down.

ENDORSES SHERIFF PAUL

The Rea-Bow Improvement Association in a meeting Tuesday night voted to endorse Sheriff Ralph J. Paul in his candidacy for the office of Franklin County Sheriff, according to George Wolfe, president of the group.

West Band, Ball Team To Appear At Season Opener

The Hilltop will be well represented at Red Bird Stadium next Thursday night when Columbus officially opens the 1948 season by meeting the Milwaukee Brewers.

Playing a prominent part in the opening night festivities will be the West High School Band under the direction of Charles W. Bennett. Final arrangements were made this week to have the band appear under the sponsorship of the Hilltop Business Association.

Also representing West High School and the Hilltop will be Coach George Williams and members of his 1948 baseball team who will be guests of the 13 Club. The 13 Club is prominent in civic and charitable activities of the community.

Under the direction of Clyde McBee, general chairman of the opening day committee, extensive plans are being made to make this one of the biggest opening days in the history of the local ball club.

Something new in the way of a baseball dinner special is being offered to Red Bird fans. For the price of $4.50, a fan can have a dinner at the Ionian Room of the Deshler Wallick Hotel, plus transportation in private busses to and from Red Bird Stadium and a reserved seat at the opening ball game.

The dinner is scheduled between the hours of 6:45 and 8 p. m., with busses leaving the hotel for the ball park at 8 p. m. Reservations for this "baseball dinner special" may be made by calling Richard Frey at the Deshler Wallick Hotel.

Veteran Police Officer Dies Here Wednesday Morning

Funeral arrangements were being completed as the Record went to press for Lt. Joseph E. Knight, 46, of 232 N. Oakley-av, a member of the Columbus Police Department for 24 years.

Lt. Knight died in Mt. Carmel Hospital Wednesday morning following a brief illness. During the past seven years he had been assigned to the traffic safety car seen frequently on the Hilltop.

He is survived by four brothers, Wade H., William J., James T. and Paul E., all of Columbus; his mother, Lillie B. Knight, and three nieces, all of the N. Oakley-av address. He was a member of the West Gate Blue Lodge.

Plaque Will Honor West High War Dead

Plans are being completed by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club to erect a plaque in the main entrance way at West High School in honor of the former students and teachers who gave their lives in service in World War II.

Ed Planck is in charge of the committee planning the memorial. The plaque will be erected in special ceremonies planned for some time near Memorial Day.

Tall Stories On Kiwanis Program

Tall stories will highlight today's luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Eight local Kiwanians will vie for the honor (?) of telling the "tallest" story. "Fish stories" will not be excluded, a spokesman said.

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club meets at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, every Thursday noon. Dr. R. J. Miller is president of the club.

Two Killed In Traffic Accidents

Two local men lost their lives and several other persons had narrow escapes from fatal injuries in traffic mishaps over the week-end.

Dead are Herman Allen Wade, 19, 273 Lechner-av, and Ralph Jordan, 22, of 1690 Little-av. Wade lost his life Monday morning when the motorcycle on which he was riding was in a head-on collision with a truck in U. S. Route 23, four miles south of Circleville. Jordan, a laborer at Green Lawn Cemetery, was killed when he was thrown from a 1932 roadster early Monday morning when the car struck a guy wire.

Wade, a graduate of West High School in the class of '46, was a member of the USNR at the Naval Air Station at Port Columbus, and was employed at the International Derrick Co. here. He is the son of Mrs. Sylvia Wade of the Lechner-av address. He was returning from Jackson, where he had visited his grandmother. He is also survived by a sister, Miss Eva Lindsey, of the Lechner-av address.

Funeral services are being conducted today with burial in Sunset Cemetery.

Car Skids

Jordan was a passenger in a car being driven by Melvin Thompson, 26, of the Little-av address when the accident occurred at W. Rich-st and Starling-st. The car skidded when it failed to round a turn and struck the guy wire. The driver was not seriously hurt.

Jordan's body was taken to the Spears Funeral Home, where it was shipped to Henderson, Ky., Monday for burial there. He is survived by his wife.

Others hurt included the following:

Mrs. Sara Louise Hutchinson, 29, of 3523 Brookside-blvd, was treated in Mt. Carmel Hospital Sunday for head injuries suffered when she fell from the back of a car and was thrown into a ditch on Hague-av near Fisher-rd.

Narrow Escape From Death

Clarence V. Lewis, 474 N. Hague-av, and his two-year-old daughter, Judy Ann, had a close brush with death Tuesday noon when the car in which they were riding stalled on the railroad tracks of the North Hague-av crossing.

Lewis said he would have had time to have pushed the car off the tracks but feared his baby daughter might run into the path of the train. A few minutes after he carried his child to safety, Lewis watched a New York Central passenger train demolish the Model A Ford.

Mrs. Helen Beard, 20, of 1894 Little-av, suffered head bruises and was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital after the auto in which she was riding with her husband, Ira Beard, was in a collision with a car driven by Robert Arnold, 1361½ W. Broad-st. The accident happened at Mound-st and Yale-av, police said.

Struck By Auto

Mrs. Ethel Sanduski, 43, of [illegible] N. Warren-av, was injured Monday afternoon when she was struck by an auto driven by John H. Corbin, rear of 1046 Summit-st, as she was crossing High-st at Gay-st. She was treated at St. Francis Hospital for a twisted left ankle and minor bruises.

Kenneth Young, 15, of 2005 McKinley-av, suffered severe face cuts and a broken wrist when his motorcycle went out of control and overturned at Ridge and Eldon-ave Monday night, police said. Robert Morris, 18, of [illegible] McKinley-av, a passenger on the motorcycle, suffered a cut on his chin. Firemen took both men to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment.

Jerry Ankrom, 20, of 392 S. Burgess-av, suffered back injuries Wednesday when he was

The money represented the profits on the recent Civic Concert Orchestra recital at West High School.

A house-to-house canvass of the Hilltop will be made by volunteer workers of the Hilltop YMCA on the afternoon of April 18. Every resident of the community will be afforded an opportunity to subscribe to the fund that will start local "Y" operations on May 1. Averille M. Thorn, YMCA official at Akron, will come to the Hilltop to launch the local program as full-time executive secretary.

Goal Of $15,000 Set For Year

Final preparations for the big membership and financial drive of the Hilltop YMCA on April 18 will be completed at a meeting of the Hilltop "Y" Board at Claggett Real Estate office tonight.

Carl Turner, 3039 Crescent-dr, has been named colonel for the drive, which will cover practically all sections of the Hilltop. Workers are being lined up for the various communities. Approximately 350 workers are needed. All who have promised to be present for the drive are asked to make plans to reserve about three hours on Sunday afternoon, April 18. Workers will report to West High School before 1:30, at which time they will be given their necessary supplies and receipts books. Money will be turned in at the school. An instruction meeting for all workers is scheduled for Monday evening, April 12, at Hillcrest Baptist Church.

A goal of $15,000 has been set for Sunday afternoon, April 18. This money will be used to get the Hilltop YMCA program started and carry it on until July, 1949.

Three types of memberships will be offered the public. Voting membership in the "Y" will be open to those persons over 16 who pay $5. Anyone from 10 to 19 years old may purchase a purpose membership at $1. Any amounts over $5 will go into the building fund.

The board advised again this week that the Hilltop "Y" program will get started May 1 when headquarters are opened in the Teen Club quarters at Burgess and Broad. This building will be turned over at that time by the Hilltop Community Council for use of the Hilltop "Y". The Teen Canteen will continue to operate but will be under the supervision of the Hilltop "Y" secretary after May 1.

Thorn Is Secretary

Averille Thorn of Akron, for five years an active YMCA worker and trained in workings of a "Y" program, has been selected by the local board as executive secretary of the Hilltop "Y".

Upon arrival on the local scene he will assume direction of the "Y" activities to be started at that time. Detailed announcement of all projects will be carried in weekly releases in The Hilltop Record.

All youngsters of the community are invited to participate in the Hilltop "Y" activities and it is hoped that many groups will be organized within a short time.

Number 1 membership in the "Y" drive was sold to Duke Reynolds of Helen's Sandwich Shop. Price of this membership was $25, $20 of which will go into the building fund. Numerous other large contributions are anticipated in the drive.

Management of the Hilltop "Y", which will include programs for girls as well as boys, is vested in a twelve man board of directors. The board is made up as follows: C. Carlton Hartley, chairman; Jerry Spears, vice chairman; H. G. Deems, treasurer; Charles P. Maus, secretary; Mose M. Williams, Carl Turner, Rev. A. J. Wold, Irvin F. Young, Dr. R. J.

Miles' West Broad Theatre To Open

On Saturday, April 17, Miles' West Broad Auto Theatre will open for the 1948 season.

Although the theatre was open for a short period last fall, construction was at that time still incomplete, so many improvements have been added since then. The management has spared no expense to make Miles West Broad one of the most beautiful outdoor theatres in the United States. Thousands of dollars have been spent on beautifying the grounds alone.

The drives have been lined with dwarf pines and juniper. In the background can be seen the tall stately Norway spruce, also the beautiful Colorado and Koster blue spruce. There are also plenty of the hardwoods including silver maple, sycamore and mountain ash.

All 11 Boys Returned To Juvenile Bureau

The last of 11 boys, who made a break for freedom from the Juvenile Research Bureau on the Hilltop Saturday night, was returned to the institution yesterday morning. The other 10 boys had been accounted for earlier in the week, according to Dr. Morris Newburger, director of the bureau.

The youths staged an escape from an attendant Saturday night during the showing of a movie on the grounds. One gave himself up at Hamilton, Ohio, Sunday night. Earlier Columbus police apprehended five, two surrendered at Grove City, and others returned of their own accord.

Dr. Newburger pointed out that far from being "dangerous criminals" the group of boys were just ordinary kids. Several of them were being studied upon request of their parents and were not even court cases at all. Some had already undergone their observation period and were to be released.

Strengthen Plackets

Many times plackets need to be strengthened because there is considerable strain at the ends. Extra stitches put in at the end of the placket, or tape sewed across the ends on the underside will do it.

Happiness Begins In Your Home

You've been putting off home-ownership too long—like so many people. But don't put it off any longer. Of course, a "good house" runs into an ample sum. But there is nothing in this wide world which doesn't cost in ratio to its quality, durability, and that intangible thing, the happiness it can provide. A home of your own means a proper setting for hospitality—a wholesome background for growing children—a degree of security which nothing can challenge. A home of your own is a place for joyous, efficient living now while you're young—and for glowing memories as you get older. Let us help you own your home. Our advice is based on facts . . . our knowledge on experience. Come in today.

West High Band Variety Show To Be April 22, 23, 24

Long an outstanding spring entertainment attraction on the Hilltop, the ninth annual West High Band Variety Show is being readied for three performances to be given on April 22, 23 and 24.

This year's show, directed by Charles W. Bennett, will include a cast of 200 students, including the senior high, junior high bands, the school orchestra, the dance band and a score of special entertainers.

Tickets for each of the three nights are on sale at the school office at 75c each. All seats are reserved. All proceeds from the show go into the treasury of the Band Parents Club to be used for buying equipment and maintaining uniforms and instruments for the instrumental groups at the school.

The first half of the show will feature the two bands and the school orchestra in "pop" concerts. The variety acts will take over from there with April showers as the general theme. More than 100 acts were reviewed before the 16 felt to be most appropriate, were chosen. Several of last year's stars will be back. These include Dick Bowles, remembered for his "Ole Man River," Marilyn Ring, West High's budding primadonna, Jackie Hardy, the Hilltop's popular little dancer, and the Glass Sisters, Sue and Kay, in a new comedy dance routine.

New Singers

New singers on this year's program include Donna Beck, Jeanette Chakeres, a girls' trio including Alice Mercer, Martha Brown and Lois Stansell, a comedy quartet composed of Don Henderson, Dick Hershberger, Dick Davis and Bob Freshcorn, and a fine background chorus of 30 voices.

New dance acts this year include a double by Barbara Bell and Sue Keller, a fast tap by Mary Steed, and a novelty tap by Katherine Seeds. A "high-stepping" dance-line will also make its initial appearance. The line includes Jackie Hardy, Barbara Bell, Sue Keller, Sonny Albery, Delores Moriva and Nancy Bailey.

A fast and furious rope-twirling act is being rehearsed and should prove to be one of the high spots of the show. Bob Johnson will be featured as piano soloist.

Those who were thrilled by the "Star-Dust" black-light number last year will enjoy seeing this year's "Storm" number with black-light and sound-effects. In this number and in several other spots the West High Swing Band will be featured.

Bill Hawes has been selected as master of ceremonies for the show, winning out over a field of eight worthy contenders.

A 16-page souvenir program is being planned for the show and will include pictures of some of the performing groups.

Delicious Frosting

A quick cake frosting can be made by adding a can of strained baby fruit to an equal amount of confectioners' sugar. Apricots, pineapple, or pears are especially delicious for this kind of icing.

Darning Pile Fabrics

When darning dresses and coats of pile materials, work the darn from the wrong side of the material instead of the right. Then brush well on the right side to lift the nap when the darn is finished.

"Stitch In Time" Will Save Rug

The life of a rug or carpet can often be prolonged by taking the proverbial "stitch in time." Here are a few suggestions for mending these floor coverings.

Always choose a bright day for such mending, since plenty of light will result in less eyestrain.

Place small rugs on a table to mend them. But, to mend large rugs, get a low stool and a good back rest and hold the rug on your lap. Then place a small box under the rug to help bear its weight.

Before mending, trim all frayed edges or worn hems, beginning where they are the deepest. Overcast the edges and sew binding to them with carpet thread and a heavy needle. Then turn the binding under and hem it by hand. If you wish to attach single fringe, sew it to the right side.

If the fringe is already attached to the double binding when you buy it, apply the binding by turning in both edges of it and then slipping the rug between the two edges. Sew the binding with a slab stitch—push the needle straight through and back, being sure to catch both edges of the binding.

Tasty Vegetable Dish

The green stems around the head of a cauliflower make a tasty vegetable dish. Try them and see for yourself. Cook the stems in a little water until they are tender (about 45 minutes). Chop them, add butter and other seasoning.

How To Dry Wringer

A good way to dry the wringer on your washer is to run a dry turkish towel through it. This will dry all the parts thoroughly.

Guards Protect Men's Trouser Legs From Wearing Out Quickly

Wear guards to protect men's trouser legs from rubbing against shoes can be easily and quickly made. Heavy tape about five-eighths of an inch wide or cloth cut from the leg seams can be used for them.

To put a wear guard on trousers with cuffs, first turn down the cuff. Then baste the guard just inside the leg parallel and close to the fold that will be the bottom edge of the trouser. Stitch along both edges of the guard and turn the cuff back and tack it in place.

To put a wear guard on trousers without cuffs, first rip open the hem. Then baste and stitch on a guard inside the lower edge of the leg on the hem side of the bottom crease. To finish the job re-hem the trousers.

Lard Protects Hands

Before beginning your next paint job, try this trick for removing the paint that always seems to end up on your hands. Rub your hands well with soft lard, especially around and under the nails. And after you have finished painting, you will find that warm water and mild soap will remove all traces of paint from your hands.

Use For Broom Handle

Use part of an old broom handle for a laundry stick. You'll find it is excellent for lifting hot clothes from a tub or machine.

Spring Brings New Street Markers To The Hilltop; It's That "New Look"

That "new look" in street markers is making its appearance on the Hilltop.

Those long-awaited baked enameled street signs began putting in their appearance on Westgate streets early last week. Workmen started at the west corporation line and are working east in the area south of W. Broad-st. Every intersection is being marked, many of the cross streets for the first time in years.

The new signs are the latest thing recommended by national safety and traffic engineers. The signs are made of heavy sheet steel, galvanized and bonderized to prevent rusting. They are then painted and baked for maximum durability in the weather.

Letters are four inches in height. The signs are six inches in height and vary in length from 24 to 32 inches depending on the length of the street name.

"We believe they are the best that are available today—especially for the money," Howard Edwards, a city engineer, said last week.

Installed In Quadrants

Mr. Edwards pointed out that the markers are being installed in quadrants. The first quadrant to be erected is the southwest—covering all territory from High-st west and south of W. Broad-st. That explains why the area north of Broad-st on the Hilltop will be erected a little later.

"We should be through with the first quadrant by the middle of April," Edwards stated. "We will then move on to the northwest quadrant that will cover the section north of W. Broad-st."

The city engineer pointed out that in some instances markers may be missing in the area now being covered. This is due to the fact that steel posts needed to support the signs have not yet been delivered. He explained that these would be taken care of as soon as posts arrive.

In some cases a steel post is already installed at the intersection that can be used to support the new markers. In still other cases, utility poles can be used as supports.

Transparent Wax Protects Wallpaper

Inventions and ideas galore are appearing these days to make household tasks easier, thus saving time for today's busy woman. One of the newest products is a solution designed to protect wallpaper from dirt, dust and stains.

It is a liquid, transparent wax which leaves a non-porous finish from which soil is easily removed. The wax is applied with a clean cloth and can be polished with another cloth when it is dry.

It is a simple task to remove grease, crayon marks, and other stains from wall-paper treated in this manner. The wall-paper can be cleaned with soap and water or dusted with a brush or soft cloth.

Tests have shown that the color of the wall-paper is generally not affected by applying the wax. But it is a good precaution to test an inconspicuous portion before applying the wax to an entire room.

Shrink Patch Material

Always shrink new patch material to be used when mending a wash garment. Otherwise, the patch may shrink and pucker when the garment is laundered.

County Planning Official To Discuss Franklin Twp. Zoning

Grover Clements

Every property owner in Franklin Township will be interested in a meeting to be held at Wilson School on Ransburg-av on the evening of April 13. At that time Grover Clements, Franklin County planning engineer, will present a proposal for township zoning.

The meeting will be preliminary to further study and hearings by county planning and zoning officials. The April 13 meeting is to be an informative discussion of the workings of the rural zoning law as passed by the General Assembly last year. Known as House Bill 22, it stipulates that general meetings shall be held in all townships to consider suggestions and plans for ultimate passage of a zoning law in that township.

Questions will be encouraged and all available information on the subject will be presented. Final enactment of any zoning law must be approved by the voters of the township.

George A. Goodfleisch, secretary of the zoning commission, will also be present to assist Mr. Clements with the meeting.

Because of the April 13 township-wide meeting, there will be no April meeting of the Wilson Heights Civic Association. The civic group would ordinarily meet on April 14. F. E. Campbell, 1829 Jackson-av, is the president.

Is your home safe for your family? Are you sure? Last year home accidents brought death to 33,500 people and disabling injuries to 5,000,000. All those people THOUGHT their homes were safe—or else they just DIDN'T THINK about safety. The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce urges you to keep a lookout for home hazards that can cause falls, burns, poisoning, electric shock, bruises and cuts—and home fires. Be SURE your home is safe.

Pedestrian, how do you handle your umbrella on a rainy day? Do you lower it in front of your face and step blindly off the curb into the street? The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce suggests that keeping a clear view of traffic might get you a few drops of rain in the face but this won't hurt you nearly so much as walking into the path of a moving automobile.

Basting Used In Four Stitches

Basting is used to hold fabric pieces together temporarily until they can be stitched by the machine. Four kinds of basting stitches are used by seamstresses.

The first of these, even basting, is a firm basting used for fitting or stitching. This consists of even stitches about one-half inch long.

Uneven basting, which serves as a quick line for machine stitching where there is no strain on an article, is the second kind. Two sizes of stitches are used—a long stitch followed by a short one, both taken on the needle at once.

Diagonal Basting Easy to Do

The third basting stitch—diagonal basting—is used for holding together two thickness of material. Slanting stitches are made on the top side of a fabric and straight up and down stitches are made on the underside.

The last basting stitch—slip basting— is used when stripes or plaids are to be matched or when fitting has been done on the right side of a garment.

To make this stitch, take the right side of one piece and fold under the indicated seam allowance. Then pin this fold on the seam line of the adjoining piece, being sure to match the plaids or stripes. Slip the needle along in the fold of the upper layer, draw it through, and take a short stitch in the under layer.

Climbing steadily toward another 3,000,000-plus record, 1948 American Legion national membership now has reached 2,325,487, with enrollments continuing to average about 7,500 a day.

DRESSING WELL FOR LITTLE MONEY

Everybody agrees that the best way to buy any season's wardrobe is to get it all at one time. Proof that it can be done this Spring and Summer, whatever amount your bank account allows, was put across in New York's recent showing of fashions-and-prices, all under $25. The majority of dresses, in fact, were considerably less.

The fashions, chosen for their trend as well as price value, included well-styled Easter suits in good woolens, bolero and capelet costumes, Spring's popular petticoat dresses, pretty and tubbable career girl cottons, prints and printed ensembles, among them some pure silks, and even a white satin bridal dress.

Pictured today are two of the many big values for little money. The redingote costume, seen in high style collections, is a popular-price version as a New York designer shows it in checked taffeta with navy crepe. The big "pussy cat" bow and ruffled sleeve cuffs match the "slip dress" beneath the coat. Naturally, the coat can be worn over many other dresses. The bolero costume is one of many varieties in all kinds of fabrics.

Repairing Holes

Small holes in woolen fabrics can be repaired by reweaving them with yarn pulled from the inseams. If the holes are large ones, set in a carefully matched piece of cloth underneath the hole and darn it so as to hold the cut edges flat.

Famed Florida Cook Tells Family Secrets for Orange Kuchen, Potatoes

Oranges and potatoes are the main ingredients of the two dishes which have made Mrs. MacDowell famous in Lakeland, Fla. The recipes were handed down from her grandmother, she told Helen McCully, who describes how to make Mrs. MacDowell's Orange Kuchen and "Slip-and-Go Down."

Mrs. MacDowell's Orange Kuchen

½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter
1/3 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
Dash salt
4 oranges, sectioned

You need a moderate or 375F oven, and you'd better get it going now. Also squeeze your orange juice.

Now, work butter and sugar together with the back of a spoon until light and fluffy. Sift all dry ingredients twice, then add to butter and sugar alternately with the orange juice, a small quantity at a time. Mix in well after each addition. You'll have a very thin batter. Pour into a greased eight-inch square pan. Arrange orange sections on top of batter.

Sprinkle top with this mixture: Take ¼ cup sifted brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter and ½ teaspoon of grated rind and mix together well. Bake 35 to 40 minutes. If you want to use other fruit such as apples, peaches or apricots, use milk instead of orange juice and eliminate the soda.

Mrs. MacDowell's Slip-And-Go-Down

The MacDowells' grandmother christened this dish Slip-and-Go-Down because it goes down easy. This is a nice change from plain mashed potatoes and you can serve it with ham (in any form), tongue, sausage, frankfurters, almost anything, in fact, except fowl.

Boil 6 medium, white potatoes. When tender, mash them until they're free of lumps. Do not add any butter but do add a dash of pepper and salt. While potatoes are boiling, fry six or eight slices of bacon, cut into half-inch pieces. When brown, allow bacon and fat to cool in the pan. When cool, add a tablespoon or so of vinegar. In the meantime shred lettuce, but not too fine, allowing about a cup to each person. Chop up fine six or eight green garden onions (scallions) or a medium-sized onion.

Dr. MacDowell says you can use any kind of lettuce—romaine, escarolle, garden lettuce and feticus. The last, known as lamb's lettuce in some places, is very mild and sweet. He also recommends Bibb's, a cut-and-come-again lettuce that "stands" well in hot weather and keeps growing until frost.

Mix lettuce and onion together, then pour on the cooled bacon business. Give it a toss to "wilt" it further and mix into the hot mashed potatoes. Eat at once.

Handy Suggestions For Neat Closet

Do you keep your closet clean and neat as a pin, or does it look as though a miniature atom bomb had exploded nearby? If your closet fits the latter description, then you'd better get busy and restore its neatness.

First, remove everything—shoes, boxes, dresses, blouses, skirts, hats—from the closet and give it a thorough cleaning. Make with the dust cloth and don't be afraid to use the soap and water treatment.

When you hang your things in the closet, make all the hangers go the same way. Hang your dresses in one section, your coats and suits in another, and your blouses in still another. This will make it easier for you to find just the clothes you want when you're in a hurry to dash off to school or meet the BMIYL (big man in your life).

To protect your bonnets, you can make a plastic hat bag. And if you are especially handy with the needle, you can make plastic dress shields to keep your clothes free from dust. You can also make small bags for your shoes.

This, teens, is your formula for a tidy closet you'll be proud to show your friends.

Growing Your Own Food Is Smart And Patriotic, Old Hand Advises

Raising your own food is patriotic right now, and raising only the foods you like to eat is sensible, now and any time, says F. F. Rockwell. 'Giving you tips from an Old Hand, he tells you how to get best results with some of the more popular vegetables:

"You want to help the world food supply by growing some of your own—but that's all the more reason for not raising things you and your men folks won't eat. Concentrate on the few you really love to eat, and only those of table-top quality. Then give them the culture they need to reach fullest perfection. Freeze or can the surplus for winter enjoyment.

"But to grow any vegetables well you need plenty of sunshine, deep, well-enriched soil. Most sorts, too, take kindly to extra meals during growth—'side dressing' with fertilizer sprinkled along row and hoed lightly into the soil.

"The way to keep corn from blowing down is to hill it up. Thin young plants to one foot apart in row, draw earth up to them as they grow. Also plant several short rows instead of one or two long ones—they help protect each other. For continuous supply, plant every 15 days until the first week in June.

"There are two ear-worms—the corn borer and the real ear-worm. For former dust young plants with rotenone; for latter treat ears with corn oil — both available at seed stores. Varieties of corn of exceptional quality are Marcross, early; Lincoln, mid-season; and Golden Colonel, very late. For an extra treat, try some frozen on the cob.

"If tomato plans are 'leggy' all you do is strip off lower leaves, make a trench, cover the stem with soil, leaving only the tip above ground. Roots will form along stem. Drive stakes, 18 to 24 inches apart, before setting plants. Begin tying up early.

"You can train them to a fence if that's more convenient. Main thing is to keep them tied up, with soft string, or 'twistems,' that won't cut the stems. Leave only two main stems; pinch out all side shoots. Side dress two or three times with a complete fertilizer. Marglobe, Fordhook Hybrid, Jubilee (yellow) all are A-1. For a late crop, plant again in June.

"Too much rich food makes beans run to leaves instead of pods. Try this method: Open a deep trench — four or five inches —scatter seeds two inches apart.

"Cover only two inches at first. As plants grow, thin out to four to six inches and gradually fill in trench and hill up slightly. When first blooms appear, side dress with bone meal — three pounds per 100 feet of row. Watch for first bean beetles and dust with rotenone. For best table quality grow Tender-green or Brittle Wax (yellow), and — pick them young.

"To get lettuce tender you've got to be tough with it. Thin out the tiny plants to three inches apart, and again later to six inches or more for 'leaf' sorts, and eight to 10 inches for heading. Thinnings can be used. And if you want it really crisp and tender keep it growing fast. Hoe often, water in dry weather and side dress with nitrate of soda—½ pound to 35 plants. Oakleaf, semi-heading, is a superior all-purpose sort; Mignonette makes small tight heads, Slobolt loose heads that withstand hot weather. Plant every two weeks in spring; again in early August."

DAY-LONG SHEER

Basic dress of sheer navy crepe styled for a woman's figure. Collar is edged with lace-trimmed organdy.

The recent remark of a well-dressed woman that even though she had never been clothes-mad, she had always found it worthwhile to look her best expresses the fashion philosophy of most mature women. This Spring, more so than in seasons, it is entirely possible regardless of what you can spend, or what your size problem happens to be. Styles which "fit to begin with," whether you take regular women's sizes, "extra" sizes, or "half size," for the short and stout, are big news in New York designer collections . . . and all at-a-price.

The sheer crepe coat-dress pictured today, as purposeful as it is inexpensive, is an example of the new, real values for the average woman's purse. It has the three-quarter length sleeves, the look of easy fullness, and the distinction which the mature person likes in her clothes, and it is a dress she can wear throughout the day, and with many different accessories.

Small-printed sheers, one-piece polka dot shirtwaist dresses, and simply-designed pastel crepes are other excellent fashions shown this Spring in a variety of women's sizes.

To be a 100 per cent Hilltopper, read The Hilltop Record every week.

Your life is in your hands! Yes, in YOUR hands. The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce says: If more people would accept their personal responsibility for avoiding accidents in their everyday activities, there would not be 100,000 people killed and millions injured each year by accident. Be careful—the life you save may be your own!

Looking Ahead with Jean Worrel

Everyone knows that the difference between future security and insecurity depends not on what is earned but on what is saved.

Think what you will do when old age deprives you of the means of earning your own livelihood. Think what your family will do if by your untimely death they are left to carry on alone, without your income to feed, clothe, shelter and educate them.

Ordinarily it is difficult to save money but now, in keeping with the times, a new and easy way of saving has been arranged. Just as the Government has made it easier to pay our income tax at regular intervals from the salary cheque, so independence for old age and protection for wife and children can now be conveniently provided by small salary deductions.

What could be more sound than, with the co-operation of your employer, saving a small part of your salary to assure an income for yourself or your family when your paydays are over. The programme is permanent and uninterrupted because the deposits are automatic. The savings dollar properly becomes the first item in the budget rather than the last. The plan to which I refer, the Sun Life Salary Savings Plan, is so flexible that a programme of saving can be adapted to fit the needs of each wage-earner, single or married, man or woman, according to individual problems and ability to save. Such policies are the property of the assured and in the event of entering the service of another employer it is a simple matter to continue the savings arrangement intact.

Let me tell you more about this savings plan and show you how easily it can be adapted to meet your own requirements. Just call or write

BURNS COAL COMPANY

Telephone MAin 4116

365 WEST TOWN STREET, COLUMBUS, OHIO

Dear Friends:

We are taking this opportunity to extend our thanks in appreciation for your business during the heating season just ending.

We try in every way to keep our coal and delivery service up to a quality standard, and our employees are trained in a tradition of courtesy and in taking care of the customer's property as if it were his own.

We really try to take care of our customers — but sometimes right in the middle of winter, everyone seems to run out of coal the same day, and it taxes our delivery facilities to take care of them. This is especially true when the streets are icy and the snow is heavy.

Why not take complete advantage of our clean — careful — courteous service by having your coal bin filled during the summer and avoid the inconveniences brought on by Old Man Winter.

Thank You

ADAPTABILITY

Coal lets you fit your heating plant to your budget, with automatic, semi - automatic, or manually fired equipment.

Oven Meals: Here Are Main Dishes And Desserts That Bake Together

A hearty main dish and an easy dessert can come out of the oven at the same time if you plan it right, says Bernice Burns. She gives you menus and recipes for complete oven meals:

"Our first oven meal includes Chipped Beef Loaf, Baked Carrots, and Apple Orange Crisp. These go into the oven together and emerge 30 to 40 minutes later, done to a turn. There is actually no hard-and-fast rule which declares all dishes must enter and leave the oven simultaneously.

"In our second menu, the Ham and Rice Casserole bakes for 40 minutes, the Asparagus au Gratin for 30 minutes, while the Peach Meringues require only 15 minutes. This simplifies preparation. Start by steaming both rice and asparagus. When the casserole is ready, place in oven and finish the asparagus dish. That done, turn to the meringues. Reduce the heat before baking these.

Chipped Beef Loaf

Cook 8 minutes or as directed on box, 2 cups noodles. Drain. Heat in frying-pan 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Cut into bits and add ¼ lb. chipped beef. Stir until crisp and browned. Remove. Combine in small jar 2 tablespoons flour, 1¼ cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, and ½ teaspoon pepper. Shake until smooth. Pour into hot frying-pan and stir until thickened. Add 1 teaspoon grated onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper. Butter 1-quart loaf pan. Fill with alternate layers of noodles and chipped beef. Pour thickened sauce over all. Bake at 375° for 30 to 40 minutes.

Baked Carrots

Cut carrots into strips and steam with 1/3 cup water for about 5 minutes. Place in greased baking-dish with remaining water. Dot with butter, cover and place in oven with Chipped Beef Loaf.

Apple Orange Crisp

Arrange in greased casserole 3 cups sliced apples. Spread with 1/3 cup orange marmalade. Mix together thoroughly 1/3 cup butter or margarine and 2/3 cup crushed corn flakes. Sprinkle over top of apples and marmalade. Bake at 375° 30 to 40 minutes until apples are cooked. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

Ham and Rice Casserole

Combine in top of double boiler 1 can condensed chicken soup, 1¼ cups water, 1 cup rice, and ½ teaspoon salt. Cover and let cook over hot water for 25 minutes. Have ready 8 thin slices cooked ham or 1 cup chopped ham, ½ cup chopped green pepper, and 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento. Grease 2-quart casserole and fill with alternate layers of rice, ham and green pepper. Sprinkle with pimiento and ½ teaspoon pepper. Bake at 375° for 40 minutes. 4 servings.

Asparagus Au Gratin

Steam until tender but not soft 1½ pounds asparagus. Prepare white sauce of 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, and 1½ cups milk. Melt butter, stir in flour until smooth, add milk slowly, stirring until thickened. Grate ¾ cup American cheese. Grease baking-dish and arrange alternate layers of asparagus, white sauce and cheese until all is used. Top with ½ cup buttered bread crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 375° for 30 minutes.

Filled Peach Meringues

Drain on paper towel 8 canned peach halves. Chop ¼ cup pecan or other nuts. Pour hot water over ¼ cup raisins. Beat 1 egg yolk. Drain water from raisins. Mix raisins, nuts with egg yolk and fill peach halves with mixture. Place in shallow baking-dish. Beat until stiff 2 egg whites. Fold in 4 tablespoons sugar. Spread meringue on top of each peach. Bake at 325° for 15 to 20 minutes.

A place for everything and everything in its place. That's an old saying that's not too old to help keep your home free from accidents. If you're making plans for spring housecleaning, the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce suggests you include plans for storing household equipment in definite safe places. This will help you from stumbling onto an accident in a dark hallway—or tumbling over an accident on the basement stairway—or bumping into an accident in the yard—or having an accident drop on your head from the edge of the shaky shelf.

Fair, And Warmer

Port Anne Sargent takes time out from her busy acting schedule to model the lastest fashion in play clothes for the outdoor season. Anne recently finished a lead part in a Broadway show, plays a featured role in the new film "Naked City," and regularly appears on WLW-NBC's "The Right to Happiness" program, heard five days weekly at 3:45 p.m., EST, as the shrewd Deborah Nelson.

Lamb Must Be Tender For Sunday Dinner

Broiled breast of lamb is a delicious Sunday dinner dish. Lamb must be tender and well done, though, so the broiling must be done very carefully.

To broil lamb, turn the inside of the meat toward the fire and turn often (Don't use a flame that is too high or the meat will scorch easily). When the lamb is broiled, spread it thinly with butter or other fat and season with salt and pepper.

The breast of lamb is usually sold with the foreleg attached. The foreleg should be cut off before the breast is broiled, because it is thick in comparison with the breast and therefore difficult to cook thoroughly by broiling.

"FACTS DO NOT CEASE TO EXIST BECAUSE THEY ARE IGNORED!"
(Huxley)

Neither do facts cease to exist because they are undiscovered, alarming or unpleasant. But, it is unfortunate, indeed, when an intelligent person realizes that something is taking place which will adversely affect his health, or his entire future . . . and yet he fails to do something about it!

In practically every community in America, there are medical facilities available to ALL those who make the personal effort to locate them. A million dollars worth of free medical service is rendered every day, in clinics, hospitals, offices and homes—to needy persons. Taxing employees and employers, to build up a "4-Billion-Dollar-a-year" Bureaucracy, will not solve your health problem. That is a matter between you and your doctor.

SPRING CHECKS

Black and white checked rayon jersey dress designed for the budget-minded.

Spring's rayon jersey dresses will be seen not only in plain colors and stripes, but in prints and checks. This cool, easy-to-pack and easy-to-press fabric is pictured today in one of many New York street dresses attractively but inexpensively styled for wear on into the warmest days of Summer.

The dress is fashioned all of a piece, with its flattering peplum banded in black crepe matching the V-decor of the bodice and sleeve cuffs. Notice that the skirt, though rather slim in effect, is not in the least skimpy—an important feature of fashions throughout the new collections of New York designers. The back of the waistline is finished with a bustle bow.

Other highly satisfactory fabrics seen in popular-priced town dresses are rayon shantung, striped and polka-dotted crepes and dark sheers, with such features in their favor as neat buttons, self-fabric trims, and careful finishing.

Convenience Is The Keynote For Today

With modern home furnishings, there's something new every minute.

Convenience is the keynote of modern home furnishings. In fact, it seems nothing has been left undone in providing Mrs. American Home-Maker with better furniture ideas.

First there's the modern dining-room table. This unit has a special drawer for silver. Built into the end of the table, the drawer slants downward under the table, making it more comfortable to sit at the table. Constructed of oak, the table has a neat Palomino finish.

Now you may have your barbecue in the kitchen! At a mid-winter home furnishings display, there was demonstrated a new method for roasting hot dogs. This electrical appliance has a drawer on which the wieners may be placed. Then they are slipped into a tubular unit of aluminum alloy, and in less than five minutes you have delicious roasted hot dogs.

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Big Lead In Poll For 10 Most Admired U. S. Women

Who are the ten woman most admired by Americans today? The Gallup Poll found the answer to that question recently. Reporting on the interesting results, William A. Lydgate, Gallup Poll editor, writes:

From coast to coast interviewers asked men and women in all walks of life: 'What woman living today in any part of the world that you have heard or read about do you admire most?'

"The winner by a wide margin is Eleanor Roosevelt, who was named by more than three times as many people as the next most-admired woman, Sister Kenny. It is interesting to note that no motion-picture actress is among the top ten, although a famous radio star, Kate Smith, is represented. Nor are any woman educators or college presidents, stage actresses, sportswoman or American society woman ranked among the first ten. The leading choices of men interviewed are identical with those of the woman polled, indicating that when a woman has praiseworthy qualities, she is admired by men and women.

"Six women tied for eleventh place: Queen Elizabeth of England; Marian Anderson the Negro singer; Actress Betty Grable; Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas; Margaret Truman, daughter of the President; and the Duchess of Windsor.

"Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late President, is the woman most admired by Americans. She is a popular newspaper columnist and is U. S. Representative to the U. N. General Assembly. Sister Elizabeth Kenny, Australian-born nurse, is famous for devising the Kenny Method of treating infantile paralysis victims. Madam Chiang Kai-Shek, Wellesley College graduate and third on the list is the attractive, astute wife of the leader of China's ruling party. Clare Booth Luce was next. Author and playwright, she became nationally known during her two terms as a congresswoman from Connecticut. Helen Keller, the fifth in popularity, has been blind and deaf since the age of nineteen months, but is famous the world over as a lecturer and, writer.

"Princess Elizabeth, who received next place on the list, is now the Duchess of Edinburgh. She has won admiration in America for her charm, poise and unassuming manner. Dorothy Thompson, influential political commentator and columnist since 1936 was seventh. She first gained fame as a foreign correspondent. Eighth among the most admired woman was Kate Smith, favorite of millions of listeners, who made her radio debut in 1931. She began singing in a church choir at the age of four. Bess Wallace Truman, wife of President Harry S. Truman, America's First Lady, was ninth. She is widely admired for her simplicity and dignity. Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, achieved tenth place. Ruler of the far-flung Dutch empire, she has guided Holland for fifty years and through two World Wars."

What is a good driver? The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce has the answer to our question. The Council says a good driver is one who is in good physical condition —one who has the technical knowledge for operating a vehicle and the skill to apply that knowledge. And more important, a good driver is one who has the right attitude toward the other fellow; one who, in short, practices courtesy, caution and common sense. How do you rate, Mr. or Mrs. Reader?

See New Mothproofing, Adjustable Ventilators, Other Aids To Living

You can mothproof the walls and ceilings of closets by brushing on a new cedar-oil plastic powder. Window ventilators made on the same principle as venetian blinds can be adjusted for upward or downward drafts. These and other new household aids are being reported.

"New York, N. Y. says you can mothproof a closet or a trunk by using a new cedar-oil plastic powder which can be moistened and brushed onto the sides and ceiling. When the original odor is weakened by evaporation, it can be renewed by spraying with new oil.

"Washington, D. C. reports that when you go after flies with DDT this summer be sure you do a thorough job. Scientists have learned that those which live through a spraying require bigger doses next time and can pass the resistance on to their offspring. It takes only about 15 generations to build up a fly which can't be poisoned by DDT.

"From Chicago, Ill. comes word that there's a new insulin compound which lasts longer and may cut in half the number of injections needed by diabetic sufferers.

"You can get a packaged chimney for one- and two-story houses. It is cast in sections, weighs about a tenth as much as a usual brick chimney and needs no special foundation: it can be suspended from the ceiling or rest on a floor.

"Window ventilators made like venetian blinds are on the market. They fit various sized windows and can be adjusted for either an upward or downward draft of air.

"News from Omaha, Nebr. is that meat added to babies' formulas and fed by bottle in the early weeks helps to prevent anemia in babies. The meat-fed babies in the experiment seemed to sleep better than others, and physicians in charge found them in better condition generally.

"Akron, Ohio reports that foamed rubber mattresses are coming back in ample supply this spring after a long absence caused by the war and government restrictions on the use of natural rubber latex.

"Gardner, Mass. has news for babies: A baby carriage with large windows on each side, with plastic screens for warm weather and flaps which close up tight when it gets cold. A collapsible play pen especially designed for the back seat of cars.

"Norwich, N. Y. sends word that garden cooks can get a new grate built up to regular cook stove height and constructed to rotate so that smoke never gets in your eyes. Also, it can be taken down easily and put up in another place the next time.

"Baltimore, Md. say that dress belts which really can be dry cleaned or laundered are being manufactured here. Now the experts are working to solve the laundry problem posed by buckles and covered buttons."

Tree Planting Due In April

People of Ohio, especially school children, will again plant thousands of trees this year in observance of Governor Thomas J. Herbert's proclamation which names April as Conservation Month, the week of April 19 to 23 as Conservation Week in Ohio schools and Friday, April 23, as Arbor and Bird Day.

Many inexperienced planters who would like to plant trees will find the following planting suggestions furnished by the Ohio Division of Conservation helpful, and if followed carefully will insure the survival of many trees which would otherwise soon die because of improper planting.

The first step consists of digging a hole a little larger in size and depth than is necessary to take the root system when spread out as it would grow naturally.

Place tree in the hole, spreading out roots so that none is folded, bent or bunched. If running water is available (or if sufficient amount can be carried), run a small stream into the hole and fill to the ground level. If water is not available, hold tree in position and push soil in slowly, tamping and packing firmly.

It is advisable to stake and tie trees which are in exposed positions until they are firmly established.

All trees should be planted at the same depth as they formerly grew. This depth can usually be determined by an "earth mark" or "root collar" on the stem. Water during dry periods first year or two.

If trees are received a few days before planting, they must be kept moist and cool or "heeled-in." This is done by digging a hole or trench with one side on a slant. Place the bundles on the slant so that roots can be completely covered with earth until planting time.

Rose Garden Can Be Lovely All Year

A rose garden can be beautiful not only at blooming season, but all the year round. The secret is to fill out the design of your garden with borders, walks, backgrounds, and supporting plants, according to Florence Holmes Gerke, landscape architect of Portland, Ore.

"First on the list, make a good basic design for your garden. The pattern made by walks, borders and supporting plants not only adds to the beauty of the roses, but creates a pleasant picture when the roses are out of bloom.

"Next, make your roses a part of your general garden plan rather than its only attraction: Edge the rosebeds with low growing plants — small bulbs, violas and arabis and miniature roses. And use shrubs and trees for a background.

"For an informal background try broad-leaved evergreens. Extend the season of interest in spring with flowering shrubs such as forsythia and lilacs, in fall with berried cotoneasters and virbinums. Winter's more severe landscape may be softened by boxwood edgings and by trees and shrubs which have a fine branching pattern or beautiful winter color."

THEY PLAN CUB OLYMPIC—Pictured with the large trophy to be awarded to the Cub Pack winning the Cub Olympic are four men who have had a large share in planning this annual scouting event. It will be held in the gymnasium at West High School on April 15.

Cluttered Cellar Steps Are Hazard For Entire Family

Every year thousands of people are injured or killed by falling down cluttered cellar steps. Surely you don't want yourself or anyone in your family to become a "cellar-step statistic."

To avoid such an unlucky fate, see that cellar steps are free from cans, newspapers, baskets, and other rubbish. Often when you're in a hurry you may be tempted to place a jar or box on the steps, intending to move it later. But is this time saved worth a broken leg, or maybe even a life? No, of course not. Perhaps it will take a little more time to put things in their proper places, but it's well worth the time it takes.

Some day let your other work go and clean up those cellar steps—in fact, the whole cellar. Put everything in order. See that all cans and boxes are put where they belong. Take out old papers and burn them in the trash can. And remove any old rags that have accumulated, for these are a wonderful invitation to fire.

Then take a dust rag or damp cloth and wipe off all the shelves. Sweep the floor thoroughly and scrub the cellar steps with hot soapy water and a good stiff brush.

And if you want to make the cellar a place you'll really be proud to show your neighbors, get out the paint brush and paint the walls and shelves. Be sure to use a light color, though, for this will make your cellar a lighter and cheerier place in which to work.

While you're in the painting business, you might also paint the bottom cellar step white. This will prevent many a tumble in the dark.

Dogs take cold easily when forced to sleep outdoors one frigid night and inside the next. Be consistent — keep the dog either in or out. Pets should not sleep near heat registers.

How To Dust Books

When you dust books, use a soft, dry cloth or the soft brush of a vacuum cleaner. Be sure to dust away from the bindings.

Happy Helper

Barbara Eiler is the romantic interest in WLW-NBC's "A Day in the Life of Dennis Day." She portrays Mildred Anderson, the landlord's daughter who is happiest when helping Dennis, the confused soda clerk, solve his problems. Program is heard Wednesdays at 8 p.m., EST.

Health, Job Training, Citizenship Are School Goals, Say Educator

What kind of schooling do your taxes buy for your children? Does it make them physically fit, fit for good jobs and good citizenship? These are what parents and teachers must insist on, says Dr. William F. Russell, Dean of Teachers College, Columbia University, and one of America's leading educators. He tells how youths between 16 and 24 are dangerously idle, while for 10 years major commissions and committees have pictured significant social changes that are responsible:

"The first point of agreement in these various reports is that we are living in a period of profound and rapid social change. We are moving with increased acceleration from a rural, farm, small handicraft economy into an industrialized society, with great production, short hours of labor, much leisure. The Youth Commission found that unemployment was three times as high proportionally among the 16-24 age group as among the 40-44. Such unassimilated youth constitute a danger to any society.

"The second point of agreement was recognition of the decision taken by the American people that education is for all American youth. There were about 80,000 pupils in American high schools in 1870; now there are well over 7,000,000.

"If we accept the decision of the majority of the people, what sort of education should the high school give; what should we taxpayers insist upon so that we can assure curselves that even if we put up a lot of money, we can be confident that its expenditure is wisely made?

"The first goal for all American youth may be called job conditioning. Our boys and girls have to become contributing members of our community. Educational and industrial leaders are coming to believe that work experience, actual participation in some sort of gainful occupation, should begin in school for a great many pupils. That means alternative work, in school and out, morning and afternoon, day by day, or week by week, or for longer periods; and programs of the type made famous at Antioch College and the University of Cincinnati are being introduced into many high schools — school work tied to a job made significant in the light of a job.

"The second goal for all American youth is better health. About half of our boys were turned down by selective service, and a lot of the cause was attributed to conditions that could have been avoided—bad teeth, malnutrition, hernias, heart conditions, nervous maladjustment. If half our youth are not well enough to fight, how well prepared are they for the battle of life?

"We put up the money for uniforms for the football team and the band, but we object to school clinics, school lunches, school doctors and education in habits of health. It does not make sense to ignore health problems, to overlook remediable defects, and to fail to correct them.

"Some call the third goal better human relations; others, school and community activities. It means that the school should be a part of a community; that young people, while in their formative period should come to sense their responsibility to their friends and neighbors; that the school should do its full part in making life better.

"They must learn to cherish our democratic form of representative government and to make its principles concrete in their home town. They must help to clean up the town; they must guarantee liberty to their fellows; they must treat minority groups justly. We need Boy Scouts for higher ages; and Nurses' Aids for younger years. Good government, like charity, begins at home. I even think that our boys and girls must become good people, with good morals and high ideals, and able to do something constructive with their idle time."

SELLS INSURANCE — Robert N. Miller, 143 N. Roys-av., was appointed a special representative for the Union Central Life Insurance Company in Columbus, according to W. H. McGrath, local manager.

Mr. Miller is a graduate of West High School and attended Ohio State University. He is a veteran of World War II, having served in the navy, seeing action in the South Pacific and Japan. He will specialize in life annuities and juvenile insurance.

Automatic Clothes Dryer "The Biggest Blessing," Newswoman Says

In the limelight this year as the greatest contributor to a housewife's leisure is the automatic clothes dryer, which eliminates one of washday's tiring tasks—hanging wet clothes on the line, one by one, and then removing them hours later in the same laborious manner.

The automatic dryer, dubbed by an eastern newspaper woman as "the biggest blessing," eliminates the chore of "hanging out" and with it all weather worries.

More and more home builders are recognizing women's desire for "workless washdays" by installing both the automatic washer and the automatic dryer, according to Grant Layng, manager of the builders division for Bendix Home Appliances, Inc. Both labor-saving appliances can be included in the package mortgage. Monthly payments in that way are so low as to be almost unnoticeable.

In addressing the home laundry clinic at the convention of the National Association of Home Builders recently, Mrs. Helen W. Kendall of Good Housekeeping Institute said:

"In 1948, women are becoming more and more articulate about what they want, and they want automatic laundry appliances. They are definitely 'firsts,' and builders have to provide a place for them. The automatic washer takes first place of course. I believe the dryer takes second place. It's a great time saver; in this it is unbelievable—a glorious piece of equipment!"

Why are the women raving about the automatic clothes dryer? Here are some quotes by newspaper women who have investigated this appliance:

"We saw one demonstrated and wondered how women have got along without them for so long. In the first place, they eliminate weather worries. No more concern about rainy or snowy days. No more putting up and wiping off clothes lines. And particularly, no more lugging of heavy damp loads in a laundry basket, perhaps up a steep set of cellar stairs. And though bending and stooping are supposed to be good for the figure, enough is enough on an all-day session with wet clothes."

Dryer Is Rapid

And . . . "The dryer is rapid. Usually a washer load of clothes can be dryed in less than an hour, compared to several hours even when the weather is at its best, or days when at its worst. Still another service is that the dryer is easy on clothes. There's no danger of tearing or breaking as in freezing weather, no grime from city air, no soiling from that untoward accident—a broken clothes line."

And . . . "Aside from the fact that an automatic drying machine makes it possible for the homemaker to turn any rainy day into a good drying washday, clothes are dryed in a more sanitary way in the machine at high temperature. Then again, you are not subjected to sudden changes in temperature yourself—from a warm laundry to the cold outdoors. Everything is done in three easy motions—from the washer to the dryer and then to your ironer.

"The three units should be close together for efficiency, but most important, the dryer should be placed next to the washer to eliminate extra steps and carrying."

And . . . "All you need to do is pop your wash into the dryer and set the dial on the front of the machine for dryness or dampness you need, and presto, you have your wish. Clothes are tumble-dryed to your order in just a little while—no matter how heavy the clothes or fabrics, and no matter what the weather."

NEW FLORAL SHOP—One of the newest Hilltop business houses is Barck's Floral Shop, 3220 W. Broad-st, owned and operated by Mrs. George Barck, 79 S. Algonquin-av. Mrs. Barck moved the shop from 207 E. Long-st last fall. A greenhouse was recently completed adjacent to the flower shop.

Assisting in the business as flower designers are Mrs. Gladys Albrecht, who has had 25 years experience in floral design, and Mrs. Virginia Stamler.

Parents Group To Have Style Show

The Hilltop Parents Association's sewing group is sponsoring a style show and musical program Friday, April 9, at the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church, starting at 8:15 p. m. The public is invited.

Rules For Choosing Attractive Glasses

Glasses are no longer just things to see with. Modern designing has made them gay and flattering accessories that add to your good looks, according to Dolly Reed, who gives you rules for choosing your own specs in a recent magazine article.

"Lenses and frames should be fitted by experts, technically trained. Style comes into the picture when the person who helps you choose frames knows their relationship to the shape of your face.

"Aurel Mangold, recognized for his designing talent as well as for his fitting skill, says, 'Choose your frames as carefully and deliberately as you would your new spring bonnet. Then hold your head high and wear them proudly.' Because no one succeeds in hiding glasses, frames have been developed that are exciting, that draw attention to the wearer and identify her as a smart and attractive woman. Here are rules for choosing your own frames:

"Study your browline. The top of your frames should either follow or completely cover your eyebrows. This accents but does not distort your natural line.

"Check the lower line of the frames. Any sharp curve downward will only make your face seem to sag.

"The outline of the frames should be free from sharp angles. Your face is alive with gentle curves, and angles only cause an unpleasant clash.

"The size of the frames must be graded to the size of your face. Your glasses should never drown your features.

Are you getting your winter clothes cleaned up and put away? Or freshening up the spring garb? Take a few tips from the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce: If you must dry-clean at home, be sure to use a cleaning liquid that will not burn or explode. Do not use gasoline or naphtha. Do your cleaning and drying in the open air. And keep children away.

Water Safety Course Started On April 2

A Red Cross water safety instructors' institute was started April 2, it was announced today by Mike Peppe, Ohio State University swimming coach and chairman of the Red Cross water safety committee. Classes will be held each Friday night, 7 o'clock, for a 10-week period at the Ohio State Natatorium and will be taught by W. R. Middendorf, director of Red Cross safety services, and his assistant, Sam Oldham.

The course is designed to give leadership training in swimming, life saving and aquatic activities, including limited instruction in the use of small craft.

Managers of swimming pools, summer camps and country clubs should be especially interested in this course, according to Mike Peppe.

Applicants for the course must be 19 years of age or over and must have a certificate in senior life saving issued by the American Red Cross within the past three years.

Medical blanks and class applications will be mailed on request by calling Red Cross headquarters, MA. 6841, or they are available at headquarters, 74 E Gay-st.

The 65-piece Lockbourne Air Base Band, under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer John J. Brice, will be heard on each show, as will Pfc. Ivory Mitchell, pianist, who already has built a large following in the WCOL listening area, where the program has been broadcast for the past six months. The 40-voice chorus from the Columbus Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, will be heard next Monday evening.

Delinquency Again

That ugly bugaboo — juvenile delinquency — got back in the news of the Hilltop again last week. Always a touchy subject to report, this case was made more difficult by an attempt of one Columbus newspaper to try the case before it came up in court. This was most unfortunate since the evidence cited in the editorial was not substantiated in the court hearing that followed.

The case involved three West High School students, two of whom were on probation as a result of earlier violations. The third youth had an apparently clean record. In compliance with a request from juvenile authorities their names are not made public. On this point, we sometimes question the advisability of such procedure since most of their classmates already know the details. Nevertheless, the Record has always been governed by this policy in the interest of protecting youthful offenders from public scorn.

In this case the two who were on probation had been given every opportunity to go straight and had seemingly been in no further trouble until the recent episode. It might appear to many observers that disposition of their first case was not taken seriously by the two youths. They had been afforded every opportunity to go straight but apparently they have not yet learned their lesson.

The two were placed in the custody of the Bureau of Juvenile Research here on the Hilltop for a period of observation. Final disposition of their case will hinge somewhat on what this observation reveals.

It is the contention of this newspaper that while youthful first offenders are entitled to some protection in the interest of paving the way for their return to normalcy, yet the seriousness of findings against them should be a governing factor. Stealing automobiles is not exactly a harmless pastime that a mere slap on the wrist will cure. Juvenile delinquents must be made to realize that public stigma must be expected on the part of any person who violates our laws.

New Yarn for Argyles

Something new for knitters is space-dyed yarn for Argyle socks and sweaters. A single strand of yarn is dyed in a multitude of colors so that you can knit the Argyles without needing a bobbin for each color of yarn. All you do is cast on the stitches and knit—the colors fall into place and form their own diamond patterns. Several different color combinations are available in this yarn.

Cure For Kinky Yarn

Kinky yarn can be straightened by winding it into a skein, tying it together firmly, and then washing it in lukewarm soapsuds. To dry it, fold the yarn in a towel and place it near a radiator or heater.

If the kinky wool is perfectly clean, you can put it in a steamer and steam it for a few minutes to remove the kinks.

10 Years Ago Today

That West High School would be admitted as a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and gain the full status of an accredited high school, was indicated Wednesday, when the Ohio Committee met in Chicago and unanimously recommended the local school for membership. Final action was to have been taken in a meeting this morning.

A three alarm blaze struck the Feebleminded Institution Sunday afternoon, destroying the old power house. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

Miss Lillian Wetterman, 219 S. Harris-ay, told police Sunday night that a robber, armed with a pistol, held her up at the Richer Dairy Products Co., 1068 W. Broad-st, and escaped with $95 from the cash register.

The Hilltop this week has a total of 29 known cases of smallpox.

5 Years Ago Today

Rev. Jacob Ashburn, Jr., is celebrating his 26th anniversary as pastor of Oakley Avenue Baptist Church.

Grover C. Amrine, 180 Binns-blvd, has been named Eleventh Ward Democratic committeeman. He will fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. Fred Sulzberger.

Hillcrest Baptist Church will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a homecoming day, Sunday, April 1.

West High's forth-coming senior class play will be entitled, "Out of the Frying Pan."

Announcement was made this week of the engagement of Vivian Elaine Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Sutton, 1850 Bryden-rd, to Philip Dunson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dunson, 191 Binns-blvd.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

My sincere thanks for the beautiful orchid and your card.

I was proud and very happy to have been chosen as one of the outstanding citizens of the Hilltop.

Your idea of paying tribute to citizens who do civic work is excellent, for it is inspiring to know that leading men in a community do appreciate and are aware of our efforts to serve humanity in our small way.

We, who serve, know that volunteer work is willing work, and the satisfaction within ourselves that comes from serving others is our compensation.

I believe in the philosophy, that we live as much of our lives as we permit ourselves to do in helping others.

Sincerely,
(Mrs. Harold C.) Mary Kay

Your thoughtfulness and best wishes during the opening of our new home were indeed gratifying.

The flowers were beautiful and were so arranged that they were enjoyed immensely by our many visitors, as well as ourselves.

Again, many thanks from all of us.

Sincerely yours,
Rodenfels

Some people just naturally have the look of quality. The expression about their eyes, the way they stand, everything about them suggests culture and good breeding. Such a person was Mr. Harrison R. Maylord. He was a man of distinction. Not the kind you see all white-tie-and-tailed in whiskey ads, but the real McCoy — the kind that head waiters speak to without being slipped a ten-spot. Everybody knew Mr. Maylord and they were all quite proud of the fact.

I remember that fateful summer day, back in '37. It was a typical day in Mr. Maylord's life. He had just finished work, and he was leaving his office on the 29th floor of the Wembly Building. On his door were the words: VICE-PRESIDENT IN CHARGE OF THE TREASURY. He locked the door and put the key in his pocket. He then straightened the jacket of his Palm Beach suit, adjusted his imported tie, and fiddled with the brim of his Panama hat. As he walked through the main office, you could hear the sighs of the staff typists. Not one of them failed to answer his generous: "Good day, ladies," for he was, to each of them, the very ultimate in grey-templed handsomeness.

By the time he had made his way through the corridor to the elevator, twelve different people had beamed at him with: "Good day, Mr. Maylord," and each of them had been blessed with a returned smile and a nod.

In the elevator he took off his hat and stood, like a Greek statue, in one corner. Women and men alike turned and viewed him in admiration. When the elevator reached the first floor he paused to ask the operator how her mother was feeling. In the lobby he paused again to pick up a paper from the crippled newsboy. As he handed the youth a five dollar bill, he said: "I spoke to a specialist about that operation, Jimmie," then he turned and walked on out the door. With tears welling in his eyes, the boy said: "Good day, Mr. Maylord."

Outside, the Cadillac was standing at the curb. The chauffeur was holding the door open, and he saluted as the great man climbed in. "To the airport, Melvin," he said in his gracious tone.

Driving through the main gate at the airport, a guard, about to halt the car, saw the familiar face in the back seat and waved his hand in greeting. As the car passed by, he could be heard saying: "Good day, Mr. Maylord."

A few minutes later, Mr. Maylord was climbing into a huge, silver airplane. A few minutes after that, the plane was taking off. The rest of the story was in the next day's headlines. The people read it in open-mouthed shock.

"HARRISON MAYLORD ABSCONDS WITH NASCO TREASURY."

DAIRY DIARY

Cows grazing in a pasture,
A peaceful sight to see.
But I should hate to be a cow,
Though placid she might be,
For I would hate for Grade A milk
To be my destiny.

EPICURE

Ripe old age for her dog,
Birch for her fires,
Rain for her garden,
And all she requires.
And the longer she lives
The more truly she knows
Her exceeding presumption
To ask Life for these.

Ruth Lambert Jones, in TED MALONE'S SCRAPBOOK

SPRING SONG

The bough bent and the bird was gone,
The sun-split air was shocked with song,
The feathered arc of circling wing
Seemed to encompass everything
Upon the static, dun brown earth.
And shout aloud for swift new birth.
Sod and clay, waiting, drew breath and stirred
As green-fingered spring touched the heart of a bird.

Fishermen Busy In Spite Of Rains

High water throughout Ohio during the past week halted early spring anglers but not for long. Streams left their banks in most areas overnight but were back to near normal within a short time, causing little interruption for thousands of people determined to get in some early fishing.

Division of Conservation law enforcement officers urged the general fishing public to display fishing license badges on some outer garment in plain sight and to carry with them a digest of fishing laws for guidance in angling within the rules and regulations imposed upon the public that all may share alike in the sport of fishing.

Although fishing rules and regulations for Ohio have, during the past few years, been liberalized considerably, bag limits, legal lengths, and legal methods of taking fish must and will be enforced.

Only minor changes in regulations were made by the Ohio Conservation Commission for the 1948 season (March 1, 1948, to February 28, 1949. The closed season on black bass will be May 1 to June 15 for the entire state in the place of split season of the past few years which gave the southern half of Ohio an earlier closed season because of differences in normal weather conditions. The Lake Erie Fishing District closed season on black bass will remain at May 25 to June 30, no change over 1947.

Other changes include placing a daily bag limit on frogs of 10 and reducing the possession limit of wild minnows, or an aggregate of minnows and aquatic insects used for bait, from 100 to 50 for other than commercial dealers.

SURE SIGN OF SPRING—Opening of the National Auto Theatre, just west of the city limits on W. Broad-st, is another of those "sure" signs of spring. It will have its first 1948 showing tomorrow night.

Cottons Rule From Beach To Ballroom

Cottons have been changed and improved. They will be everywhere this summer. You will see them from Maine to California, from bathing suits to evening dresses, and from town-tailored to play casuals, says Jane Wallace.

"You'll see weaves for sturdy strength or gossamer delicacy, patterns bold or subtle. New and perfected finishes make many cottons crease resistant, permanently crisp, able to stand up to innumerable launderings.

"For the town look, dark gingham done with the tailor's touch. A flared skirt is for cool movement long sleeves for dignity. A two-toned chambray evening gown has matching horizontal folds to break the princess line. To wear it to an afternoon tea dance, you add the stole to protect shoulders from sunburn.

"Juniors live in cottons, demure ones and nothing is lovelier for them than a swirling white pique. The scoop neck is finely scrolled in one model—a perfect graduation or party dress. The active life is answered with a suit in a crisp new corded chambray that you can wear everywhere. There is a Byron collar, loose bolero for coolness and cover-up, and a petticoat ruffle on the skirt for the light touch."

Scissors Won't Rust

Waxed paper, wrapped around scissors, will prevent them from rusting.

When the National Auto Theatre opens for its second season Friday evening, April 9, showgoers will note many changes at this largest of outdoor theatres in the Midwest. A huge new neon sign, in harmony with the Oriental red and jade green decor of the National, will welcome arrivals from the roadside, at the W. Broad-st entrance of the spacious winding drive. The screen has been enlarged to assure easy vision to all patrons, and the confection counter, located in the special building in the center of the outdoor auditorium, also has been enlarged to accommodate the complete stock of candy, popcorn, hot coffee, soft drinks, sandwiches and ice cream, available from show time until closing.

Of interest to all families are the many courtesies offered to the National's patrons. A bottle-warming service will allow parents to bring infants with them, dispensing with the need of a baby-sitter. The bottle-warming service, supervised by a trained attendant, will be handled from the confection building. Young children, too, will have their special spot at the National. A miniature playground has been equipped with swings and slides, next to a picnic grounds for the parents. Here, the children can play, making as much noise as they want to, under the watchful eyes of mom and dad, before or during the show. Last, but not least, a windshield-cleaning service will be provided for all patrons, to enhance their enjoyment of the show from the comfort and privacy of their own automobiles, and a deputy will direct traffic to insure safety for both patrons and vehicles.

The National will open daily in the late afternoon, so that patrons can come early and enjoy the picnic facilities, before the first show starts at dusk. Two complete shows will be given nightly. The admission is 50 cents for adults, with no charge for children under 10.

Hospital Idea Will Keep Baby In Mother's Room

A baby must feel the emotional satisfaction of being close to his mother and father right from the start, doctors and psychiatrists agree. That is why they are restoring the old practice of keeping the baby by his mother's bedside during the first few days of life, says Christine Sadler in a recent article. She describes how the rooming-in-plan works at George Washington General Hospital in the nation's capital:

"During the past 30 years hospitals, doctors and mothers have done much to uprcot the natural parent-child relationship and have treated babies with more and more objectivity. 'We've been caring for babies by assembly-line methods,' says Dr. Preston A. McLendon, Chief of Pediatrics of George Washington University Hospital. 'We have fed them, permitted mothers a peek at them only at stated intervals and given no consideration to fathers. We have sent home bundles plainly marked, "Do not open until later. Read the directions carefully."'

"A few hospitals over the country have adopted what is now called the rooming-in plan. In Detroit and New Haven, Conn., cribs are put in the mother's room. With the child nearby, the inexperenced mother can become familiar wth his moods, movements and appetites. Bathing, changing and feeding go on in the mother's room so that she learns by watching and helping. Thus she can avoid that helpless feeling so many mothers have when they get home from the hospital. And instead of being treated like a germ carrier, the father—and only the father—is allowed to visit as often as he likes.

"In one wing of the maternity floor at the George Washington University Hospital in Washington, each mother's room has an immediately adjacent single nursery. Other sections have nurseries built for four infants and located between two-bed rooms. The same cubicle arrangement is used in the other nurseries, none of which holds more than eight babies.

"Each cubicle has an individual light and plug-in for aspirator, oxygen tent or any other electrical equipment a baby might need. In every case the nursery is in the same wing as the mother's room. Each baby has a transparent

Petit Point Uses

Petit point is a form of embroidery in which small stitches of wool are made on a piece of canvas. Many lovely accessories such as evening bags and handsome sewing or knitting cases are made with petit point. Petit point can also be used effectively for pockets on a velvet dress. Or it might be used for a belt with a gold or jeweled buckle.

SHE DID NOT KNOW

SHE DID NOT KNOW that Miss Blank, who was one of her daughter's teachers last year, was married recently.

SHE DID NOT KNOW that one of her former neighbors and good friend was in the hospital, and so did not go to see her.

SHE DID NOT KNOW about the special program at the church because nobody thought to tell her about it.

SHE DID NOT GO to the club meeting because she did not know that the day of the meeting had been changed.

SHE MISSED the big merchandise sale because she did not hear about it until it was over, and she could have saved enough right there on every day needs, to have paid for having the Record every week for a whole year. And with the Record coming regularly each Thursday into her home she would have known what was going on in her club, in her church, in her lodge, in the schools, and among her neighbors.

Robert M. Draper, Local Attorney, Is Candidate For Congress May 4

Voters at the May 4 primary election will have an opportunity to vote for a Hilltopper for Congress.

He is Robert M. Draper, an attorney, who lives at 74 N. Roys-av. A prominent Democrat, he has been on the Columbus Board of Education continuously since 1939, serving as president of the board at two different times.

While recognizing that the foreign situation is a problem that must be dealt with effectively today, the local candidate stresses the need for greater concern for domestic issues.

Two things that he is particularly interested in are conservation of land and natural resources and the need for helping to build up educational systems throughout the nation. In the latter matter, Draper points to the need for more adequate buildings and more attractive teacher salaries to attract the highest type of instructors.

Draper is 42 years of age, a graduate of Ohio State University law school and is associated with the law firm of Draper, Lombardo and Morgan, 50 E. Broad-st. He is a past president of the Hilltop Conservation Club and is a former chairman of the Southwest District Boy Scouts of America. At present he is a director of the Council of Social Agencies, Camp Fire Girls and chairman of the board of trustees of the Columbus Civic Concert Orchestra.

He is a member of the St. John's Lutheran Church, where he teaches a Bible class. He also belongs to the Masons, Scottish Rite, Aladdin Temple Shrine, Robert Morris Chapter of Eastern Star, Optimist Club, Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and the Musicians' Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Draper have two daughters, Nancy, 7, and Deborah, 4.

West Booked For Doubleheader At Chillicothe

Coach George Williams is still wondering this week what sort of material he has for the 1948 West High baseball team. A combination of inclement weather, illness on the part of the coach and athletics has kept Coach Williams away from practice the few rare occasions that weather has permitted any sort of practice.

On Saturday afternoon, weather permitting, he should be able to size up his squad a little better. The team is booked for a doubleheader down at Chillicothe.

"We'll probably lose them both," Coach Williams predicts, "but it will be worth it to find out who our ball players are."

The City League swings into action April 13 when the Central Pirates come to the Hilltop for the season's opener.

Sky Meet Is Planned By Senior Units For August 20-22

SCENE OF SKY MEET — Sullivant Avenue Airport, operated by Gomer Jones, will be the scene of the Sky Meet being planned by senior scouting units of Region IV. It will be held Aug. 20-22 and will include boys from three states.

Columbus will be host to a regional Senior Boy Scout activity Aug. 20-22.

At a recent meeting of the Regional Senior Scout Committee, plans were developed for a sky meet to be conducted at the Sullivant Avenue Airport. This special senior program will include many phases of action and activity—a visit to the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Plant, Port Columbus Naval Base, a full day of model airplane contests, climaxing with a grand ball and the election of a sky meet queen.

Paul Litchfield of the Goodyear Rubber Company in Akron is general chairman of the Region IV Senior Scouting Committee, with Paul Shamberger, chairman of the Senior Scout Sky Meet Committee, assisted by Vice-Chairmen Floyd Davis of the Grimes Manufacturing Company, Urbana, O., and Harold Warffuel of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Akron.

Local scout leaders from Central Ohio Council assisting in the preparation of the Sky Meet are Harold Nelson, 192 E. Lane-av, chairman of the transportation committee, with A. R. Smyth, 1287 Cole-st, as advisor; L. W. Sims, 66 Jefferson-av, chairman of committee on awards; George Campbell of the Sullivant Avenue Airport, chairman of the food service, including refreshments for distinguished guests and a smorgasbord for Saturday evening, Aug. 21; George Doyle of the Fashion Company, to handle all affairs pertaining to health and safety; Grant Drennen, field scout executive of Delaware, chariman of social functions; Dal Shady, committee chairman in charge of field layout and properties, assisted by Clifford Matthews, field scout executive of Pickaway and Hocking Counties, and Lt. Commander Colgan of the United States Naval Air Station, and Vernon Sanford, skipper of Sea Scout Ship 3; Frank Hess, assistant scout executive, in charge of public address system; and Gilman S. Bolin, field scout executive, to handle publicity, assisted by Mel Griggs.

Starting the motor on a cold morning requires a little common sense. Many drivers use the starter without rest until the engine fires. This is the wrong method. It is better to have an interval of a few seconds between starter trials, otherwise there is a good chance the battery will run down and leave you helpless.

The Hilltop Minstrel is a fine "home talent" show.

I'd say that even if I didn't work for C. C. Hartley, the guy who directs the show. Seldom will you find a better array of talent and a faster-moving amateur performance than that put on at West High School three nights last week.

I would hesitate to say that it was better this year than last year or several of the earlier shows that I have seen during the 19 continuous years of Hilltop minstrelsy. On the whole there may have been better all-round talent this year but each show has had its high points—each has had some dull spots.

From my position of knowing most of the cast, writing publicity on the show and hearing nothing else around the office for two weeks before and one week after the show it's tough to be impartial, try as I may. But here's the way it stacks up in my book:

The opening chorus lacked the zip needed to set the stage for the show that followed although the words were appropriate if they could have been heard more distinctly. Bill Coon's "Ain't She Sweet"—singable and well done. The Senorettes — an attractive group of West High girls who look nice and can dance well enough to get by. Four of a Kind—more West Hi talent. Surprisingly good for four youthful male voices.

Cramer and Goldslager—cute as Christmas. Al Bettinger and his banjo — Al has improved much from last year. Appropriate and well done. David Fisher and Eddie Walker—a much talked about dance number on a professional level. Ivan Reed, bass soloist — a rich, deep voice with its owner slightly ill at ease before a mike.

Herb Germaine—a bit of slip-horn artistry of "name band" caliber. Nancy Bailey—an up and coming young dancer with plenty of zip. Jinx Jordan—a personable young lady at ease with a blues number.

The Hilltop Male Chorus, directed this year by Clark Eberle, contribute two good selections, even though one of them ("Winter Song") is not exactly of minstrel character. The chorus also does a fine job of backing up male soloists all through the show but is not too effective on opening and closing numbers. Being back stage makes it difficult for their voices to be heard. Lyrics are hard to pick up in the back of the house.

Lois Fuller, another local dancer, with a colorful Spanish dance that adds variety to the hoofing routines. A good entertainer. The Cline Sisters — a tuneful trio that didn't click quite as well as last year. George and Jackie Hardy—an unusual father-daughter act that always clicks. They're tops as amateur dancers.

Leo Phillips — There's only one like him. A song style all his own and a show stopper every time. For my money another chorus of "Four Leaf Clover" would have been better than the traditional "Dinah" encore but the crowd will always yell for "Dinah." Dorothy Hartley—perfectly at ease before her audience. A beautiful vocal number.

Keith's Novelteers — a dozen and a half of young ladies with more dancing talent than the small stage was designed to display. Mac Tooill's Band — tops in its own right. As an accompanist, Mac can't be beat on specialty numbers. Allen Snoddy—a good tenor whose song falls just a little short of last year's "Caroline." Keith Miller, accordionist — the surprise package of the show. So much talent in those nimble fingers the audience scarcely noticed his lack of mastery of stage technique.

Kay Marchant, alias Diane Kay—a professional dancer in an intricate number that did not draw the applause it deserved. Lee Koontz—a comedian on or off the stage. It isn't his funniest act but gets its share of laughs.

MC Jack Sensenbrenner did a good job at handling his first minstrel show. At first ill at ease out front, he loosened up and improved with each performance. Duke Reynolds turned in his first minstrel performance. His short jokes and adherence to character got the best laughs of the end men.

That's how it looked to yours truly from row D.

Holiday Sweets Store Opening Starts Today

Opening of a new West Side firm, Holiday Sweets, engaging in the manufacture and sale of bakery and candy products, was announced this week by LeRoy Morris, 41 Stanbery-av, who has purchased the Watkins Bakery, 624 Harmon-av, from Lloyd Watkins.

Mr. Morris, former president and general manager of Moby's, Inc., said that his new firm will specialize in high quality bakery products, including decorated birthday and wedding cakes as well as a complete variety of bread, sweet rolls and pastries.

Official opening celebration of Holiday Sweets is scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with special prices scheduled as opening day attractions, Mr. Morris said.

Holiday Sweets also supersedes Holiday Candies, under which name Mr. and Mrs. Morris manufactured and sold candy specialties to department stores throughout the country, according to Mr. Morris. Holiday Sweets will also manufacture its candies at the Harmon Avenue address, and additional candy and baking machinery is now being installed to increase the firm's capacity, it was stated.

Through the columns of The Hilltop Record an invitation is being extended to all West Side residents to visit the firm's retail salesroom at 624 Harmon-av, April 8, 9 and 10, Mr. Morris said.

The salesroom has been redecorated and special pastries and candies will be shown for the occasion, it was stated.

The Weed Fighters 4-H Club held a meeting at Wilson School Wednesday evening, March 17.

Billy Becker, president, presided during the business meeting. It was decided to raise vegetables again this year.

The boys then served refreshments to the following members and their guests: Billy Becker, Donald Robertson, David Nardin, Jimmy Burchfield, Donald Matson, Charles Matson, Robert Jasper, Larry Williams, John Spanable, Eddie Koogler, Gene Johnston, Virginia Johnson, Myrna Johnson, Sue Robertson, Lewis Dougherty, E. O. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Kathleen Koogler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nardin and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Johnson, Elbert L. Becker, Robert E. Becker and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nurses Aides Are Being Interviewed

Two Red Cross volunteer nurse's aide classes, including a daytime and an evening class, will start Tuesday, April 20, it is announced today by Mrs. George C. McConnaughey, nurse's aide chairman.

Personal interviews for applicants will be held at Red Cross headquarters, 74 E. Gay-st, Wednesday and Thursday, April 7 and 8, 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., and again at the same time next week, April 14 and 15.

The day class, which will meet 9 a. m. to 12 m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, will be held at White Cross Hospital during the 12-week course.

The evening class will train at University Hospital, meeting 7 to 10 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The Red Cross volunteer nurse's aide course consists of 35 hours of classroom work and 45 hours of hospital training. One hundred and fifty hours of volunteer service per year are required on completion of the course.

Requirements for application for the training include an age limit of 18 years or over, a high school education, and a physical examination.

A need for 200 additional nurse's aides was shown in a hospital survey held last spring. One class of 24 volunteers completed training in March, another class is now in training at St. Francis Hospital, and the Red Cross is seeking a registration of 45 more volunteers for the two new classes. A shortage of nurses still exists in local hospitals.

Former Hilltopper Heads Museum In Charlotte, N. C.

A recent issue of the Charlotte, North Carolina, News devotes a feature story with illustration to a former Hilltopper.

He is Joseph Hutchison, son of the late Rev. H. C. Hutchison, a former pastor of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church. His mother resides at Delaware, Ohio.

According to the newspaper story, Hutchison, who is director of the Charlotte Museum, contributed an article to the magazine Amerika, regularly read by 750,000 Russians in the Soviet. The magazine is put out by the State Department to familiarize Russians with life in the United States. It is printed only in the Russian language.

Hutchinson's article has to do with an original painting now owned by the Charlotte Museum. The painting is of a typical small town in the United States done by John M. Sutton, outstanding watercolorist.

According to Hutchinson, art is being used liberally in the magazine as a common basis of understanding between the Russian and American peoples.

EASTER EGG HUNT IS FUN—The annual Easter Egg Hunt, sponsored by the Hilltop Community Council, is fun for the 400 and more who annually participate. The above group of youngsters, photographed by Mel Griggs, demonstrates the good time had by all.

Greatest enemy of a motor is fast driving over long distances. What's the hurry? If you take your time your motor will not wear out so fast, your tires will last longer, and your friends will feel safer.

Generally, regrooving of a tire, which is a process of cutting deeper tread patterns into worn tires, is inadvisable. It only wastes rubber, it weakens the tread, and often injures the cord structure.

Maytag Washer Is Prize For Owning Oldest

Some lucky Franklin County resident will be the recipient of a new 1948 Maytag Washer, for free, if he happens to own the oldest Maytag washer in the county.

The Norris Appliance Co., 2388 W. Broad-st, is sponsoring the contest. Anyone interested in winning a new washer may call or write the appliance store, giving the serial number of his old washer. This number determines the year in which it was manufactured.

M. S. Norris, 99 Whitethorne-av, is the manager of the sponsoring firm.

Volunteer Gray Ladies Interviewed

As more Gray Ladies are needed at the Franklin County Tuberculosis Hospital and Lockbourne Army Air Base Hospital, the Red Cross is announcing two days of interviewing applicants for this volunteer service.

Interviews will be held 1 to 4 p. m. Thursday and Friday, April 15 and 16, at Red Cross headquarters, 74 E. Gay-st, by Mrs. Rodger Farnsworth, chairman of the Gray Lady Service, and members of the committee.

To serve at the Tuberculosis Hospital, volunteers must be 35 years of age or over. Those applying for training for the Lockbourne Hospital are required to be 21 years old or over.

Training includes Red Cross orientation lectures and, as patient activities differ at the two hospitals, hospital orientation courses will be given at each hospital.

The class will start Monday, April 26, 1 p. m., at Red Cross headquarters.

West High Trackmen Score 90-28 Victory Over Linden McKinley Team

West High School's trackmen got their first taste of action Friday and gave a good account of themselves, turning in a 90 to 28 victory over Linden McKinley on the Magly Field cinder track.

Coach Rufe Glass's thinclads pulled grand slams on five events, sweeping the high hurdles, the 100-yard dash, high jump, broad jump and the 880. The Cowboys won both of the relay events and showed promise of developing into a formidable relay team.

The Hilltoppers were scheduled to meet Springfield at Springfield on Tuesday and entertain East here Friday afternoon. Also on Friday, the Reserves will engage Upper Arlington in a meet at Arlington.

The Friday event turned up a new contender for the dash events. Don Eitle, who did cross-country last fall, took both the 100 and 220 events with times of 10.4 and 23.7.

There have been 65 boys working out for the team just as regularly as the uncertain spring weather has permitted. On Monday afternoon the Junior High track hopefuls were called out for their first practice. Two practice teachers from Ohio State University are to work with Coach Glass with the Juniors and Reserves.

HOME FROM JAPAN — Eugene Clark, 338 S. Hague-av, received his honorable discharge from the United States Paratroopers on March 13. He arrived home about 10 days ago after spending 13 months in Japan.

Clark entered the service soon after graduating from West High School and was assigned to the 11th Airborne Division. He made eight jumps before being transferred to division headquarters. He was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Another Hilltop man, Clark Johnson, was in the same camp with Clark for a while in Japan. He, too, was recently discharged.

The 1948
AUSTIN of ENGLAND

The long-awaited luxury car that is economical in operation, magnificent in workmanship, built to last, and above all, low in price.

A NEW era of motoring refinement with economy, arrives with the introduction of the Austin "A40" sedans, modern in line, most generous in specification, and exciting to drive.
A powerful valve-in-head engine, independent front wheel suspension, interior heating, built-in radio if required, and safe rear opening doors all round with concealed hinges—here indeed are features which the modern motorist will appreciate to the full.
In performance the "A40" is outstanding. Quiet and smooth running, the engine has reserves of crisp power for safe passing and rapid hill climbing, and the car is in every way easy to control at all speeds, on the open road and in the city. A speed of over 70 m.p.h. in high gear is easily attained.
Two models are available, the Dorset 2-Door Sedan and the Devon 4-Door Sedan, both having attractive coachwork furnished and equipped to provide a standard of travel comfort not previously offered by cars in this field.

Camp Fire Girls From 25 Local Groups To Participate In Council Fire At Coliseum On April 16

When the Camp Fire Girls' annual council fire is held this year on April 16, there will be representatives there from 25 different Camp Fire groups of the Hilltop and West Side. The "fire" will be held in the coliseum, for all Blue Bird, Camp Fire and Horizon Club members.

All Columbus groups of the Camp Fire work will meet for the council fire, and the girls will be presented the ranks which they have worked toward during the past year.

Mrs. John Jones, 75 N. Ogden-av, leads the Hilltop Horizon Group at West Senior High. She works with 18 girls (all over 15 years of age) who, besides their camp work, are active in all teen-age interests, and especially in church work. They meet twice each month at the various girls' homes. The Horizon Club convention will be held in Cincinnati on April 17. Six of this group plan to attend it. Others plan to be councillors at day camp this summer, and one girl will be a councillor at Camp Wyandotte. The camp is located near Rockbridge, O., just below Lancaster. It covers an area of 200 acres. Accommodations there include cabins and a few tents. Camp Fire girls may go to camp during the summer months, or for week-ends in the spring and fall.

Mrs. Harry Myers, 479 Hilltonia-av, has a group of 10 Horizon Club girls at West Senior. They call themselves the Wa-Ki-We group, and meet once each month at their leader's home. Five girls are planning to attend the Cincinnati convention and Mrs. Myers will accompany them there. They have spent much time recently working on their birthday projects and all will attend the Council Fire.

Mrs. K. L. Birkhead, 76 N. Powell-av, leads a Camp Fire group of 10 at West Broad Street School. They meet once each week at the various girls' homes. Mrs. Ruth Moore, 228 N. Hague-av, assists with the girls' activities. They have been working diligently on notebooks, so that they might pass the Trail Seekers rank, and have made scrap books for the children at Nightingale Cottage, from pictures of babies, dogs and comics. They plan an overnight camping trip the first week-end in May at the South "Y" Camp.

Mrs. Donald Dewhurst, 24 S. Richardson-av, works with 12 Camp Fire girls, who meet once each week at her home. Her girls are from West Junior High. Recently they took a bike hike and cooked out, and over the week-end of May 1-2 will go to South "Y" Park on a camping trip. The group made Easter baskets for Children's Hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Bowman, 686 Racine-av, is leader of a group of 20 from Glenwood Church. Their name is the Glenwood Camp Fire Group. They will attend the council fire, and have worked industriously lately on their handcraft. Mrs. Lawrence Seibert, 181 Lechner-av, works with the girls also. A chorus from the group has appeared on the radio several times. They specialize in singing for various public affairs.

Mrs. Ilene Jordan, 1051 W Broad-st, councils a Blue Bird group at Avondale School (girls from seven to 10 years of age). The regular Camp Fire groups include the ages of 10 and up. The older girls with less time to spare form Horizon Groups. These Blue Birds call themselves the Blue Jays, and meet every other Tuesday. Mrs. Elsie Byerly, 149 Avondale-av, helps Mrs. Jordan. The club, which was organized last December, has just begun work on its notebooks. Mrs. Lenore Mahard, 306 Dakota-av, is the leader of another Blue Bird group of 10 at Avondale.

Mrs. O. G. Seeds, 1084 Scott-st, leads a troop of nine Blue Birds at Avondale. Her group is the Sunshine group, with Mrs. Robert Kessler, 925 W. Rich-st, and Mrs. Donald Nester, 1007 Bellows-av, helping with the girls. They will attend the council fire and hope to have their memory books done by June. For Mother's Day they will entertain with a Mother's Day tea.

Mrs. Charles Siegfried, 135 Belvidere-av, has a Blue Bird group at Highland School. Fourteen girls comprise her Snow White Group. Dorothy Ellen Myers, 479 Hilltonia-av, assists the girls and their leader in learning the Camp Fire songs. She is a Horizon Club member from West High. The group visited the Grotto Circus April 5.

Mrs. Clyde Huston, 291 N. Ogden-av, is Blue Bird leader at West Broad School. Her 23 girls worked all winter on an entry for the state fair. Mrs. Kenneth Sharpsain, 105 S. Brinker-av, is Mrs. Huston's helper. Nineteen of this Blue Bird group have won the birthday honor, which means they have completed a certain number of projects. March is the birthday month of all Camp Fire work.

Mrs. Helen Conroy, 516 Catherine-st, leads the E-Ha-Woe Camp Fire group which meets every Monday at her home. Mrs. Trenton Smith, 334 Columbia-av, helps with the work. They recently held a Firemakers' Dinner. They have been working on their birthday project and enjoy doing handcraft.

Mrs. J. E. Morgan, 131 Demorest-av, works with eight girls from West Broad School. They recently filled Easter baskets and took them to the West Side Day Nursery. They hold meetings once each week at the leader's home. At present they are making headbands, other handcraft and working toward the Wood Gatherer's Rank.

Mrs. Jessie Correll, 605 Edwin-st, works with eight girls from Starling Junior High School, who meet at her home every Monday. They celebrated a short time ago with a St. Patrick's Day party. Three of the group will go to Camp Wyandotte this summer. Most of the group is working on a flag which they will take to the Council Fire. Their name is Ayudamos, which means "We Serve." Each girl will conduct a meeting at her home during the year in order that she may develop ideas on such work and plan for the good of others.

Mrs. Elise Wright, 140 Columbian-av, has Mrs. George Thomas as her assistant with 16 girls from Avondale School. They are working on their first rank, by making memory books. Some will receive honors at the approaching council fire. Their name is Ta-O-Ka, meaning "Friends Working Together." All the groups with such abbreviations as their names, derived their titles from the Indian language. Four of this group are going to camp.

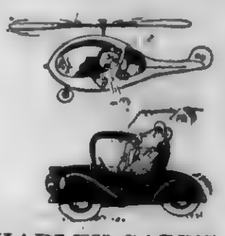
Mrs. Robert Budd, 293 Wrexham-av, works with 18 girls, all seven and eight year olds, in a Blue Bird troop at Highland School. This is the Pinocchio Blue Bird Group. Mrs. Earnest Henry, 159 N. Oakley-av, works with Mrs. Budd and the girls. They have been practicing songs for the Council Fire, and doing handcraft. At Christmas they secured a needy family's name through the Community Chest and sent them food and clothing. Recently they sent a package of scissors, crayons and pencils to another Blue Bird group in Germany. To help with the cost of a new swimming pool at Camp Wyandotte, they save tax stamps.

Gother leaders, who could not be contacted, are Mrs. Lois Reed, 143 W. Beaumont-rd, who has a Blue Bird group at the West Broad School; Mrs. Adrian Page, 65 N. Powell-av, who works with girls in West Junior High; and Mrs. Dorothy Mancinelli, 226 Bulles-av, who has a Camp Fire Group at Starling Junior High.

Interior Modes... by René

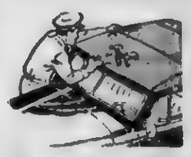
It takes ingenuity to create a room like this. Decorator Jill Ricciardo designed this game room to take rough treatment and hard wear, and still keep the crisp, efficient atmosphere. The walls have been painted a bright red for the gay touch; the floor is mottled black, inlaid linoleum, and the draw curtains are made from white sheeting. The bold plaid of the valance, chair covers, and wall seat, is red, white and turquoise blue. The window shades have been painted to match the plaid so exactly that when the shades are lowered to the sill the full wall has the effect of being painted plaid. And a bright red card table cover adds the final dash of high color.

Beauticians Attend N. Y. Beauty Show



Several Hilltop Beauty operators left, Saturday evening for New York, N. Y., and will return tomorrow from the International Beauty Show being held there.

Among those making the trip were Mrs. Lillis Whipple, 65 Alconquin-av, Mrs. Mary Lou Murdock, 1126½ Dublin-rd, Florence Bell, 956 College-av, and Mary Cotterman, 537 Carpenter-st. All are employed by the Glorinne Beauty Salon owned by Mrs. Whipple.



Mrs. Doris Ault Doughty managed the Glorinne Salon in the absence of Mrs. Whipple.

Why rub your fingers to the bone? A little ammonia added to the water in which white clothes are to be soaked will loosen the dirt and make washing easier.

H. McCormick Crusades For Athletic Rights For West Girls

By Libby Downing

Do you know Melinda? Now, don't answer yet, 'cause maybe you know her by her real name, Helen McCormick.

At any rate she teaches health and physical education at West High School, and has, since 1938. Miss McCormick, crusader for athletic rights for her girls, resides at 2808 Indiana-av.

Several years ago Melinda was sitting in her office with several of her class members and during the chit-chat one girl said to a heckler, "Don't call me Marie, I detest that name!"

Miss McCormick spoke up with, "What's wrong with the name Marie, I think it's a very pretty name." "Is that your name?" said one of the group. She answered, "Yes, Marie is my middle name." Another girl giggled and said, "It is not, it's Melinda."

"Try as she would to convince the girls, they would not believe her middle name was Marie. A few days later, a girl approached her and asked. "Is your name Melinda or Matilda?", and it all began.

Now, however, the incident has multiplied from the knowledge of two or three girls to several hundred, perhaps thousands. "It's really very silly," explained Miss McCormick to your reporter, "but gradually they began to call me Melinda. At first only GAA girls were privileged but soon the name spread to all my classes. They thought it was a huge joke, you see, and now I really am Melinda."

Melinda is quite a gal, and she's had quite a time trying to get outdoor space for her girls to carry on their sports. At one time the fellows and girls took turnabout with baseball, etc., played on the gridiron; now they aren't permitted to play there unless "we would change the diamonds each time we went out." The only available space is a strip of ground 30 feet wide between two fences, and that isn't too practical.

"And of course we have the gravel pit out back, with the bike racks in the road," said Miss Melinda.

Because of these problems, the West High Boosters are at present carrying out a scrap metal drive. Proceeds from the drive will be used to provide the girls with more space and a better place to play.

Didn't Intend To Teach

"A school teacher is the last [illegible] I would be," said the local teacher. "While I went to Ohio State, I majored in European history, and my minor was physical ed. Then along came an opening at Middletown, and I took it, as physical ed teacher. From there I came to Columbus and taught at the old West High, on Central-av, and transferred to the new building when it was complete."

Miss McCormick, incidentally, took her training in summer school at Harvard and at the University of Wisconsin.

Melinda has taught at West High for 20 years now. She and Mrs. Winifred Hughes, the Junior High physical ed teacher, share the same office.

For five years West High had bowling leagues for the girls and this was about the most popular sport offered. Now basketball has taken over, and the classes want that game alone.

"These girls eat, sleep and breathe basketball," Miss McCormick said.

Melinda celebrated her birthday last week, and her girls had a little party for her. She said they presented her with several nice presents, besides playing a practical joke on her.

Enjoys GAA Work

She derives much enjoyment from the Girls Athletic Association at the school. She and the group stay after hours one night each week to play, and meet once each month.

"We have the peppiest and most enthusiastic and NICEST group of girls this year," beamed Malinda.

In the summers she likes to play golf and travel. She has driven through the East, Northwest, South and Northeast and decided she likes the latter the most. The New England states impressed her particularly.

Just as an example of what can happen to an innocent bystander, we note that Melinda isn't really Melinda, and the physical ed. teacher did't really WANT to be a teacher, yet on the other hand, is evidenced by the affection shown her by her girls, Melinda must make a wonderful teacher.

Lutheran Mothers To Have Bake Sale

The Mothers' Club of Hilltop Lutheran Church will hold a bake sale Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m., at the Ben Franklin Store, Broad-st and Powell-av.

A large variety of home baked goods and home-made candies, produced by members of the club and of the church, will be on sale.

Hilltop Van Team To Practice Here On Sunday

Hilltop Van and Storage softball team will hold its first practice of the season at Westgate No. 3 Sunday, April 11, at 1:30 p. m. The Hilltop team will again enter the Columbus Independent and Columbus Night Leagues.

These two leagues produced both the city and central district champions last season and the Ohio Pen Hurricanes, one of the strongest teams in the state, is an entrant in the Columbus Independent League, playing all their games "inside" on O'Henry Field.

The Hilltop team, made up of West Siders, would like to add infield, outfield and pitching strength for the coming campaign and any new candidates and members of last year's team are requested to attend practice or contact Don Nader at RA. 7806.

TRIANGLE QUEEN—Donna Spring, 125 S. Hague-av, a 12B student at West High School, was chosen Triangle Queen at the recent Triangle Club dance. In addition to the honor of being selected by her fellow students, she will also receive a $50 master oil portrait of herself from J. Curtis Allen, photographer at 221 N. Ogden-av. The above photo is by Allen.

Genevieve Burr Is Candidate For Dem Post

Genevieve Burr, 21 N. Wayne-av, is a Democratic candidate for State Central Committee Woman for the 12th Congressional District.

Long an active party worker, it is her first try at an elective office. She was for a number of years active in the 10th Ward Democratic Club and more recently moved into the 11th Ward. She is on the board of trustees of the Franklin County Women's Democratic Club.

Mrs. Burr and her husband, Charles Burr, have lived on the Hilltop 29 years. They have a son, Jack Burr, who lives at 83 Lechner-av. Mrs. Burr has been associated with Seiler's, 2404 W. Broad-st, for the past seven years.

The Democratic candidate has been active in a number of fraternal and social organizations. She is district president and deputy organizer for the Knights of St. John. In the local chapter she is financial secretary and a past president of the Catholic Ladies of Columbia; past regent of Daughters of Isabella; treasuree of the drill team of Daughters of Isabella; secretary of the drill team of Catholic Ladies of Columbia, and a member of St. Aloysius Church.

Make Rug Lie Flat

Washable rag rugs add true beauty to a room, but if their ends curl up, they become both dangerous and untidy. If you dip the rugs in a weak starch solution each time you wash them, they'll be more apt to lie flat.

Joseph Hague, Local Attorney, Seeks Republican Support For Legislature

Hi-Y Boys Will Do Odd Jobs

A city-wide annual Hi-Y Work Day will be held April 10.

The boys in Hi-Y's all over the city will do odd jobs of window washing, lawn mowing, house cleaning, etc., in order to raise funds for the rebuilding of Y's overseas.

Bob Smith, 197 Dakota-av president of both the West High and City Wide Hi-Y, said that a goal of $2000 has been set for Columbus boys.

Anyone having errands to be run or similar duties is asked to call either West High School, RA. 0633, or Smith, MA. 5550.

A double chin isn't always caused by overeating. It may be the result of bending the head forward and down to read or study. To avoid a double chin and to cause less strain on your eyes, always raise an object so the eyes may be properly focused upon it without bending the head forward.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

During the week Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Rose will be moving to their temporary home, the double garage of E. C. Sheets, Jr., 162 Smith-rd. As soon as the weather is favorable, rapid progress will be made on the parsonage, the manse of Columbia Heights Church.

The drive for clothing for overseas relief will take place April 22 and 23. Persons donating are asked to contact some of the members of the WSCS and the bandles will be called for.

The mother-daughter banquet of Columbia Heights Church will be held Wednesday evening, April 21. Mothers who do not have a daughter for that evening are asked to borrow one. The program will be planned by the WSCS.

Ruth Degen of Pittsburgh was a week-end guest of Joe Coulter at his home Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Coulter, Pasadena-av.

The father-son banquet held Saturday night at the Columbia Heights Church was quite a success. The film of the Cleveland Browns was quite a drawing card and was enjoyed by the men, young and old. The oldest father present was D. C. Warner; the youngest, G. T. English, and the youngest son was Bobby, son of R. O. Miller.

Mrs. Kidwell, Beacon Golf Course, is slowly improving from sickness during the winter. Jack Kidwell and family are now located in their home on W. Broad-st, near West Jefferson.

Martha Suver and Marjorie Krohn accompanied the Ison family to Dayton Sunday. They visited at the home of Mr. Ison's brother.

Edward Howell, David Baker, Elvin and Bob Breckenridge spent Sunday afternoon at Buckeye Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Broyles spent last week in Tennessee on account of the death of his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shaner and daughters, Shirley and Cookie, spent several days last week in Detroit. Mr. Shaner and Ray Pirtle, formerly of Detroit, now living in this community, were among the 93 who received beautiful gold watches for their 25 years of service with General Motors. The banquet and recognition was held at the Fort Shelby Hotel.

Ray Mathias and Mary Webb, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Broyles to Buckeye Lake Sunday afternoon.

Floyd Grimm is back at his work after quite a sick spell at home. Mrs. Grimm who was also on the sick list, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Garretson, Ridge-av, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Bill Suver, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Suver, Calumet-av. The wedding will be held in the early fall.

Herman Krohn is now at home on Maple-dr, after spending the winter in Florida.

We are glad to welcome to our community Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shipley, who have purchased the Garretson property, 38 Maple-dr. They formerly lived on their farm near Darbydale and it is the first move for them in 30 years. Their son, Dwight, and family comprise their household. He is a collector of old guns, etc. Mrs. Shipley is interested in antique queensware.

Mrs. John Regan (Betty Kidwell), who has been living for several months at Langley Field, Virginia, with her husband, Capt. John Regan, is now visiting at her home, Beacon Golf Course, Norton-rd. Capt. Regan brought his wife and her sister, Georgia Kidwell, home before leaving for Panama.

NO APRIL FOOL HERE—Mrs. Robert Rose, 2483 W. Broad-st, at first thought it was an April Fool prank when employes at Fox Food Shop, 2422 W. Broad-st, told her she had won the $22 cash accumulated in their "Adda Dollar A Day" contest. The above Record photo shows Mrs. Rose receiving the money from Groceryman Harold Fox.

The prize money was given for discovery and purchase of an unknown item in the store for which clues were given in Mr. Fox's Record advertising. One dollar was added each day the item went unpurchased. A similar contest is again under way at the store.

Mark Pattern Pieces

If you do much sewing for yourself and family, a good idea is to mark all pattern pieces with the pattern number. In this way you will always know where every piece belongs. This is an especially fine suggestion to follow when you are using more than one pattern to design a garment.

Valleyview

By Mrs. Henry Whipple

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Mattox and daughters, Caroline, 486 N. Warren-av, were called to Point Pleasant, W. Va., last Thursday, due to the illness of Mr. Mattox's father, who is seriously ill in Holzer Hospital. They returned Sunday evening.

C. A. Meacham, 2724 Elliott-av, has been spending the past month in Rockledge, Fla. Mrs. Meacham and son, Leon, visited in Troy and St. Mary's, Ohio.

The Women's Club of Valleyview will meet Wednesday, April 14, at 8 p. m., at the Community Building on N. Richardson-av. Members are asked to bring sales tax stamps. Mrs. Emmerson Thomen will be the hostess.

Mrs. Eva Kroesen, 485 N. Warren-av, was called to Highland Falls, N. Y., because of the death of her mother. The funeral was held Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Thrush of Lancaster is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Norris Boothe, 514 N. Harris-av. Myrna Boothe will leave next Saturday on the American Airline for Chicago, where she will visit her brother, Dr. Harry Boothe.

During one of our recent storms there was a landslide on N. Hague-av just north of the N. Y. Central tracks, which caved in part of the sidewalk. The county engineers had to block off all of the sidewalk, thus forcing all pedestrians out into the traffic lanes. This is a very dangerous situation for the small school children; and the mothers of Valleyview are hoping this walk will be repaired soon.

Esquire Rolls 3091

One of the best games to be rolled at the Hilltop alleys in a long time was rolled a week ago Monday night as Esquire Men's Shop league leading team in the Recreation League, blasted the pins to the tune of 3091.

With Carl Breckenridge leading the local pinsters with 643, they hit games of 1077, 1050 and 964 for their 3091 totals. Each man in the line-up hit better than 500, which is quite a feat of its own. Besides Breck's 643, Dan Wolf had 628, Tom Wolfe 603, Hube Seitz 604, and anchor man George Kanavel 613.

To Lessen Fatigue

Arrange kitchen shelves so that you can see what you want at a glance and may be able to get it in one motion. Heavy dishes should be stored at counter height with the lighter ones arranged above and below.

To keep down fatigue in the kitchen, try to keep work where it can be done with the finger, wrist, and forearm muscles. Plan carefully what to do in order to keep down excess motions.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LOWELL D. HERRON, B. D.

SCRIPTURE: Ezekiel 18; 33; 36:22 to 37:14.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Ezekiel 34: 25-31.

His Message to Exiles

Lesson for April 11, 1948

CONTINUING the theme of last Sunday's lesson, we go further into the ministry of Ezekiel as God's messenger to a people in exile. For this Sunday we have chapters 18 and 34, and portions of the 36th and 37th chapters.

Dr. Newton

The 18th chapter opens with a revealing rebuke to Ezekiel. God tells him expressly that he is not to say any more to the Jews that "the fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge. As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Isreal. Behold, all souls are mine." And then God adds, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

• • •

GOD'S LOVE AND CARE

ALL through these chapters in Sunday's lesson, two solemn truths appear—God's love for his people, manifest in unwearied care; and the responsibility of each soul for the sin which such commits against God.

This truth, or these truths, I should say, are equally applicable for us today. As Ezekiel was sent to remind the people of God's love and care, so must we, early in our youth, accept the responsibility of accepting his love or rejecting his love.

We cannot claim his care if we despise his will. That is the message of Ezekiel for us.

• • •

WHAT GOD IS LIKE

NOWHERE in the Old Testament is the love of God more manifest and compelling than in Ezekiel 34:11-27. I hope that you will open your Bible to this passage. Here the Bible speaks in words that burn with the compassionate love of God for sinful souls.

"I will both search my sheep, and seek them out. As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and I will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day . . . And I will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel by the rivers."

One is reminded here of Jesus, when he said, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

• • •

A NEW HEART

"A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you," Ezekiel 36:26.

Here we have, perhaps, the sublimest sentence in the prophecy of Ezekiel. God is speaking. Ezekiel is merely the messenger — the voice, as John the Baptist delighted to describe himself.

Ezekiel has faithfully declared that each individual is responsible unto God, and just as faithfully he has proclaimed God's love and care, and now he adds the third great truth, namely, that God waits to bestow the new heart and the new spirit to every repentant soul.

A new heart and a new spirit. That is what the Jews needed. That is what the world needs today—a new heart and a new spirit. Only God could give a new heart then, and only God can make such gift today.

• • •

EZEKIEL'S MESSAGE FOR US

WOULD we listen to Ezekiel today? He has the message we need above all other words that may be spoken. He called the Jews to repentance of sin. That is what America needs today. Boys and girls need it. Men and women need it. And just as God waited patiently to bestow the new heart and spirit to Israel in the long ago, so does he wait to grant us today a new heart and a new spirit.

"Our God, our help, in ages past,
Our Hope for years to come;
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home."

Rev. M. E. Nelson, 326 S. Wheatland-av, pastor of the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church for the past six years, has been assigned to the Mt. Pleasant Church in Cleveland. He will preach his first sermon there this coming Sunday.

Assigned to take Rev. Nelson's place at the Hilltop church is Rev. Thomas L. Tinsley of New Zion, Kentucky. He and Rev. Nelson came into the Lexington Conference together. He will occupy the pulpit Sunday.

Since coming to the local church six years ago, Rev. Nelson and his congregation have cleared the church of debt—the first time in its 42-year history. At present art glass windows are being put in the church building.

In his new charge Rev. Nelson will launch into a building program. He and his family will move to Cleveland in the next two or three weeks.

In leaving the Hilltop Rev. Nelson expressed his appreciation for the fine support and cooperation of all persons. He strongly recommends support of the Hilltop YMCA program being launched here on May 1.

Our Door Is Open To Serve You

The last rites should be a scene of simple, sincere humanity; a final tribute from the bereaved. Our services are genuinely dedicated to expressing this tribute to your loved one. Our entire staff, our every facility, are at your command.

West High School Students, Boosters Push Hilltop Record Subscription Sale

Ninety West High students are zealously canvassing the entire Hilltop in their endeavor to secure new and renewal subscriptions to the Record. The drive is being supervised and conducted by the West High Booster Club in an effort to secure sufficient funds to enhance their already ambitious athletic program at West High School.

A liberal commission is being given for each new and renewal subscription, and early reports from many of the students show that the people of the Hilltop are really interested in furthering the campaign by giving the boys and girls their renewals, although in some cases their present subscriptions do not run out for some time to come.

Several of the student workers are among the contenders for the three major prizes, offered by the Record—$25, $15 and $10 having been offered to the three highest workers in the campaign. In addition, each team supervisor will award a $5 prize to the top salesman in his district.

Due to the desire of the students to contact everyone on the Hilltop, the campaign will be continued into next week.

Anyone who has not been contacted or may not have been at home when students called and who desire to assist in this program are urged to mail or bring in to the Record office the order blank attached. Subscriptions sent to friends off the Hilltop or out of the state will also count in the contest.

Heavy rains early this week caused the postponement of the Central-West baseball game at Mayly Field Tuesday afternoon and the track meet with Upper Arlington, also scheduled for the Hilltop Field.

Weather permitting, the Central game will be played Thursday afternoon. Thursday night members of the team and the West High School band will attend the Red Birds' season opener at Red Bird Stadium.

Coach George Williams' boys are then scheduled for a game at North High Friday afternoon. The heavy rains also made necessary the postponement of the West Junior-Franklin ball game scheduled for Franklin Park Wednesday afternoon.

W. Broad Lights To Be Synchronized

A plan to synchronize all the traffic lights in W. Broad-st, from the river west to the city limits was outlined by Ed Melvin, member of the city traffic commission, at the meeting of the Hilltop Business Association at Westgate Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

Within a period of 60 to 90 days work on this program will be started and will move west to Central-av. Shortly thereafter enough of the old controls will be rebuilt to make it possible to synchronize the remainder of the Broad Street lights west to the city limits.

Blue Star Mothers To Conduct "Tag Day" Here Friday - Saturday

West Side and Glenwood Units of Chapter 6, Blue Star Mothers, will join with other groups throughout the city to conduct a "tag day" on Friday and Saturday of this week. Solicitation of business places in residential areas will be handled on Friday with the downtown area getting attention on Saturday.

Blue Star Mothers, a group of mothers of men and women who served in World War II, was organized in 1941. Chapter 6 here in Columbus was not started until 1943.

All money received from the sale of the tags will go to support welfare work among hospitalized veterans and needy cases in veteran housing units. The organization regularly keeps in contact with disabled veterans in the hospitals throughout the country. The members have always cooperated with other groups in carrying out civic projects. This is their first effort to raise money in this way in Columbus.

In charge of the Hilltop and West Side tag sales is Mrs. Rose Squeo. Mrs. Clyde Dennison, 34 N. Warren-av, is chairman of the West Unit. Mrs. I. J. Kidd, 36 N. Warren-av, is chairman of the Glenwood Unit. Mrs. H. H. Herron, 71 Eldon-av, is publicity chairman for the Columbus Chapter.

Although the membership has dropped somewhat from the wartime level, it is again on the increase and now includes approximately 400 Columbus mothers.

Still Time For Band Variety Ducats

"You can still get a good seat for the ninth annual West High Band Variety Show, but you had better act now."

That is the advice of school officials this week as more than 3,000 tickets had been sold by the end of last week. The show will be presented April 22, 23 and 24 at the school auditorium.

Reserved seats for each of the three nights sell for 75c. A call to the school will hold your reservations and even have them delivered to your home if you are unable to get to the school office. The show is sponsored by the Band Parents Club.

According to the latest report, approximately 400 seats are yet available for Thursday, 100 for Friday and 400 for Saturday.

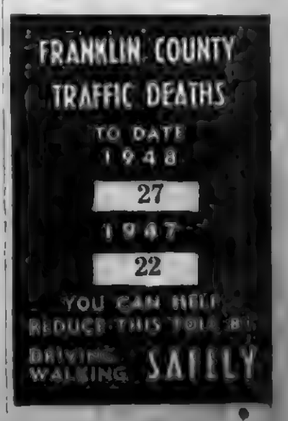
Support The Hilltop "Y"

An Editorial

All over the Hilltop this week-end you will be greeted from store fronts by a poster bearing the picture of a boy and a girl and saying "Invest In Our Future . . . Subscribe to the Hilltop 'Y', Sunday April 18."

When a solicitor comes to your door on Sunday afternoon it is hoped you will do just that . . . invest in the future of the children of the Hilltop.

You will be called upon to make a contribution to the operating fund of the Hilltop YMCA to help raise $15,000, the anticipated expenses of the first 14 months of operation.



Your membership fee of $5 will help to raise this amount. Along with this you will become eligible to vote on matters pertaining to the local "Y" policy. Children may have purpose memberships for $1 each. Failure of any child to carry a membership card will not deprive him or her of the right to participate in "Y" activities here.

Those who are thoroughly sold on the future of this program and have the foresight to see that a fine building to house adequate services and facilities for the program will be needed in a few years should signify their faith in the project by becoming a contributor to the building fund and writing a check for more than the $5 membership fee. Your generosity on Sunday will speed the day when the ultimate goal may be reached.

No finer program for the youth of the Hilltop has ever been fostered in this community. Thousands of young people can benefit from it in years to come. The important task at hand is to make the drive on Sunday a big success.

When the worker calls at your door please remember that he has already made a contribution himself and is now giving generously of his time. Your cooperation in having your money ready will be appreciated.

Invest in the future of the children of the Hilltop . . . Subscribe to the Hilltop "Y" Fund on Sunday, April 18.

Woman's Place In The Home?

Not For Ann Kelley! She'd Rather Sell Her Customers Gas And Oil

By Libby Dowling

So "A woman's place is in the home," is it?

Grandma Ann Kelley is the modern answer to that age old advice. Because for the past six years she has serviced automobiles with gasoline and oil at the Mound and Central Service Center, 1397 W. Mound-st.

"Some of my customers think it's quite a novelty to find a woman working in a service station," she said. "They want to know why I like the work and how long I've done it. I guess I'm sort of a curiosity."

"Annie" first began her mechanics career during the war, when her husband was manager of the station and man-power was so scarce. Two years ago at Mr. Kelley's death, Annie decided to stay on.

"I had made so many good friends from Washington C. H., Cincinnati, and even other states, that I hated to leave," she said. "I enjoy meeting and working with people and it seems to mean something to customers to be able to stop at a service station in a strange town and know the person who waits on them."

A friend who was sitting nearby listening to the interview chimed in with, "Yeh, when the customers drive up and one of the fellows goes out, they ask, 'Where's Annie?'"

When working Mrs. Kelley goes formal, with slacks, jacket and cap! The cold weather and grime that gets ground into her hands at the job pose no problem for the invincible Annie; she simply uses hand cream.

Shops On Day Off

Annie, who has one day off per week, goes to work at 10:30 a. m. and leaves at 10:00 p. m. That's a pretty rugged schedule for a woman, not to mention the "cool" breezes that zip through the station during the winter months, and the snow and ice that Annie wades through to get to her customers' cars.

On her one free day a week she shops, and does her housework, and once in a while takes in a show. She's quite a baseball fan too, but hardly has time to enjoy the sport. Annie's favorite color is blue and she is partial to suits, along the clothing line.

Mrs. Kelley has lots of fun at her work, joking with friends and customers and "especially looking out the window." The station has huge glass windows on three sides in the front, and faces Central-av, Mound-st, and the Harrisburg Pike, and take it from Annie, anything can happen here!"

Winter provides the most astounding sights at the corner with cars, people and even big semi trucks sliding all over the place and into each other. To illustrate the amount of traffic here, four weeks ago Annie was leaving Mound-st in front of her business place and was struck by an auto, breaking her right wrist. Needless to report, she is not filling up gasoline tanks nor putting oil in crank cases at present.

Annie has a married son living in Pickerington and he has a small daughter. All the family she has in Columbus are her two "first cats" with whom she resides at 124 N. Lennox-av, in Rome.

Besides Annie, at the station, there are Jim Dearduff, Benjamin McDonald and Bill Edwards, her partner. Even when Annie is on the job there is always something to keep them all busy. The men handle the lubratorium and Annie handles the front office and "front customers."

Any time you're driving past the "Sign of the Flying Red Horse," down Mound and Central way, just stop in and ask for "Annie."

A. H. Addis and family.

Conclusion

Most of the facts of life conspire
To call the optimist a liar.

LIBERATION

Will I be trapped and caged this spring,
Be shorn of beauty, clipped of wing;
And will it be the sadder note
That breaks its way through songless throat?

Or will I be the braver heart
That reaches out and tears apart
The bolted locks and binding bars
To dust my wings against the stars?

Nellie Marguerite Leach, in AMERICAN WEAVE.

When making a hooked rug, it is best to choose a design with shades of no more than three colors and emphasize one color more than the others.

City Water To Be Available To Suburbs

City water will be available to subdivisions surrounding the city of Columbus, Joseph R. Jones, president of City Council, told a group of approximately 100 residents of Franklin Township at Wilson School Tuesday night.

Jones pointed out that the water was not immediately available but that new pumping and filtering equipment now on order would make the extension of water service possible by the time any given area has mains installed. He explained that each area, in addition to providing the mains and facilities to each home, would have to pay its share of operation and maintenance of city water equipment.

The meeting was called to discuss the proposed zoning of Franklin Township by Grover Clements, county planning engineer. The planning program had the verbal support of practically all who braved the rain to attend the meeting. Other meetings will be called prior to placing the issue on the November ballot.

Because of the township zoning meeting this week, there will be no April meeting of the Wilson Heights Civic Association, according to F. E. Campbell, president of the group. The next meeting will be held May 10.

Meeting Is Scheduled Here Opposing UMT

Norman Thomas, chairman of the Post War World Council, and John Henry Martin, author of a recent outstanding article in Look magazine opposing universal military training, and former naval lieutenant commander and former consultant to the joint chiefs of staff, will be the featured speakers at a meeting called to voice protest against UMT.

The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday, April 18, in East High School Auditorium and will be sponsored jointly by the Columbus Council Against Conscription. Dr. Donald Timmerman, executive of the Franklin County Council of Churches, is chairman of the Columbus Council.

HBA Dinner Dance Is To Be On May 14

Sport Notes

By Bob Humphrey

Hilltop softball fans will have an opportunity of witnessing the city's top ranking stars in action this summer as the Columbus Night League will again be in operation at the popular State Hospital field. The league held an organizing meeting last night (Wednesday) at the City Recreation Department.

Two Hilltop teams, Hilltop Van and Storage and Hilltop Garage and Service, were members of the league last season and both teams were expected to be back in the league this year.

Six teams were granted franchises in the West Side (Hilltop) Church No. 1 Softball League at an organizing meeting at the City Recreation Department last week. All teams entered in the league are from Hilltop churches.

League games will be played at Westgate Park, with the opening set scheduled for Monday, May 3.

Pairings for the inaugural games are as follows: Hilltop Church of God vs. Glenwood Methodist, Westgate Evangelical vs. St. Aloysius, Hoge Memorial vs. Burgess EUB.

Monty "Red" Dunlap, prominent in Hilltop athletic circles, having piloted the West Park Methodist quintet to the West Church Basketball League title for the past two years, has been renamed as manager of the Ace's Service Station softball team, defending city champion. Ace's will compete in the Linden Independent Tuesday Night League.

Dave Madden, a veteran Hilltop athlete, has been chosen to serve as manager of the Hill Tailors team in the Buckeye Night and Franklin Independent Softball League.

Incidentally, the Franklin Independent League, Columbus' oldest and fastest softball loop, will also play its games at State Hospital field, playing under the lights on Tuesday nights.

Tom O'Malley, 776 S. Wayne-av, will again serve as manager of the Allen Milk baseball team this summer in the Sunday Afternoon League. Despite his advanced athletic age, the 54-year-old O'Malley plans to take his regular turn in the line-up as a catcher.

The managerial staff of the Hilltop Van and Storage softball team was announced last week. "Pop" Nader will be the team's business manager and his son, Don Nader, has been named as the field captain. Hilltop Van will be in the Columbus Night and Columbus Independent Leagues.

Composed almost entirely of Hilltop boys, Mellman Corner won the City Senior Knothole Basketball title, turning back Glenwood Varsity, 43 to 29, in a championship play-off game Thursday of last week at Schiller Park gym. Don Ijams, a Hilltopper, led Mellman's with nine points. Don Borror, former West High star, played a fine floor game for the Mellman squad.

Firehouse Site Still Unsettled

Little progress seems to have been made on the selection of a site for the Hilltop's second fire house.

A check with the city legal department this week revealed that plans are being made to get appraisal on four lots at the northeast corner of Binns-blvd and Sullivant-av. Two of these lots are owned by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company and are at present being used as a turntable for the Sullivant-av bus. The two lots immediately to the west are owned by Sinclair Refining Company.

An official of the transportation company recently revealed no plans for the immediate removal of the bus terminal. Long range plans call for extension of the bus line further west but it is understood that several months would be required to get materials needed for this change.

A spokesman for the city legal department said that the refining company was opposed to giving up the corner site at Binns-blvd, stating that plans call for erection of a new service station there.

Chief C. W. Ogborn To Retire May 16

Columbus will have another fire chief on May 16.

Chief Clarence W. Ogborn Monday afternoon tendered his resignation from the top fire position to enter retirement effective on May 16. Taking his place will be Assistant Chief Walter G. Strickfaden, 64, of 957 Geers-av.

Chief Ogborn has served the department 38 years. He was named chief on April 8, 1947, following the death of Chief Welch.

Battalion Chief Ralph W. Cassell, 2855½ W. Broad-st, is expected to be elevated to the position of assistant chief to replace Chief Strickfaden.

Little Theatre Group Discussed On Hilltop

Amateur thespians of the Hilltop may be interested in a move toward organization of a little theatre group on the Hilltop.

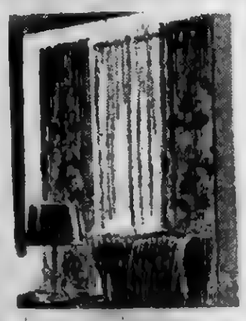
Gene Paul, 142 N. Ogden-av, said this week that several persons had been discussing the possibility of forming such a group. He is interested in knowing just how many others may likewise be interested.

Any one with amateur stage experience is asked to contact Mr. Paul at RA. 4551. Information may also be obtained by calling JO. 1249. Paul is a member of the Village Little Theatre in Upper Arlington.

Jack Thrush To Play With Greenville

Jack Thrush, West High School all-around athlete, who graduated last January, has been optioned by the Detroit Tiger farm system to the Greenville, N. C. club of the Coastal Plain League, it was announced this week.

He has been in spring training at Thomasville, Ga.



Thrush is playing first base, and according to reports from Greenville was considered one of the top prospects at the Thomasville camp.

Damask is a fabric made of linen, cotton, rayon, silk, or wool with a woven pattern which is in reverse on each side. Some kinds of damask cloths have warp yarns (vertical threads) in one color and weft yarns (cross threads) in another color.

Damask differs from brocade because damask patterns are flat, whereas brocade patterns are always raised.

Grabill, Trainer On Honor Roll

Two Hilltop Ohio State University students were on the honor roll for the winter quarter in the College of Commerce and Administration, it was announced this week by James R. McCoy, secretary of the college.

They were Rex W. Grabill, 99 N. Wheatland-av, and Jack R. Trainer, 2025½ Sullivant-av.

Conservation Theme Is Observed By State

Throughout the month of April community organizations and civic groups will emphasize the necessity of giving serious thought to the natural resources of soil, water, forests, minerals and wildlife in observance of Conservation Month. Schools of the state will observe Conservation Week, April 19 to 23, and Arbor and Bird Day, Friday, April 23, with special programs and tree planting ceremonies as a tribute to a recent proclamation urging such observance.

Commenting on the increased interest on the part of school officials, sportsmen's groups and conservation organizations throughout Ohio in their observance of Conservation Month for the past nine years, Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider said this week that although proclamations and programs never alone, planted trees or conserved natural resources, it is important to note that they do afford an opportunity for the citizens in general to become better acquainted with the importance of conserving and restoring our natural heritage.

Wide Assortment In Skirts

For every blouse there's a gamut of wonderful skirts — pleated ones, gathered ones, flared ones a few padded through the hips to gain still more fullness. For street-wear they are 13 inches and 14 inches from the floor, for dancing under the moon they are ankle length and longer.

This season there is much ado about petticoats. They have come out of hiding to show crisp white eyelet ruffles, and swooshing striped or solid taffeta flounces beneath a full sweep of skirt. In addition to making a pretty hemline, they contribute fullness from the hip down.

Two Hilltop Girls Plan Y-Teens Meeting

Two West High School girls were recently appointed to responsible positions in the 1948 Wildwood Conference for Y-Teens to be held June 13-20 at Camp Wildwood, near Westerville. They are Frances Smith, 721 Wiltshire-rd, a member of the program committee, and Rita Konkler, 188 N. Eureka-av, a member of the recreation committee.

These girls are working with Y-Teens from all over the city to plan the annual Y-Teen Conference, which is open to all Y-Teens now in high school, including graduating seniors, and to 9A's who will enter high school in the fall.

The program committee plans to carry out the theme of "Personal Problems" through a series of talks, panels, discussions and skits, on such topics a personal appearance, manners, personality problems, jobs, careers, boy-girl relations, community responsibility and religion.

The recreation committee has planned a series of special events including a "Daisy-May-Lil Abner Party", a "Hit Parade Nite," a hayride, a kid party, a hike and picnic, and a talent show, in addition to sports and interest groups dealing with crafts, music and dramatics.

Additional information and registration blanks may be obtained from West High Y-Teen officers, or from Peg Calbeck director for teen-age program, at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, AD. 0121.

To Hold Hobo Party

There will be an aggregation of hoboes on the Hilltop today. All of them will be quite young and inexperienced at hoboing. They are the boys and girls who will go to a Hobo Party at Glenwood Park.

The party, sponsored by the Social Club, is open to all teen-agers boys and girls. The boy and girl who are dressed in the best hobo fashion will be awarded prizes.

The Glenwood Park supervisors are also making plans to organize a camera club and classes in photography. Young people who are interested are asked to contact Betty Rush at the park.

Bill Brownfield Attends Jaycee Meeting In Rio

Former Hilltopper, C. W. (Bill) Brownfield, 2780 Stratford-rd, recently returned to Columbus from Rio de Janiero, where he attended a convention of the Confed of the International Junior Chamber of Commerce. Eight United States delegates were in attendance with 21 countries represented.

Brownfield, a graduate of West High School, is owner of the Brownfield Coal Company of Perry County and president of the Travel Corporation. He is the author of the creed which the U. S. Junior Chamber adopted in September of last year, and which the International group adopted at this year's meeting in Rio. It follows:

The Jaycee 'Creed

We believe:

That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations.

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free competition.

That government should be of laws rather than of men.

That earths great treasure lies in human personality.

And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

Wheatland Church Group Has Style Show

The Wheatland Avenue Church was the scene of a style show Friday evening, April 9. It was sponsored by the Sewing group of the Hilltop Parents Association headed by Mrs. Vivian Bynum.

The stylists were accompanied by Miss Harmon at the piano. Mrs. Rosa Trigg was the commentator.

The stylists were grouped according to age, beginning with 16-month-old Aletta Lopez in a little sway back coat with a hood and 2-year-old Tanya Toler in her ballerina skirt and Gibson girl blouse. Little Della Gentry came next in her yellow light weight woolen pimper. In this younger group were Melissa Cheek in a beautiful blue lawn dress, the Williams twins, Frances and Freda, in identical pink outfits, Wanda Cook in pink cotton shantung, Brenda Colwell and little Miss Froe in very beautiful outfits.

In the older group suits, toppers, ballerina skirts and Gibson girl blouses were modeled by Jean Walker, Patricia Todd, Marian Goolsby, Rowena Shaw, Rita Ann Bynum, Regina Shaw, Virginia Goolsby, Shirley Pack and Beverly Cook. In this group there were four young men modeling single and double breasted suits, Philip Williams, George Slate, Sherell Singer and Charles Cook.

In the adult group there were Mrs. Irene Madden in a faille ballerina skirt with an embroidered lace hemline and a Gibson girl blouse, Mrs. Maxine Landrum modeling a middy blue cavert coat with a Russian squirrel fur scarf, Eleanor Johnson in a grey woolen coat, Joan Toler in a shepherd plaid suit, Mrs. Mildred Peeks in a black ballerina dress and Mrs. Rose Ann Brown in a melon colored crepe dress with a rhinestone neckline.

In this group there were also two young men, Roland Green in a light blue tweed double-breasted suit and Devon Prillerman, who modeled two complete sports outfits.

Completing the modeling Mrs. Mildred Peeks, a recent bride modeled her lovely duchess ivory wedding gown. Little Carol Pack was her flower girl.

The solo by Beverly Bell, recitation by Mrs. Bernice Slate, piano duet by Mrs. Rose Ann Brown and Miss Harmon, a selection by the Three Hill Sisters, the skit by the Kindergarten group, brief history of the organization by Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw were numbers enjoyed by all.

West Trackmen To Enter Huntington Relays On Saturday; Defeat East 70-48

Fifteen or 16 West trackmen will leave for Huntington, W. Va., tomorrow morning with their coach, Rufe Glass, to enter the Huntington Relays on Saturday. The event will include track stars from 14 schools in the Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky areas and is considered one of the better scholastic relays in this section of the country.

As this is being written, Coach Glass was not sure of the entire roster of thinclads to make the overnight jaunt. He had, however, listed the following as the major part of his quad: Eitle, Ellis, Schroeder, Hicks, Van Atta, Ham, Mahan, Dennis, Stout, Janes, Evans, Miller and Lanigan. Two or three others may be added later in the week.

After losing to Springfield, 102 to 10, and scoring a 70-48 victory over East last week, the Cowboy thinclads were slated to entertain Upper Arlington here Tuesday. This meet is expected to have some bearing on two or three more boys who may make the Huntington trip.

The most pleasant surprise for Coach Glass thus far has been the performance of Don Eitle in the dashes. As this is being written, he is still undefeated in the 100-yard and the 220 events. In the Springfield meet last week he set a new West record for the 220 with a time of 22.8, lowering Bill Smith's former mark of 22.9.

Don, who is in his first year of track, also runs in the 880 relay. He has been on the cross-country team during the past two seasons.

In the Springfield meet West ran one of its best half mile races but was nosed out by a scant two feet. The Springfield squad is described as the top contender in the state this year with plenty of talent in every department.

West Victory

This is the way West scored its 70-48 win over East: (The names are listed in the order they finished each event.)

High hurdles — Miller, Dennis and Stewart (E).

100-yard dash — Eitle, Hicks and Schroeder.

Mile—Merritt (E), Dennis and Nelson (E).

Half mile relay — West with Eitle, Brown, Hicks and Schroeder. (Brown was running for Ellis, who was ill.)

Shot put—Schmitt, Sowards (E) and Thornton (E).

Pole vault—East took all three places.

440 dash—Stout, Johnson (E) and Janes.

Discus—Baine (E), Schmitt and Sharp (E).

220-yard low hurdles—Stonard (E), Stewart (E) and Evans.

880-yard run—Mahan, Van Atta and Slaughter (E).

220-yard dash — Eitle, Schroeder and Smith (E).

Broad jump — Hicks, Sowards (E) and Dennis.

Mile relay—West with Stout, Evans, Dennis and Hicks.

Plans are being completed for two night track events at West under the lights. On May 11 the second running of the Hilltop Relays will attract some of the top talent from the central Ohio area. On May 18 there will be a triangular meet with Chillicothe, Newark and West. At the same time there will be a Junior High meet with Everett, Newark Junior and West.

Tickets will be sold for 25c, good for either event. The Hilltop Relays will be a gala occasion with the West High Band and queens to award the cups and trophies.

12 Churches To Enter Teams In West Leagues

Two church softball leagues will operate this year on the Hilltop and West Side. At a recent meeting of managers of the teams, it was decided to set up two six-team loops to accommodate the 12 churches wanting to enter.

Play will get under way on May 3 with four games to be played on the Westgate diamonds and two at Sunshine Park. Each league will play three rounds with the winners going into the city church playoffs. There may be a playoff between the two West Church Leagues, according to Walter Gerber of the recreation office.

The No. 1 West Church League will be composed of Hilltop Church of God, Glenwood Methodist, Westgate Evangelical (last years winner), St. Aloysius, Hope Memorial and Burgess EUB.

West Church No. 2 will have Salvation Army, Avondale EUB, Chicago Avenue C. of C., West Park Methodist, St. John's Episcopal and Hillcrest Baptist.

The No. 1 league will play all of its games at Westgate Park and all of the Hillcrest games in the No. 2 loop will be scheduled for the Hilltop diamond. The other four teams in the No. 2 will play at Sunshine.

Local Coon Dog Wins Tennessee National

"Singer Boy," one of the outstanding coon dogs in the country, proved his worth again over the week-end by winning first prize in the second line of the Tennessee National field trial event at Columbia, Tenn.

The dog, owned by Stuart and Helen Planck, 184 Lennox-av, has won virtually all of the top coon dog events in the country in recent years. The Tennessee trials attracted around 150 dogs from almost every state in the union.

West Junior 9 Ready To Open 1948 Season

By Dave Miller

West Junior's baseball squad was "cut" to 14 members last week by Coach Red Lehman.

The remaining members are: infielders, Jerry Johnson, Russ Friend, Dick Hutchinson, Chuck Liepensperger and Morris Dobbs; catchers, Ron Farley, Harry Bradley and Walt Meredith; pitchers, Bill South and Ted Fladt; outfielders, Earl Thornton, Ron McElwee, Al Shade, Glenn Hayes, Hutchinson, Meredith, Thornton and Hayes were picked from approximately 35 members of the seventh and eighth grades.

Although losing their first two non-league starts, the Broncos look like championship contenders in the Junior High League which started Tuesday. However, the West Junior nine opened a day late. They will visit Franklin at Franklin Park on Wednesday.

The West Juniors opened against the defending champions, Linden Junior, April 2. After trying out some of his not-too-good tryouts, Coach Lehman finally put his first team in the contest and they looked very good both at the plate and afield. Ted Fladt started the game and slumped in the first. He was socked for 10 runs on just three hits but he walked four.

Fladt retired the three men in the second inning on strikeouts but in the third was hit for one tally and five in the fourth. He was relieved in the sixth by Bill South, who pitched a shutout inning.

With the score against them, 16-0, the Broncos rallied for a run in the sixth when Morris Dobbs walked and scored on two consecutive infield outs.

The Junior Cowboys played a much better game against Grove City Junior and Senior High School on April 5 at the Grove City diamond. The score, however, was against them, 6 to 1.

The West Junior nine tallied their lone run in the top of the opening inning on three straight hits by Al Shade, Earl Thornton, and Morris Dobbs. The opponents of the local Hilltoppers tied it up in their half of the same frame and then went on to win.

Bill South started the game and allowed only two hits and one walk. However, bad luck afield by his mates proved to be fatal in the end. The line scores of the two games:

Linden Jr.	1	0	0	1	5	0	0		16	8	0
West Jr.	0	0	0	0	0	1	0		1	3	4

Troutman and Castle; Fladt, South (8) and Farley.

West Jr.	1	0	0	0	0	0			1	3	2
Grove City	1	0	6	0	x				8	2	1

South and Farley, Bradley (5); Herron, Bain (4) and Peterson, Herron (4).

Cowboys Inaugurate '48 Baseball Season By Splitting Double Bill At Chillicothe

Jim Remington Home Over Last Week-end

Jim Remington visited on the Hilltop over the week-end. He is stationed at Huntsville, Ala., with the U. S. Army. He hopes to get his discharge in about five months.

Jim played a good bit of basketball during the past season. He played with a team representing the base and with some other independent teams. He had a good season and played with an independent five that cut quite a figure in a big tournament in South Carolina.

A weak brain and a little education form a mixture that causes a decided swelling of the head.

Win Opener; Lose In Nightcap

By Dave Miller

West's baseball nine split a double header with Chillicothe last Saturday afternoon, taking the opener, 10 to 4, and losing out in the nightcap, 4 to 2, at Chillicothe.

Paul Theisen started the curtain raiser for the Cowboys. He looked effective until his wobbly control in the fifth inning registered his release from the contest.

The Hilltoppers scored one in the first when Jack Pickens, West shortstop, drove Dave Francis' first offering of the game into the extreme left field corner for a three-bagger. Dick Culbertson then put the George Williams-coached locals ahead when he sent a timely single to left, scoring Pickens. However, the host nine tied it up in their half on a walk, a sacrifice and a single.

West went ahead in the next frame on a single by Dave Dupler, returned all-star third sacker of 1946 from the army, a passed ball, and a one-base knock by Johnny Cherup. The Cowboys counted another in the fourth on Al Andrews' terrific drive over the fence in left-center. The West nine went back behind their opponents again, 4-3, in Chillicothe's half of this same inning. The Cowboy locals tallied two more in the fifth to forge into the lead for keeps. Featuring this barrage off pitcher Francis, Curt Westerman smacked a round tripper into the almost identical spot Andrews hit his. However, the West High players batted around in their half of the next to last inning to sew up their chances with five runs.

Jack Pickens and Dave Dupler paved the way for the Cowboys at the plate, both collecting three hits. Dick Culbertson of West and John Summers of Chillicothe both collected a duo of hits in their respective turns at the platter. Paul Theisen was the winning pitcher while Dave Francis received the loss.

In the second fray, West could only collect six hits off Jim Miller of Chillicothe, who also pitched the last part of the first game. All of the Cowboys' safeties were singles. Jack Pickens and Dick Culbertson collected two each while Dave Dupler and Don Skipper got the remaining two. The host team managed to eke out as many hits as the visiting Cowboys, but one was a triple.

Pickens Hits Again

The Cowboys scored in the first and third innings. In the first Jack Pickens got his seventh base of the day when he singled and advanced to second on third baseman Arledge's error. Pickens then scored when Culbertson slashed a one-baser to left field. The visitors then scored in the third when Pickens was hit by a pitched ball, Culbertson walked and Dupler singled.

Chillicothe's scoring was mostly unearned runs off starting pitcher Phil Young, a star Junior High hurler last year. Young's control was wobbly throughout his stay of five innings. Chillicothe scored a run without a hit in the second when a hit-by-pitcher, walk, and two more hit by pitched balls resulted in a run. Two markers were registered by the local nine on a triple, two walks, an error, and a single. To out their lead on "ice", the Chillicothe nine pushed across another tally in the sixth off relief pitcher Chuck Weeks. Top hitter in this contest for the host nine was Ralph Arledge, all-American football quarterback, who got two-for-four at the pan. The line scores:

First game:
West	110 125 0	10	13	4
Chillicothe	103 000 0	4	6	0

Theisen, Weeks (6) and Andrews; Francis, Miller (5) and Kirkwood.

Second game:
West	101 000 0	2	6	1
Chillicothe	012 001 x	4	6	1

Young, Weeks (6) and Little; Miller and Kirkwood.

West was scheduled to open its City League play by playing host to Central on the Magly Field diamond Tuesday. On Friday Coach Williams will take his team to North High and then entertain Aquinas here Tuesday afternoon.

158 Sets Rolled In Local Tourney; 1310 Is Highest

Interest in the Hilltop Mixed Doubles Tourney down at the Hilltop Recreation alleys is running high this year as 158 sets were reported rolled through Monday night.

The tournament will close Sunday night. All money over the price of bowling will go into the prize fund. Last year 40 pairs collected prizes and, based on the early response, this year's prize list should be even better.

High score posted through Monday night was the 1310 rolled by Emily Dougherty and Homer Ranney. Up to that point, 20 sets had bettered the 1200 mark, thus indicating strong competition from here on out.

Other high scores reported include a 1286 by Vera Swisher and Fred Wolfe; 1285 by Marg and Cal Stacey; 1270 by Kaye Seitz and George Kanavel; and 1248 by Jerry and Jack Parrett.

CAGE CHAMPS ARE THEY—These members of the Hoge Memorial Church intermediate entry in the West Church League staged a whirlwind finale to annex the loop crown after getting off to a slow start. Ending the regular play in a three-way tie for first place, the Hoge five proceeded to knock off West Park Methodist and Burgess ZUB in order.

Other good scores in the same league were Dan Wolfe's 642, Stan Frost's 625 and George Kanavel's 603.

Looking Ahead with Jean Worrel

Knowledge is Power

Are Schooldays nearly over for your boy or girl? Have you realized how fast the children are growing up?

For children do grow up . . . which leads me to ask if you've given much thought to your children's future lately? I mean, whether they'll go to college to prepare themselves adequately for what life has in store for them. Almost every boy and girl would like a college education, of course, but wishing is not enough. There are fees to consider, tuition costs, maintenance allowances, incidental expenses and such-like. Fortunately these items, large though they may seem if not foreseen and provided for, can be budgeted with ease by planning proper arrangements in time. I wonder how many of you know that the Educational Policy issued by the Sun Life of Canada has been developed to take care of just such a job. By small, regular payments during a portion of their school years, your boy or girl may be assured an arranged amount for the definite purpose of meeting college fees. This amount would be paid by the Sun Life of Canada each year during the period of collegiate training. At the same time there would also be a monthly income available to cover miscellaneous expenses incidental to education. The plan includes, too, an interesting insurance feature safeguarding both parent and child in the event of the death of either before the primary objective of the contract is accomplished. Successful men and women today will tell you there is no better investment than higher education . . . why not make sure of it?

Let me Help You to Help Your Children.

Fix Up Time Again

Spring housecleaning should not stop with the front porch. Any resident of the community who takes pride in the Hilltop will extend that operation to the front lawn, back yard and the area around the garage.

The Hilltop is a community made up largely of home owners. This fact is generally reflected in the appearance of its homes. To most of these homeowners it is not necessary to remind them of a general cleanup around the outside of the house. They do it regularly. There are a few, however, who apparently feel little or no community pride and let their premises run down.

We realize that labor is still scarce and that materials are high in price like everything else, but there are few who cannot take care of the minimum requirements in upkeep. A coat of paint is needed on frame dwellings every four or five years. Sidewalks will become broken or chipped and need occasional repair or replacement. Fences and hedges, where used, will need occasional repair or attention.

It really costs very little to maintain property if each need is taken care of as it arises. Every dollar spent in this way is a good investment in the property you own, for the appearance of your home has a bearing on the real value of other homes around you, as well as your own.

DOCTORS ARE BETTER DOCTORS, Hospitals are better hospitals, because of Medical Meetings. The practice of medicine is being constantly improved through this interchange of the findings of research and experience.

Lives are being saved by these constant meetings, conferences, clinics and consultations. Discussions from such meetings are published in Medical Journals, for further study, and for the information, of those unable to attend. This urge for improvement—that's the ingenuity and progress of Medicine in America.

Opportunity and incentive to get to the top, through honest study and hard work . . . that's America! Attending Medical Meetings is hard work, sandwiched between other duties of a busy Doctor, but conscientious, progressive physicians consider it a duty to patients to attend local, state and special clinical meetings.

For the sake of keeping the level of American health the best on earth, let's see that politicians do not kill the incentive for constant improvement.

Letters To The Editor

Editor Hilltop Record:

Well, as the saying goes, "you might as well get it off your chest."

I always read the Spectator first. I like your frank opinions in politics as that is how we make our bread and butter. You have gone to bat different times for different divisions of city service. Now can you answer this?

"Jimmy" froze salaries when he took office his first term and then gave each a flat $25 raise just before election. Up until then it was positively "no" for any certain group. Since then he picked this one and that one and gave them overtime (just for a few) privileges. You know what city employees will do to that. Well, if you don't like it—get out.

Not after 20 years and when you are eligible for a small stipend after 25 years. My husband brought home $200 some few years ago. He now brings home $212. Why does "Jimmy" need such a big raise when the majority got $25 a month. One of the favorite girls got a raise when wages were frozen.

Now as to Citizens' Research. Do all city employes need a living wage? Or just the mayor, council, etc.? It was told the men before election that Jimmy had done a lot for Columbus (which he has) and now he was going to do something for the employes. Bah. Why don't city employes have morale? Because in this office if anything is turned down not according to rules and regulations, go to the boss. He will pass it and never even tell his men. He has done so many times. Where does that put a man?

As to finances of the city, why put in a new bureau? If the head doesn't do as they want him to, he won't stay long. Boy, how they maneuver to put something over they want done.

Now everybody can't be pleased but why not be square? So don't blame employes for everything. They have higher ups that tell them what to do and they serve easily.

Now, Citizens' Research, do all employes need a reasonable salary? Our loaf of bread and quart of milk cost as much as do the officials'. But our social standards do not need to be of the same degree. If you had anything to give away, you would give it to the mayor—not to the employes.

THE TAX CUT AND YOUR INCOME

The new income tax reduction, enacted by the Republican Congress with help from Democrats to repudiate President Truman's veto, will take nearly 7½ million low income earners off the tax rolls entirely. The tax chart below shows how much spendable income the average family of four will have after paying taxes in 1948—and how this compares with their spendable income in 1947. For instance, a man receiving $2,500 income this year will pay less than one percent for taxes; last year his tax was almost four percent of his income.

A Net income is amount left after deductions, but does not include personal and dependency exemptions

Spring time is garden time and true to form I have already started my early garden plot. For the sake of you would-be vegetable growers, I will give you the benefit of my half dozen years of horticultural experience.

Quite naturally the first thing you will need is a garden plot in which to plant your garden. My advice is the smaller the plot the better. You won't grow so many vegetables but then you won't accumulate so many blisters either and there won't be so much to grow up in weeds after you get tired taking care of it.

No. 2 on your list is garden tools. The more the better, then you can spend more time getting your equipment out of the garage and out to your garden. If you have enough garden gadgets you can spend practically all evening getting your tools out and putting them away. That way your back doesn't get tired from spading, etc. If your garden plot is bigger than six feet square you should by all means have a power garden tractor. You can find them in any hardware or garden supply store from $150 on up to the deluxe models where you ride instead of walk while plowing, cultivating, etc. This saves a lot of wear and tear on the old body and attracts all the kids in the neighborhood. Frequently you will attract some strong boy who is glad to take over all the manual work for the thrill of operating your equipment.

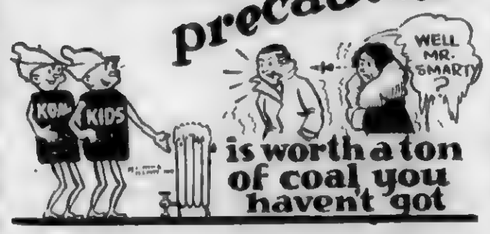
Quite naturally the first thing you must do is plow or spade up all the ground you intend to plant. Always keep a tin can handy to collect all the earth worms. They come in handy when you get tired of gardening and decide to go fishing.

Seeds are a very essential part of your gardening equipment. After spending several evenings looking over seed catalogs you pick out the ones that look the prettiest in print. Don't expect your vegetables to look like that though. They never do. Order plenty of seed. You save money on the half-pound and pound packages even though you need only an ounce or two for your garden plot.

Having prepared the soil and added a good standard fertilizer you are now ready to plant, unless you plant by the almanac, that is. If you believe in the signs, there's a day for planting each particular vegetable. If you start real early in the spring you may get all of your garden planted by the middle of August if it doesn't happen to rain too many times while the sign is right for that particular crop.

If you plan to grow potatoes, buy a good certified seed — a bushel or so. Wait til the sign is right. By that time it will be raining so you might as well peel the potatoes and give them to the wife for cooking. You can buy them cheaper in the fall anyway.

If you are a stickler for neatness, you will need a surveyor's transit and a dozen or so stakes to line up each row on the right angle and exactly the right distance apart. Me, I believe in the way they grew things down in the hills. You can always grow more corn in a crooked row than in straight ones.



Having planted your garden you will want to stock up on insecticides and bug dope in eight or ten different flavors. You will need two or three different preparations for each vegetable. You don't exactly have to have a chemistry degree to mix up the formulas you will use but it will help.

That just about takes you up to maturity date for your garden crops. If the weeds haven't taken your crop by this time and the bugs have allowed them to survive, you will probably be fishing at the lake when things begin to ripen. By the time you get home you may get enough to get a taste. It will be worth it though for things taste "so fresh."

Home gardening is not exactly a profitable undertaking if you consider all the work and expense involved but it's a lot of fun and may get you out of helping the wife with the spring housecleaning. And besides, it makes a favorable impression on the neighbors when you clean up that back yard.

Overheard: There seems to be an excuse for nearly everything except certain people we wish we didn't know so well.

Modern Poetry

SPRING IN THE HILLS

Down in the hills the songbirds are nesting.
Arbutus is scenting the air with perfume,
Soon honeysuckle and laurel will blossom,
Flame-like their colors will lighten the gloom.
Redbirds will whistle that winter is ended,
Service trees quiver with veils white as snow,
Locusts will hold out their clusters of fragrance,
Fireflies will dance in the soft twilight glow.
Will-o-the-wisps in the fog will be dancing
Ghost-like, to look at the hills after rain,
Soon whippoorwills from the trees will be calling,
Happy because it is springtime again.

Arta Nottingham Chappius, in CONTEMPORARY VERSE.

TRESPASSER

I am the trespasser
Here in your green lane,
As din of motor horn
And screech of brakes profane
Your grassy, snug retreat,
Yet curiosity
Is all of your response
To raucous melody.
With bovine interest,
You lick the warmth of hood
To welcome alien beast,
You wish you understood.

Jane Sloan, in AMERICAN WEAVE.

CHARITY

Lady, do not think me bold,
If today I smile at you,
I have oftentimes been told
You are rich and proud and cold.
All these things you seem to be—
So today, in charity,
I smile at you!

SUNDAY LESSON
FOR APRIL 18

Parallel Is Drawn In the History of U. S. and Israel

THE Bible represents the Jews as a chosen people, chosen of God for a great mission and destiny, all which their greatest prophets wrote in terms of service and blessedness for all the world.

The promise to Abraham was, "in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blest." And Isaiah 62:1 speaks of the righteousness of Jerusalem as going "forth as brightness and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth."

True and faithful prophets rebuked their people for turning from the true God to practice the idolatry of their pagan neighbors. It is that call of God which touched their lives with glory.

And it is the tragedy of the failure of others, and the downfall of the kingdoms of Israel and Judah. All these, taken together, make the story of Israel vital for our own time.

Americans tend to think of themselves as a chosen people. In any case we have been blessed beyond many others, and we are in a situation in the world today in which much depends on us.

In that sense we are called and chosen of God. Shall we fall in the mission and destiny?

It is the answer to that question that makes the study of the history of Israel so important and informative. There under more primitive conditions we can see laid bare the influences and forces making for the upbuilding or downfall of nations.

It is somewhat startling to realize that the period of Israel's rise and downfall occupied a time roughly corresponding to that of the history of the United States since first discovery.

Will we succeed where Israel failed? Why did Israel fail? Read the prophecy of Amos and you get the answer.

The failure came because in times of material prosperity elemental factors of righteousness and justice were neglected. Altars to the false gods were increased, even as the fruits and harvests increased. The poor were neglected, and the righteous were "sold for a pair of shoes."

Two special services will be held next Sunday night in the Hilltop Community Church. At 6:30 p. m. in the Youth Hour, Mrs. L. A. Draper of Westerville will present "The Gospel by Chalk," with special singing by the young people. The picture will be "The Lost Sheep."

At the 7:30 service Mrs. Draper will draw "The Crucifixion" with the sermon delivered by the pastor. The public is invited.

Our Door Is Open To Serve You

The last rites should be a scene of simple, sincere dignity; a final tribute from the bereaved. Our services are genuinely dedicated to expressing this tribute to your loved one. Our entire staff, our every facility, are at your command.

Memorial Plaque Will Honor West War Dead

The names of 64 former students and one faculty member from West High School who gave their lives in the armed services during and after World War II will appear on a memorial plaque to be erected at the school prior to Memorial Day.

Ed Planck, chairman of a committee from the Hilltop Kiwanis Club in charge of the project, said that he had received confirmation from the factory that the plaque would be available for putting up in time for a special Memorial Day service to be held at the school May 28. The plaque, 24 by 36 inches in size, is being purchased by the Kiwanis Club at an approximate cost of $275. It will be placed on one of the posts in the lobby at the senior high entrance to the building.

Starling Jr. High

Starling Junior High

Mary Jane Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, 255 Dena-av, won first place in the Starling spelling contest and Betty Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Essie Mouton, 1109 Deckebach-rd, Apt B, was second. They will be the participant and alternate in the city-wide contest April 17 at Central High School.

Spelling has been stressed in seventh and eighth grade classes and the best speller in each class was selected. These pupils met in competition April 8 to determine who should represent the school in the city-wide contest. Each class winner will receive a certificate of merit in spelling. Following is the list of winners: Loretta Bland, Norma Sparks, Garnette Geis, Edna Parsley, Nancy Slagle, Robert Bright, Selma Wolfe, Johnny Jones, Helen Dagan, John O'Day, Miriam Demoe, Jo Ann Casteel, Janet le Vally, Joseph Pieciune, Doris Saunders, Shirley Carr, Mary Vance, Betty Alexander and Mary Jane Sullivan.

Starling held its second annual display of hobbies Tuesday and Wednesday, April 6 and 7. Sixty-six persons exhibited 69 hobbies. The show was supervised by Mrs. Mary Ann Wiseman, librarian, who took charge of the entries, helped arrange the exhibits and directed the work of the 130 persons who assisted in keeping the displays in order. Each period a different pupil had charge of a table. His duties were to guard the articles on exhibit, keep the tables and articles clean and dusted, and explain the displays or answer questions about them. Every pupil in school had an opportunity to see the exhibits. This was possible by having each English class go, as a group, under the supervision of the teacher, to the library for part of the English period.

Collections of coins, stamps, dolls, war mementos, jewelry, scrapbooks, etc., made up an exceedingly interesting and varied show.

Starling pupils participated in the Ensemble Concert sponsored by the Franklin PTA Council under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Woodin. The following vocal pupils took part in the singing: Jo Ann Adams, Geraldine Ashley, Loretta Bland, Marian Cloud, Dorothy Daily, Charlotte Davy, Miriam Demos, Delores Dennis, Delores Gomez, Arlene Johnston, Janet Le Vally, Donna Loudermilk, Charlotte Renner, June Roscbloom, Weltha Schreiner, Shirley Shell, Carolyn Twitty, Eda Vannicelli, Selma Wolfe, Tom Allen, Russell Bishop, James Blake, Ralph Bruckman, Sam Buchanan, Bernard Castle, Vernon Feen, Paul Finney, Ralph Hight, Keith Johnson, Le Roy Morgan, Don Summers, Wayne Vadakin, Ralph Van Atta, Norman Williams, John Allen, James Cupoli, Richard Driscoll, Charles Korzenborn, Ronald Maier, Eugene Tinsley and William McCann.

Round The Hilltop Bus Service Needed

It has been some time now since there has been mention of the proposal to try to get "round the Hilltop bus service.'

Surely this is a subject that needs further discussion and consideration.

People in the community around Sullivant-av and south of there would like to be able to make direct connections with the area north of their homes and the same is true of the people north of Broad and in that area who would like to visit and do business with the firms on Sullivant-av.

Sullivant-av has become a very fine shopping area and people from all sections of the Hilltop are anxious to patronize those firms just as are people of that community interested in shopping in the Broad-st business section.

A joint effort of organizations of the community should be directed in trying to secure some type of bus service that will make a complete circuit of the entire Hilltop.

Fine Spirit Shown In "Y" Drive

First comments on the big "Y" drive held Sunday are directed to the many workers who came out and gave their time to the drive. The enthusiasm they showed was indeed a demonstration of that thing that has caused the Hilltop to become labeled the most active of city communities.

The Hilltop owes each of these workers a big vote of thanks.

Only one disappointment was evident during the afternoon—nearly four out of every ten families were away from home. This means that nearly 4000 calls back must be made. Then too, several additional workers were needed and time did not permit all the homes to be called on in one afternoon and another 1000 homes remain to be seen yet. All told, the campaign is but about one-half over. Volunteers are being sought now to take care of the cleanup work during afternoons or evenings.

I personally called on nearly 100 homes and in the number that were contacted I found nothing but a hearty enthusiasm for the project. Many were not able to contribute right now but designated a time to call back. All families having children were of the opinion that the project deserves the support of the community.

All in all the drive has been successful to date and we anticipate that a complete report will show that the goal has been reached—all of which means that the green light has been given to the establishment of a "Y" program here. Another year, after the program has been under way and youngsters have had an opportunity to participate in the events a similar drive will be still easier.

A big program is being attempted here. We must not expect it to materialize over night. Organization work will be necessary and each month the program will be expanded to take in a wider scope of activities.

If you have not already subscribed to the "Y" fund, why not do so today? Write out your check and mail it in. The drive needs your support.

To all who gave—Thank you, sincerely.

Hilltop Record Staff Views Flood Waters Of Last Week

By Paul Wichterman

If you have seen Ohio's beauty spots by motor car you have a real treat in store when you view the same area from the air.

I had my first look at the southern Ohio hills from the air Saturday morning and it's a sight worth seeing. Bob Maxwell, Record advertising salesman, Mel Griggs, photographer, and I flew to Portsmouth in one of Gomer Jones' Stinson 150 Voyagers to see the flood waters. Our pilot was Bud Fryer, 418 Townsend-av, one of six pilots Jones employs at the Sullivant Avenue and Clickinger Airports.

Taking off from the local airport at 8:10 a. m., we flew down the Scioto River to Portsmouth and back to the Hilltop in just one hour and 50 minutes, including time we circled over the flood

Glenwood Shelter House Repairs To Get Under Way

A contract for the repair and remodeling of Glenwood Shelter House was let this week, according to N. J. Barack, recreation director for the city.

The work includes remodeling the front entrance to allow more space inside the building, repairs to heating plant, painting and renovating of neglected areas. The bid calls for $34,000 to be spent during the spring and summer months to put the building in condition for complete use next fall.

A new wading pool has been constructed in the park to replace the one that has been out of usable condition for a number of years.

Lights will also be installed at the tennis courts at Westgate Park in time for play this summer, it was reported earlier.

18-Inch Snake Is Found In Bedroom

The next time hubby comes home from a fishing trip make it a point to inspect his boots and trouser cuffs.

Mrs. Luther Levengood, 1470 S. Hague-av, was making her bed Monday morning, when as she described the incident: "I heard something behind me. I knew the dog was outside and when I turned around here came a snake slithering across the floor."

Mrs. Levengood summoned up her courage and dashed to the basement after gloves and her husband's minnow bucket. The snake, about 18 inches long, was still slithering when she returned. So snatching it right behind the head, she dumped it in the bucket, and confronted Mr. Levengood with the specimen when he came home that evening.

Sunday had been a good fishing day for her hubby and Mrs. Levengood concluded: "that snake must have curled up in the extra pair of boots he had taken with him.

"Then sometime during the night the silly thing crawled out."

Percy Miller, operator of Miller's Sohio Service on Sullivant-av, is a patient at Mt. Carmel Hospital following an accident last Wednesday.

Telephone Co. To Conduct "Open House"

An opportunity to view the operation of a dial telephone office will be given to the public when the Ohio Bell Telephone Company holds "open house" at its Randolph-Jordan central office, 2615 W. Broad-st, Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30, from 2 to 9 p. m.

"The Randolph-Jordan office has grown rapidly since the war ended less than three years ago," said Homer E. Smart, Ohio Bell district commercial manager.

"At that time it served Randolph numbers only, nearly 10,000 of them. Since then the demand for service in this area has been so great that the office was expanded in January, 1946, and the new Jordan numbers were cut into service. Now the office has nearly 14,700 telephones, an increase of about 47 per cent. The Jordan addition is one of four similar additions in Columbus since the end of the war, bringing the number of central offices to fifteen."

Mr. Smart pointed out that the telephone company installed $69,000 worth of central office equipment in the Randolph-Jordan building during 1947 to meet this unprecedented demand for telephone service, has installed an additional $49,000 worth so far this year and plans to spend $19,000 for similar installations and $8,000 for outside plant by the end of 1948.

Visitors to the "open house" will be escorted through the building by telephone employees, who will explain the workings of

Coal Strike Causes Layoff Of 2,000 Here

Approximately 2,000 hourly rated employes of the Fisher Body-Ternstedt Plant will begin a one-week vacation with the close of the shifts here tomorrow —the direct result of the prolonged nation-wide coal strike.

James L. Conlon, resident manager of the Georgesville-rd factory, said that all workers would return to work on May 3. A few hourly workers will be kept on for emergency work, he said. Salaried personnel will not be affected by the plant shut down.

The one-week layoff became necessary when dwindling steel stocks were used up. The local plant manufactures automotive hardware for all General Motors

School Survey To Be Conducted Here Next Week

A house-to-house school survey will be conducted on the Hilltop next week by the four elementary schools in an effort to determine how many children are to be enrolled in the free kindergarten program to be started next September.

E. B. Graham, principal of John Burroughs School and spokesman for the local school officials, said that the launching of the free kindergarten program makes it imperative that each school district know in advance just how many children are to be accommodated in the already well filled school buildings.

The survey will be conducted by pupils, teachers and the local Parent Teacher Associations. Each school will canvass homes in its district to determine how many children will be starting next fall either in pre-school work or in the 1B

Matson Opens Re-election Campaign In Face Of Grand Jury Charges

George Matson

With no prospects of a trial between now and May 4, date of the primary election, George W. Matson, 87 N. Warren-av, this week is calling on his friends all over the county to come to his support in the primaries and vote for him at that time.

Hundreds of friends of the commissioner have volunteered their services in the past 10 days and assured him of their intentions to campaign for him before the primary date.

Matson points out that in the more than seven years that he has been a county commissioner he has assisted the county in spending an average of over three millon dollars a year and in this time there has never been a finding against him. His past honesty, integrity, perseverance and experience in the office are deserving of the continued support of the public his friends believe.

Matson points out that he is still a county commissioner, and expresses confidence that the citizens of this community will by their votes declare their belief in the American principle that every man is innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

Matson pleaded innocent last week to charges of conspiracy to defraud the State of Ohio as a result of the handling of state funds for veteran housing. He was indicted earlied along with three contractors by a special grand jury that is still in session.

West Boosters Continue Drive For Subscriptions

West High students and the Boosters Club are working hard to complete their canvass of the Hilltop for subscriptions to The Record before their regular monthly meeting next Monday evening, 7:30 at West High. Final reports will be turned in at that time.

First reports show that more than 500 subscriptions have been garnered by the 90 West High student workers.

Paul Leighninger, chairman of the drive, early this week pointed out to his fellow workers the need of emphasizing to every prospect the assistance they will be giving the Boosters Club in making West High's athletic field and athletic program the best in Columbus.

He also pointed out that present subscribers, although their subscriptions have some time to run, may give the workers their renewal dating from the time of expiration of present subscription, thereby allowing the Booster Club to earn this commission.

Keen competition among the workers has developed for the various prizes that have been offered by both the Booster Club and the Record office.

Hilltoppers who have not been contacted and who desire to assist are urged to call the Record office, RA. 1125. Workers in the various territories will then call.

Legion Plans 19th Birthday Celebration

Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, expects the largest attendance in its history when it celebrates its 19th birthday on June 6 at the Post's club rooms at Burgess-av and Broad-st.

Co-chairmen Larry G. Scales and Vernon C. Fiscus announce that plans nearing completion will give the members and friends of the Post one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year.

Robert Cooke has promised a very appetizing buffet lunch starting at 6:30 p. m. Col George M. Ward and his boys will have charge of the entertainment which will follow the luncheon. Dancing will complete the evening.

Chet Wagner's committee will see that the hall is properly decorated and tickets will be handled by Vernon Fiscus. The price is one dollar per couple.

Hilltop 'Y' Fund Nears $9,000

Workers To Renew Efforts To Complete Community-wide Canvass This Week

Early reports in the Hilltop YMCA drive held Sunday indicate that to date nearly two thirds of the goal of $15,000 has been reached while nearly one half of the homes on the Hilltop have not yet been contacted.

Beautiful spring weather on Sunday accounted for nearly four out of ten families being absent from their homes and at the same time a shortage of sufficient workers accounted for about 1000 homes not being contacted. It is estimated that about 5,000 calls are still to be made.

• • •

Here are the workers who pushed doorbells Sunday afternoon in the Hilltop YMCA membership drive. Not enough volunteers reported to completely cover the territories assigned.

Other persons have volunteered to complete the drive. They will be assigned just as soon as the cards can be sorted and new territories outlined. Others who may wish to help complete the canvass are invited to contact C. C. Hartley, chairman of the "Y" board, or any of the board members.

Workers Wanted

A call for more volunteer workers is being sent out this week. Anyone who can work daytime or evenings is asked to contact C. C. Hartley, chairman of the "Y" board, or any member of the board. The cleanup work can be done at the convenience of the worker. Any workers present Sunday who care to help again with the cleanup drive will be welcomed.

Whereas some workers did not turn in large amounts Sunday others had very successful results and several larger contributions to date have swelled the total to more than $8000.

Money continued to come in from many sources this week. Several families have indicated they will send their memberships and contributions to the building fund direct to H. G. Deems of the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn., treasurer.

A special gifts committee is being organized by the board and business firms and numerous individuals who are able to contribute larger amounts will be contacted.

No reports of winning teams or individuals in the Sunday campaign have been tabulated as yet. They will be announced next week.

Organizations and individuals desiring to aid in the cause are asked to contact any member of the board and send in their money as soon as possible.

DIRECTS VARIETY SHOW —Charles W. Bennett, in charge of all instrumental work at West High School, will direct the ninth annual West Band Variety Show that opens tonight at the school auditorium with repeat performances scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights.

The show will feature a number of outstanding entertainers from the school, the senior and junior high bands and the school orchestra. The show is the one big fund-raising project put on each year by the Band Parents Club, which supplies so many of the needs of these musical groups.

A few tickets are still available. A call to the school office, RA. 0633, will reserve whatever seats may still be unsold at this time.

Ruling Awaited On D-5 Permit Application

The State Department of Liquor Control has still not made its decision on the D-5 night club application filed by James Phillips, operator of the Biltmore Restaurant, 2414 W. Broad-st, several months ago.

A public hearing was held on the application, April 2, with about 25 persons attending in protest to the issuance of the permit. The restaurant already holds a D-3 permit allowing the sale of high power beer and wine. This permit has never been used, however.

W. R. Morris, assistant director of the Liquor Control Department, said he was unable to state definitely when the ruling would be made on the local application.

Meanwhile there have been reports on the Hilltop recently to the effect that another local option election might be in the making. While church and business leaders would not speak for publication on the matter, it is known that such a possibility is being considered.

Three churches located within a 500-foot radius of the Biltmore Restaurant have all protested the granting of the D-5 license that permits the sale of hard liquors.

TELL ME NOT IN APRIL

Oh, tell me not of love in April,
Nor yet in May.
It is enough to know the whiteness
Of cherry spray,
To share the green unfolding wonder
Of each new day.
Then, in dim twilight of November,
If you can bring
The vision back, and make the trees bloom,
And thrushes sing
Within my heart, I'll know it's true love,
And not just spring.

Cowboys Annex 7-3 Win From Aquinas Terriers

By Dave Miller

West High's representative in the City High League emerged victorious in the third league outing of the season by winning from the Aquinas nine, 7-to 3.

The Cowboys and the Polar Bears of North High went into a two-way tie Tuesday when each came out as winners. As a result West and North are the only two undefeated squads in the league. Linden took its first loss since May 13, 1946, from South, on Monday. On Tuesday, North downed South, 11 to 6.

Neither of the league leaders have met the defending champions as yet.

In the Cowboy win Tuesday, loose play afield by the Terriers proved to be the factor that helped the West siders to their win. The Cowboys counted as many hits as they did runs, while the visiting Mt. Vernon Avenue boys were booting five plays.

The Cowboys scored in the second when Al Andrews was on through an error and advanced to the following base on a wild throw by catcher Cantwell. Paul Theisen, who started and ended the game on the mound for the host nine, sent a single to center, scoring the catcher, Andrews. The Cowboys went farther out ahead of Aquinas in the third frame with two runs. Three were scored when Pat Collins, leftfielder for the Cowboys, singled and was sacrificed by Dick Lamprecht to second. A hit by Dick Kirk scored Collins and Dave Dupler plated Kirk with a single to right.

Again the Cowboys scored after coming in following Paul Theisen's three straight strikeouts of Don Sweeney, Bob Outland and Dick Schmidt. Don Little singled and stole second base and managed to score on a foul fly ball in short left.

The top of the fifth inning was the first inning the Terriers got a hit off Theisen. It was the same way in the Central-West fray when Theisen pitched four straight hitless innings until the first batter got one off the right-hander. The first hit was a solid single to right by first-baseman Lloyd Stapleton.

The Hilltoppers, however, came back to collect their last runs. Dick Lamprecht singled and advanced to the next base on the center fielder's error. A walk, double, and another free pass allowed the final three markers to score. Aquinas got their three in the top of the sixth on a triple, walk, single, stolen base and wild pitch.

The Cowboys, on Monday, played host to Hilliards High School, and, with Phil Young pitching a one-hitter, the locals won out, 8 to 0. Jack Pickens, regular West shortstop, was spiked at second base and is unable to play the remainder of the week. Dick Lamprecht has been filling in at the spot since Monday.

The two recent line scores:

Hilliards	000 000 0	0	1	4
West	140 030 x	8	11	1

B. Walker, Voltz (3), G. Walker (6) and Rice; Young and Andrews, Nafzger (6).

Aquinas	000 003 0	3	4	5
West	012 130 x	7	7	0

Zack and Cantwell, Stapleton (5); Theisen and Andrews.

Hilltop Van Team To Have Inter-squad Game Here Sunday

Hilltop Van and Storage softball team will play an inter-squad game Sunday at 1:30 p. m. on Westgate No. 3 diamond to determine which of the boys will fill some of the playing positions.

Some new faces will be seen in the lineups. Bud Murphy, who played with Van before the war, is back with the team, and will help Frank Groves, last year's all-league pitching ace.

The team will meet its first real test Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock when it meets Williams McNabb on the Maryland Park diamond.

City Dental Trailer Comes To The Hilltop

The city's new dental trailer, offering free fluoride treatment to control dental cavities, began service on the Hilltop this week at St. Mary Magdalene School, 2940 Parkside-rd.

The trailer is in charge of Dr. Andrew H. Imhoff, chief of the dental division of the Columbus Health Department. He is assisted by another hygienist and a dental technician.

Children's teeth are cleaned and then treated with a sodium fluoride solution which has been found to reduce the formation of cavities by nearly 50 per cent. The treatment has been approved by the U. S. Public Health Service, the State Division of Dental Hygiene, the Ohio State Dental Society and the Columbus Dental Society.

At the present time the treatment is being offered only to second grade pupils. Consent permits from parents are required before the treatment is given.

Ticklers — By George

"The way you carry on a body'd think I was responsible for everything—I noticed $1.50 for pipe tobacco in there and I don't smoke a pipe."

traveled some 180 miles.

Motorists Enjoy Air Travel

Jones pointed out that more and more motorists are getting a thrill out of seeing from the air the country they know so well from the highway. The aerial view creates an entirely new picture of the countryside. He has a number of planes available for chartered sight-seeing flights all the year round. For instance, the trip we took to Portsmouth and back would cost only $34.40 for a party of three.

The local airport covers a radius of roughly 365 miles for a one-stop flight for the average small plane. While we were talking to Gomer Jones on our return he pointed out Frank Garn, who was just taking off on a flight to Toledo. Frank, an employe of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., is responsible for starting the Over Fifty Club, an organization made up of men over 50 years of age who are flying. Dr. Palmer L. Cordray, a local physician, is one of the 26 or 27 members of this club.

At present some 75 persons are taking private flying lessons. A few local people own their own planes but most of them are rented from the field. Jones is factory representative for the Stinson plane in a 14-county area.

area. It would have been a pretty good day's drive by auto over the winding roads in that area.

The Scioto River really gave us concrete evidence of the need for conservation and flood control. Here and there we would see farm buildings out in the middle of the flood waters, completely shut off by the high water. In many places we could only trace the course of the stream by rows of willow trees that follow the banks of the stream.

Fruit Trees In Blossom

The hill country comes into view rapidly when you near the vicinity of Chillicothe. Fruit trees in blossom could be seen in the orchards south of Chillicothe.

In exactly 50 minutes after we had crawled into the plane at the Hilltop field, we were over Portsmouth. We flew along the West Virginia side of the Ohio River where we could see the famous "million dollar" flood wall. We could also see the flood gates barricading three streets down on "the point," preventing the flooding of much of the business area of the city.

Only the second story of the administration building and the tower marked the location of Portsmouth's airport. The field and the road leading to it were all under the yellow flood waters. Just up the Scioto River a short distance from the city we could see a string of freight cars on what seemed to be a railroad bridge under water.

Lake White seemed to contain literally tons of eroded top soil as its yellow waters stood out in the midst of the wooded hills. Some of the hills showed a touch of green here and there as early foliage was becoming visible. But in most places we could look right down through the tree tops and get a good picture of the rugged terrain.

Flying a little to the west of the Scioto on our return trip, we were able to pick out the location of Washington C. H. and Greenfield some 30 miles to the west. Of course buildings were not visible but we could see smoke from some of the industrial plants near those cities.

By 10 a. m. we were back down at the Sullivant Airport, having

Rawlings Named To Scout Post

Cyrus Rawlings was this week named chairman of the leadership training committee for the Southwest District Boy Scouts by M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, district chairman.

Rawlings takes the place of Dr. R. J. Miller who resigned recently.

The new leadership training chairman immediately revealed plans for a scoutmaster training course to be held at the West Park Methodist Church starting on May 6. Other classes will follow on May 13 and 20 with an overnight hike at Camp Lazarus set for May 22 and 23 and a final class session on May 27.

Cliff Mathews, field executive for this district, will assist with the program. Instructors for the various phases of the work will be announced later.

School Survey - - class. Starting on Monday, the workers are expecting to finish their work by Friday of next week.

The public school kindergarten program was just approved by the Columbus Board of Education at its last meeting. Private kindergarten work was being conducted in the West Broad and John Burroughs Schools during the past two years. Under that set-up, parents paid the expense of the teacher's salary and for equipment needed, and the class room was provided by the school. Under the new program the kindergarten work will become a part of the public school system.

Under the new system children will be permitted to enter kindergarten in September if they are five years of age on or before the following Nov. 1. They can enter in February if five years of age on or before the following May 1.

Kindergarten work will be maintained on a half day basis. It is expected that 4150 children will be enrolled in this work throughout the city school system.

Parents are asked to cooperate fully when the census taker calls so that the survey will be as complete as possible. All children expecting to enter either the kindergarten or 1B class in September should be registered and an appointment made for the May Health Roundup.

Under the present health rules, each child must be immunized against smallpox and diphtheria. The nurse will give each parent the pre-school medical form and the yellow form for the family physician to sign, indicating that the immunization has been successful. Appointments will be arranged with the school nurse to avoid parents having to wait in line during the checkup period.

Parents are asked to present birth certificates for verification of correct ages and dates of birth.

Variety Show To Be Presented At Local School

Mrs. H. C. Boothe, 646 S. Richardson-av, Mrs. Al Shade, 420 S. Richardson-av, and Mrs. Verghn Horger, 299½ S. Harris-av, are in charge of the talent selection for the annual John Burroughs Variety Show to be given at the school on April 26, 29 and 30.

Two performances will be given each afternoon on April 28 and 29 for children of the school. The April 30 showing will be held at 8 p. m. and will be open to the public at 40c per person. Tickets may be purchased from any of the teachers or Mrs. Edward Bradfute, 333 S. Ogden-av, Ra. 2830, president of the PTA.

All talent used in the show has been selected from the school. Proceeds from the undertaking will go to improve playground facilities.

Clean-up Week To Be Sponsored By Kiwanis Club

A Hilltop "clean-up week" is being planed by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club to tie in with a city-wide program proposed by Mayor James A. Rhodes.

E. O. Melvin, 107 S. Warren-av, and his public affairs committee are in charge of making plans for the local program. The cooperation of every Hilltop resident will be sought in helping to rid the community of trash and unsightly debris in alleys and vacant areas.

Assisting Melvin in formulating the program are Dr. F. L. Keiser, Dr. E. D. Morgan, Paul Rausch, Gus Johnson, Mose Williams and Howard Davis.

Melvin pointed out that while more details on the program would be forthcoming at a later date it has been decided that the city cleanup program will be conducted during the week of May 10 to 18.

Irvin F. Young, principal of West High School, will be the speaker at today's luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. He is expected to discuss some phase of youth work as it is related to the school program.

M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, 335 Guernsey-av, has been named delegate to the 33rd annual convention of Kiwanis International to be held in Los Angeles, Calif., June 6 to 10. Alternate delegate is Phil Stout, attorney at 2532 W. Broad st.

Rev. Jack Davis Will Be Ordained April 25

Rev. Jack Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis, 429 Townsend-av, will be ordained in a special service at the First Baptist Church here in Columbus on Sunday, April 25.

Rev. Davis has a degree from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., attended Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Ft. Worth, Tex., and will graduate from the Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky., on May 7.

Conservation Club Discusses Problem Of Top Soil Loss

A report of flood conditions last week and its accompanying loss of topsoil was presented to the Hilltop Conservation Club Monday evening by C. B. Cranston.

The report was followed by a discussion of the basic facts of conservation with plans for work along this line for the coming year.

Cranston also reported that an interest was being shown by business men in having leading farmers in the area west of the Hilltop fly over their land and see their farms from the air.

The Pacific end of the Panama canal is 27 miles east of the Atlantic end.

The annual copper production in the United States is worth more than 100 million dollars.

Busy Housewife Finds Time To Pinch Hit As Mailman (?) On Rt. 6

By Libby Downing

"Mail man or mail woman?" That is the question.

The customers of Mrs. Mildred Stormont, substitute mail carrier on Route 6 have finally decided to get around that obstacle by calling her the "mail carrier."

You're probably wondering just what circumstances led to a woman's taking such a position, and this is how she explains it.

"One day while I was serving as president of the school PTA, I mentioned to someone that I thought it would be fun to drive a bus. Well, one of the men overheard me, and when Donald Horn, the regular mail man, was canvassing for an assistant, my name was mentioned. Most men wouldn't want a job for just two or three days a month. But with my other work, and being my unpressed ambition, it suited me."

The job of a route carrier is not as easy as it would appear, for when there is mail to be delivered, Mrs. Stormont has to be at the Hilltop Branch Post Office at 9 a. m. to case the mail. By the time it is sorted, sometimes it is noon before the carrier can begin his routes. Even then, to make the rounds takes about six hours.

Mrs. Stormont, who lives at 121 Pasadena-av, in Rome, with her husband, Joe, and two children, first started her mail man's (?) career last October. She had to learn the routes and then was initiated by taking half of it and then by handling the entire area of Derrer-rd and Josephine-avs. but Sullivant-av, across to Broad and through the Mix Addition, alone.

Several of her co-workers at the Post Office mentioned that the only trouble they had on their routes was with ladies. But Mrs. Stormont says that just the opposite is true of her job. One gentleman thought she was holding back a check he had been expecting, and another practically "accused" her because by some chance each time she delivered his mail the daily paper would be missing. She has had only one experience of being stuck with her car, and that was on N. Grener-rd, when she slipped into a shallow mud hole. Luckily, just that morning she had thrown a log chain into the auto and in about 10 minutes a passerby had pulled her free.

Active Church Worker

A substitute mail route and her housework are not the limits of Mrs. Stormont's capacities by any means. Besides sewing for herself and her daughter, she is active in church work and is the chairman of local church activities of the Columbia Heights Methodist WSCS. She has held an office in the West Jefferson Chapter of the Eastern Star for the past 10 years and is a past matron and has done, and is doing much PTA work. Last year she even taught Bible school at the local church. Before her marriage she had taken two years of nurses' training in Grant Hospital.

Mr. Horn, the regular mail carrier, calls for Mrs. Stormont's assistance at rather busy moments once in awhile. On one particular day, she was preparing to entertain her Sunday School class for the afternoon when the phone rang and "guess what." But between the two of them they delivered the mail and she was home again in time to get the refreshments ready. By the way, your reporter got an interview between one of Mr. Horn's calls and Mrs. Stormont's washing machine. She had just begun her work when the summons came and after all "The Mail Must Go Through!"

"All the while I was delivering mail last winter," she said, "I never once saw the children in the neighborhood building snow men. So one evening, after I had gotten home, I built my own snow woman and she was about eight or 10 feet tall. A friend drove his car up to the "Amazon" and helped me put her head on. She had burnt out fuses for eyes. All the neighbors and their children came over to see it."

The Stormonts' children, Robert, 16, and Betty Jo, 15, both attend Hilliards High School. Mr. Stormont is a foreman in the maintenance department of the Standard Oil Co.

Says Mrs. Stormont, "Just remember that if your mail is late, it isn't because the mail man (or woman) overslept. It's just because there is an overflow of mail, and that's no one's fault."

Small Business To Fight City Income Tax

At a meeting held last week, a group of independent retail merchants organized to combat the city income tax, with headquarters at 391 S. High-st.

They adopted the name of Anti Tax League and elected Jerry Lane, Buckeye Heating, president; Marvin Harris, Harris Pharmacy, secretary, and Harry Yarrell, attorney, executive vice-president.

Jerry Lane issued the following statement: "The small retail merchant needs an organization to combat the efforts of the politicians to make them tax collectors. Our organization will not have dues, assessments or contributions. We merely want to operate our business, not a tax collection agency.

John Hopkins, who lived 1795-1879, was a financier and philanthropist who gave property valued at 4½ million dollars to the city of Baltimore for a free hospital.

May 4th Primary Election Promises To Develop Considerable Interest; Both Parties Hold Rallies

By Paul Wichterman

With the May 4 primary election less than two weeks away, there is indication that partisan politics on the Hilltop may reach a new high in spite of the absence of any ward contests. An unprecedented last-minute flood of registrations at the Franklin County Board of Elections would seem to substantiate the prediction for a larger turnout at the polls.

Both major parties officially launched their campaigns in the Hilltop area this week. Republicans in the 10th Ward were slated for a rally at Glenwod Shelter House last night with Committeeman Henry Koontz, 485 Hilltonia-av, in charge, while Democrats of the 9th, 10th and 11th Wards were scheduled to hear Ray Miller, gubernatorial candidate, in a mass rally at Central High School last night.

More than 5,000 votes were cast in the 10th and 11th Wards in the primary election last year, an increase of approximately 600 over 1946. Last year 3,198 votes were cast in the 11th Ward and 2,185 in the 10th Ward. This compares to 2,626 in the 11th Ward in 1946 and 1984 in the 10th Ward the same year.

Hilltoppers will be seeking nomination to offices ranging from Congress and State Supreme Court Judge on down. Considerable interest is focused on the candidacy of George W. Matson, 87 N. Warren-av, who at present faces trial for conspiracy to defraud the State of Ohio. The charges grow out of a special grand jury investigation into the handling of state funds allowed for veteran housing.

Many of his Hilltop friends contend the Republican commissioner is the target of a political purge on the part of party bosses. Matson has always acted independently of party pressure and is known to have incurred the wrath of the "powers that be" on more than one occasion. It is unlikely that the common pleas court trial will be completed in time to make his position clear in the eyes of the voting public in time to give him a showing.

Seeking re-election to a place on the State Supreme Court bench is Edward C. Turner, 4309 W. Broad-st. A Republican, Judge Turner is expected to win the place on the GOP ticket without too much difficulty.

Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, three times elected to the Columbus Board of Education, will be making his first bid to a national office in his race for a seat in Congress. A prominent Democrat, Draper is stressing the importance of domestic issues which he contends have been pushed into the background in recent months. He is opposed in the primary by James F. Coady, 1371 Madison-av, and Ralph L. Casey, 836 Euclaire-av.

Because of his political prominence Draper is expected to win the May 4 race. Rep. John M. Vorys, the Republican incumbent, is unopposed in the primary election.

Two Republicans will be making strong bids for Hilltop votes in their race for places on the party ticket for the Ohio General Assembly. They are Joseph C. Nailor, 109 N. Burgess-av, incumbent, and Joseph R. Hague, 44 Binns-blvd, a comparative newcomer to the voters.

Hague a Newcomer

This race has an interesting angle in that Nailor was asked by party bosses not to enter the race this time, having been on the ticket for quite a number of years. Hague is not endorsed by the party but is expected to poll a good vote among veterans of World War II and their wives. Hague, who is himself a veteran, is serving as legislative director for the state department of Amvets and is a past commander of the Hilltop Post No. 55. Both men are attorneys by profession.

Genevieve Burr, 21 N. Wayne-av, has the support of the Democratic organization in her race for State Central Committeewoman for the 12th Congressional District. She has been active in Democratic affairs in both the 10th and 11th Wards and is expected to pull a good vote from this area.

Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, 1975 Sullivant-av, a veteran of three and one-half years in World War II, is seeking the Republican nomination to the office of county coroner, an office that has been much in the headlines during recent months. It is his first bid for public office.

A local real estate man, Clarence C. Ranck, 70 N. Harris-av, has anounced his intentions of conducting a write-in campaign for the Republican nomination for the office of clerk of courts. The untimely death of William P. Berkheimer, the incumbent since Art Yoder died last summer, came too late to permit circulation of petitions to get on the ballot.

No Ward Contests

The disqualifying of Slade-endorsed candidates for the Democratic committee posts removed the last vestige of any ward contests. Republicans, likewise, are unopposed.

The Democrats are backing Oscar F. Dildine, 31 S. Wheatland-av, the incumbent, in the 10th Ward. Earl I. Williams, 133 N. Wheatland-av, is the new "compromise" candidate in the 11th Ward, while William B. Haines, 972 Harrisburg-pk, is again unopposed in Franklin Township.

Republicans will back Henry Koontz, city councilman, in the 10th Ward and George Sinclair, 109 Powhatan-av, in the 11th Ward. John Robert Jones, 1231 Cambridge-blvd, is the GOP choice in Franklin Township.

The total vote cast for the election of a President of the United States in 1843 was 2,636,491. In 1944 the total vote was 45,608,783.

The payment of a poll tax is a prerequisite to voting in the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

The first opening of Indian lands to white settlement in what now comprises the state of Oklahoma occurred on April 22, 1889.

Scales Heads Hospital Drive

Larry Scales

Larry Scales, 603 S. Eureka-av, is serving as chairman of St. Aloysius Parish in the Catholic Hospitals Building Fund campaign.

The appeal, which is being conducted in all 36 Catholic parishes in Franklin County, is part of a program aimed at providing $2,650,000 for an expansion program at Mt. Carmel, St. Anthony's and St. Ann's Hospitals.

Mr. Scales heads an organization of approximately 50 men and women who are conducting personal solicitation of funds for the hospital throughout the parish. Two report meetings are scheduled this week in the campaign, which is to be concluded next week.

Starling Jr. Hi

Starling's annual collection of old newspapers and magazines was held Friday, April 8. Over 11,000 pounds of paper and almost 3,000 pounds of magazines were brought to the school in approximately two hours. When the drive ended at 10:30 a. m., seventh graders had brought in over three tons of paper to win first place in amounts, in the competition between grades. Ninth graders won second place. Mr. Pace, Mr. Naylor and Mr. Pittenger, supervised the tying and piling of paper at the building. Seventh graders were given a one period holiday for winning the drive.

Starling's Garden Club is in the process of organization. The former members were present at a meeting last Wednesday and new members are now being enrolled.

Miss Frances Forbes, leader of the garden club, had the misfortune of breaking her ankle while on a hike. During her absence Miss Scofield will assume her duties as leader of the group.

Captain Woodfull, the captain of the 1934 winning Australian Cricket team, testified: "I am firmly convinced that the use of alcohol deters a man from giving his best, not only on the cricket field, but in every walk of life. Throughout my cricketing career I have never indulged in intoxicating liquors."

Scenes like this will be re-enacted at the Scout-O-Ral to be held at the West High School gym next Wednesday evening. The above photos were taken at the Scout-O-Ral held on the Hilltop last year. Representatives of Cubbing, Boy Scout and Senior Scout work will take part in the program.

Scout-O-Ral To Be Held Wednesday

The entire scouting program will be reviewed in the West High School gymnasium Wednesday night when the Southwest District puts on its annual Scout-O-Ral.

The program will feature the work of scouts from cubbing through the senior groups. The evening will be climaxed by the district Court of Honor. V. A. Barbee is general chairman of the program that will be built on the theme of "Scout Skills." Harry Crawford, assistant district commissioner, will be in charge of the Court of Honor.

The evening will get under way with the grand entry of scouting units at 7:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a brief address of welcome by M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, district chairman. The Cub Scouts will put on demonstrations first, to be followed by the Scouts who will give work in first aid, tin can cookery and field pack. These will be carried out by three different units simultaneously.

Senior Scouts, including Explorers, Sea and Air Units, will be on the program next. Scout contests in knot tying and a dressing race will add a lighter touch to the evening.

Recognition of advancement in the district during the past few months will climax the program for the evening.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed to a friend. $1.50 per year anywhere in Franklin County.

Dr. Emmett W. Arnold Is Candidate For Franklin County Coroner

A Hilltop physician is one of the candidates for the office of coroner of Franklin County.

He is Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, 1975 Sullivant-av, a Republican. He has been engaged in the practice of medicine in the city since 1930. During the first four years of this period, he spent much of his time as a city physician.

In 1942 Dr. Arnold's practice was interrupted when he enlisted in the Army Medical Corps. He served until June, 1946, and was discharged with the rank of major. He is a member of the Camp Chase Post No. 38, American Legion.

Dr. Arnold attended West Virginia University and graduated from the College of Medicine at Ohio State University. He is 42 years old, married and the father of a son and two daughters.

Local Singer, Band Audition At Deshler

Auditions are being held each evening through Saturday, April 24, at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, for all local bands. The winner of the nightly contests will be awarded a summer engagement in the Ionian Room of the Deshler.

Chuck Selby and his orchestra featuring Hilltop singer, Jinx Jordan, 172 Lechner-av, is one of six local bands selected for the auditions.

Patrons of the Ionian Room are asked to cast ballots for their choice by this Saturday.

Red Birds Meet Millers Tonight

The Columbus Red Birds will continue their series with Minneapolis with single games tonight and tomorrow night.

On Saturday they will open a three-game series with Kansas City that ends with a double header Sunday afternoon. The Flock will then take to the road to be gone until May 15.

West Baseballers Down Central In Opener; Tie With North In 12-Inning Contest Fri.

By Dave Miller

West High's baseball team started out the 1948 City League Baseball season on the right side of the ledger Thursday afternoon on the Cowboy lot by downing a stubborn Central Pirate squad, 5 to 4. The following day the Cowboy nine visited the North Polar Bears and went home with a tie game of 2-2 after 12 innings of contest, called because of darkness.

In the league opener, it was nip and tuck all the way; first one squad led, then the other. The two nines battled on even terms the first four innings with Paul Theisen and Tommy Jones doing the hurling of no-hit ball throughout this period.

Central broke the "ice" in the top half of the fifth. They scored when Jim Hill and Bill James both singled and Hill came home on an error. But the Cowboys came back with two markers in the same inning when Al Andrews got on by forcing Curt Westerman at second, and "Ty" Theisen doubled, plating Andrews. Don Skipper then tallied the pitcher on a ringing single to direct centerfield.

The visiting Pirates went back into the lead, 3-2, in the next frame when a double by pitcher Jones and singles by Ralph Readout and Gene Morgan plated the two needed runs. The visitors again tallied, this time in the final inning after the score was 3-all. Bob Logan singled, stole second and dented the plate when Readout singled.

The Cowboys then had other ideas as to who was going to pull ahead for the finale. Al Andrews led the inning off by fanning the breezes, Theisen walked, and kept on going to second base on Bob Logan's muff of the fourth ball. Skipper singled home Theisen, and went to second himself on a passed ball. The next batter, Jack Pickens, hit a hot roller to third, with Henry Hoffman throwing him out. Readout, the first-sacker, tried then, after making the put-out, to get Skipper, attempting to take third on the toss across the infield. Readout's peg was very poor, enough to score Skipper.

In the game played at North the only scoring for the Cowboys occurred once in the third frame and the other in the seventh. The first was scored when Jack Pickens doubled down the left-field line, went to the following base on an error and scored on Dick Culbertson's one hit to to right. The visiting West nine again dented the plate, this time in the seventh when John Cherup, Cowboy outfielder, was hit by one of Monte Allison's deliveries. An infield out and a Dick Kirk single brought Cherup across the pan. North tallied its duo of runs in the bottom of the sixth. Dick Eaton, Polar Bear first sacker, singled and stole second base. Charlie Weeks, West hurler, fumbled a grounder, sending the runners to second and third. Then a certain Dick Long stepped up and clubbed a one-base smash to right field, plating the two runners.

The game, as usual, was scheduled for seven innings, but went five frames overtime. Coaches Mike Hagely of North, George Williams of West, and umpire Carlton Rayl decided on the duration of the game at the end of the 12th. No definite time has been set for the re-play of the game. Both pitchers, Weeks of West and Allison of North, went the entire route of 12 innings. Allison's left-handed slants resulted in four strikeouts and not one base on balls. Weeks struck out 12 and walked half that many.

The Cowboys will meet the Aquinas Terriers on West diamond this Tuesday, weather permitting. The story can be found in Section A of today's Hilltop Record.

Dick Kirk, clean-up hitter for the local Cowboys, is currently leading his mates in hitting with five hits for 14 turns at the plate, an average of .358. Jack Pickens has a total of seven hits, but has been to the plate 18 times. Paul Theisen has won both games he has started and leads the pitching staff of four. This includes Chuck Weeks, Theisen, Phil Young and Jack Fleisher. Paul Ellingsworth does some pitching, but mostly plays the outfield.

Here are the line scores of the two recent games:

Central	000	012	1—4	7	5
West	000	021	2—5	4	5

Jones and Logan; Theisen and Andrews.

West	001	000	100	000—2	13	2
North	000	002	000	000—2	6	4

Weeks and Little; Allison and D. Davis.

West Junior High Downs McKinley

By Dave Miller

West's Junior baseball squad won its initial pre-season contest at West last Friday afternoon, beating a stubborn defending champion Linden McKinley, 2 to 1.

The locals paid back the Linden school-goers for their recent 16 to 1 drubbing.

However, the winners could only eke out three hits against Louie Troutman. These were singles by Ron McElwee and Bob Thornton and a double by Russ Friend. Linden got two hits off Bill South, who hurled five of the six innings, and Ted Fladt, who, in the last inning, struck out every batter to face him.

Linden scored first. In the third inning Bob Berlin, the visitors' third-baseman, tripled to deep right. Bill Potts skied out and Bob Castle followed with a single, plating Berlin. The West Juniors collected two runs on as many hits in the bottom of the fourth inning when McElwee singled, Al Shade was safe on third-baseman Berlin's error, advancing McElwee clear in to score the tying marker. Bob Thornton then followed with a single past the first baseman, Paul Burns, to score the winning run.

"Louie "Skonnic" Troutman went all the way for the loss. It was great to see the performance of Ted Fladt in the bottom of the sixth inning. The only piece of the ball the visitors got off of him was a foul ball back of home plate.

The opening game of the Junior High League for the locals was postponed due to bad weather and so far has been postponed indefinitely. However, the Juniors will entertain Champion Junior High on the Cowboy lot Wednesday.

The line score:

L. McKinley	001	000	—1	2	2
West Junior	000	20x	—2	3	1

Troutman and Castle; South, Fladt (6) and Farley, Bradley (6).

Ranney, Daugherty Win Tournament

Emily Daugherty and Homer Ranney weathered the storm of 327 contenders to win the fourth annual mixed doubles tournament at the Hilltop alleys. Their 1310 bettered last year's champs, Helen Neeshan and Eddie Harold, score of 1224, by 86 pins. In last year's tournament only four couples broke the 1200 mark, while more than 25 couples hit the same mark this year. At present Emily and Homers' score isn't official but, barring any mistakes in scorekeeping they will be declared the champs before the day has ended. Both Emily and Homer roll at the Village alleys, where they average 141 and 180 respectively.

Ardle

The box score for the champs is as follows:

Emily	202	194	174	82	—652
Homer	200	224	192	42	—658
	402	418	366	124	1310

The biggest threat to the champs was last Sunday when Hattie Pehrson and George Kanavel came within five pins (1305) of beating them out. In fact George had a chance to win the tournament in the 10th of his last game, but picked an easy three pin spare. George's partner rolled 625 from scratch, which is quite a feat in itself, especially for a woman.

The second placers' scores are as follows:

Hattie	230	189	206	55	—680
George	243	192	158	32	—625
	473	381	364	87	1305

This year's 327 sets bettered last year's mark of 292 and therefore either more prizes will be added or more money will be added to each of the prizes. Last year top money was $70 for first place and paid down to $2.00 for 40th place.

The big ten in the tournament were as follows:

F. Daugherty-H. Ranney	1310
H. Pehrson-G. Kanavel	1305
K. Seitz-A. Conrov	1297
H. Conroy-D. Swisher	1292
V. Swisher-F. Wolf	1286
M. Stacey-C. Stacey	1285
K. Seitz-G. Kanavel	1270
H. Patterson-M. Patterson	1289
B. McCoy-H. Neeshan	1255
K. Seitz-G. Phillips	1252

A complete list of winners and winings will follow as soon as it can be made up.

TO PERFORM IN HILLTOP RELAYS—Among the West High School track stars to perform in the second running of the Hilltop Relays at Magly Field on May 11 are these runners. They are (left to right) Kenneth Mahan, Bob Janes, Walter Hicks and Skip Stout. The Relays will be put on as a night attraction under the Magly Field lights with many of Central Ohio's top athletes competing for a whole flock of trophies. On hand to award the trophies will be five queens to be selected at West this week. Tickets to the relays will be available at 25c per person. (Photo by Mel Griggs)

West Thinclads Win 3rd Place In Huntington Relays

West High School track men returned from the Huntington Relays Saturday night with four trophies and a third place rating in the meet.

Taking a circuitous route to the West Virginia city because of the flood waters, Coach Rufe Glass and his boys arrived Friday night and were kept hustling all the time to keep on schedule.

First place trophies were taken in the two mile relay, the 880 relay, the 440 relay and the broad jump. In the latter event Walter Hicks set a new relay record and also cracked the "West best" record with a jump of 21 feet, 10½ inches.

West was disqualified in the one mile relay when judges ruled that a West runner had elbowed another runner although he was unaware of the incident. Another first might have been added to cop the second place position had this race been allowed.

Making up the 2-mile relay team were Van Atta, Mahan, Ham and Stevenson. The 880 relay was made up of Eitle, Ellis, Schraeder and Hicks.

Don Eitle West's new sprint star, took second place in the 100-yard dash when he entered the race without a warmup, having arrived late just as the event was being called up.

West Scores 44 Points

Robin Schmidt, a last-minute addition to the traveling squad, registered a fifth place in the shot put competition. Dick Lanigan tied for fourth place in the high jump event and fourth and fifth places were won by West in the sprint medley relay and the shuttle hurdles. Altogether the team picked up 44 points.

North High was scheduled to meet the Cowboy thinclads on Magly Field here Tuesday afternoon. On Saturday the West track team will enter the Ohio Wesleyan Relays in which some 1500 of the state's best athletes will compete.

On Wednesday afternoon the West Junior trackmen will play hosts to Linden and Everett in a triangular meet at Magly Field.

West High Golfers Are Still Undefeated

The West High School golfers annexed two wins at Brookside Country Club Saturday to remain with Aquinas in the undefeated class in the Greater Columbus Class A Golf League.

The Hilltoppers downed Central 9 to 7 and then whitewashed East 16 to 0. Lombardi's 88 was just over the 87 posted by Andy Zag of Aquinas for medalist honors. Other West scores included De Angelo's 95; Hershberger and DePaul with 96 each.

CORRECTION

... In the West Junior High School baseball story last week the name of Earl Thornton was used. This should have been Robert H. Thornton.

Among America's most famous race courses is Churchill Downs, at Louisville, Ky.

Indian Territory was incorporated into Oklahoma when that state was first proposed by Alexander Hamilton.

The Drunken Pedestrian

Much has been written (although not too much) about the drinking driver and the part he plays in contributing to the traffic accident problem. The situation is serious and this is in no way intended to minimize the personal responsibility of the man or woman who drinks and then drives. But a new slant on the drinking problem comes to the fore in some figures released recently by Capt. Frank L. Harrison, head of the traffic enforcement division. This new threat is the drinking (or drunken) pedestrian.

Here are some sobering facts on the drinking situation. In the city of Columbus during the first quarter of 1948 there were 15 traffic fatalities. Eleven were pedestrians, two were passengers in an automobile, one a driver and the other was an 11-year-old bicyclist.

According to Capt. Harrison, more than half of these pedestrians had been drinking more than a safe amount. Five drivers who were involved in fatal accidents this year had been drinking.

The law enforcement agencies are at a distinct disadvantage in coping with the problem. A man is drinking and driving a car. An officer cannot arrest a person known to have been drinking without a pretty airtight case against him. It's one thing to know that a man has been drinking. It's something else to prove that he is intoxicated. Usually the accident happens before there is evidence enough to make sure the arrest will stick.

The drinking pedestrian can be and usually is just as much of a hazard as the driver. Usually he is less fortunate when the accident occurs because he is the target and the driver is behind the wheel at least partially protected from injury.

Capt. Harrison has promised increased attention to this problem.

"I have alerted the men to the dangers of allowing the drunken driver and the drunken pedestrian to roam the streets of Columbus. Both must be stopped before others meet death because of uncontrolled drinking," he said.

The police department needs and is entitled to stronger support in the municipal courts. Far too many drunken drivers have squeezed by with only light fines and a lecture when more severe penalties should have been meted out. There's only one way to reduce drunken driving and the hazard of the drunken pedestrian—deal with him as the potential criminal that he is.

When sentences become more severe, people are going to think a second time before they drive or walk in places where their presence becomes a hazard to the safety of others.

Letters To The Editor

Hilltop Record

My dear Mr. Hartley:

I have your letter requesting an expression from me relative to your April 9th editorial in The Hilltop Record styled "Delinquency Again."

I read your comments with interest and appreciation. Delinquency certainly is an "ugly bugaboo" as you described it, and it crops out in all sections of the city unfortunately, including the Hilltop. But all crime is a "bugaboo" whether committed by a 14-year-old boy or a 40-year-old man. Neither delinquency nor crime, however, is new. They have been in existence as long as man has lived in social groups, and apparently were of serious proportions at the time the Ten Commandments were written. Again, we have learned that as long as we have adult criminals we will also have juvenile offenders.

The policy of not publishing the names of juveniles involved in anti-social practices seems to me definitely to be in the interest of social welfare on the whole. At least as long as society is making an attempt to return that individual to his ranks in normal living relationships, it should not so publish his misdemeanors as to make such a rehabilitation impossible. The laws of our society provide the means and the tools of probation in dealing with juvenile offenders, which have long since been proved and recognized to be beneficial both to the social group and to the individual. While it may be granted that probation does not work miracles, it still remains that in a majority of cases it succeeds in providing the boy or girl the opportunity to profit by a bitter experience, adjust to good citizenship and return to society without the stigma of a penal institution record. The unfortunate thing is that the public hears only of the failures of the probation system. To formulate public opinion of so important issue as this solely on the basis of the negative instances is a tragedy. Certainly as long as the adjustment of personalities, the correction of emotional instabilities, and the reformation also of vicious and neglectful parents is not an exact science, so long will we have failures in juvenile probation and rehabilitation. But the occasional unappreciative and unworthy youngster must not in a wise and responsible social group be permitted to rob all the others of their one opportunity.

Surely, my easiest procedure would be to commit the boy or girl who comes into court the second time to the Industrial School. This involves the minimum of effort on my part and that of my staff. The problem then would be, however, to live with my conscience and to convince myself that all possible had been done to make a good citizen and to save a life from disruption and possible decay. I am certain a wise society would have no more patience with me under such a program than they would with a doctor who prescribed one course of medicine, and when it failed to cure the patient would dismiss the case and let him die. Unfortunately the State of Ohio and Franklin County have not prescribed very good medicine for juvenile delinquents. While the Industrial Schools attempt to discipline, punish and correct the individual's living habits, they certainly are not cure-alls.

It is the policy of this court to utilize every diagnostic and therapeutic facility in the community to attempt to determine the cause of the delinquent's behavior and treat it effectively. Even when I do have to send a boy or girl away for a sentence, I do not give up hope at all, but look forward to the day of return to the community and try to begin again at that point for continued effort in his behalf. It is much more difficult then, however, for the most desirable circles in which that individual should find companionship will often bar him from their company and force him to seek other less desirable friends, a step that almost certainly leads him into further trouble.

At this point, I want to impress the fact that a great deal of the responsibility in the behavior of children rests with the parents, and in observing the conduct of many parents in our city and county I marvel that children as a whole grow up with as high moral standards as they have. Can we condemn a child for lying when his parents will urge him to lie about his age at the movie ticket booth so he can get in at half price? Can we condemn him for dishonesty when his parents accept too much change from a $5.00 bill with the comment, "Keep still about it." Can we condemn a child for dishonesty whose parents plant him or her in the back seat to "watch for cops" while they speed down the city street or drive through a red light to gain a few seconds of time? Can we condemn children for being below par morally when their parents prefer spending the evening in a night-club or beer parlor than being in their company?

I sincerely wish I had the answer for the proper solution of every life problem that comes before me. Unfortunately I do not have that perfect wisdom, and can only hope to apply the very best judgment and experience I can bring to bear, and hope to salvage as many as possible. In the meantime, while I am engaged in this positive program of life reconstruction, I sincerely hope that the few we are unable to salvage and who fail to merit the confidence and hope we invest in them, will not be permitted to destroy public confidence in what we are doing for the great majority.

Educators, ministers, sociologists psychologists, psychiatrists, indeed all leaders and agencies of our community interested in a better society are struggling with this same problem. I am only the Judge of the Juvenile Court charged with the responsibility of dealing with those young people with whom the others have failed. The community does not want me to consider all who reach me as dead to the possibility of good citizenship and act as their mortician. Once in a while I may, in the honest interest of a seemingly penitent youngster and his broken-hearted family and friends, attempt the impossible. Such a "delinquency bug-boo" may some time creep up on the Hilltop again as it has in the past, and if and when it does we will try to meet it in the very best way we know how, and hope for the cooperation and understanding of the community in the effort.

I congratulate the people of the Hilltop upon the splendid efforts they have made in combatting the causes of delinquency and also upon the intelligent manner in which they have shown understanding in the rehabilitation of very many juvenile offenders who have long since become excellent citizens. I also want to thank you and your Hilltop Record for your fairness and understanding as you have carefully and accurately presented to your people the facts in these matters upon which their judgments may be based. Assuring you also of how genuinely I appreciate your desire to have my statement of policy relative to this recent set of circumstances clearly set forth, I am

Sincerely yours,

Clayton W. Rose

Doing Their Best to Make It Boil

HILL TOPICS By PW

Oh, for the imaginative mind of the small child.

Too many of us adults are afraid to allow our imaginations to find expression in our thoughts and actions. A child veritably lives in a land of make believe. It helps him to find adventure in the commonplace things of life that sometimes become so boring to us adults.

Take my eight-year-old son for example. To him a ride in the old family car is not just an ordinary experience. We always take off in a B-29 or a four-engined stratoliner, in his imagination.

When I start the car, he manipulates a score of imaginary gadgets and controls on the dashboard to the accompaniment of self-made sound effects. That's why it's so important for him to be in the front seat. The co-pilot can't be relegated to the tail section of a big plane to carry out his responsibilities. Sometimes I am demoted to the rank of co-pilot or if it happens to be a combat mission, I may be assigned to the side guns with sister, mother and grandma all assigned to gun positions in our make-believe flight over enemy territory. You'd be surprised how many Japs or Germans can be shot down on one short run to the grocery store.

The same thing is true of games we play together. Our softball game in the backyard is not just a pastime. We're big-time stars driving 'em over the heads of the outfielders with a stadium-full of people yelling their heads off for that home-run.

It takes so little to satisfy a child who has a healthy imagination. A rusty old tricycle and a coaster wagon can easily become the latest model diesel-powered streamline train. A few old boxes and a sawhorse or two can make an impregnable fort while machine guns and large field pieces can be fashioned from the most unimpressive objects about the garage or basement.

I can well recall that when I was a small boy down on the farm the steam-powered threshing outfit was by all odds the biggest thing in my world of make believe. We seldom saw railway trains or other modern transportation equipment now common on the highways.

A few crude toys and a bit of imagination could fashion the most modern thresher of my day. I would have threshing "sets" lined up all around the barnyard. It kept me busy for days on end.

In the same way an old rough raft built out of a few dry logs tied together with some bailing wire resulted in the most modern steamboat ever to ply the mighty Ohio River.

Some psychologists say that it's this imaginative spirit and ingenuity that causes us to do the "out of the ordinary" things when we become adults. (My case proves that there are flaws in the best of theories.) Nevertheless it is this spirit of childish adventure that has motivated many outstanding accomplishments.

I heard a speaker recently tell of a young hitch-hiker he had picked up along the road. This particular young man had visions of some day traveling to the moon in a rocket projectile or something of the sort.

"You know," the speaker concluded, "I really believe the boy will get there too."

At The Red Bird Opener

The new Red Bird owners give promise of being on their toes when it comes to first class promotion. The 14,128 fans who turned out for the season's opener last Thursday are evidence of that fact. There were some innovations in effect that night too.

Take for instance that new wrinkle of awarding a pair of box seat tickets to the next home game for the winning number on the bottom of your seat cushion. It had the fans scrimmaging around to find where the number was printed. It was almost as good as a seventh inning stretch.

I could suggest another interesting way to award something. The fans like prizes, you know. Let them tattoo a number on each wiener they sell at the concession stand. Then at a strategic moment the loud speaker might make an announcement something like this:

"Look at the number tattooed on the wiener inside your hot dog. To the lucky person holding wiener number 650-A2-65 will go one-half dozen hot dogs (with mustard). Please present the uneaten wiener at the central concession booth and collect your prize."

The conversation of first timers at a ball game always makes interesting listening. There was the comment from the lady sitting back of me for instance. After a batter had fouled three or four pitches in succession, she remarked:

"He's certainly pounding that ole apple tonight, isn't he?"

"The Least of These My Children"

"Inasmuch as ye do it unto one of the least of these, my children, ye do it unto Me." The little girl pictured here might be regarded, for illustrative purposes, as "one of the least" of God's children. She is poor, ill-clad and hungry. We are taught that in such cases as these, we should not turn our backs or shirk our responsibility.

The world today is full of starving, homeless and friendless children. At the tender age of millions of them like the little girl pictured here, they are like putty in the hands of a sculptor. With care and kindness, through feeding and clothing them, they may be developed into assets on humanity's balance sheet.

Little children are devoid of guile or suspicion. They have the perfect faith. It is up to all of us to nurture faith, because these tiny tots are the world leaders of tomorrow. They must be strong to discharge their duties to the best interests of our world and God's Kingdom.

In some places, children are frowned upon simply because they live on the "wrong side of the tracks." Some are not given a helping hand because they are poor, illiterate or forlorn. A civilization is no stronger than its weakest link, and to the "least of these" we must turn our earnest attention and aid.

We should see to it that children are given the opportunity to attend Sunday School and church, for one day, by their own faith, "all these things shall be added unto them."

Jews Are Fighting Third Time for a Home in Palestine

THE news from Palestine day by day makes sad reading with its reports of Arabs slaughtering Jews and Jews slaughtering Arabs.

It is all the more disheartening since it comes from a land which gave to the world the noblest teaching concerning love and brotherhood.

Both in the teaching of the greatest Hebrew prophets and in the teaching of Jesus the deepest note concerning human relations was that men should dwell together in unity.

When one considers this great teaching and its source, one wonders whether it is too late to effect some change in present attitudes and establish in the Holy Land some new element of mutual respect and co-operation that would enable Jews and Arabs to live together in peace.

It is a fair question whether world influence and world pressure have been sufficiently exercised toward this end.

Must the situation be regarded as hopeless? Twice before, as the Bible records, the Jews have been re-established in their homeland—once after the years of bondage in Egypt, and again after the exile in Babylon. In both cases the returning Jews had to fight for their heritage.

In the return from Egypt and the wilderness, the conquest of Canaan was effected by courageous leaders like Joshua and Caleb. Racial antipathies were intense.

But in the days of the Exile, the noblest aspects of Judaism had become manifest. Nehemiah encountered much opposition, but issues concerned rather the purity of religion than racial antagonism.

Judaism won many converts in the pagan world by reason of moral superiority. It is strange that today the moral idealism of Judaism, the ideals of a sympathetic Christian world, and the nobler ideals that Arabs profess do not win a victory over hate and strife, so peace and prosperity might make the land and its peoples worthy of its ancient holiness.

It is with a personal sense of shame that I tell you this story (for I, as well as you readers, can be blamed for the fact that such a story could be true. And this story is true, good people. It lives today as the plight of a small child.

Wilson

Jimmie Blipp, a mere 6-year-old, is without any of the simple pleasures so necessary to one so very young. At a time in his life when he should be considering nothing more serious than whether to play "cops and robbers," or go stand in front of a candy store, he is burdened with full, adult responsibility. Instead of a life of careless revelry, he must maintain a schedule of rigorous labors. Hardly off the Pablum wagon, this little toddler has assumed complete financial support of his parents. And he does this surprisingly well for one of his tender years.

Unselfish, unafraid, and seemingly without regret for what he is missing in life, he accepts the duties of family bread-winner with mature realism. He is ever serious about his work and never less than quite ambitious to improve himself. Even his evenings are occupied with long hours of deep study that he might not, in any way, fail the demands of his employer.

Is this child happy? Can he know the absolute freedom of heart and whim to which his youth entitles him? The answer is an obvious NO. But what of his parents, you may ask. Is he not their charge? Why do they allow their very own flesh-and-blood to be unfairly exploited?

To be sure, the very smallest fragment of parental love would never condone such maltreatment. But if the parents refuse to accept responsibility than that responsibility becomes yours and mine.

Now, don't misunderstand me. This is not a bid to raise any fund. In this case, money is not the solution. Neither Jimmie nor his parents feel the pinch of poverty. Rather they're as solvent as The Bank of America. The trouble stems not from the lack of anything, but from a kind of over-abundance. You see, Jimmie is the unfortunate possessor of a high I. Q. and his "exploitation" nets him $100.00 a performance on "The Jeovenile Jeenius Show."

TIDES OF SPRING

Across the landscape intricate with spring
Old tides return, as cycles of the sea—
Creation's punctual rhythms lingering
The furrowed slopes with tranquil certainty.
Old tides of beauty rise in season, breaking
In petaled foam upon the orchard boughs,
Submerging plains and wheatfields, overtaking
The tributaries of the blood, to rouse
The languid pulse of love to surfy thunder—
Old tides of hope revive the fallow heart
And flood the arid mind with emerald wonder.

ONLY THE Doctor's HAND

SHOULD Prescribe!

"ONE MAN'S POISON IS ANOTHER'S MEAT"

So-called "MIRACLE DRUGS" do wonders in healing and restoring health, but they are not drugs with which to tamper. Outward symptoms are often very deceiving, and taking the same drug as your neighbor is unsafe, and often dangerous.

Those who advise the use of this, that or the other drug—without full and complete medical knowledge of your condition—are doing you no kindness.

When there is anything the matter with your health, do not "self-prescribe" or ask anyone but your Doctor what to do. Experimenting with "hearsay" remedies for yourself and family may be very expensive in the long run.

Seek medical advice only from a Physician. Don't experiment with drugs—or health. The Doctor spent years learning how to diagnose—and prescribe.

THEY'LL SET TEMPO FOR THE SHOW—West Hi Swing Band will play an important part in the Band Variety Show that opens at the school auditorium tonight. The personnel of the group includes Jim Hill, Roy Ziqler, Jim Cochran, Dick Hurt and George Brintlinger, saxophones; David Camp, trumpets; Bruce Hall, piano; Roger Geist, trombone; Ronnie Dennen Leach and Bill McCrady, trumpets; Bruce Hall, piano; Roger Geist, trombone; Ronnie Booth, drums; Donn Eisele, bass, and Richard Ross, manager. Charles W. Bennett is the director.

Band Variety Star Is Already Veteran Dancer At Age 15

By Jeanette Chakeres

A popular young dancer around the Hilltop is Jackie Hardy, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy, at 608 Racine-av.

An honor student at West High where she is a junior, Jackie is 15 years old and stands five feet four inches tall.

The Hilltop has been Jackie's home for about five years, and she says she likes it very much.

She had her first dancing lesson when she was 4½ years old and has been taking ever since. Her teacher is Jack Sherrick. During her early years, Jackie says that one of her most embarrassing moments happened when she was 5 years old.

At this time, Jackie was dancing a solo act in a review and she forgot her dance by the time she was half-way through. With shouts of "bow" coming from all around, Jackie bowed, but not to the audience—to the back of the stage. Such memories!

Imitates Famous Dancers

This year, Jackie is doing imitations of famous dancers for the Band Variety Show. As if this isn't enough, she has also coached a chorus line of girls for the same show, and has taught and coached a dance to the Junior High Majorettes for their performance in the show.

This year will mark Jackie's second appearance in the annual West High Band Variety Shows, and marked her eighth appearance in the Hilltop Minstrel where she appears in a dance duo with her father, also a well-known Hilltopper.

Jackie's ambition is, of course, to become a professional dancer, and she has very wisely decided to go to Capital University first, where she will take art, dramatics, and music. From there on, she plans to go to New York where she will continue her fine dancing.

A few seats are still available for the Band Variety Shows which will feature Jackie and many other acts for the finest in entertainment. The show may be seen tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights. Call the school, Ra. 0633, for ticket information as all seats are reserved.

Vol. XXXI, No. 52 | The Hilltop, Columbus 4, Ohio, Thursday, April 29, 1948 | Entered as Second Class Matter Jan. 31, 1948, at the Post Office, Columbus, Ohio, under the act of March 3, 1879. | Total No. 2059

Church of God To Re-locate

The Hilltop Church of God will move its place of worship from 116 S. Wayne-av to lots on Whitethorne-av from the corner of Safford to Homewood-av. The six lots are being purchased and construction of the new building will start in March, 1949, Rev. Denver Smoot, pastor of the church, said this week.

The church will secure the services of an architect in the near future and is considering a brick structure of colonial American design with a radiant heating system.

The Franklin County Council of Churches Comity Committee has granted a comity agreement to the church since the congregation will be serving an unchurched community.

The church plans to present a balanced program for the community where Christianity will touch every area of the community life. A recent survey was made in the immediate community. Many expressed an interest in having a church to meet the community religious needs. Since neither the board of education nor the city recreation department plans to provide a recreation program for the children, the church is considering a creative recreation program for the children this summer, Rev. Smoot said.

A full time paid director is being secured to supervise the recreation project. Plans are also under consideration to erect a shelter on the lots. The church will sponsor a four weeks vacation church school at the new location, beginning June 21. The school is planned for children, ages 4 through 12, who will meet for two hours in the mornings.

The Sullivant Avenue Church of God has contracted to purchase the present church building but will not occupy the building until the new building is finished.

Paul H. Plank is chairman of the board of trustees. A building committee will be appointed soon to represent the various needs of the church. Sunday, May 2, is the quarterly building fund day. All offerings received that day will be used on the building project.

This group of youngsters has been selected as the six winners in the second week's judging of The Hilltop Record-J. Curtis Allen Photo Contest. Color enlargements of these weekly winners may be seen on display in the window of Seiller's, 2404 W. Broad-st.

The four at the left were winners in the class from one year through six years. The two at right are in the under one year class. At the end of six weeks of the contest, a grand prize winner in each class will be selected by a vote of Record readers with prizes going to each. To the weekly winners goes the enlarged photograph with the compliments of J. Curtis Allen, 221 N. Ogden-av.

From left to right are Walter Leslie Stone, 2½ years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stone, 727 S. Hague-av; June Kay Walton, 15 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Walton, 254 N. Burgess-av; Row Krammer, 15 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Krammer, 1936 Floral-av; Sunya Lavey Graham, 2½ years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Graham, 822 Wiltshire-rd; Jimmy Hess, 8 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hess, 156 Lechner-av, and David Nelson Crites, 8½ months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crites, 490 Belvidere-av.

The contest is open to any resident of the Hilltop community. A call to RA. 2324 will arrange for an appointment with the photographer. Parents are cautioned to insist on seeing the official entry blank that only Mr. Allen and his workers carry. There is absolutely no cost or obligation on the part of parents.

Hilltoppers Go To Polls On Tuesday

Several Local Persons On Ticket

Hilltoppers will go to the polls Tuesday to indicate their preference in party primary elections. The vote is expected to be substantial in spite of few interesting contests.

If current rumors are correct, Republican voters in the 10th and 11th Wards are going to stand by George W. Matson, 67 N. Warren-av, in his race for re-election as county commissioner. Matson has pleaded innocent to charges and a grand jury indictment that he was negligent in the handling of state funds for veteran's housing in the county. He is at present awaiting trial along with three contractors who worked on the project.

Friends of the local commissioner are maintaining that he is the target of a party purge movement that may prove to be a boomerang by May 4. It is a known fact that his refusal to "go down the line" on certain party recommendations has drawn the disfavor of GOP leaders.

Matson at first had been willing to sit back and accept defeat, if that was to be his fate. However, in response to many calls from friends all over the county, he has been campaigning actively and getting a good reception where ever he puts in his appearance.

Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, is making a bid for Democratic support in his contest for a place on the November ballot as a congressional candidate. He is opposed by James F. Coady and Ralph Casey.

The Railway Laborers Political League this week gave its unsolicited endorsement to the candidacy of Draper in his first congressional race.

Another Democratic candidate [illegible] county commissioner is George G. Trabue, a farmer living at 2771 McKinley-av. He formerly served on the board of county commissioners.

State Supreme Court Judge C. Turner, 4309 W. Broad-st, is on the Republican ballot. He seeks re-election to the high court position.

Thatcher Unopposed

Unopposed for the place on the Democratic ticket for the office of county treasurer is Newton A. Thatcher, 2966 Crescent-dr. He is a former county auditor.

Another local figure who has been embroiled in a party fight is Joseph C. Nailor, 109 N. Burgess-av. Now serving in the Ohio General Assembly, Nailor had been asked by GOP leaders to stay out of the race this year. This the local attorney refused to do so he is running this time without the party blessing.

Joseph R. Hague, 44 Binns-blvd, is another Republican seeking a seat in the legislative group. A newcomer to local politics, Hague is expected to find support with the veterans of World War II, having been active in veteran's affairs.

Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, 1075 Sullivant-av, is in the "wide open" race for county coroner. A veteran of World War II, Dr. Arnold is a Republican.

Genevieve Burr, 21 N. Wayne-av, is expected to get most of the local Democratic support in her race for State Central Committeewoman.

A local real estate man, Clarence C. Ranck, 70 N. Harris-av, is conducting a "write-in" campaign for nomination to the office of clerk of courts. He is a Republican.

No Committee Fights

There are no contests in the selection of committeemen for the 10th, 11th Wards and Franklin Township.

The Democrats are backing Oscar F. Dildine, 31 S. Wheatland-av, the incumbent, in the 10th Ward. Earl I. Williams, 133 N. Wheatland-av, is the new "compromise" candidate in the 11th Ward, while William B. Haines, 972 Harrisburg-pk, is again unopposed in Franklin Township.

Republicans will back Henry Koontz, city councilman, in the 10th Ward and George Sinclair, 109 Powhatan-av, in the 11th Ward. John Robert Jones, 1231 Cambridge - blvd, is the GOP choice in Franklin Township.

Death Claims Dr. L. B. Turner, 85, Physician And Fraternal Leader

Death last week claimed one of the nation's oldest practicing physicians and one of the Hilltop's most beloved citizens.

He was 85-year-old Dr. L. B. Turner, who lived and still conducted a medical practice at 1830 W. Broad-st. He died in Mercy Hospital after becoming ill only a few hours earlier. Services were conducted in the West Gate Temple, 2925 W. Broad-st, Sunday afternoon with burial in the Alton Cemetery by Jerry Spears.

Known to thousands of Columbus and Hilltop residents because of his medical career, he was affectionately known as the "Father of West Gate Lodge." Next to his profession, lodge work became his life. He had been active in Masonic work for 64 years and is credited with being responsible for the formation of the local lodge.

Started At Bidwell

Dr. Turner started his medical practice in Bidwell, Ohio, following his graduation from Starling Medical College in 1888. Thirteen years later he came to Columbus where his medical career had continued for a total of 56 years in all. He was a staff physician at Mercy Hospital.

Dr. Turner was a charter member and first master of West Gate Lodge.

He also was past master of West Gate Council, and past high priest of West Gate Chapter. Fraternal affiliations also included memberships in the Scottish Rite, Knights Templar, the Grotto and a life membership in the Mentorwood Lodge, Knights of Pythias. He was a member of Glenwood Methodist Church.

Serviving are a daughter, Anna Turner, at home, and two sons, Brown Turner, at home, and Lauren Turner of the Milner Hotel.

Rev. Joseph Shellhaas officiated at the final services in conjunction with Masonic rites.

Little Theatre Group Organized Here This Week

The metropolitan development of the Hilltop was further evidenced Tuesday evening when the Hilltop Little Theatre was organized by a group of experienced amateur thespians.

For some time past a group interested in amateur theatricals has been planning to bring Hilltoppers the best in plays for the enjoyment of the citizens of this active area. Among those who participated in the organization were Lonell Thompson, Mary Elizabeth Mullock, Nancy A. Shepard, Nelda Biederman, James Q. Stone, Dorothy F. Finley, Jeanne Mendels, D. Knight Finley, Betty Moon, Gene Paul, Howard Moon, Edith Gibson Paul and Patricia Aspel.

While membership in the organization will not be confined to Hilltop residents, the productions will be staged exclusively at local spots, thus giving residents of the area a type of entertainment that it is hoped will equal that of similar organizations in other parts of the city.

Temporary officers as elected at the organization meeting are Gene Paul, president; Howard Moon, treasurer, and Betty Moon, secretary.

For their initial performance, Phillip Barry's play, "The Youngest," a comedy in three acts, was selected, and will go in rehearsal immediately under the directorship of "Pat" Aspel, who has successfully produced numerous plays that have delighted large audiences and won the favor of dramatic critics.

Try-outs for the production are scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 2, at the home of Gene Paul, 142 N. Ogden-av, starting at 1 o'clock, after which casting of the various characters will be made by a special committee. Any persons who are interested in amateur theatricals and would like to be considered for a part in this production are cordially invited to be present.

It is planed to present the play early in June.

West Booster Club To Meet Monday

Members of the West High Booster Club are asked to attend a meeting in Room 101 at the school Monday night at 7:30.

Charles P. Maus, circulation manager at The Hilltop Record, will make a final report on the Record subscription drive just completed by members of the Booster Club.

2 Changes Made In Voting Places

Hilltop voters will note the change in location of two voting places in Tuesday's primary election.

In the 10th Ward, Precinct I will vote in a room at 230 Highland-av. Precinct T in the 11th Ward will vote in a room at 912 N. Terrace-av.

The Hilltop Record will be glad to advise any Hilltop voter on the location of his precinct voting place before or during the election day. Just call RA. 1125.

All polling places will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., Frank Marsh, clerk of the Franklin County Board of Elections, said this week.

1500 Employes To Be Back On Jobs Here Monday

The 1500 hourly rated employes of the Fisher Body-Fernstedt vacationed this week as a result of the coal strike were expected to report back to work Monday morning.

"As far as we know at the moment, the plant will resume work Monday morning," James L. Conlon, resident manager of the Georgesville-rd factory, told The Hilltop Record Wednesday noon.

The local layoff became necessary when steel stocks were virtually used up following the recent coal strike, Conlon said. The plant is a division of General Motors.

School Child Struck By Car Here Wednesday

Six-year-old Judy Wolfe, 336 N. Sylvan-av, was reported in "critical" condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital Wednesday noon after she was struck by a car in front of 3253 W. Broad-st that morning while on her way to school.

Crossing south on W. Broad-st to board a bus, the child was thrown several feet when she was struck by a car driven by Raymond Troesch of Galloway, according to police reports. The accident happened at 8:40 a. m. A Spears ambulance rushed her to the hospital. The extent of her injuries could not be learned by Record press time. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Wolfe.

Minutes after the accident, several families in the vicinity of Sylvan-av indicated they would circulate petitions to get the traffic light changed from Algonquin-av west to Sylvan-av, the scene of the mishap.

They point out that several families on N. Sylvan-av have small children going to school and that all the youngsters from the Joan Heights Addition, north of the city, must cross Broad-st at that point to take a bus east to school.

The girl is a first grade pupil at West Broad Street School. Hospital attendants reported that several blood transfusions had been given and that she was being kept under an oxygen tent but the full extent of her injuries had not been learned due to her "critical" condition.

Sanitary Sewer On Josephine-av To Be Let Soon

Bids will be let in the near future for the construction of a sanitary sewer along Josephine-av, George Matson, 67 N. Warren-av, a county commissioner, said this week.

The project was accepted by the commissioners after residents of that street had petitioned for sanitary drainage. The line will connect into the main trunk line along Sullivant-av.

It will provide sanitary facilities for homes along Josephine-av and will eliminate pollution of the lake in Westgate Park, it is said.

Tickets All Sold For Variety Show

A capacity house is assured at the John Burroughs Variety Show to be held at the school auditorium Friday night. All tickets have been sold, it is reported this week.

Mrs. H. C. Boothe and her committee is in charge of the 40-act show, which includes a cast of 140 pupils.

FIREMAN RESIGNS

The resignation of Fireman Everett S. Watts, 479 Columbian-av, because of ill health, was announced Monday. Watts is a veteran of 26 years' service.

CARTOON SHOW SATURDAY

Three Fire Fighters Hurt During Blaze

Three local members of the Columbus Fire Department were among eight fire fighters injured in the Central Ohio Paper Co. fire Friday morning.

Battalion Chief Joseph Cassell, 244 N. Ogden-av, was overcome by smoke and also injured his foot when he stepped on a nail.

Also treated by the emergency squad were Battalion Chief Ralph Cassell, 2655½ W. Broad-st, and William Peterfy, 186 Nashoba-av.

Students To Edit Record

Senior journalism students at West High School will get a taste of practical newspaper experience next week when they take over the job of writing and editing The Hilltop Record. All of the work will be done by students under the supervision of Paul Wichterman, editor of the paper.

Heading the all-student staff next week will be Virginia Casey and Jeanette Chakeres, editors in chief; Don Young, news editor; Mike Mowrey, sports editor; Lea Eisner, society editor; Martha Smith, church editor; Lois Waters, makeup editor, and Ruth Platt, feature editor.

Auto Theatre Is Started On 3-C Highway

Work was started this week on a new auto theatre on a 34-acre tract of land on the Harrisburg-pk (3C Highway) at Eakin-rd.

The theatre, expected to cost between $60,000 and $75,000, will be completed some time in June, weather permitting, Frank Yassenoff, of the Yassenoff Enterprises, said this week. The firm also operates auto theatres on Riverside-dr and on E. Main-st.

Mr. Yassenoff said that the screen would be one of the largest to be built anywhere in the country. It will reproduce an image 45 by 60 feet and will be visible to cars for a considerable distance back, he said. The area will at first be built to accommodate 500 cars but can be expanded to handle that many more if needed.

A modern concession stand with rest rooms will be included in the area. Later on other business developments may front on Harrisburg-pk, the owner stated.

All the materials are purchased and the sub-contracts have been let with early completion dates stipulated, Mr. Yassenoff said.

State Grants Liquor Agency On Hilltop

A new state liquor agency was set up on the Hilltop during the past week. Announcement was made by Director Dale Dunifon that Jean's Beverage Shop, 3105 W. Broad-st, had been made a retail outlet for 42 proof liquor by the package.

The local firm already holds a wine carry-out permit. The state operates Liquor Store No. 8 at 2360 W. Broad-st.

Considerable concern has been evidenced by church and some business leaders in the community over the issuance of liquor permits on the Hilltop. During the latter part of February D-5 night club permits were issued to Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, and the Mecca Cafe, 2453 Sullivant-av.

The Biltmore Restaurant, 2414 W. Broad-st, application for a D-5 permit was opposed by pastors of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian, Hilltop Lutheran and Hillcrest Baptist Churches. At Record press time this week the liquor department's decision on this application had not been made public.

Two Ball Games Are Rained Out Tuesday

April showers Tuesday afternoon caused the postponement of the West High School baseball game at South High. No date has been set for the postponed contest but the Cowboys will entertain East at Magly Field Friday afternoon.

The West Junior High game with Roosevelt, scheduled for the Hilltop diamond, was likewise washed out but was re-scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

COACHES GO TO CLEVELAND

Football coaches Mack Pemberton, Fred Heischman and Dave Randall from West High School are attending the Paul Brown Football Clinic held each year in Cleveland.

Pemberton recently attended a grid clinic at Lafayette, Ind.

Business Unit To Open Here In Early June

The Old Trail Theatre and four store rooms will be completed and ready for opening in early June, it was announced this week.

The new 1500-seat movie house, a furniture store, drug store, food market and auto accessories store are all a part of a business development being erected on the north side of W. Broad-st, just west of the city limits. The development is being built by the F & Y Building Service, the firm that operates the National Auto Theatre on part of the same tract of land.

Leo Yassenoff, of the building firm, said that additional business units will be added later, along with parking facilities for several hundred cars.

The new theatre is of the most modern design and will feature the new comfortable slide-back seats. It will be completely air-conditioned for year-round comfort.

To Resume YMCA Drive

During the next 10 days numerous volunteer workers will visit about 4000 additional Hilltop homes in the clean-up of the Hilltop YMCA fund drive.

All homes that have not been contacted are scheduled to be visited by a worker within the next 10 days.

In the meantime a special gifts committee has been set up and solicitation of larger contributions is being asked of numerous business firms and individuals who are interested in furthering the work of the new Hilltop "Y".

Averill Thorne of Akron, new executive secretary of the Hilltop "Y", will assume his new duties next Monday. Offices will be established in the Teen Canteen quarters at W. Broad-st and Burgess-av.

Mr. Thorne wants to move his family to Columbus as quickly as possible. Anyone having a two-bedroom house for rent will be aiding the "Y" program if they will contact any member of the board at once.

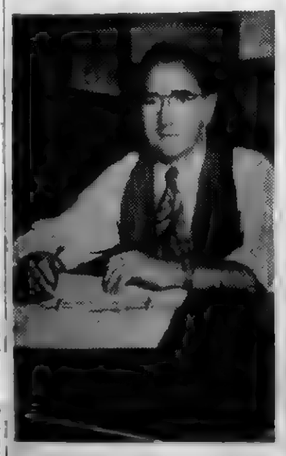
Open House Starts Today

The inner workings of the telephone system will be explained to visitors to the "open house" being held today and tomorrow from 2 to 9 p. m. at the Ohio Bell Telephone Company's Randolph-Jordan office, 2615 W. Broad-st.

Telephone employees, some of whom are pictured above, will be on hand to conduct visitors through the telephone office and demonstrate what happens every time a person picks up his telephone and makes a call. The functions of the dial apparatus will be explained and subscribers will be able to locate just where their own telephone lines come in to the telephone office.

"The Randolph-Jordan office is one of the most rapidly growing offices in Columbus and the 'open house' will afford our subscribers an excellent opportunity to see for themselves just how the dial system handles their daily average of about 130,665 calls," said H. E. Smart, district commercial manager. "They will also be able to view the new central office equipment being installed by the Ohio Bell to keep pace with the unusually high demand for service here."



The telephone company completed a project installing $69,000 worth of central office equipment last year and plans a program of similar installations to cost about $68,000 this year, Mr. Smart stated.

Here are some of the scenes that will greet visitors to the "open house" being held at the Ohio Bell Telephone Company's Randolph-Jordan office, 2615 W. Broad-st, today and tomorrow.

In the left picture Donald P. Tanner, 949 E. Livingston-av, checks the flow of current from generators to batteries. An apparatus man, he has been with the firm two years. At right above John J. Kuhl, 613 E. Whittier-st, a frame man, photographs the measured rate registers to determine the number of calls used on limited service phones.

Clyde E. Martin (left), 773 S. Hague-av, is the central office foreman at the Hilltop office. He has had 28 years of service with the telephone company. At right Fred O. Sharkey, 383 S. Burgess-av, a central office repairman, is testing connector terminal equipment. He has been with the firm 23 years.

Second Tulip Show To Open Here Friday

Mayor James A. Rhodes announces that the Second Annual Tulip and Spring Flower Show will be held at the city hall April 30 through May 2. Due to the early spring, the tulips are making their appearance earlier than last year and it is expected that they will be in full bloom by that date. Many of the bulbs are already in bloom. According to Ray S. Dietz, superintendent of the Parks and Forestry Department, 37,000 bulbs were planted in the beds a year ago last fall. All of these bulbs will have divided into at least one or two other bulbs and it is expected that there will be at least 74,000 blooms.

More than 100 varieties will be represented in the show, ranging in color from pure white through light pink, yellow, bronze, all shades of red, blue, purple and even black.

In connection with the outdoor show there will be an indoor show of cut flowers and potted plants, sponsored by the various florists of the city. Mayor Rhodes said that the tulip show is put on at no cost to the taxpayers of Columbus for the original supply of 37,000 bulbs were given to the city through the generosity of various organizations, clubs and Columbus residents. The work of getting ready and preparing for the show is done by the florist groups.

Auto Theatre Offers Comfort, Privacy; New Features Added

Smokers and "movie-chatterers" don't have to worry when they spend an evening at the recently reopened National Auto Theatre. In the complete comfort and privacy of their automobile, patrons enjoy motion picture entertainment, with all the luxuries of their own home. Each car is equipped with a speaker, eliminating the need of keeping absolutely quiet so as to hear every word of the movie dialogue.

A completely equipped confection counter offers a wide variety of candy, soft drinks, popcorn, sandwiches and hot coffee from show time until closing. And when parents desire an evening at the movies, they don't have to worry about a baby-sitter, when they visit the National. Among the many special courtesies planned for patrons, the National features a bottle-warming service which allows parents to bring their infants with them, without disrupting baby's feeding or sleeping schedule.

Two complete shows are given nightly at the National Auto Theatre, located just beyond the city limits at 3750 W. Broad-st.

There is no charge for children under 10 years of age.

Plans Announced For Shrine Night

The annual Shrine baseball game sponsored by Aladdin Temple of Shriners will be played this year on Thursday evening, May 27, at the Red Bird Stadium, it was announced this week by Thomas A. Bangs, potentate of Aladdin Temple, and Al Banister, president of the Red Birds Baseball Club.

This will be the 10th year that Aladdin Temple has sponsored a baseball game for the benefit of crippled children, regardless of race, creed or color, under the auspices of the Crippled Children's Hospital Association, Inc., which handles the crippled children activities for the Shriners, who are members of Aladdin Temple in Central Ohio, Potentate Bangs said.

Plans are being completed for one of the best programs ever presented by the Temple with the the pre-game activities being conducted on a much larger scale than ever before attempted, according to Potentate Bangs.

Good Taste Determines Fashion Trend

Certainly with the urgency of our times and the great speed with which everything, including ourselves, is forced to move, no one will be foolhardy enough to be hampered by too-long, voluminous skirts, oversized hats and sleeves and Victorian ruffles and laces.

If we must change—and change we must — then let's have the clothes that are right for 1948 rather than those of 1868, 78, 88, 98 and 1900. Most women want clothes to "do something" for them, to be functional and to be suited to their way of life. Most American women do not feel up to making a "production" of going to market.

Also, with shortages of fabrics of all types, too much fabric is as poor taste as filling your plate with meat when there is a shortage. It is time for women to use common sense and take a look at ourselves, find out how tall, how wide or how slim we are and balance our figures. If our shoulders look badly rounded, then we should keep them moderately square. If we need long jackets, then let us wear five gored skirts or pleated skirts.

If we can wear flared coats and swirl skirts, by all means we should wear them.

Find the skirt length that looks just right and then stick to it. If you can wear a pretty hat and veil, wear it. If you can't, have your hat made to suit your profile.

Gloves, bags and shoes are very important. They too are so much better when geared to the wearer's scale than when oversized.

Taste is more important than style. Fashion is not to be followed blindly. It is like a table of hors d'oeuvres. Take the things that you can use to make you more attractive and better dressed to your type.

Don't risk being ridiculous because you think you are in fashion. Well dressed women select and balance and weigh. They coordinate their clothes and accessories and also spend less by so doing. Don't waste anything and give away everything you cannot use.

IN SENIOR PLAY CAST—Here are some of the principals in the forthcoming West High School senior play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." The play will be given in the West Auditorium on May 14.

Curiosity is a human instinct. Everyone gives in to at least one form of it. I, for example, am addicted to restaurant-eavesdropping. From the time I sit down with a menu to when I leave with heartburn my little shell-pinks are tuned in to first one frequency and then another. I rarely hear anything of value but sometimes my imagination is given quite a treat. Like yesterday, for instance.

Wilson

I was sitting at the counter in Schultz's Lunch Room. I had carefully weighed and compared every conversation within earshot and had settled on a verbal bout between a man and a woman sitting several seats off to my left. It showed promise of becoming a happy little knock-down-drag-out fracas, so I placed an elbow in my neighbor's hash and listened.

"Now look, Marie," the old man said, "I've tolerated this situation long enough. After all, I'M your husband. HE isn't."

"But George," the woman pleaded, "All I want is a little pleasure, and Bruce is such a lot of fun. Can't you be a trifle broad-minded, George?"

The man exploded. "BROAD-MINDED?" he said. "I should be broad-minded while this Bruce, this you-know-what, crowds me out of my own home. Oh no. Either YOU get rid of him or I will."

"Is that a threat, George?" the woman asked.

"Take it any way you want to," the man offered, "only, remember, I'm within my rights."

"But George," the woman began.

"That's final," the man said flatly. And, with this, he slapped a five-dollar-bill on the counter and stood up to leave. With a pout on his lips, he strode toward the door. The woman followed and caught his arm to make one last, futile comment.

"You must admit, George," she said, "he IS a good watchdog."

Years Of Experience Increases Enthuiasm Of Briggsdale Teacher

By Libby Downing

There are about three things that have "always been" in Briggsdale, Ohio. They are the church, the school, and Carrie McKinley, veteran teacher of that school.

When Miss McKinley speaks about her profession, she fairly glows with genuine enthusiasm. She says she knew when she was eight years old that she'd be a school teacher, it seemed to be an inborn desire. And now after many, many years of doing and teaching the same thing over and over, she loves it even more.

There were four teachers at Briggsdale (including herself) when she joined the staff. The building is still the same. There have been two portables added, and quarters to house two rooms have been established in the basement of the school. Now, however, there are eight regular teachers, one for each room, not counting the music teacher who is on a part time basis, and Miss McKinley has been there longer than any of them.

The Harrisburg, Ohio-born teacher said that her family moved to Reynoldsburg and then to Briggsdale, into the vicinity where she has lived for 36 years.

In the rooms at Briggsdale school the pupils get their entire curricula for the year from the same teacher. There's no switching of classes and teachers there. At present the enrollment stands at 289 persons, and has been rising each year with the close of the war.

A member of Briggsdale Methodist Church, Miss McKinley is a devout member of the congregation. There are very few Sundays that go by when she is not in attendance. Outside of her school work and friends, the church is her only diversion.

The thing from which Carrie draws the most enjoyment is the progress her pupils make, and having been in her fifth and sixth grade classes, I feel safe in saying that you don't soon forget her teachings! Her largest class contained 51 students. In her school room there are pictures, flowers, drawings, and various competitive contests too, to invite and keep the children's interests. The thing our class enjoyed most, I believe, was lining up in two teams and having either a spelling contest or answering historical questions, which sometimes were the subject.

This year Miss McKinley teaches all of the sixth grade and part of the seventh. She has taught also in the Harrisburg and Grove City schools, always being in the Franklin County district.

Other members of the Briggsdale staff include Miss Blanche Noble, Mrs. Helen Delong, Mrs. Wanda Pfeiffer, Mrs. Ernestine Ray, Mrs. Seniah Blake, Mrs. Nellie Gardner, and the principal, Mr. Bronson Farmer.

Nine years ago school bus service was added at the school, to the north and the south, also adding to the enrollment. About six weeks ago the eighth grade undertook the project of printing a bi-monthly school paper, which so far has been quite successful. New playground equipment is to be added also in the near future.

Miss McKinley lives with her sister, Alice McKinley, at 2014 Harrisburg-pk. And her pupils know that even though she keeps her classes well disciplined, when the time comes for play, she is ready and willing to help them with that too.

Small Business Group Opposes Income Tax

At the April meeting of the business men's Anti-Tax Legion, the business men of Columbus decided to make membership in the organization confidential and to take copies of their official acts through the executive vice-president, H. B. Yarnell.

After considerable discussion regarding the encroachment of government into business, the following resolution was adopted.

"That the taxation of income by the City Council, and the collection of taxes by employers, is an unjust and unfair method of taxation.

1. It gives to the City Council the right to confiscate the total earnings of the workers. If the City Council can take one per cent of wages, they can take 100 per cent.
2. It gives the City Council the right to take over and operate all business of all employers. If the City Council can make an employer collect taxes, it can confiscate his business and make him operate for the benefit of the city."
3. IT IS ANOTHER STEP TOWARD COMMUNISM AND DICTATORSHIP.

Jews Once Lived In Freedom and Peace in Palestine

WHAT of the Jews in their ancient religious history in the Holy Land that they once occupied free from the dangers and difficulties that beset them in Palestine today?

Such a period in the life of Israel followed the return from the exile and captivity in Babylon, about 500 years before the coming of Jesus Christ.

The story of it is in the Bible books of Nehemiah and Ezra, with much light on the life of the people and their social, moral and religious conditions and problems to be found in the later prophetic books of the Old Testament, such as Haggai, Micah and Malachi.

Not all the Jewish exiles returned from Babylon, when the rise of a new dynasty under Cyrus made the return possible. After 50 years or more of exile few of the organized exiles were capable of returning. And many of them, under the comparative freedom they had enjoyed in Babylonian captivity, had greatly prospered and chose to remain there. So successful were those that remained that they established a Jewish life, with schools and literature, the Babylonian Talmud that survived all changes of rulers and dynasties and lasted until the 11th century of our Christian era.

The Jews who returned to their homeland must have been somewhat of the type of Zionists today. Some conception of their passionate zeal may be found in the 137th Psalm.

Many non-Jews in the Pagan world were drawn to Judaism by its superior morality. These converts, known as "proselytes," were among those to whom Paul successfully appealed with his conviction that Judaism found its fulfillment in Christ. Both Judaism and Christianity have survived, and they are both in the books we call the Bible.

The hope of the world is in that book and in the light and life that it offers mankind.

"The Frog Prince" Is W. Broad Play

Friday morning, April 23, at West Broad School a gay festival took place. The festival was an operetta given by the 6-A's from room 201 of that school. The operetta was entitled "The Frog Prince."

It starred Kay Klass as the princess who didn't like to keep her promises. Her leading man was Karl Presler, the Frog who later changed into a prince.

Co-starred were Queen, Ruth Lorenz; King, David Rismiller; and Gypsy, Clark Redick.

Elaborate costuming and appropriate setting made a fitting background for this delightful musical fairytale.

The students made all of the stage scenery and many of their costumes.

Direction and accompaniment were provided by Mrs. Roma Waymer with the assistance of Helen Stemen.

The cast of characters included the following: dolls — Frances Muchmore, Glyndon Davis, Ramelle McLin, Nancy Thoelcke, Ronald Kirkpatrick, Virginia Laird, Carolyn Smith, Carolyn Weidner, Joan Lehman, Paul Ruder and James Cobb.

Cowboys Lose 7 To 1 Game To St. Charles On Friday

By Dave Miller

West High's baseball nine, current co-leaders in the City Baseball League, lost a 7 to 1 non-league affair to St. Charles on the Carolion diamond Friday afternoon.

St. Charles has defeated Linden McKinley and Central in shutout scores of 3-0 and 1-0. The only City League team to beat the East Siders was the team that is now knotted with the Cowboys for first place, as of Friday's games, North High. The Polar Bears, behind Monte Allison's one-hit pitching, beat St. Charles, 4 to 0.

North High, however, due to its league win over East, Friday, is league leader with a won-three, lost-none rating. The Cowboys, in league play, have a won-two, lost-none standing. North and West met once and ended in a 2-all deadlock, called because of darkness.

Coach George Williams said to his baseballers after Friday's defeat that he hoped they got all of the bad playing out of their system so that they would be good and ready for league competition.

The Cowboys, as can be believed by the score, were just never in the game after the second inning. A walk, single and another free pass by West hurler Charlie Weeks loaded the bases for the Carolions in the second and set the stage for Tony Yoli's long triple to the extreme right-field corner. Again the host nine scored in the third on one hit. Ronnie Hord, the St. Charles first sacker, walked, pitcher Jim O'Neill singled, and this, combined with a wild pitch, scored the tally.

Two more runs were added to the St. Charles total in the next frame. A walk to Yoli, his stolen base, Jim Mulby's one baser, a wild pitch and first baseman Dick Culbertson's error accounted for St. Charles scored its seventh run in the sixth inning, the last time at bat. Curt Westerman of the Cowboys missed a long fly to left off the bat of Mulby. The latter then dented the plate on a duo of infield outs.

The Hilltoppers, in the last time at bat, scored their one and only run. Dave Dupler grounded to Tony Yoli, who in turn threw it wild enough that the former went all the way to second. Westerman then made up for his error in the outfield by doubling to left-centerfield, scoring Dupler. these markers.

Big Jim O'Neil pitched the full seven frames for the Carolions, striking out 12 batters while issuing only two walks. Chuck Weeks received his first setback of the infant season when he walked six and struck out 10.

The locals will cross bats with South High on the latter's field this Tuesday. The story of this contest can be found in Section A of today's Record. Friday, the Hilltoppers will play host to yet-to-win East.

West Thinclads Score In Two Relay Events

The West High thinclads figured in only two events Saturday as Springfield swept the 17th annual Ohio Wesleyan Relays. The Cowboys scored only four points for fourth place in the 440-yard relay and the 480-yard shuttle Relay.

Plans are going forward in preparation for the 2nd annual Hilltop Relays to be put on under the lights at Magly Field in May. Athletes from several central Ohio schools will take part in the affair.

8 Teams Clinch 1st Place

With only two weeks of the bowling season left we find only six teams which are sure of being in first place when the last ball is rolled down the alleys.

Ardle

Both teen-agers' leagues are through as far as determining the first place team. Martha Maid with 60 wins against 18 losses are the champs since there is only one week left to go they lead the rest of the teams by four games. In the other teen-agers' league it was last year's winner, Curlee, that repeated the conquest by out doing Rainfair by seven games. The Curlee team had a record of 58 wins against 32 setbacks.

Esquire Men's Shop, rated one of the best teams in the city, has extended its lead over Allen Milk to 12 games making it impossible for Allen Milk to catch up in the two remaining weeks of their schedule.

First National Cleaners is now leading the second place team Ohio State Construction by seven games in the Suburban League making them sure of first place. The Construction team led the league for more than half the season but fell into a devastating slump which has followed them for the last several weeks.

Only two women's teams have the honor of resting solidly in first place for the remainder of the season.

Lytle's Pure Oil sporting a win and loss record of 56 and 43, have a 4-game lead over Cowley Roofing in the St. Aloysius Mothers' League, thus making them the new champs since there is only one week remaining on their schedule also.

The only other first place women's team to have first place sewed up is that ever famous Stewart Black-Toppers who have a seven-game lead over Seiller's Department Store in the Hilltop Ladies' League.

Congratulations on winning your respective leagues and lots of luck to the league leaders who still are fighting it out.

Sport Notes

By Bob Humphrey

Hilltop fans will have an opportunity of witnessing Columbus' oldest and fastest softball league in action when the Franklin Independent League inaugurates its campaign Tuesday evening under the lights at State Hospital Field.

The outstanding stars of Columbus are members of the six teams in the league.

In Tuesday's inaugural games, Paul's Lunch faces Kahn Jewelers, Falter Packers meets 740 A. C., defending champion, and Hill Tailors engages Howard's Records. The first game starts at 7 p. m.

Three Hilltop boys are members of the Hill Tailors entry in the Franklin Independent League. They are George Davis, who played second base for the Columbus Red Birds a few years ago; Jim Lennox, who aided Civic Center to win the 1947 Veterans of Foreign Wars national title, and Dave Madden, team manager.

The Hilltop Garage and Service team, an entrant in the Columbus Night Softball League, obtained a new sponsor, McCleery's Produce, a few days ago. Ray Laughlin is manager of the team.

Managed by "Pop" Hader, the Hilltop Van and Storage team will inaugurate its Columbus Independent Softball League campaign Tuesday at 6 p. m. in a clash against Isaly Dairy at King Avenue field.

Hilltop Van and Storage lost a 12 to 9 decision to Gambrinus Beer of the Linden Independent Wednesday Night League last Sunday at Westgate Park.

The Allen Milk baseball team, with Tom O'Malley, a veteran Hilltop athlete, serving as manager, will play a schedule of independent games on Sundays this summer. Allens planned to compete in the Sunday Afternoon League, but the league failed to organize.

Two Hilltop girls' teams, Westgate Evangelical and Hilltop Baptist, were granted franchises in the South-West Church Girls' Softball League last week.

Don Ijams, a Hilltop athlete, scored a total of 214 points to lead Mellman Corner to the City Senior Knothole Basketball title, according to the statistics made public by Jerry Geroux, team coach, last Sunday. Ijams also served as captain of the team. Bill Allman, another Hilltopper, was the team's second high scorer, being credited with a total of 167 points.

Junior Cowboys Win Season Opener By Downing Champion By 4-2 Count

By Dave Miller

West Junior's baseball nine started out on the right side of things Wednesday afternoon by defeating Champion Junior High in the opening City Junior League game of the 1948 campaign for each nine. The score was 4 to 2.

The Junior Cowboys, coached by Red Lehman, came up from a 2-all deadlock in the fourth inning onto a moral victory for the shellacking the East Siders gave the locals in basketball.

Other than a few mis-cues afield, the game was pretty much a pitchers' duel between Ted Fladt, of the Broncos and Minnie Soward of the visiting Champion nine. Each twirler limited the opponents to only two hits. Fladt wiffed eight batters while Soward sent nine back to the bench discouraged of three strikes. The losing pitcher was bested in control of walks by issuing three while Fladt gave up only one free token.

Champion tallied one marker in the opening round on no hits. After one was out, catcher Ron Farley interfered with baserunner George James to give him first base. James stole second, went to third on Fladt's balk, and scored on the same twirler's wild pitch. Their only other run was scored in the fourth on two blows. Outfielder Wright singled, advanced two bases on another one-bagger and scored when Farley dropped Johnson's toss to the plate in an attempt to get the former.

The little Cowboys tallied two runs on their only two hits, both extra base knocks, however. Russ Friend walked and scored on left-fielder Ron McElwee's long triple to extreme center-field. Al Shade made it possible for "Mac" to dent the plate when he doubled to left center.

The Broncos dented the plate for the two deciding runs in the fifth, but on no hits.

Russ Friend again led the inning off when he walked. He stole the following base and went to third on catcher Ray Hoover's passed ball. McElwee walked, stole second, and Dobbs followed with a long fly to right, plating Friend after the catch, and the throw to the plate was so wild that McElwee also scored.

Bill South, due mainly to his hitting power, has been placed in right-field when not on the mound, his regular spot.

Next team to cross bats with the locals will be Franklin Junior High at East, Friday, weather permitting.

The line score:

Champion	100	100—2	2 4
West Junior	002	02x—4	2 2

Soward and Hoover; Fladt and Farley.

Another Milestone

This the 2059 issue of The Hilltop Record marks the completion of 31 years of publication of this community newspaper. To those of us who have been with the Record through several of those years, it is gratifying to see the fine response to the work we are doing as evidenced by the interest shown by so many of our readers.

The power of the press vs. the effect of radio and other public media has been much discussed in recent years. There was a time when followers of radio predicted the elimination of all but the strongest daily newspapers. How wrong some of these prophets have been can be seen in the fact that not only are more daily newspapers read today than ever before but the position of the weekly newspaper is stronger than ever before in its long history. This is not intended to be a justification of the place of the weekly press in the lives of the great American reading public. It is being mentioned only to make this one observation, namely that where a weekly newspaper serves a useful purpose in the community, the people in that community will support and boost it despite the many more up-to-the-minute forms of news disemination.

We feel that the Record enjoys such a place in the life of the Hilltop. Reflecting, as it attempts to do, the interests of all groups—large and small alike—a more stable and unified community is the result, today. There are many ways in which the weekly newspaper can serve its reading area. Contrary to the views of some, its primary purpose is not to formulate the policy or do the thinking of the community. There are times when leadership in this direction becomes necessary and a newspaper should not shirk its responsibility when this situation arises. However, more often than not the newspaper can accomplish more by reflecting the thoughts and actions of its civic leaders and by voicing the thoughts of its individual subscribers. It is always gratifying to receive letters to the editor even though they may sometimes be at direct odds with the established stand of the editor. It is an evidence that people are reading and thinking. If a newspaper can stimulate thought on the part of a few of its readers, it has accomplished something.

Often we on this end are criticized for allowing something to happen in the community that is definitely the responsibility of the people. "Why don't you do something about it?" is a common admonition. Our answer is usually: "What have you done about it.?"

The columns of this paper are and always have been open to the expressions of any responsible group or individual. On matters of a highly controversial nature we have every right to ask that the contributor be willing to lend his name to his views. It's to his advantage to have it that way.

May we of the Record staff take this opportunity to rededicate our efforts to the things that are good for the Hilltop and to make every effort to give our readers an increasingly interesting paper for which all of us may be proud.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The question of a new fairground site has aroused much interest in Franklin County. I have followed this question closely and in my legislative experience I have never seen a matter so contaminated with rumor and conjecture.

The attitude of certain newspapers which attempt to color and mislead the public concerning the facts is, in my opinion, reprehensible. All of the statements concerning the attitude of Ohio State University with regard to the Ackerman Road site were made at a meeting before the commission on Jan. 29. Although I was informed that this was a closed meeting, by promising not to make any remarks, I was finally admitted to this meeting. At that time President Bevis read the following statement:

"Irrespective of the location of the State Fair, the University is considering the expansion of the College of Agriculture west of the Olentangy River. Just what developments will take place has not yet officially been decided but much thought is being given to the matter.

"The University has neither the responsibility nor the power to decide on the location of the fair site and is not attempting to participate in that decision. We are, however, willing to indicate the direction of our own planning as far as it has progressed.

"We are definitely concerned as to the character of the installation contemplated. A collection of cheap and ugly structures would, we feel, be a handicap to the university and its development.

"If modern and sightly grounds and buildings are provided near the university, a variety of cooperative uses can be foreseen; e. g., a Coliseum would serve both purposes. Development of 'short course' work could be facilitated. Other joint uses not now specifically visualized would probably develop. We do not, at present, however, see university uses for all the fair buildings."

In supplement thereto President Bevis stated that the university might be able to use some of the buildings for year-round purposes, but that he felt it would be embarrassing both to the university and the fair board if many of the activities overlapped or were duplicated, such as conservation, experimental farming and other activities now being conducted by the Agricultural College.

The attitude of the university officials at this meeting was at most luke warm. If the newspapers would lead the public to believe that the university is anxious to have the fairgrounds adjoining.

I opposed the bill creating the fairground commission on the floor of the House because it gave the commission absolute authority to buy land.

I sincerely believe that if the members of the legislature had known at that time that the commission would adopt such gradiose plans as it now supposedly has, calling for a few grounds of a thousand acres and buildings to cost anywhere from fifteen to thirty million dollars, that the House would have promptly killed it.

This letter is not to obstruct progress in our county as the proponents of the idea state, but is written so that the people of our county may have a more clear picture of what transpires in the closed meetings of this commission, and which is of particular interest to the residents of Franklin County.

If I am returned to the legislature I will continue to fight against legislation such as this, giving commissions omnipotent power regardless of public attitude.

Sincerely,
Robert R. Shaw

Variety Views

Another great Band Variety Show has come and gone at West High School. That statement may not mean much to the average reader but let it be said here and now that if the above statement needs to be substantiated, just visit some of the other schools around Columbus for a comparison.

I'll even go so far as to say that the West Variety Show isn't equalled by any other high school in the state for all around ability and perfection in staging. It's hard to realize that a group of high school kids could be brought up to almost professional calibre for an entertainment of this kind.

As I would analyze the situation, the success of the show is not alone in the ability of the individual performers so much as in the smooth-running style of its presentation. The dance band that set the pattern for the variety numbers at times sounded like a "name band" and even yet the director says he's had better talent in other groups in the past.

Taking nothing away from a swell bunch of talented kids, it's the professional know-how back of the show that makes it what it is. And that "know-how" must be recognized in the director, Charles W. Bennett, and his helpers. The arrangements, the staging and every other detail of the almost three-hour show bear the trademark of experience.

Without any claim to being a theatrical reviewer, let me offer these personal comments on the entertainment:

The school orchestra was much appreciated, especially on the "Mozart Fantasie" selection. The much-needed string section is improved this year. The Senior Band really clicked with the "Juke Box" number featuring Roger Geist, Dennen Leach, Gregory Burke and James Hill. The Junior High Band plays with much enthusiasm and considerable ability considering the lack of experience for most of them.

A very personable young man who keeps the Variety Review moving in good style is Bill Hawes, the master of ceremonies. The Farmerettes are a hit in their "Doin' What Comes Natur'lly" routine. Wee Bonnie (Donna) Beck adds a touch of spring with her "Apple Blossom Wedding" number.

Mary Steed has precision and speed in her tap number. Nandy Reed's rendition of "Tico-Tico" on the accordion makes good listening. Some clever rope handling is demonstrated by Donna Fledderjohann, Barbara Gordon, Nancy Miller, Marci Patridge, Roland Sunker, Mary Hart, Mary Ann Amos and Jim Harter. The latter really adds some fancy touches. The "Feudin'" quartet brings some slapstick relief in a style well done.

Sue and Kay Glass do a clever dance routine. Martha Brown, Lois Stansell and Ruth Ansley add some close harmony with their Gay 90's number. Bobby Johnson does a mansized job on "Flight of the Bumble Bee." (So realistic is the entire program that our seven-year-old daughter at this point remarked: "Mother, I didn't see the bumble bee.")

Jeanette Chakeres made a lovely picture before the mike but was fighting throat trouble that somewhat affected her solo. Jackie Hardy's impersonation of famous dance steps of other days was one of the high spots of the show. This was followed by singing star, Dick Bowles, who has improved in stage conduct noticeably from last year. His popularity from last year made his number a sure fire proposition even before he had opened his mouth to sing.

Spike Bones & Co. offered another bit of comic relief. Sue Keller and Barbara Bell in their "Civilization" dance got plenty of applause and a few lifted eyebrows. Outstanding among the feminine vocalists was Marilyn Ring singing "My Hero." A young lady with a lovely voice and stage manner to match.

The spring weather in light, song and dance was really spectacular. The folks are still talking about the realistic thunder shower they put on and the black light effect was the most colorful thing we've seen on the stage of West High. Again the dance band showed its calibre as it did the concluding selection, "Sabre Dance." The latter was professionally done but came as sort of an anti-climax to the beautiful number that preceded it.

Maybe it was an oversight or maybe Bennett wanted it that way, but I believe that a bit of personal recognition for him from the stage would not have been out of order. After all the kids at West High have never had a director who could put on a show like that. Few people realize the hours of planning and preparation that went to make up that evening's entertainment.

Again, I say, it was a great show.

In the spring a livelier iris changes on the burnish'd dove,
In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

—Tennyson

Republicans Conduct Write-In For King

Republicans are conducting a write-in campaign for Roy King, for clerk of courts to take the place of William F. Berkheimer, whose death occurred too late to have King's name appear on the ballot.

A resident of Columbus for 48 years, King is now serving as treasurer of the city. He formerly served as secretary to the judges of the Ohio Supreme Court for 19 years and was a court reporter for 16 years. He is a member of the Ohio Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church and belongs to the Humboldt Lodge of Masons.

King's name must be written on the ballot and an X placed before the name to be counted as a vote.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Reba Agner, music director for Rome School, Cora and Anna Weber and Mrs. Minnie Parker have returned from Washington, D. C. They all enjoyed the usual sight-seeing trip and Miss Agner had dinner Sunday at the home of Arden Kidwell, College Park, Md., who is a teacher in a high school in Washington.

The mother-daughter banquet that was put on by the Men's Forum at Columbia Heights Church was a real surprise. The program committee had worked out a program on ladies' head gear dated from time B. C. and models styled the various periods, coming up to date with the new Easter bonnet. The committee also had crocheted miniature hats, it seemed no two alike, and trimmed according to their size with the proper decoration. The mother and daughter quartet, consisted of Mrs. George Terry and daughter, Georgeann, and Mrs. Sheets and daughter, Mrs. W. G. Lamb, offered a barber shop selection about "my hat." Mrs. Russel Brooks appeared in her high top shoes and dress to match. It was the biggest crowd (83) ever handled at a banquet here. Favors were presented to the oldest mother, who was Mrs. Porter, Maple-dr, the youngest mother, Mrs. Kent Richey, Pasadena-av, and the youngest daughter, "Sissy" Whalen, Buena Vista. An exceedingly good time was had by all present.

Martha Suver, Buena Vista, has been quite sick during the past few months as a result of a fall received while skating.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Randall, Buena Vista-av, are enjoying a trip to Canada, after stopping off at Detroit for several days to attend the railroad men's convention.

The dance put on in the portable Friday night under the direction of Reba Agner, proved a big success. It was for the seventh and eighth grades, with several parents as guests. The boys and girls showed by their actions that the well planned evening was really appreciated. Miss Agner is planning such an affair for Norwich Township School.

May 2-9 will be observed this year in Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish churches as "National Family Week." Here at Columbia Heights Church the worship services of these two will be regarding Christian family living. The week will be highlighted with a special family night pot-luck supper and program, Saturday evening, May 8.

Ruth Degan of Pittsburg, fiancee of Joe Coulter, was weekend guest at the Coulter Home, Pasadena-av.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Copeley, Mansfield, were guests for several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Snyder, Maple-dr. Mrs. Copeley is a sister of Mrs. Snyder. Mr. Copeley was taking Scottish Rite work.

Mr. Reedy had supper with the Terry family Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chambers, cousin of M. A. Howell, spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Richey of Detroit with their two sons, Stephen and David, spent Saturday afternoon visiting with his brother, Kent Richey, and family of Pasadena-av.

Mrs. Allan Burns, Pasadena-av, who has been sick for the past week, is still unable to be up, although she is some better.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bush and children, Sandy and Phil, spent Sunday evening with the English family, Pasadena-av.

The dance sponsored by the G. A. A. of Hilliards High School was a very gay affair. The grand march was led by John Phillips and Shirley Schatz, to the music of the Al Boettinger Orchestra.

Rev. T. M. Patterson, Maple-dr, returned Sunday morning from a business trip to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. John David Sheets of Alton announce the birth of a son, Monday, April 26.

Party To Honor Pastor And Wife

Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Nelson, who pastored the Wheatland Avenue Methodist Church for the past six years, will be honored with a farewell party given by the board of education of the church Friday night starting at 8 o'clock.

In charge of all arrangement is Clarence Froe. Elizabeth Shaw is in charge of publicity.

The Hilltop Parents Association will meet at the church this evening. All members are reminded to be present as this will be the annual election of officers.

During the year the Association has sponsored the Hilltop Colts and the Hilltop Wildcats in the senior and junior basketball leagues at Neighborhood House. The two Hilltop teams won both of the trophies. The Colts received their trophy at a banquet at Neighborhood House on April 23.

The Wildcats' game was protested because a member of the team on the eligibility list was given in as one name and recorded in the player book as an other. Defaulting two of the games, the trophy then was awarded to the other team.

Members of the Colts AC who played and were on the team rosters were Billy Prillerman, Raymond Hart, Chester Mayo, Charles Richey, Pete Kershaw, Walter Hicks, Amos Flewellery, Jim Paige, Connie Potts and Coach Devon Prillerman.

Members of the Wildcats were Allen Fleming, Jim Rile, Wimpy Potts, Ray Stevenson, William Rosemond, Rolland Ealy, Carl Hicks, Clarence Potts, Clarence Golden, Warren Stevens, Andy Young and Charles Hunter.

Local Churches Make Plans For Vacation Bible Schools

April is being used as planning month by local churches in preparation for holding daily vacation Bible Schools this summer. Local members of the Hilltop Ministerial Association are cooperating with the Franklin County Council of Churches in a training program to be conducted through the month of May.

Four Tuesday evenings in May will be devoted to conferences for Bible School workers. These sessions will be held at Central Community and St. John's Evangelical Reformed Churches. Each church is invited to send workers to these meetings.

For the first time a laboratory on Bible School work will be conducted June 14 through 17. Here workers will be allowed to observe and actually apply the recommended teaching methods. Provision will be made to care for children of mothers who would like to attend.

It is suggested that the vacation schools this year adopt the "Jesus" theme. Most of the local schools will start about June 21. A calendar on the dates of the local schools will be published next week.

Church Supper To Mark Start Of Year

The annual church supper and church meeting marking the beginning of a new church year will be held at the Hillcrest Baptist Church, W. Broad-st at Eldon-av, Wednesday evening at 6:30.

At this time there will also be shown motion pictures of recent church activities, including the dedication service at the new church parsonage. All members of the church and attendants of the church are invited.

Hilltop Hymn Sing To Be Held Sunday

The bi-weekly Hilltop Hymn Sing will be held at the Sullivant Avenue Friends Church Sunday at 9 p. m.

This popular one-hour hymn-sing period is held in some local church every other Sunday following the regular evening service. An attendance banner will be awarded to the church with the highest percentage of its evening attendance present at the hymn sing.

Both Pharis and Sines are veterans of World War II.

BOY SCOUTS IN THE Southwest District

Cub Olympic

On Thursday evening, April 15, at West High School, the Cub Scouts of the Southwest District held their first annual Olympic assembly. The Olympics were then officially opened by the singing of the National Anthem and the pledge to the flag, followed by invocation by Rev. J. F. Lorenz of Westgate Methodist Church.

C. A. Minor, sub-chairman of the organization and extension committee in Cubbing, under Harry Drake, O. and E. chairman, then gave a short talk praising the den mothers for their part in the cubbing program and then acknowledged his appreciation by presenting a rose to each den mother.

Tom Howells, chairman of Cubbing, then recognized the leaders of the various sponsoring organizations, introducing them and also the scout officials who were present. At that time the five clergymen who were to act as judges were also introduced. They were Rev. Joseph Shellhaas, Rev. A. J. Wold, Rev. Lorenz, Rev. Wise and Rev. Jeravack.

Robert Draper, a Hilltopper and former commissioner in the Southwest District, gave a brief but interesting talk to both the parents and the cubs.

The games followed. These were under the supervision of Don Dewhurst, W. Davis and R. C. Lloyd. The various packs of the Southwest District were competing against each other for the honor of possessing for the coming year, the Olympic trophy, presented by the Hilltop Business Association, signifying them as the champion cub pack. There were 10 contests, the final result ending in a tie between Pack No. 21, Cubmaster, Ray Farrell, and No. 214, Cubmaster Tom Howell. In the contest which was held to determine the winner, Pack 214 won.

After the contests Don Dewhurst, Pat Timmins, Jerry Spears, Jr., R. C. Lloyd and Jack Sensenbrenner made the following presentations.

Trophy for champion, No. 214; ribbons for best attendance, first, No. 88; second, No. 33; gold ribbons for each participating pack; trophy for the best window display, donated by Sam Alford, No. 43.

The final part of the program was the drawing of door prizes for the parents, cubs and den chiefs. This was supervised by Pat Timmins.

The meeting was dismissed by the benediction by Father Wise of St. Mary Magdalene Church.

Packs participating were No. 31 of Rome; No. 21, Dana Avenue PTA; No. 33, Westgate Methodist Church; No. 43, John Burroughs PTA; No. 56, Hoge Memorial Church; No. 63, Glenwood Methodist Church; No. 86, John Burroughs PTA; No. 88, Sullivant Gardens Community; No. 186, Grove City Lutheran Church; No. 214, St. Mary Magdalene Parish.

Committees in charge of the Olympics were: Tom Howells, general chairman; Elmer Howard, assistant chairman; Richard Lloyd, program chairman; C. A. Minor sub chairman of O. and E. committee; Wendell Bower and Harry Knipp, arrangements; Theron Repp and Malcolm Pennell, decorations; Robert Reeves and Arthur Steppart, tickets; Don Dewhurst and William Davis, contests; Pat Timmins and Jerry Spears, Jr., finance and awards; Wendall Rector and Clayton Cook, publicity.

Cub Pack 63

Cub Pack 63 will hold its monthly meeting Friday evening, April 30, in Motter Hall at Glenwood Church.

Theme will be a musical program. Each Cub is to make a musical instrument and each Den will work up its own musical program.

Awards will also be given.

All boys and their parents are invited to attend.

Troop 214

Troop 214 went on an overnight camping trip to Camp Lazarus April 10 and 11. It was headed by the Scoutmaster, John Martin, and his assistants. The group was directed by the Senior Patrol Leader, Bill Swartze, and the Patrol Leaders Bob Gilham, Bob Sheehan, Jack Harris and Dick De Shetler.

The boys had a lot of fun and showed a lot of the newer boys the skills of camp life.

Cub Pack No. 43

At a recent meeting of Cub Pack 43 the following awards were made:

Bob Cat, Richard Thomas. Bear, Gold and Silver Arrow, 3 year pin, David Hubbard. Silver Arrow, Billy Coon; Buck Skinner Stripe, Richard Poor. Denner Stripe, Ralph Early. One-year pin, Dana Desher.

Top award of the evening went to James Sands. James has been a member of Den 6, with Mrs. Bill Coon as Den Mother for the three years of his cubbing. His Weblow award and Scout neckerchief were presented to him by his mother. Mrs. Dessie Sands. R. L. McFadden, scoutmaster of Troop No. 79, Burgess Ave. Ev. United Brethren Church, pinned to his Cub Scout suit his Tenderfoot Badge. In recognition of his good standing in cubbing and as a parting gift Pack 43 presented James with his Scout handbook.

At this time Mr. McFadden introduced his assistant, David Haines.

Joining Pack 43 on this evening were two new den chiefs, Don Robinson, who will assist Mrs. Coon, Den 6, and Bill Walton, going to Mr. Horn's Den. 1. These boys are members of Troop No. 79.

We were very happy to receive into Pack 43 two new cubs, Thomas Lewis, Den 6, Robert Speakman in Den 3, with Mrs. Arthur Anderson, den mother.

Mrs. Horn of Den 1, who will serve her last meeting with her cubs on Monday, April 26, will take her boys on a hike to Westgate for a wiener roast.

Mrs. Harry Knipp will take over Den 1 on May 3 with Mrs. Harry Keller as her assistant.

Students Edit Record

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to be the editor of a newspaper? You have? Well, let me tell you, it's nothing less than a very interesting event, plus some hard work.

I know, for experience in editing a "real" newspaper is being gained this week by the journalism students of West High School as we take over The Hilltop Record this week. Being such ardent lovers of education, we just "hate" missing school these past few days. (It sys here!)

Seen dodging in and out among our up-and-coming young reporters is Don Young, news editor, who sees that everyone has plenty to keep them busy. Duck, here he comes again!

"Who's on 26? What's on 25? No, no! You're on 33." Yes, this was a familiar call around here as we found matters complicated by the six buttons on the telephones. These few little buttons caused us more trouble than writing the news.

Lunch time found the students going in shifts to the "Hilltopper" where they were very courteously served.

Short Bits from here and there: Capt. Clyde Good has been transferred to Panama City, Florida, where he is enrolled in Officers' Training School . . Attending the White Shrine convention in Atlantic City this week is Mrs. Ruth Kuder . . Norma Benoy, a West High alumna, was recently selected to attend the May Queen at Capital University. Nice going, Norma . . . Also making headlines at Cap is Joan Steen, who has one of the leads in "The Yellow Jacket" to be presented by the Masquers. This is only Joan's third quarter at Capital, and she has had the lead in four productions by this group.

An auto tour to Florida this summer is the ambition of the C. A. Colbys . . . On their way to California to . . . earn some money . . . are Jerry Chinn and Joe Hostetter . . . Seen on their way to Greek Easter services last Sunday were Hilltoppers Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kanatas, Mr. and Mrs. James Pappas, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leakas, Mrs. George Chakeres and Peter Chakeres . . . A very courteous bus driver on the West Broad route is Claude Steele, also a Hilltop man . . . A new lawnmower is being sported on the Hague-av lawn of M. J. Casey. Bet we see more of this type of machine as the season sprouts its wings.

Seen home on leave from the navy was Bob Glasgow, a June '47 West High grad . . . Mrs. Ed Witherspoon and daughter, Jinx were on all-night duty with the Associated Press office Tuesday night tabulating the state-wide vote and putting it on the wires . . . We hear that Jackie Hardy has decided to give dancing lessons at her home this summer. That's fine instructing if you can get it.

Lee Koontz traveled to Athens last Saturday night where he played a show in the men's gym for the Engineers' Prom at Ohio University . . . One of the many services provided by the Robinson Electric Company is the sewing of buttons on men's shirts. I hear "Mickey" does the sewing . . . Marvin Martin, former Sullivant Avenue grocery man, is now in the painting business . . . Mel Griggs was seen at the Hilltopper Monday lunching with several of our reporters.

We hear Wilbur Ehlers got caught with the "eight ball" down in Huntington recently . . . The L. E. Waters family has finally found a house with more than one room. They're hoping to move in next week . . . The weather in California seems to be agreeing with George Chakeres. He went to Los Angeles two months ago for his health, and hasn't found fault with it yet.

Fred J. Michel was honored recently by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company for his 35 years of service with the company . . . Mrs. G. B. Orr, of the Orr Realty Company, has become ill and is confined to the hospital . . . W. J. Murnane has a city lot at 3023 W. Broad-st which he devotes to a nursery and gives his plants away to his friends.

Five Hilltoppers Win Out In Primaries; Draper Wins Nomination For Congress

Five Hilltop candidates won places on national, state and county tickets for the November election as a result of voting in the Tuesday primary election.

Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, attorney and member of the Columbus Board of Education, easily won over two Democratic opponents for the right to face Congressman John M. Vorys, Republican, in the general election.

As this was being written, it was evident that Judge Edward Turner, 4309 W. Broad-st, a Republican, would have little trouble in winning the nomination for a seat in the Ohio State Supreme Court, a position he now occupies.

Successful also were George G. Trabue, 2771 McKinley-av, a Democrat, who won one of the two nominations for county commissioner, and Newton A. Thatcher, Democrat, unopposed for the place on the ticket for county treasurer.

First precinct to report in the Franklin County balloting in 530 polling places was Precinct E in Franklin Township. The summary sheets arrived at the Franklin County Board of Elections at 9:32 p. m. The voting place, located just off Valleyview-dr, reported 14 Republican and 25 Democratic votes.

Genevieve Burr, 21 N. Wayne-av, won the post of state central committeewoman on the Democratic ticket.

Turned down by the voters this time was George Matson, 87 N Warren-av, Republican incumbent on the board of county commissioners, and Joseph C. Nailor, 109 Burgess-av, Republican incumbent in the general assembly. Nailor had been asked by the GOP county committee to stay out of the race this time.

Joseph R. Hague, 44 Binns blvd, Republican newcomer to Franklin County politics, lost out in his bid for a place on the general assembly ticket. Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, 1975 Sullivant-av, a Republican, was likewise unsuccessful in the four-way coroner race.

There were no committee races in the 10th and 11th Wards this time. The Democrats re-elected Oscar F. Dildine in the 10th Ward and in the 11th Ward it was Earl I. Williams, a newcomer. William B. Haines was again elected to the committee post by Democrats in Franklin Township.

Republicans re-elected Henry Koontz in the 10th Ward. George Sinclair in the 11th and John Robert Jones in Franklin Township.

Witherspoon, Hawes Named Sr. Speakers

By Virginia Casey

Virginia Witherspoon, 40 N. Ogden-av, and Bill Hawes, 230 N. Wayne-av, were recently selected from a field of 10 candidates, in competitive tryouts to represent the June graduating class as speakers for commencement.

Both students earned similar honor in Junior High School by speaking for ninth grade graduation.

Virginia will uphold the topic, "The Soul of America," with Bill speaking on "Youth's Highway."

Both students are planning to attend Ohio State University; Virginia to study foreign languages and math, and Bill to study pre-law.

In addition to earning this high honor, both have made outstanding high school records.

Virginia earned the much coveted first place position in the senior class from a field of 242 students, with a point ratio of 3.99 per cent. She was recently made a member of Magly Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Bill boasts the honor of holding one of the leading parts in the forthcoming senior class play, and also the honor of being master of ceremonies for the Band Variety Show held recently.

Candidates were elected by popular ballot of the senior class and were required to write their individual speeches, with E. M. Kaylor, democracy teacher, as advisor.

Mr. Kaylor commended the eight other candidates for their excellent work and stated that competition was keen and final decisions were close.

Alternates for the occasion have also been named. They are Barbara Clarkin, 135 N. Chase-av and James Cockfield, 489 S. Harris-av.

The candidates were judged by Miss Mary Dugan, English teacher; Mrs. Jane Thomas, English teacher; Mrs. Delane Kittell, English teacher; Lucian Copley, dramatics teacher and Myron T. Siefert, journalism and English teacher.

Hilltop Mother Of 13 To Be Honored Sunday In Mother's Day Observance

By Virginia Martin

To be a good mother.
Is a sublime career—
A life spent for others
Tho the cost be dear.
Willing to step aside
That the way might be clear.
For any of her brood—
And smile thru her tear.

Editor's Note: The above poem was written by Ben B. Bennett, manager of the King Kar Company and employer of your reporter.

Comes Mother's Day, Sunday, May 9 a day set aside for those who are unselfish, trusting, patient, loving, and kind.

Among many mothers to be honored on the Hilltop we pay tribute to the mother with one of the largest families on the Hilltop, Mrs. Ruth Grabill, 119 S. Midland-av.

Mrs. Grabill and husband, Everett, have 13 children all living and in healthy condition. They are: Rex 26, Carl 25, Jerry 22, Ray 21, Paul 20, Phyliss 18, Ann 16, Lee 14, Nyla 13, Clara 10, Nancy 9, Mary 7, and Dean 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Grabill, both natives of Pickaway County, have lived on the Hilltop for 19 years. Mr. Grabill has been employed with the Columbus Police Department for 22 years.

Four of the children are graduates of West. They are: Rex, Carl, Jerry and Ray. Phyliss will graduate in June. The majority of the family attends Glenwood Methodist Church.

All the children were born in Columbus and all of them live in Columbus with the exception of Jerry who is stationed in North Carolina with the Army.

When asked why she liked the Hilltop Mrs. Grabill replied, "I like the Hilltop because it is a community in itself and there are plenty of stores around so you don't have to go uptown all the time. Also, it is a clean community and the people are always thinking of ways to better themselves."

Mrs. Grabill believes the aim of every good housewife and mother should be to do her duty by her family and bring up her children to be good, well behaved Christian children.

"That's a full time job," replied Mrs. Grabill.

"Advice I would give to mothers," Mrs. Grabill goes on, "would be to stay home, for I feel that a mother should be home with her children if at all possible. Although, I don't mean she shouldn't have any recreation, but just don't forget about the children. That's why so many minors get into trouble."

The method in teaching the children discipline has been an easy one for Mrs. Grabill, she simply makes the children understand from the beginning the meaning of words and things. For

Robert Tucker, superintendent of electricity for the City of Columbus, promised last Friday that "the lights which were to be put up on Powell-av, north of West High School, will be up within the next week."

When the original agreement to put street lamps on Powell-av was made, more than three weeks ago, it was promised that they would be up in time for the West High Band Variety Show which was held recently.

Two decorative lights will be erected in front of the school by the school board. Three other lights will be put up north and east of the school grounds by the city.

Hilltop Relays To Be Wednesday

Apple Trees Yield Oddity On Hilltop

By Ruth Platt

There are ten trees at 57 S. Clarendon-av that might well be classed with the wonders of nature. The trees, owned by Mrs. W. G. Edwards, are apple trees which bear several different varieties of apples on the same tree. The trees are produced by a grafting process in order that two or more kinds of the fruit may grow where ordinarily it would be possible to see only one. Two varieties growing on one tree are Golden Delicious and Red Sweet.

The trees were planted by Mrs. Edwards' late husband when he first came to the Hilltop. Only one of the ten trees bears a single variety of apple.

Hilltop YMCA Work Underway

By Don Young

Over $500 in additional contributions has been received thus far by the board of the Hilltop YMCA. As yet no further report has been made as to the success of the house-to-house campaign that was begun April 18.

Averille Thorn, executive secretary of the Hilltop "Y", moved his family to Columbus this week. They are temporarily located on S. Glenwood-av. Anyone knowing about a two-bedroom house or apartment that the Thorns could occupy may contact any member of the "Y" board and get in touch with them. Any help would be greatly appreciated.

A general clean-up of the Teen Canteen, corner of Burgess-av and W. Broad-st, will get under way this week. This building will serve as the Hilltop "Y" office.

Dance and Party To Be Held By K of C

A dance and games party for the benefit of St. Joseph and St. Rita Camps will be given May 13 at the K of C Hall, 2596½ W. Broad-st.

Proceeds of the party will be used to help defray the expenses of the purchase of grass-cutting equipment to be put into use by both camps.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. John F. Lawler, 337 S. Wayne-av.

Big Crowd Expected Under Magly Lights

By Mike Mowry

The Hilltop Relays, the first night track meet ever held under the Magly Field lights, promises to give more excitement for twenty-five cents than any Pearl White or Bret Hart thriller ever did.

It wasn't enough for Coach R. C. Glass to invite the top athletes of the surrounding countryside, he also found five beautiful girls from West High to award trophies to the winners in all events.

The queens' names and addresses, but not their phone numbers, follow: Donna Beck, 585 Chestershire-rd; Marilyn Hoelcher, 150 S. Westgate; Joan Deyo, 182 Guernsey-av; Judy Brock, 378 Whitethorne-av; and Dolores Sparks, 836 S. Terrace-av.

The "big doin's" begin at 7:00 p. m. with the field events, and the track events are scheduled to start promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Junior High events will include the 440 yd. and 880 yd. relays, and will precede the same senior high races. Trophies to these winners will also be awarded.

A special feature on the admission ticket gives fans the opportunity to go to the Hilltop Relays or save the ducat until next week and come to the Night Triangular Meet with Chillicothe and Newark on Tuesday night, May 18. This special offer is made possible by H. L. Zulauf, West High treasurer, for customers who wish to stay home and take a bath one of these nights. Of course, to go to both meets costs the tiny sum of 50c.

This invitational meet will include all the City League track teams. This means the West thinclads will have to be at their best to end up the victorious hosts.

Last year the Cowboys placed fourth in the Relays but hope to do much better this year.

The schedule of events for the relays is set up to be run off in this order:

7:30—120 yd. high hurdles and all field events.
7:40—100 yd dash.
7:45—880 yd. run.
8:05—880 yd. relay (Jr. High)
8:15—880 yd. relay (Sr. High)
8:25—440 yd. dash
8:35—shuttle hurdle relay.
8:50—two mile relay.
9:00—220 yd. dash.
9:05—mile relay.
9:15—440 yd. relay (Jr. High)
9:25—440 yd. relay (Sr. High)

Brinker-Sullivant Proposed Future Site Of Fire House

By Don Young

Baxter Evans, city attorney for Columbus, announced that the city is planning to negotiate for a site for the proposed Hilltop fire house. "The site we are negotiating for," Baxter stated, "is the one originally called for at Brinker and Sullivant-avs."

Earlier the Brinker-av site had been proposed for the fire house, but, on recommendation of the city council, the site was abandoned in favor of one at the corner of Binns and Sullivant. As it developed, the land surrounding this corner is owned by Sinclair Oil Company and the Columbus and Ohio Electric Company, each of which owns two lots.

Since arrangements could not be made with either company for land at the Binns-Sullivant corner, the city is again returning to the site originally proposed at Sullivant and Brinker.

Reinforcement Of 10 P. M. Curfew Asked

At the city council committee meeting Monday night, Police Chief Charles M. Berry asked for the adoption of a new ordinance enforcing the 10 p. m. curfew of children under 17 years of age.

According to Berry, the old ordinance was worthless as it stood because it carried a clause which stated that the ordinance could not be enforced if the parents "knowingly" allowed their children to be on the streets after hours.

In the new ordinance, Berry asks that the word "knowingly" be removed, making parents directly responsible for the whereabouts of any child under 17. Provisions will be made in the ordinance for any legitimate excuse the child may have for being on the street after hours. Attending a late movie will be considered in this latter category.

• • •

Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church was the scene of the early spring wedding uniting Miss Audrey Marcy Southard and Mr. Bill C. Williams on Friday, March 19, at 7:30 p. m. with the Rev. Harold Dutt officiating. Urns of white snapdragons and lilies, ferns, and lighted seven-branch candelebra formed the setting for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Southard, 537 S. Terrace-av, and Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson C. Williams of Darbydale, Ohio.

Music preceded the ceremony with Miss Jo Ann Heischman as soloist and Mrs. Eldred Heisel at the organ.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a white dotted swiss gown with a boat-shaped neckline outlined with ruffles. The skirt, draped in the back, formed a bustle and terminated in a modified cathedral train. A ruffle of the same material edged the train. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a halo of bridal illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Her necklace of rhinestones was a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was Miss Betty Southard, sister of the bride, who wore peach dotted swiss with a wide bertha collar edged in ruffles. The gown featured a modified bustle and cascades of ruffles extending to the hemline in the back. She wore a halo of matching material. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetpeas and iris. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Paul Anderson, Jr., Miss Phyllis Whipple and Miss Lois Williams, sister of the groom, wore blue dresses and halos identical to that of the maid of honor, and carried similar bouquets. All wore necklaces and earrings which were gifts of the bride.

The best man was Mr. Paul Anderson. Seating the guests were Mr. Robert Fette, Mr. Lee Dienst and Mr. Phillip Fulton.

A reception for the immediate family and close friends was held in the parlor of the church following the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Southard chose a gown of champagne crepe with black accessories, and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Williams wore powder blue with pink and black accessories, and a corsage of pink camellias.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left for a short trip to Chicago. The new Mrs. Williams wore a brown suit with alligator shoes and handbag and accented her costume with a corsage of white roses and sweetpeas.

The couple are now residing at the Fairgrounds Trailer Camp.

Grandview First Foe In Tourney

By Ray Bostic

The Central Distric Class A baseball eliminations start today, with all the teams that took part in the basketball tournament competing except Delaware, Mt. Vernon, and Newark. Westerville has been added as a competitor.

The drawings were made Monday and the tournament will stretch from today to May 14. The winner goes to the regionals at Bowling Green, and that winner competes in the state tournament at Columbus during the week of May 24.

West, current leader of the City League, drew Grandview, pace setters in the Central Buckeye. They are scheduled to play, beginning at 4:00 today, on diamond No. 4, at the southwest corner of the baseball fields at Ohio State.

Tuesday's game between Linden and West was rained out after two and a half innings of play, and was re-scheduled for Monday, May 10. West was leading 1 to 0 at the time the game was called.

Quiz Is Featured At Kiwanis Meet

By Don Young

Next week's Hilltop Kiwanis meeting will be the annual supper meeting, ladies' night. It will be held this year in the Hall of Mirrors at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. One hundred per cent attendance is expected. The date is May 13.

Today's meeting was the long-awaited musical that had originally been scheduled for a later date. Featured in the musical entertainment are the "Singing Sheriffs", who call themselves "a thousand pounds of harmony." Policemen who form the "thousand pound" group are Harry M. Freeman, Fred T. Hawkes, Raymond Hathaway and Fred Washburn. Clare Shipman is their accompanist.

The April 29 meeting featured Corlton Hartley and his current events quiz. Originally scheduled to be a debate on current public relations, the quiz was substituted when the men who were to have taken part in the debate found themselves unable to attend. "Dr. I. Q." Hartley, he called himself, rewarded each correct answer with a candy bar and each error with a pencil.

Hilltop Mother

example, when Mrs. Grabill tells the children "no," she means "on" and not "maybe."

Cooperation and understanding are essential in raising a large family," says Mrs. Grabill.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Grabill come from large families. There were eight children in the family from which Mrs. Grabill came from and six children in Mr. Grabill's family.

Mrs. Grabill believes there should be more than one child in the family as it isn't quite fair to the child and sometimes they become too self-centered.

So, to the persons who aren't superstitious, I'm sure you will agree with me that thirteen isn't an unlucky number, at least not in the case of Mrs. Ruth Grabill.

Thinclads Ready For City Meet

By Ray Bostic

A "battle royal" is in store at the city track meet today and tomorrow, at Ohio State Stadium. No one team is favored as a cinch for first place. The teams are not strong in all events, but have certain events in which each has stars. This division of first places among the schools adds to the keen competition which is entered in the city meet this spring.

Outstanding from West will be its relay teams, dashes, high and broad jumps, and the discus.

Matching West in making a top showing at the meet will be Central, North and East.

Tennis Courts To Have Lights

By Mike Mowrey

Tennis enthusiasts will welcome the installation of lights over the courts at Westgate Park. The courts are open now for daylight.

The lights are being set up by the City Recreation Department, and work will be completed in time for the opening of the park the first week of June.

Supervision of the courts will be the responsibility of Foreman Slager and family.

Also under repair will be the wading pool, and any other equipment. Some new equipment will be added to the playground facilities. The playground will be under the guiding hand of Mack Pemberton and assistants.

Judy Wolfe Is Still Critically Ill In Hospital

The condition of Judy Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wolfe, 336 Sylvan-av, is still described as critical by Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Raymond M. Troesch, 6977 W. Broad-st, driver of the automobile, was released on $50 bond and is scheduled to appear in City Traffic Court Friday.

Father-Daughter Banquet Slated

By Jinny Casey

On Thursday, May 27, at 6:15 p. m., the Girls' Athletic Association will hold a father-daughter banquet at Glenwood Methodist Church, under the chairmanship of Marilyn Hoelcher, 150 S. Westgate-av.

It was learned this week that Tippy Dye, head basketball coach at Ohio State University, will be guest speaker for the banquet.

Various committees have been organized to assist Miss Hoelcher with the dinner. They include: decorations, Mary Lewis, 1421 Demorest-rd; program, Mary Jo Dolby, 41 N. Wheatland-av, and food, Martha Smith, 187 Haldy-av.

In previous years, mother-daughter banquets have been held but the idea of the father-daughter banquet is original with this year's group.

Guests for the evening will include Principal and Mrs. I. F. Young, Miss Blanche M. Kern, vice-principal, and Graziella Maria Sanchez, physical education student teacher.

Little Theatre Group Casts "The Youngest"

The newly organized Hilltop Little Theatre held a try-out session Sunday afternoon preparatory to casting the characters for their first production, "The Youngest," a comedy in three acts by Philip Barry.

Cast for the characters in the play are Dorothy Finley as Charlotte Winslow; Robert Spohn as Oliver Winslow; Lee Koontz as Mark Winslow; Edith Gibson Paul as Augusta Winslow Martin; James Story as Alan Martin; Mary Elizabeth Mullock as Martha Winslow; Art Howard as Richard Winslow (The Youngest); Betty Moon as Nancy Blake, and Garnet Menge as Katie (the maid).

The entire production is under the direction of Pat Aspel, and will be presented during the early part of June.

Pastor and Mrs. Russell J. Olson, 104 S. Westmore-av, entertained at dinner in their home Tuesday evening, in honor of out-of-town friends. Their guests included Rev. Lewis Wolf, Cleveland; Rev. James Miller, Dayton; Dr. Carl Stare, Rev. Charles M. Hackenberg, Rev. J. Edward Dinkle, Rev. Ewald Berger, all of Toledo, and Dr. Robert G. Remaberg, of Wittenberg College, Springfield. Dr. Remaberg is a house guest of the Olson's during the annual meeting of the Ohio Synod of Lutheran pastors, which is being held this week in Columbus.

Kenny Evans, 2589 Elliott-av.

Each member is to bring a date. Food will be furnished pot luck.

Jackie Hardy Plans To Teach Dancing

By Virginia Casey

Jackie Hardy, 608 Racine-av, well known Hilltop dancer, is planning to teach dancing classes during the summer at her home, to both new and advanced students.

Miss Hardy, who is known around Central Ohio for appearing in many professional engagements with her father, George Hardy, attended an instructor course in dancing in New York City last summer. She plans to teach original dance routines.

She is a junior at West High School and was recently seen in the Band Variety Show. In this same production she also coached a dance line of six girls.

The Hardy dance team has appeared in nine Hilltop Minstrels and numerous other shows.

Former Hilltop Woman Makes Quilts For Babies In All Parts Of The World

By Martha Brown

The missionary efforts of a former Hilltop woman, Miss Mary M. Thomas, who devoted 23 years of her life as a Methodist missionary in China and whose retirement by the Methodist Church in 1928 prompted another challenge and service, are being carried on from the Bethesda Home, 440 Lafayette Ave., Cincinnati 20, Ohio, where she now resides.

Refusing to fold her hands a score of years ago, upon her retirement, she decided that she could use them advantageously as a gratuitous hobby in adding comfort and beauty to the lives of others in making baby quilts from patches and materials which she had accumulated from time to time.

Now at the age of 79 she continues this worthwhile project, and her workmanship is found among families in all corners of the earth, including Hilltop homes.

Letters of appreciation for her services in every language have been received by Miss Thomas.

To date she has hand-made, piece by piece, 226 baby crib quilts and almost 100 doll quilts, which she has given to deserving people in 24 states and Alaska, and in 23 foreign countries.

This generous giving started with her nieces, grandnieces and cousins, their friends, and friends of many whom she has never Recipients of her handiwork are found in South American countries, Palestine, India, China, Japan, Korea, Africa, Poland, France and 15 other foreign points, in addition to those in this country.

Friends In All Faiths

Protestant, Catholic and Jew, and the white, black, yellow and Indian races are numbered among her legion of friends because of her unselfish service in providing them with these beautiful quilts.

Meticulous in her choice of materials, and extreous with her fingers and hands she makes the finished product a 'thing of beauty."

Many of the quilts are made of tiny one and one-half inch squares of pink, blue and small figured cotton. When her friends see appropriate material at the stores they invariably make it a point to cart their "finds" pronto to Miss Thomas' apartment, since she is unable to shop for the needed fabric now. The innerlining, to provide softness and warmth, is usually white outing flannel.

Most of the quilts, Miss Thomas said, are quilted with tiny stitches; however, some that go to institutions and relief agencies are gayly knoted with yarn As a result of her quilting there has sprung up, in addition to a wide correspondence with many families, a baby picture gallery of tots whom she has helped in her work. These grace the walls, desk and bookcases of her apartment, all of whom she can call by name although she has never seen the majority of them.

Miss Thomas will be remembered for her many inspirational missionary talks to various church groups on the Hilltop.

She formerly resided at 186 S. Eureka.

Mail Carrier Injured On Final Delivery

By Jeanette Chakeres

Thirty-five years as a mailman without a single accident was the record of John A. Reichart, as he delivered his last letter before retiring last week.

Mr. Reichart's friends on his route from 13th to 18th-avs along High-st had just given him a farewell party and his bag was filled with gifts, some still unopened. As he dashed across High-st to 18th-av to catch a bus to Station A, a car struck him. He was treated for eye injuries, head and arm cuts at University Hospital.

Mr. Reichart is 60 years old and began delivering mail in 1913. He resides at 424 Larcomb-av.

Local Dog Lover Care For Pets; Gives Advice

By Marilyn Norris

Ever so often you'll read in the paper of crowded conditions at the dog pound (seems even the dogs are having a housing shortage) and sometimes, as you're driving along, you'll see a canine body lying wounded beside a curb.

We thought someone ought to give the Hilltoppers a few ideas on how to keep their pets from living a "dog's life," so we went to see Mrs. G. M. Prose, 2920 W. Broad-st.

Mrs. Grace Prose houses several dogs at her home and is an expert on their welfare.

She feels that if parents would have their children leave their dogs at home while they are at school there would be fewer pets killed. Children don't realize that there is the danger of dogs running loose across busy streets and therefore it is up to the children's parents to keep the pets at home.

Keeping small children from teasing dogs would save a lot of worry and would save the destruction of pets for being cross.

Dogs are known as "man's best friend." We should treat them as well as possible.

Fire Eaters Routine Not An Easy One

By Lea Eisner

Would you like to know what to do if you found a fire in your basement?

Few people do, says Thomas Stringer, captain at the Hilltop fire station.

Captain Stringer, who has worked in the department for 28 years, objected strenuously to people who won't call the Fire Department when confronted with a fire they usually can't handle, and which may get out of hand unless someone who knows the job gets it under control quickly.

"The think to do," says Captain Stringer, "is to call Main 3132, a number that should be near everyone's phone, and report the location of the fire accurately."

That's all you have to do. The call will then be relayed to the Hilltop station on West Broad-st. An alarm bell will sound, and while the address is taken over the phone, the seven men on duty will open the doors and be on their way in 10 seconds, which is not exactly slow motion.

One or both of the two pumpers, which can take care of almost any residential fire, will be sent out, with the men donning their heavy protective clothing on the way

These engines, which always stand with their doors open in readiness for a call, can usually get to the fire in a matter of a few minutes.

On the way, the men are in constant communication with headquarters on their two-way FM radio and can always call for supplementary equipment if it is needed.

Once there, the men quickly hook up their hoses, deciding just what width of hose and how much water will be needed. Then the same engine which drove them to the fire will pump water from the hydrant after a simple switch has been made. The conflagration is quickly and efficiently put out.

The Hilltop station receives from 30 to 35 calls monthly, and often finds that much of the damage could have been averted if the department had been called in sooner, before the fire had a chance to spread.

A fireman's life is not an easy one. He has to be constantly alert when on the job, and may be put in sudden and grave danger.

A fireman, before he ever goes to work, must receive his training in drill school, where the standards are exceptionally high. Then he may secure advances only after passing the rigid Civil Service exams.

Too many people forget that the men who hold such jobs are public servants, whose sole aim is to protect us all. Certainly no goal could be more worthy.

So let's not forget our firemen, who are doing a hard job and doing it well. And too, remember that number, when you smell smoke—Main 3132.

West Broad

The Merry Blue Bird Group held its election at West Broad Street School, Wednesday, April 28, with the following girls elected to serve: Shelby Adams, president; Joyce Gerhart, vice-president; Sharon Rohr, secretary; Judy Custer, treasurer; and Margie Abram, scribe.

On his birthday anniversary, a Turk was asked by reporters how he lived to be 128. They should have asked him why.

Truth in a Nutshell

If you worry about what others think of you, it's probably because you have given them cause to think unfavorably of you.

"Man's Best Friend" Gets Treatment From Local Vet

By Lea Eisner

Most dog or cat owners on the Hilltop recognize Dr. M. W. Bates' name. Why? Because Dr. Bates is a "small animal" doctor. He treats cats and dogs from all over the city. However, he and other members of his profession are now engaged in an additional campaign to help us all—a campaign which he feels should be "taken to heart" by everyone because of its deadly seriousness. It is a campaign against rabies. This disease rates as a killer with cancer and tuberculosis, he said. The mere mention of the dread affliction was once enough to cast fear into the most stable heart. Now we have the means to control it, but not the will. To stop rabies, stray animals would have to be taken off the streets, and owners would have to prevent their own from wandering at will. Only by this means, which too many people are loath to adopt, can the high incidence of the disease be reduced, says Dr. Bates.

Ten thousand, nine hundred and forty dogs were REPORTED as suffering from the disease in 1944 alone as well as 53 men, and unreported numbers of cats, squirrels and foxes, which can also contract the disease.

Dr. Bates is insistent in his contention that people should take more care of and pay more attention to sicknesses to which both humans and animals are subject.

This enthusiastic "vet" treats small animals for all sorts of disorders, and has had many unusual patients. He once mended the broken wing of a swan from Westgate Park! At another—and well remembered time—he treated simultaneously the dogs of two gubernatorial candidates during a campaign—the pets of Governor Herbert and ex-governor Lausche! And for contrast, he has cured the pets of state penitentiary prisoners!

Dr. Bates

Dr. Bates says that the main advantage of treating animals instead of people is that, while they might bite, they never talk back! People from Chicago, where he started practicing 16 years ago, still travel all the way here to consult Dr. Bates about their animals, and the energetic doctor claims patients from many of the small communities which bound Columbus. His first precept for the pet owner is never to let seemingly small afflictions alone until they snowball into something really serious.

"Such small points as teeth and skin should be checked regularly to insure good health for your animals," says Dr. Bates. "After all THEY can't tell you when they're sick!"

Mrs. Woodruss Charter Member Of Literary Club

By Lea Eisner

Mrs. William Mann, 67 S. Harris-av, is president of a club which has operated on the Hilltop for 27 years.

The club, "The Sunset Literary Guild," has been active in civic affairs and charity service since April 22, 1910, when it was founded. It was largely through the efforts of Mrs. Grove, an active member of the club, that a Hilltop Library has been secured.

There is only one living charter member of the club, Mrs. Lafayette Woodruss of Harris-av. The club's motto is, "Intimate is the help women can yield to women."

The programs consist mainly of book reviews and speakers.

The members of the society stage a yearly musical, adding to their already full schedule.

West Broad Continues As Death Trap

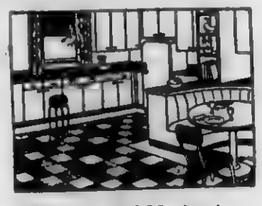
By Ruth Paul

In recent years traffic accidents due to carelessness, speed and alcoholics have caused numerous deaths on our streets. Many more resulted in great personal and property loss.

The highest rate of traffic mishaps is found on West Broad Street. This main thoroughfare has gained the notorious reputation as the "Killer Street" and "Death-Trap" of Columbus. In the year 1947, five lives were claimed by traffic accidents on West Broad Street. Parsons Avenue had four deaths and Cleveland Avenue and Livingston Avenue had three each.

Statistics show that the section extending from the Scioto River to Central Avenue is the most dangerous spot on West Broad Street. At Sandusky and Broad Streets alone, 57 traffic incidents have occurred in the past year.

It is interesting to note that the accident rate is generally higher at intersections having traffic lights than at other non-lighted intersections. This is due to the lack of attention and alertness at the light compared with that at the unmarked crossings.



An average of 22 persons are injured or killed daily in Columbus. Poor lighting, unfavorable weather conditions, mechanical failure, recklessness, excessive speed, and alcohol are the main factors responsible for the high rate of fatalities on the 12 killer streets, including W. Broad-st, N. High-st, Fifth-av, Cleveland-av, Parsons-av, Main-st, Livingston-av, S. High-st, Sullivant-av, E. Broad-st, Oak-st and Summit-st.

It has been estimated that two out of three traffic fatalities involved pedestrians 45 years of age or older who either have had no previous driving experience and do not realize the mechanical power of an oncoming car or those who disregard traffic rules by crossing against the red light, jay-walking, darting suddenly from behind a parked car and not looking both ways before crossing at the intersection.

Much has been done to reduce the number of accidents in Columbus through safety instruction and traffic control. Future plans include installation of new traffic signs and three-way lights and increased street improvement and repair. A good safety rule for longer life is "Stop, Look, and Listen."

There are about 50 active members of the society. The limit is 35.

Bicycle Shop Started During The Civil War

By Lois Waters

Ray and son, owners of Ray's Bicycle Shop, 2518 W. Broad-st, have recently related some shop history ranging from the origin of their business to the present day.

Mr. Ray's great-grandfather founded the business, which was then a shop for the repair of general items and for blacksmithing, during the Civil War period. Since then it has been carried on and changed through the years to form the modern business of today, which is equipped for the repair of all types of wheeled goods. Bicycles, scooters, wagons and all types of accessories like bicycle seats, lights, pedals and handle bars are sold and they are the authorized dealers of Roadmaster and Schwinn products on the Hilltop.

The present business site is at the corner of N. Terrace-av and W. Broad-st.

Mr. Ray himself is an ex-motorcycle racer and he modestly admits that he did win quite a few times. He and his wife are interested in all sports, including horse showing as their special hobby. He is the owner of three horses, which are frequently seen in various Ohio horse shows.

Reeves, Banning Approach 700

Norm Reeves, rolling for Schroeck's Service Station, had one of those few and far between nights last Thursday in the Business Men's League. Norm put together games of 207, 235 and 255 for a new season high of 697. Milt Banning made a vain effort to overtake Norm as he rolled games of 230, 212 and 246 for a 689 total. Milt rolls as anchor man on the Esquire Men's Shop team. While these two were fighting it out for individual honors, Chubby's Market was annexing team honors with 965-2755.

Hilltop Has Own Circus

By Ruth Platt

With the coming of spring the thoughts of the average person turn to the outdoors and circuses. The Hilltop is more fortunate than most communities, however, as it has a circus of its own.

This circus is in the form of "Wick" Leonard's Rodeo and is located on Sullivant Avenue near Demorest Rd.

Mr. Leonard himself has traveled with many nationally known circuses in many capacities. He is an excellent horseman, and cowpuncher, and is proficient with a lariat. In fact, he is often billed as "Wick Leonard, Wizard of the Lasso."

Approaching the rodeo school, one can view several small Shetland ponies grazing in the yard before Mr. Leonard's tiny oil-lit house. In the yard, too, is a large blue trailer which serves as home for numerous monkeys or any other animals Mr. Leonard happens to be training at the time.

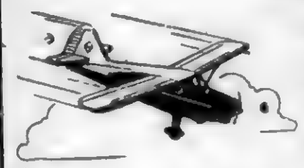
Circuses and animal shows from all over the country have been known to send dogs to Mr. Leonard to be trained.

During the fall he was employed by West High School to instruct a group of students in the art of rope twirling. In practices like this, Mr. Leonard insists that experience is not the best teacher. To prove this point he cites one of his own experiences. While traveling with a world famous rodeo show, he was being taught an exceptionally difficult rope trick by an aged Indian. Unfortunately the Indian died before he could show Mr. Leonard the proper procedure and, although the trick looks perfectly executed to the inexperienced eye, Leonard insists he does not do it correctly yet.

If, on a balmy spring evening, you feel the call of the outdoors and circuses, drop over to Wick Leonard's Rodeo School and see the workings for one first hand.

Hilltop Van To Play Collegians Sunday

The Collegians are a traveling team composed of several former Ohio State football stars, including Jimmy Langhurst, Frank Zadworny, Joe Aleskus, Dick Fisher, Carl Kaplanoff, Charlie Reams and Jimmy Strausbaugh.



The Hilltop Business Association held its annual Spring Dinner-Dance at the Seneca Hotel on Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. Jerry Watson, 30 S. Brinker-av, was general chairman of the affair.

The dinner and dance are held each spring for members, their wives and friends.

West retained its league leadership last Monday by virtue of a two-hit shut-out pitched by Chuck Weeks.

West scored all five of its runs in the first inning on only three hits and five South errors. This was enough because Weeks allowed only two singles, one in the fourth, and one in the sixth, and two bases on balls, while striking out eleven.

Don Skipper played an outstanding game for West, getting two hits in two official trips to the plate, stealing a base and playing his position flawlessly.

Cowboys Show 9th Inning Power In Taming Tigers

By Ray Bostic

West came a step nearer the championship by defeating East, 2-1, Thursday, on the home diamond.

East's run came in the 4th inning when two West errors and a sacrifice brought a man home.

After one was out in the seventh inning it looked like the game, but Skipper walked and went to third on Cherup's long double, his second of three hits. Dick Lamprecht then stepped up and delivered a long fly to left field and Skipper scored after the catch.

The next inning was 1-2-3 for both teams, and East repeated in their half of the ninth.

Don Little started the swatting for the Cowboys with a fly-out to center field. Theisen then singled and was pushed on by Skipper's single upon which Cherup followed with his third hit of the day, driving home the winning run.

Paul Theisen had an exceptionally good day allowing East only two singles, setting down 14 Tigers on strikes, while walking only one. He also scored the winning run.

Errors — Cheney; Powers, 2; Fallon, 2; Andrews; Dupler. Two base hit — Cherup. Runs batted in — Fallon, Cherup, Lamprecht. Strikeouts — by Theisen, 14; by Black, 2. Bases on balls — off Theisen, 1; off Black, 2.

Cause For Anger

By Don Young

Several days ago, Judy Wolfe, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wolfe, 336 North Sylvan-av, was struck by an automobile as she made her way to school. She was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital where she lay for days, hovering between life and death.

What happened? The citizens of the Hilltop rose up and shouted, that's what happened. Hilltop people are tired of running for the curb to escape being struck by a careless, self-centered driver who has no thought whatever for his own safety or for the safety of those about him. They are angry, and they are ready to do something about it.

It isn't often that people will rise up against something. It isn't often that they have to do so. People in America are naturally content to live and let live, but when this attitude leads to the injury of someone else, when someone gets hurt because of the failure of to few to comply with the simple laws that govern them, the American people get angry . . . and when American people get angry, you can bet that the people responsible for it will get what they deserve before the matter blows over and the people are content to forget about it.

Traffic conditions in Columbus have been going rampant for too long. Too many innocent men, women and children have been killed through the recklessness of a handful of people. Too much has been going on for too long a time for the people to sit back and let this latest threat go unheeded.

It has been estimated that beween 60 and 80 per cent of the automobiles on the road are not fit for service. Faulty brakes, improper wheel alignment and poor vision are but three of the common faults that are to be found on the majority of the automobiles that are at this minute speeding along the highways of the nation.

As for the driver himself, there is now a distinct tendency toward high-speed driving. Why this is so, or what people do with the time they so gain are two questions which haven't as yet been answered to anyone's satisfaction. Perhaps the present-day emphasis on supersonic flight, jet-propulsion and daredevil speed has something to do with it. At any rate, it is a common, dangerous practice—one which eventually leads to trouble for everyone concerned.

The only remedy within reach at the moment is that which may be brought about by public demand. We, the residents of the Hilltop, should see to it that traffic lights are put up at proper intervals. We should see that the designated speed limit is followed at all times. Most of all, we may do one last service to protect ourselves, our children and our friends from possible death at the hands of a reckless, speed-crazed motorist—we may try to act as an example for all of these rules we are putting forth. We may conduct ourselves as gentlemen always, behind the wheel as well as any other time.

With this accomplished, and the traffic problem set right, we will be able to return to normal once again, secure in the knowledge that kids like little Judy Wolfe will have a chance to play and go to school in safety.

Letters To The Editor

Columbus, Ohio
Hilltop
April 29, 1948

Dear Editor:

Never in all my life was I more disgusted with parents than I was at the Scout O' Rai last Wednesday night at the West High gym. Since the first of the year, plans had been well under way for this show. The boys had worked hard to get their parts and stunts ready. Every one was excited when the big night came. All for what? A hand-full of parents turned up to see this show that the boys had worked so hard on. We should have had such a crowd that the place would have been packed.

It certainly is a shame when parents of our youth can't find time to spend one night a year to come out and see their sons perform. When the Floor Marshall called on the parents of the various troops to stand, it make many a scout and scouter sick at heart to see only a few stand. Grove City alone had as many people there as the rest of the district put together. Surely if these people could come from miles away to represent their sons, it isn't asking too much for the other parents to come a few blocks. We of the Hilltop could learn a lot from these people of Grove City.

Pray tell, what is the matter with parents now, that they don't get out to support their boys? These boys can't grow up into good citizens on their own. Scouting offers a boy real opportunity in learning how to become better men. But Scouting needs as its backbone the steady and helping hand of the parents. In our scouting organization we have many men serving as leaders, working night after night molding these lads into good characters. But the task is big and cannot be done by these few. It has to be supported by all.

I have actually heard people say that they think scouting is fine because its gives them a chance to get rid of the children for a little while. Ha! What fools these mortals be. What greater joy can be had than to be with these young boys, playing and working with them? What greater thrill can be had than to see these boys whom you have worked with receive their badges of advancement? To be able to see your long hard work turn into a smiling face as he steps forward to receive his awards.

People on the Hilltop talk about what should be done to curb juvenile delinquency and how to prevent it. But how many actually do more than talk about it? In our youth organizations, cubbing, scouting, canteens, we have the greatest opportunities to combat delinquency. If we ever expect to stamp out this evil we must first start with our youth organizations, helping organize them, run them, and backing them up to the end. Remember that a few nights spent with our youth will pay dividends a hundred feld.

Today in the war torn countries where the younger generation has lost its parents, there is an alarming increase in delinquency. Should we be content to sit by the wayside and let it happen here? No. Rather let us get on our knees and thank God for our boys and girls, and strive to maintain it by working for and with our children for the good of better citizenship.

In closing I want to personally thank those scouters and parents who have unselfishly put their time and effort into making this great movement what it is today.

H. E. Crawford

Dear Sir:

I note with a great deal of interest the article in the Record concerning bus service on the Hilltop.

It is doubtful if there have been more new homes built anywhere in the city than south of Sullivant-av and on W. Mound-st.

We have just bought one of these homes and because it is so inconvenient to get around to various places where we have always traded we go down town to shows, stores, banks, etc.

It is to the interest of every business on the Hilltop to work for good bus service here on the Hill. There are no doubt many families who are doing just as we are. Too, if the busses all stop running at 8 p. m., people will go down town and spend money that otherwise would be spent here.

Yours truly,
Mrs. F. W. Righter

WEST HIGH

Welcomes the Opportunity to Edit

The Hilltop Record

By Virginia Casey
(West High School senior, serving as guest columnist.)

Calling All Girls Magazine, published by Parents Institute, Inc., recently completed a survey in conjunction with Dr. Raymond Franzen, who acted as consultant on technique and findings, to gather a complete portrait of the average teen-age girl, her preferences, and interests.

This was done through the sending of questionnaires to 2,719 teen-agers over the United States and by 300 random personal interviews, whose responses gave the average percentages published in the Calling All Girls summary, which has been sent to numerous advertisers and advertising agencies to enable them to appraise the Calling All Girls readers and the teen-age market.

Meet Miss Teen Ager of America

To enable you, as readers of The Hilltop Record, to meet one of America's most interesting people, we have compiled a number of facts from reading this summary to pass on to you.

First of all, to be a typical teen-age girl your age should be 14 years and six months, as this is the average age according to Dr. Franzen's studies for May, 1947.

Intelligence in a high degree is shown in Miss Teen-ager by the fact that after graduation 79.5 per cent of those questioned expect to continue their education by studying for a B. A. or B. S. degree in college.

Average Teen-Age Girl Receives $1.63 Allowance

In case you have any complaints about your allowance you can back up your arguments with the fact that a typical teen-age girl receives a weekly allowance of $1.63. Of course, if you receive more than that, forget it. In a survey of 20 West High School girls, the average allowance per week was $3.71.

Of the 2,719 questioned nationally, 1,002 earned a weekly average sum of $2.81. In comparison with this national average, $9.11 is the average wage earned by West High teen-agers.

Miss Teen-Ager has her own bicycle, skates and camera, and there is a radio in her home. Radios were present in the homes of 20 West girls polled, some boasting more than one. She's active in all forms of sports — cycling, swimming, skating and basketball head the list of her favorites. Basketball rated highest, with bowling a close second with the Cowgirls.

It's no wonder she knows how to use the family sewing machine, as she likes to make clothes for herself and for others. This was also typical of the West girls polled.

She's a regular user of cosmetics (which she buys herself) and no less than 22 different toilet articles will be found on her dressing table.

West Teen-Agers Are Extra Clean

Her hair is washed at least once per week and she visits a beauty shop occasionally, where she gets a permanent. Cleanliness is shown in West High girls by the fact that tresses are washed on an average of twice per week.

In between meal snacks are one of the best liked activities on her agenda. Fruit, candy bars, crackers, and of all things, chewing gum, are the things she likes most.

Poll Shows Potential Housewife

To show that she has a level head and would be a good housewife, we find from the compiled findings that she often shops for the family food and that she is learning how to be a homemaker by helping regularly with the household tasks. All girls polled listed some tasks, including dishes and making beds.

Thus we end a complete portrait of Miss Teen-Ager, a typical teen-age girl, not only nationally but locally as well.

All details of this survey are available for inspection at the Research Department of Parents Institute, 52 Vanderbilt Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

THERE WAS NO SPRING

There was no spring this year, although
The wind was warm and sweet,
And lilacs shook their scented
snow
Along the sunny street,

And April, vagabond in blue,
Coaxed me out to play.
But I could not forget that you
Were very far away.

There was no laughter here below,
No sun above the sea;
Spring came to other girls, but oh,
There was no spring for me.

Putting a Government Bureau in the position of being "Health Czar"—through any system—invariably works out the same. In America it would be "billions of dollars a year, for less health."

No such system covers all the people. Many indigents and a vast portion of the population secure medical service outside such plans.

Billions of dollars a year would be spent for bureaucratic red tape, supervisors, clerical staffs, inadequate and lowered quality medical care, hospital care and medical preparation.

That is the invariable experience of State Medicine, "Social Security Health Plans" or Compulsory Health Insurance.

Let's keep our America free from spending "Billions and Billions for less and less health."

Lake Fishing Good Despite High Water

Reports from several of Ohio lakes reaching the Division of Conservation headquarters in Columbus indicate that record-breaking crowds of fishermen are flocking to the lakes probably because of flooded stream conditions throughout the state.

Although the lake levels are unusually high, anglers have been taking fish by the thousands.

Fishermen, however, have been driven to the channels, and back water areas due to heavy winds affecting the open water, but for early spring fishing, that's good, anyway.

Local Restaurant Has Its Share Of Pranksters

By Ruth Platt

The Cotillion Restaurant, 2776 W. Broad-st, has been open just one year but it has already had its share of pranksters.

This was learned from John Apostolou, 726 S. Roys-av, manager of the restaurant.

Mr. Apostolou pointed out that most tricks are run-of-the mill variety. Sand in sugar bowls, defaced tables, souvenir hunters and pinball fans who are too young to play, present the biggest headache.

Vulgar language, however, is another disturbing factor, Mr. Apostolou stated.

A large number of offenders are school age people; but Mr. Apostolou hastened to say that they are in the minority, for the majority of the boys and girls who patronize the Cotillion are perfect examples of ladies and gentlemen.

T. B. Tests Given West Students

By Ginny Martin

The last week of April, under the sponsorship of the Columbus Board of Education, an X-ray survey was made of 1140 students and teachers at West Senior High for possible presence of T. B. This total of the last X-ray survey taken in 1946, which was 1207.

Dr. Ned Martin and Miss Lois Cohagan were on hand the entire week taking X-rays as fast as the students came in. They are visiting all public schools in Columbus.

One fact many do not know is that the money from Christmas Seals help buy the X-ray machines and provide for such examinations to be given at the schools.

The nurse will visit those who have possible cases of T. B. Those X-rays that are blurred or too light to give a reading will be reported to the student or teacher with a suggestion that a new X-ray be taken.

Students and teachers will be notified soon on the outcome of the X-Ray given.

Cub Pack 33 held its second monthly meeting Friday evening April 30, at Westgate Methodist Church.

Den 1 put on a clever skit entitled "Shortning Bread," Den 2 prepared "An Operation" which was loads of fun, and Den 3 showed how to "Hit the Mark."

The following awards were made: Bob Cat—Geoffrey Dum, Billy McCullough, Jerry Arbaugh and Ronald Kutasy. Wolf—Jimmy Heil and Lester Denton.

Pack 214

The Cubs and parents of Pack 214 held their monthly meeting Friday, April 30, at St. Mary Magdalene School with 125 in attendance.

Cubmaster Tom Howells was in charge of the program, which consisted of skits by each Den using the theme of "Legends and Traditions." Individual Cubs presented musical numbers between acts.

Mrs. Davis' Den 3 won the decision of the judges for their skit, entitled "The Peace of Greenville." The cast and members of Den 3 were Jim Davis, Teddy Schrock, Joe Ries, Richard O'Reilley and Don Capretta, Indian Chiefs, with Pat Timmons and Gerry Gibson as Generals Harrison and Grant.

Other skits were as follows: Mrs. Young's Den 1, Rip Van Winkle; Mrs. Howard's Den 2, another version of the Rip Van Winkle legend; Mrs. Melraeen's Den 5, King Midas, the Miser; Mrs. Huffman's Den 4 presented the legend of the "Snow Shoes"; Mrs. Howells' Den 6, William Tell, and the famous bow and arrow; the Cubs of Den 7, whose Den Mother is Mrs. Stack, presented "How the Indians Discovered Gun Powder."

The attendance award was again won by Den 2.

The Hilltop Business Men's trophy won by the pack at the recent Cub Olympics is to be placed in the school trophy room.

4,000 Sr. Scouts Expected Here For August Meet

By Ruth Platt

The Hilltop will play host to approximately 4000 boys from Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky Aug. 20-22. The boys are members of the Sea Scouts.

They will camp at the Sullivant Avenue Airport for the three days in August to view various demonstrations presented by the U. S. Navy and other groups prominent in aeronautics. They are planning also to visit Curtiss-Wright Factory.

The boys will stage a model airplane show during their three day stay in Columbus. This, also, is to be held at the Hilltop airport.

West Art Teacher Plans Mt. Trek

W. D. Campbell, art instructor at West High School, is reporting his 10th and final Adirondack Mountain camp trip. More than 35 West High fellows have shared this grand trek to 2,000,000 acres of virgin pine-clad forest lands, with thousands of lakes and with famed Lake George of New York State—32 miles long—as the glorious focal point.

This year, Mr. Campbell has had considerable trouble in selecting his group, as many splendid boys desired to work during the summer in view of economic conditions, but this year's group of four fellows are excellent campers and will enjoy this "out-of-state" adventure, as other groups before.

Mr. Campbell says it is interesting, at the end of 10 years, to find that many of his former fellows are married. They are Dick Logan, Howard Wellman, Bob Hottinger, Bob and Merrill Colmery, Jack Distlehorst, Harry Householder, Dick Estell, Bob Dyer, Marvin Lyday, Tom Beynon, Bob Broome (soon), Pat Barry, Fred Rucker, and Ralph Autery.

This year's group will go the North Route on June 12, via Albany to Lake George . . . thence to New York City for a week. Two camp sites will be available, two weeks on Turtle Island, one week on Big Burnt Island with rough camping (no gadgets) and two great mountains, Erebus and Black, almost 3000 feet high for climbing to view four states, also huge rocks for diving in crystal water (drinkable too), a sturdy boat and possibly a real "Old Town" canoe.

The trip to New York will be the usual one week tour, taking in all the great sights, staying at the wonderful 2000 person William Sloane House "Y" on 34th-st, near "everything."

Mr. Campbell also mentions that the trip from Albany to New York City via the Hudson River will be on a large 3800 passenger Day Line steamer, a grand lovely, 150 miles, six hours trip passing West Point. Hyde Park and other historical shrines, thru the beautiful Highlands, coming to New York at sundown with all its splendor and fabulous wealth, visible to the eye.

The following lucky fellows have been given the green light: Jim Palmer, assistant chief; Joe Six and Jack Harmer, dishwashers and woodchoppers; with Jack Harmer and W. D. Campbell, chief.

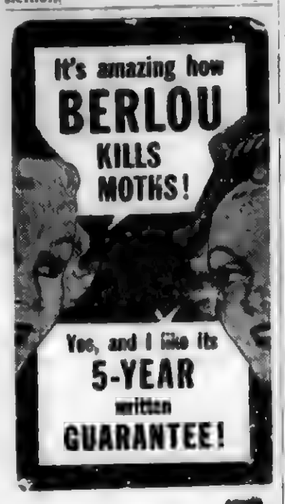
A wonderful month is anticipated, even with somewhat higher expenses — but because the entire cost is shared by all—it will be a truly a democratic venture with adventure.

Dennman Manages Westmont Theatre

By Martha Brown

The Westmont Theater here on the Hilltop has gained the services of a new manager, Lewell E. Dennman.

Contrary to comments received from previous managers of the theater, Dennman, finds that the patrons who attend the Westmont conduct themselves in a very orderly and attentive manner.



Friday and Saturday nights were often the object of much criticism, but Dennman states that he has had no trouble with the audiences and that most people are very appreciative of the movies and never ask for their money back unless they are called home on an emergency and cannot stay to see a complete show.

Special Service At Community Sunday

A special service will be held next Sunday in the Hilltop Community Sunday School in honor of mothers. There will be a carnation for each mother present and a special recognition for the oldest, the youngest and the mother having the largest family with the largest number of her family present at that service.

SUNDAY LESSON
FOR MAY 9

Greatest Problem Of Reforms Is in Making Them Stick

ONE of the really vital problems of human betterment and progress is that of making reforms stick.

Under the influence of a great leader, a Moses, an Elijah, an Ezra, a Savonarola, or a D. L. Moody, a community or a people rises to a height of religious enthusiasm and moral quickening.

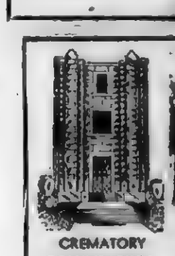
Under this awakened fervor new impulses and attitudes are established. Evil ways and habits are renounced. Harmful and questionable institutions and practices are purged. New generosities and sacrificial devotions are easily fostered, and it looks as if a new day had dawned.

Sometimes the reform and quickening are induced by some outstanding event. A great disaster falls upon some community, and selfish motives become lost in united action of a very noble sort.

Then, as we have seen in two world wars, relapse sets in. People return to their old ways. Selfishness becomes evident where yesterday there was a sense of community and devotion to the common good. And this unfortunately has been the history of almost all movements of reform.

An outstanding example was of the way in which the Puritan revival in Cromwell's time in England quickly became succeeded by the restoration of the Stuarts and one of the worst periods of degradation and debauchery in the entire history of mankind.

These thoughts are suggested by the story of the reforms in Israel under Ezra, described in the Biblical Book of Ezra, and evidence of what happened subsequently as it is found in the Book of Malachi and other late prophetic books of the Old Testament.



But reforms, if they have been deep and sincere, never become wholly reversed. There is a seed or germ of moral quickening that takes root again, as is evidenced in the spiritual life of the restored Israel and its relation to the rise and spread of Christianity.

Children Present Flowers To Mayor

By Dan Young

An annual custom which is little known to most Columbus citizens is that practiced by the children of the Columbus day nurseries every May Day. It is the practice, every year on this day, for a boy and girl representative from each day nursery to personally present the mayor with a bouquet of flowers.

This thoughtful little remembrance means little in actual importance, but in the eyes of the mayor it is perhaps the nicest occasion of the year. It is a practice which could bear further practice between one person and another at all times of the year.

By Martha Smith

Hilltoppers are church-going people as attested by the number of churches and its membership rolls.

Many of its citizens not only go to church but they practice the teachings.

Two such, whom your reporter interviewed, are devotees of tithing giving more than 10 per cent of their material gains to church and charity.

Ask either Dr. Howard Whitehead, 2239 W. Broad-st, or P. J. Robinson, 203 N. Terrace-av. if this practice has any merit and both will immediately respond with an emphatic "yes".

We sketch herewith the lives of these, in which tithing has played a prominent part.

Dr. Howard Whitehead, one of the best known physicians on the Hilltop, was born one mile west of Jersey, Ohio, Aug. 21, 1868. He attended school and went to church at Jersey until 1883, when his family moved to Delaware, where he taught school for four years.

Dr. Whitehead received his medical training at Starling College, which is now the location of St. Francis Hospital on East State-st, where he graduated in 1893. His father then brought him to Columbus on April 3, 1893 and he located on W. Broad-st. Dr. Whitehead recently celebrated the 55th anniversary of the start of his medical practice.

When Dr. Whitehead first came to Columbus, there were hardly any houses on the Hilltop, there were no telephones, streets were not paved past Central-av, and transportation was furnished only to the bottom of the Hill and Glenwood Methodist Church, of which Dr. Whitehead is a charter member, had not yet been started.

Dr. Whitehead attended the Friends Church on Highland-av and in 1894 was sent as a delegate to the International Convention in Cleveland and it was there that he learned the value of tithing and he has continued to be a firm believer in it.

In 1894, Glenwood Methodist Church was organized with Dr. Whitehead as a charter member and a tither since its organization.

In 1947 as a memorial to his parents, he purchased chimes for the organ in Glenwood Church.

P. J. Robinson, 203 N. Terrace-av, well known insurance man on the Hilltop, was born near Binghamton, N. Y., and spent his grade school days attending the little red school house.

After one year in high school, he went to work in a country store located along the stagecoach line. His day's work was from 6 o'clock in the morning to 6 at night. After working there for a while, he went to New York City and worked for two days as a shipping clerk for an export house. After his brother, who was in the insurance business, died, Mr. Robinson took over his business and has continued in it for over 50 years.

Mr. Robinson has lived in various parts of the city, but he considers the Hilltop the best place to live. When asked what he liked about the Hilltop, he replied, "I like it here because the people are very nice."

Mr. Robinson has been a member of the Hilltop Church of Christ since he came to the Hilltop 28 years ago and is a tither. He says: "Ninety cents goes as far as a dollar, especially when you are giving the 10 cents to help someone else."

Mr. Robinson and his wife enjoy riding about the Hilltop and surrounding territory on Sunday afternoons. This, they say, is better than any movie.

Spot Survey Shows Hilltop Is Average

By Patti LaValle and Barbara Harper

"Rich man, poor man" as the saying goes, are universally found in our country and Hilltoppers are no exception, your reporters learned through a spot survey made of approximately 1,050 residents of the Hilltop proper.

Facts uncovered by the survey disclosed that the greater number are employed as railroaders (this includes engineers, conductors, brakemen, blacksmiths and firemen); clerks; salesmen; foremen; managers (this includes the managing of various departments in all types of businesses); machinists; ministers; office workers (including secretaries, stenographers and typists); truck drivers; carpenters; maintenance; mechanics; machine operators; and engineers.

Among the breadwinners are found such occupations as these: State Hospital attendants; barbers; bookkeepers; bus drivers; bakers; cooks; electricians; firemen; factory workers; guards; grocers; inspectors; laborers; mail carriers; and nurses. Others listed are printers; painters; policemen; supervisors; shoe-workers; superintendents; teachers; and welders.

Also represented were auto repairmen; advertising men; auditors; accountants; assemblers; diaper wrappers; dentists; department store owners; draftsmen; bailiffs; die setters; doormen; bricklayers; builders, beauty operators; buyers; cab drivers; clothing cleaners; cosmeticians; contractors; chauffeurs; chemists; cashiers; grocery clerks; farmers; florist owners; funeral home owners; furriers; filling station owners and attendants; highway patrolmen; horse trainers; telephone installers; interior decorators; jewelers; linotype operators; meat cutters; meter readers; porters; press operators; pharmacists; pattern makers; physicians; restaurant owners; students; shipping clerks; sheet metal workers; social workers, seamstresses; technicians; teletype operators; and restaurant workers.

Many Hilltoppers are serving their country in the various branches of the armed forces.

Members Of Church Prove Friendship

By Ruth Platt

Thursday, April 29, will be a day to remember for Charles Kunz, Jr., and his family, Johnson-rd, for on this day they were reminded that people are fundamentally good.

On April 16, Mr. Kunz underwent a serious operation in which a large portion of one lung had to be removed. This operation would necessarily incapacitate Mr. Kunz for the remainder of the summer. Two days following the operation, Kunz's brother-in-law was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident near Celina.

Fellow members of St. James' Lutheran Church, Rome and Hilliards-rd, learned of the Kunz family's misfortune and grief and decided to practice the precepts of Christianity which they had heard preached in the Kunzes' church.

Early in the morning of April 29, 10 tractors drew up before the Kunz home and proceeded to plow and plant 35 acres for the family.

Although Mr. Kunz must sit up to sleep, he certainly will lose no more sleep over unplowed fields if his neighbors have anything to do with it.

The Kunzes have three children and are now expecting a fourth child.

Rescue Home Starts 44th Year

By Harper

The Friends Rescue Home, sponsored by the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, was established by Evangeline Reams in 1906.

It was originally a one room affair on N. Harris-av and was located there for 11 years. Later it was moved to Thirteenth-av. In 1918 it was permanently established at 245 N. Powell-av.

The first officers were: president, Matilda Stuart; vice-president, Rev. J. W. Crumrine, pastor of Sullivant Ave. Friends Church; and Helene Stuart, treasurer. Others who assisted were Jennie A. Tate, matron; Elsie Zimmer, head nurse; Mrs. Margaret Curran, dietician, who was assisted by Helen Mae Smith and Dorothy Wilson.

The Home receives forty per cent of its fund from the Community Fund and the remainder from the Friends Church.

The present officers are: president, Harry Clark; vice-president, Matilda Stuart; secretary, Edna Rudolph; treasurer, Rev. William Crumrine. Harry Drake is in charge of the grounds.

In 1937, the thirty-second anniversary of the founding was celebrated by an all-day meeting at the Home.

Rolls, Cakes, Are Big Demand With Daily Bread Man

By Ginny Martin

What is our most important food? Bread, of course! What would we do without bread? And what would we do without the man who brings it to us every day?

He furnishes a type of service we have come to take for granted in this day of modern conveniences.

Elmer Morris, a typical bread man, who works with the Donaldson Bakery Company, finds the job of delivering bread very delightful because he likes to deal with different people and see new faces and things that go on around him. He also likes the work because it is outside and Mr. Morris says, "It's good and healthy out in the open."

Mr. Morris is 31 years of age, lives at 708 S. Wayne-av, and has been with the company for four years.

He delivers around 240 loaves of bread a day, and says the biggest demand in the pastry line is mostly sweet rolls and cakes.

Mr. Morris claims he will never forget the experience he had not so long ago when he asked a lady if she wanted a bread order and she said she didn't care for any. So he told her he would take her name and address and stop back later. Well, somehow she had the idea he was offering her a job, and her eyes about "popped" out and she said, "I don't want a job!"

By Ronnie Burgoon

Friday, May 7, six West Hi-Y boys, along with other Hi-Y members from all over the city, will take over the duties of City Government.

This is an annual affair and each year government posts are rotated with the exception of city councilmen.

Don Lane, former West High pupil who is now attending Grandview, was elected as president of the council.

Other council members elected were Dave Dobson, North; Jim Roberts, Arlington; Bob Parker, Linden-McKinley; Ralph Abruzzese, Central, and Bob Groves, Ohio State School for the Blind.

Other boys assigned to posts are as follows: Bob Fisher, Linden-McKinley, fire chief; Stuart Tobias, Grandview, police chief; Max Holzer, North, director of public safety, and Bob L. Smith, West High School, city attorney.

Jim Rose, superintendent of workhouse; Don Woodland, battalion fire chief; Gordon Welker, planning engineer; Don Skipper, fire prevention; and Bob Wolfe, Judge of Municipal Court, completes the list of West boys who are scheduled to take office.

The council will meet at 2 p. m. to discuss their views on how to better legislation.

Com. I. H. Cammarn Reveals Navy Dept. Anniversary Plans

By Don Young

Commander Irvin H. Cammarn, social studies instructor at West High School, commanding Naval Reserve Surface Brigade in Columbus, announces that "Operation Naval Reserve" began April 30, the sesquicentennial anniversary of the Navy Department, and will continue until May 21.

Special emphasis will be paid to bring the public's attention to the organized training program with pay now operating on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the Ohio State University Armory as well as volunteer home instruction courses. This training for men over 17 is available in many of the specialist and technical branches of the naval service.

Already nearly a thousand men are enrolled under the Organized Reserve Plan for advancement in ranks of their specialty, and places are available for several hundred more. Many others throughout Central Ohio, enlisted in the Volunteer Naval Reserve, carry on home study courses as they desire.

All members of the Reserve are eligible for annual training cruises aboard fighting ships of the navy or at schools ashore. This spring, many young men from the Columbus Brigade made cruise visits to Bermuda, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Jamaica, Panama and even ports as far distant as those in Turkey.

Plans for "Operation Naval Reserve" include a dance at the Neil House for all Surface Reservists on Tuesday, May 11; open house at the armory, May 19 and 20, and will be climaxed by all new members of the Reserve taking the oath of allegiance amid proper ceremony at the Red Bird Night Baseball Game on May 21.

The local Naval Reserve Office, Lt. Cdr. George W. Woerlin in charge, at the New Post Office Building, is handling all arrangements.

West Teen-Agers Model Fashions For Recent PTA

By Ruth Platt

A show displaying the latest teen-age fashions was held in the West High School Auditorium, Tuesday, April 27. The 2 p. m. show was staged by girls enrolled in the clothing department of the school under the direction of Miss Rhoda O'Harra, senior high clothing instructor.

The styles were exhibited before the West High PTA group during the regular April meeting of the Parent-Teacher organization.

The show as a whole was extremely entertaining, and many separate scenes attracted special attention.

When the curtain was raised on the style display, the audience was immediately transported into "Sleepy Land" by a number of girls dressed in pajamas, gowns and robes. A particularly appealing display was offered by a minute sized sister of one of the students.

Other sister acts were scattered throughout the show.

Betty Sass, West High senior, exhibited a before and after effect by showing her Easter, 1947 suit and by displaying the jacket with a new skirt and detail work.

Costumes ranged from simple-to-make dirndl skirts and pinafore aprons to beautifully tailored suits and coats.

Flare backs were very much in evidence in coats and suits while coats were either very short or very long. Skirts were extreme too, with full, full swing skirts and pencil-slim straight skirts as favorites.

Piano background throughout the show was provided by Donna Thomas and Jeanette Chakeres sang three solos.

The last number of the show captured the heart of everyone in the audience. Several girls, with their escorts, danced across the stage in dream dress formals while Dick Bowles sang "Stardust to Jena' McDaniells, who was wearing a lovely bridesmaid's dress of aqua taffeta.

Every costume which was worn by the girls was made by the model.

State Hospital Started In 1870

Seventy-eight years ago today, May 6, the first stake was set for the new asylum building at the new site on "Sullivant Hill," now referred to as the Hilltop.

The first asylum on the hill accomodated only 400 people and on April 18, 1870, the State Legislature passed an act providing for the sale of the old asylum grounds in East Columbus for $200,000.

On July 4, of the same year, the first foundations were laid. Many state officials were there for the occasion and various appropriate records and memorials were inclosed in a copper casket, hermetically sealed, and deposited in the cavity of a corner stone.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed anywhere in Franklin County for $1.50 per year.

Starling Jr. High

Spring Festival

The two spring plays being presented on May 6 and 7 by Starling Junior High are "The Early Worm" and "Life of the Party."

"The Early Worm" is about the Maxwell family, their troubles, and what happens when Hector, played by Ralph Hight, dates two girls. It has a very humorous character, Della, played by Barbara Harrison.

"Life of the Party" is a humorous play about a girl named Betty Lou, played by Carol Thrush, who is having a party.

Her brother, Wilbur, played by Bill Cady, wants to come to the party and is forbidden to do so. He very absent-mindedly does something that almost ruins the party.

Both plays are full of laughs.

Price of admission is 44c.

Hi-Y Softball Team

Starling's Hi-Y softball team has a very good start. It has played five games and won all of them. The teams they have played are Everett, Indianola, Dispatch Sub-station 32, Linden McKinley, and again Dispatch Sub-station 32.

The coach is John H. Pittentger.

The players are Ralph Bruckman, Rush Duty, Ross Davis, Finney, Dick Knapp, Charles Merritts, Dick Shivers, Don Shortridge, Jerry Wellnitz and Jerry White.

Garden Club

At the first meeting of the Garden Club on April 12, officers were chosen.

The officers are Nancy Timmons, president; Ned Hawley, vice-president; Arlene Johnston, secretary.

This year Miss Scofield is taking Miss Forbes' place as head supervisor. There were 25 pupils at the meeting. These pupils decided to appoint captains to check gardens during the summer. The captains are Thelma Casto, Ruby Imes and Ned Hawley.

Y-Teen Officers

The Y-Teen Club of Starling Junior High School elected the following new officers this semester: Carol Thrush, president; Charlotte Renner, vice-president; Janet LeValley, secretary; and Shirley Shell, treasurer.

The Neighbors

Whenever the neighbors have callers,
We hear quite a bit that they say;
We know when their servant is leaving,
And how much they owe of their pay.
We know when their children have measles,
When he and his wife have a fuss;
We shiver sometimes as we wonder
What the neighbors must know about us.

Radar Is Being Used To Apprehend Speeders On West Broad Street

By Paul Wichterman

Radar, that miracle weapon credited with contributing much to the Allies winning of World War II, is the latest instrument being used to break up speeding on West Broad-st.

If you have seen those signs along Broad-st marked "Police Speed Control Zone," you'd better slow down to the legal speed limits if you don't want to be picked up in a hurry.

"How do these speed zones operate?" you ask.

The answer is radar.

We saw the first public demonstration put on in the City of Columbus Friday afternoon in the vicinity of W. Broad-st and Algonquin-av. And we know that it works.

Just to convince ourselves Lee Weigand, C. C. Hartley and I violated the speed law right in front of Police Chief Charles M. Berry, Capt. Frank Harrison, Judge John Mathias and a half dozen police officers.

In Weigand's car we came east on W. Broad-st at what we estimated was in excess of 40 miles per hour. After we drove back to where the equipment was located, they told us our speed was between 40 and 42 miles per hour. There are no alibis with radar.

The equipment is quite simple. A plain automobile without police markings is parked about 100 feet inside of the start of the speed control zone. The radar device, mounted on the fender of the car, is focused on a point where the speed zone starts. A plain dial registers the speed of the approaching car as soon as it enters the radar field. This dial is on a small indicator box located inside the car.

For enforcement purposes, a police car or motorcycle officer is posted ahead of the plain car. The two officers are in constant radio communication with each other. As soon as the officer with the radar equipment discovers the approach of a car at an excessive speed, he immediately relays the license number of the car and the indicated speed that it is traveling to the second officer, whose job it is to make the arrest.

Capt. Harrison believes that the signs and street markings will have a psychological effect of slowing down traffic generally. The speed control areas will be established at frequent intervals along the main streets in regions where speeding is known to be prevalent. Whether or not enforcement officers are on duty at a given time will not be known to the motorist until he is through the zone. It is believed that once drivers know of the existence of these zones, there will be a natural tendency to reduce speed and that is exactly what police officers are trying to do.

Three or four crews of officers with the radar equipment can jump from one spot to another with only a few minutes of time required to get ready for action. It won't pay any motorist to speed through one of these marked areas not knowing for sure whether or not he will be picked up if he violates the law.

Already three of these zones have been established along Broad-st on the Hilltop. Others will be set up in other areas.

So watch your speed. They can clock you more accurately than your own speedometer will be able to register. You can't argue with radar. Ask any of the boys who used it to detect ships, airplanes, etc., during World War II.

Occident Staff Did Nice Job

The staff of the Record was increased by about 18 people last week when the Occident staff at West High came in to edit our paper. This has been a custom for many years and one that is increasingly popular.

We of the Record have long felt that scholastic activities of the local school should come in for similar recognition to that given sports. We have taken it on ourselves to sponsor this annual event for the budding journalists of West High and each year after the paper is off the press we hold a luncheon for the staff.

Last year at the conclusion of the similar event we announced the establishment of a scholarship fund for the outstanding journalism student. We are pleased to announce this week that the first winner of the scholarship has been selected.

All in all the group present last week did a very creditable job. We wish them every success upon graduation.

Others who rated in the upper bracket of those taking the tests are as follows:

Rosemarie Colombo—French—third in Div. I, and fifth in district.

Sue Glass — English — third in Div. I.

Aroused Hilltoppers Want More Traffic Lights For Protection Of Children; 300 To Enter Kindergarten

Free kindergarten work is expected to enroll approximately 300 pre-school age children in four local elementary schools next September.

Because of the lowering of the school age and consequent reduction in the number of 1B pupils, it is not expected that the additional students will cause a serious housing problem in the local buildings. In some instances an additional teacher or two will be required to take care of the increased enrollment.

A survey of the entire community by sixth grade pupils, teachers and PTA workers was completed last week to acquaint school officials with the number of pupils to expect in September.

In the case of John Burroughs School, seventh grade pupils will be moved over to West Junior High School to help make room for the 125 kindergarten pupils expected. The 7B class has been taught there since West Junior became crowded back about 1940.

E. B. Graham, principal of John Burroughs, said that two teachers would be assigned to kindergarten work there next fall. This will, however, eliminate one class of beginners since only 60 1B pupils are expected because of the start of public school kindergarten work. Between 40 and 50 pre-school children were enrolled during the past two semesters in privately-supported kindergarten work.

67 Expected At Highland

At Highland Avenue School ap-

Aroused Hilltoppers this week were petitioning for traffic lights for at least three intersections.

The campaigns have all sprung up independently and as a result of the critical injuries suffered by Judy Wolfe, six-year-old school girl, while crossing W. Broad-st at Sylvan-av two weeks ago. Judy had not fully regained consciousness on Wednesday of this week, a check with the Mt. Carmel Hospital revealed. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wolfe, 336 N. Sylvan-av.

Neighbors of the West Broad Street School pupil presented petitions to the City Traffic Commission Monday bearing the names of 400 persons. The petition asked for the installation of a traffic signal at the intersection where Judy was struck as she attempted to cross the thoroughfare to board a bus. There is now a traffic light at Algonquin-av, one street east of Sylvan-av.

Members of the Highland Avenue PTA and the principal, Frank Mason, addressed a letter to traffic officials this week asking for installation of a light at Highland-av and W. Broad-st where many children cross to and from school each day. The letter, signed by Mrs. Edward Thompson 220 N. Oakley-av, corresponding secretary of the PTA group, pointed out that mothers of children eligible for public school kindergarten work this fall would not permit their youngsters to cross Broad-st alone without an additional light. Nearest traffic signals now are at Midland-av and Oakley-av.

Mrs. Thompson also pointed out that members of Glenwood Methodist and Highland Avenue Friends Churches were vitally interested in getting a light for the protection of Sunday School and church goers.

Still a third light is being sought for the intersection of Binns-blvd and Sullivant-av. Ray Eyerman, 2970 Parkside-dr, is chairman of a group of St. Mary Magdalene PTA members planning to go before the Traffic Commission May 24.

In this instance, parents of children attending John Burroughs, West Junior and Senior High School as well as St. Mary Magdalene Church and school are being enlisted in the drive for the protection of persons who are required to cross Sullivant-av. At present the nearest light on Sullivant-av is at Hague-av, three blocks east.

Record Want Ads Are "Casher Inners"

Another Record classified advertising customer knows the value of selling through the "want ads." She is Mrs. A. W. Eifert, 228 Demorest-av.

Last week Mrs. Eifert placed the following ad in the Miscellaneous for Sale column:

"8-pc. oak dining room suite. Leather seats. RA. 0072."

She sold the suite to the first person who called on Thursday evening. (The ad cost her only 36c.) Now is the time to "cash in" on surplus household goods. Place your ad in next week's edition by calling RA. 1125 before 9 a. m. on Wednesday.

HCC To Meet This Evening

The Hilltop Community Council will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at the Teen Canteen, 2585 W. Broad-st, at 8 o'clock. Cyrus Rawlings, 621 Chestershire-rd, will preside.

Plans for the official opening of the two school and three park playgrounds early in June will be announced. The program, as in the past several years, will be coordinated with those of the City Recreation Department and the Board of Education.

Averille Thorn, the new executive secretary of the Hilltop YMCA, will be present.

Hilltop Bean Dinner Planned

Shades of pre-war days on the Hilltop. The Bean Dinner is coming back this summer.

Residents of the community prior to 1941 will well remember the big crowds that gathered at Westgate Park every summer for the Hilltop Bean Dinner. It's an old-fashioned small-town custom that took hold in a big way in the big city.

At an executive board meeting of the Hilltop Business Association last week, plans were approved for holding the event again for the fifth time. The exact date is not known pending contact with concessionaires to line up the usual rides and fun-making equipment that goes with such an event.

Joseph Briggs, insurance man at 3596 Sullivant-av, has been named general chairman of the Bean Dinner. He will be assisted by members of the business advancement committee, made up of Gus Johnson, Jack Merriman, John Davis, Jack Boyer, Harold Greene, Don Rice, C. C. Hartley and Charles Haas.

Preliminary plans call for serving the traditional plate of beans and crackers with a cup of coffee at a very nominal cost. (Before the war the beans were served free but present prices of beans makes this impossible this year.) Plans are also in the making for a Hilltop-wide merchandising event to be climaxed with the giving of $1,000 or more in prizes.

For the kiddies there will be contests of every description. Several ideas for adult entertainment are being explored at this time.

The Bean Dinner custom came to the Hilltop in 1938 and was held through 1941. The war put an end to such celebrations and several efforts to revive the idea had been tabled by members of the HBA committee due to high prices, scarcities, etc.

At one time a crowd estimated at more than 30,000 persons braved summer showers to attend the event.

Booster Paper Drive Has Been Cancelled

There will be no West High Booster paper drive on May 22 as announced in last week's Hilltop Record.

Following a meeting of the club Tuesday night it was decided to cancel the drive since none of the paper companies would agree to take the paper off their hands. A recent sharp drop in scrap paper prices has caused paper mills to refuse to buy paper at this time, glutting the local scrap dealers' warehouses.

Chuck Weigand and Robert Chrisman were to have headed the drive with benefits going toward further improvements at Magly Field.

Another D-5 Liquor Permit Sought Here

Another application for a night club permit was reviewed at a public hearing at the Liquor Control Department Friday.

The application was filed several weeks ago by James Apostolou, doing business on the Hilltop in the name of the Cotillion Restaurant, 2776 W. Broad-st. The restaurant is located within a 500-foot radius of St. John Lutheran Church, West Broad Street Elementary School and the Hilltop Library.

Appearing at the hearing in opposition to the granting of the D-5 liquor permit was Robert M. Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, member of the Columbus Board of Education and Democratic candidate for Congress in the next general election.

News of the Cotillion liquor application was not known by The Hilltop Record until Tuesday of this week despite a weekly check with liquor department officials on another application still pending. It was learned, however, that the department had served notice of the pending application with Rev. C. T. Langholz, pastor of the St. John Church. According to the liquor department spokesman, the notice was served on April 15, however, Mr. Draper told the Record that he had not known of the application until the evening prior to the public hearing (May 7).

Rev. Langholz was out of town and could not be reached for a statement. Draper said he appeared in opposition to the granting of the permit as a representative of his church, a school official, a member of the school PTA and as a resident of the voting precinct.

A spokesman for the liquor department, while refusing to be quoted, indicated that the permit would not be granted because of its proximity to the school and church.

Mrs. C. O. Cramer To Head Community Fund Campaign Here

Mrs. Chester O. Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, has been named chairman of the West Residential Division for the 1948 Community Chest campaign to be held early next winter.

A preliminary meeting of the various chairmen is being held today with a staff of colonels, majors and captains for the drive, to be completed by June 1, Mrs. Cramer said.

Three To Attend Legion Boy State

Three local boys have been selected to attend the 12th annual American Legion Boys State, to be held on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University June 12-22.

They are William Clarkin, 135 N. Chase-av, Jack Helman, 239 S. Westgate-av, and William McCrady, 178 S. Roys-av. All three are students at West High School. A fourth boy, Harry Hollern, 1212 Cleveland-av, a student at Holy Family School, was selected as an alternate.

The three boys are sent to this one-week school in practical government through the joint efforts of Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, the Hilltop Business Association and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Central Wins Hilltop Relays; Triangular Meet To Be Tues.

By Dave Miller

Central High's Pirates took the second straight Hilltop Relay Tuesday evening under the lights at Magly Field.

A crowd estimated at about 1500 persons braved lightning, thunder and a heavy downpour of rain before the evening's schedule was complete.

The Pirates took their second win in as many outings in the Second Annual Hilltop Relays. The Bucks scored 80 points, sparked by dash-men Bob Cooper, Keys and Fox. The three took the 220, 440 and 880 yard dashes, respectively.

In addition to the events won by Central individuals mentioned above, Central took the 440 relay and the 880 relay.

In the two-mile relay Linden was victor after North and West were disqualified and, therefore, no time was kept.

880-yard relay — Won by Champion; 1:41.3.

The second night track meet of the year will take place under the Magly Field floodlights Tuesday, May 18, starting at about 7:30 in the evening.

R. C. Glass, track coach at West High School, said that this would be a triangular event with Chillicothe, Newark and West participating. At the same time West Junior High will entertain Everett and Newark Junior on the West cinder track.

Events will run the same as the Hilltop Relays that attracted 1500 persons here Tuesday night in spite of thunder showers. The same queens and the West High School band will be on hand to add color to the event.

Admission is only 25c per person with plenty of good seats assured. This is the first year that lights have been available on the Hilltop for these night track events.

"Y" Drive To Continue

The finance drive for the Hilltop YMCA is not over.

Several workers are still busy making call backs and doing further solicitation among families that have not yet been contacted. Persons who are now being contacted are urged to give the project their hearty support in view of the fact that several thousand dollars remain to be secured before the goal is reached.

During the past week over $500 additional money was turned in, bringing the total to well over $10,000. Elsewhere in the Record today is the first of a series of lists of contributors and members to date. Others will be carried from week to week.

Work is being started immediately to clean up, paint and refurnish the Weber home at Burgess-av and Broad-st, where headquarters for the Hilltop "Y" are being established. Bids are being taken for painting the lower floor rooms.

A custodian for the building will be hired and daily cleaning of the quarters will be scheduled. A three-room apartment with light and heat furnished will be provided for the custodian. Anyone interested in the job is asked to contact a board member.

Hilltop Mother Overjoyed At Cable From Youngest Son On Mother's Day

A Hilltop mother of seven for whom doctors had given up all hope of life a few months ago received one of the most welcome bits of news Sunday. It was a simple cablegram from Germany reading:

"Mother's Day greetings to the dearest Mom in the world. Your son, Fred."

A letter that followed bore more good news. Fred, who has been serving in the army for two and one-half years, is coming home this summer.

Mrs. W. K. Miller, 77 Wheatland-av, could not contain her joy and of course contacted The Hilltop Record. The local woman underwent a major operation in Doctors' Hospital last Halloween night. For several days her physician would give the family virtually no hope for her survival but after a long struggle she has recuperated remarkably and was this week able to move back into her own home after being cared for almost constantly for the past seven months by a daughter, Mrs. Lu Jordan, 144 S. Eureka-av.

Fred, who is a technical sergeant in communications work in Germany, is the youngest member of the family and the second of two sons to serve in the armed services.

Mr. Miller is a bindery foreman at the Warner P. Simpson Company. The children include William E. Miller, 153 N. Ogden-av, Mrs. Jordan, W. J. Miller, 642 S. Wheatland-av, R. K. Miller, 2494 Steele-av, a former Marine who served in the Pacific Theater; Mrs. Harold Fleck, Clime-rd; Mrs. Albert Pindell, 255 N. Wheatland-av, and Sgt. Fred Miller.

Car Thieves Fail To Steal Dr. Miller's Buick Convertible

An attempt to steal the 1948 Buick convertible belonging to Dr. R. J. Miller, 119 Binns-blvd, was thwarted at the residence Monday night.

Dr. Miller, president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, had just returned from a Kiwanis meeting in Circleville. He drove the car into the garage beside the house about 10 p. m. The ignition was locked but the garage doors stood open.

A few minutes later his son, Robert, drove past the residence and discovered the Buick almost in the middle of Binns-blvd. It is believed that whoever attempted to steal the car pushed it out into the street by hand, expecting to wire around the ignition switch. The car thieves were apparently scared by pedestrians or motorists in the neighborhood.

Just about one year ago, two youths stole Dr. Miller's car from its parking place near a local restaurant. It was recovered a few hours later.

50 Trucks To Cover Hilltop

The Hilltop will undergo a face lifting operation Saturday and Monday.

On those two days, 50 city refuse trucks will converge on the community in the Hilltop phase of the city-wide "clean-up" campaign. All residents are urged to clean out basements, garages or attics and place all unwanted materials in containers in the alley.

E. O. Melvin, chairman of the local Kiwanis committee helping promote the "clean up" campaign, asked that local residents get behind the project 100 per cent. The entire facilities of the city refuse department are being made available by Supt. William C. Anderson.

Residents are asked to place rubbish in containers "wherever possible." It will speed up the work if householders follow this instruction, Melvin pointed out.

Others working on the Kiwanis committee are Dr. F. L. Keiser, Dr. E. D. Morgan, Paul Rausch, Gus Johnson, Muse Williams and Howard Davis.

Wedding Bells To Unite 2nd Couple In Friends Foursome

By Libby Bowling

When the wedding bells begin to ring on June 6, at the marriage of Esther Garner and Robert Hess, it will seem as if "history truly repeats itself."

Eleven years ago on that day Harold Fox and Peggy Skipper exchanged wedding vows.

That fact is not too astonishing in itself, however, the best is yet to come. Harold and Bob are good friends, having lived in Hughesville, Pa., for many years. Esther and Peggy are chums, too, having lived near each other on N. Terrace-av.

The Foxes first met at a meeting of the Ohio Yearly Conference of Friends Churches in Damascus, O. Bob first saw Esther at one of these meetings also, but did not meet her until later.

Rev. Chester G. Stanley, who will officiate at the coming marriage in the Highland Avenue Friends Church, knows the foursome quite well, too. While he was pastor of a congregation in Hughesville, Peggy and her sister, Irene, stopped at his home while visiting Harold Fox. For several months Hess worked in a Hilltop store and while there made his home with the Stanleys at 68 N. Burgess-av. (Incidentally, Rev. Stanley was responsible for the meeting of the couple.)

Esther and Bob both attend Asbury College near Lexington, Ky., at present. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Stella Garner, 39 N. Terrace-av.

The Hilltop Record can be mailed anywhere in Franklin County for $1.50 per year.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Mrs. John R. Swinehart, as matron of honor; and Miss Jo Ann Krause, cousin of the groom, and Miss Ann Snodgrass of Groveport, her college classmate, as bridesmaids. Little Miss Deborah Draper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Draper, will be flower girl. Mr. Max Dodds of Lima, Ohio, will serve as best man and seating the guests will be Mr. John R. Swinehart and Mr. Herbert Poenisch, both of Columbus.

The following friends of the bride will assist at the reception which will be held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony: Mrs. Herman Webet, Mrs. Richard Kuhn and Miss Claranpe Hauelsen, all of Hilliards; Miss Carolyn Fischer of Circleville; Miss Marcella Rhodebeck of Summit Station; Mrs. Herbert Poenisch, Mrs. Richard Anthony, Mrs. Charles Martin, Miss Jeanne Swinehart, Miss Martha Lou Mason and Miss Helen Claire Koontz, all of Columbus.

Pusecker Plans Christmas In 80 Degree Heat

By Lee Elsner

One of the 36 art studios in the country which do commercial papier-mache work is located on the Hilltop.

The Pusecker Art Studio, owned by Ivan Pusecker, 142 S. Warren-av, is operated in the basement of the Pusecker home. Mr. Pusecker jokingly refers to his imaginative designs as "a lot of dirty work." Be that as it may, the figures, abstractions and landscapes are very popular. Most Columbusites would recognize them, for they are used by Lazarus, the Union, the Gas Co. and in various other window displays throughout the city.

The studio switched to papier-mache from conventional art work three or four weeks ago, when it received a large order for a display, and has been doing the same work ever since.

It now sends its products to places as scattered as West Virginia, Florida, Texas and Chicago.

Now, preparations for Christmas orders rae being made since store windows must be designed and completed long before the public sees them.

Five People Employed

All the figures are designed and made by the five people who work at the studio, sometimes from a customer's original idea of what he wants, more often from what the customer has been convinced that he needs by the studio.

Mr. Pusecker has a collection of books from which he draws ideas for his figures and the details which will make their costumes and settings authentic.

The figures range from formal designs for fashion store windows to "cute" animals and such for children's displays.

Not only people and animals are made by the studio, but a variety of papier-mache products. One downtown hotel recently bought some decorative papier-mache drapes. But in case you're thinking of buying some to go with the new living room rug, remember they cost $45 apiece!

The wiggly-looking designs may be made by either of two methods. A wire frame may be made from drawing, and the damp paper wound around it. Then the paper is heated. When dry it can be colored and decorated. Another method is that of making a clay model, from which models are cast into shape, and usually come out with a smoother surface than before.

Ivan Pusecker, dark and husky owner of the studio, is enthusiastic about the opportunities that commercial art offers to young artists.

"Too few of the people graduating from colleges and art schools today," he says, "realize that the merchants class has taken the part of art patronage and encouragement formerly held by the church and nobility." Mr. Pusecker himself is a model of his point—a successful example for his statement.

Self Service Is Latest Laundry Method Here

By Lee Elsner

The Hilltop Self-Service Laundry, at 2331 W. Broad St., is the first service of its kind in this section of the city.

The store is part of a chain that has many other units in operation, and has been open only since Jan. 5.

The store was copied after a pattern established in the east, designed to relieve work-burdened house-wives who have no washing machines for their dirty clothes. It is equipped with 30 Bendix automatic washers, and chairs to wait in.

Many housewives, husbands and bachelors bring their washes, and shop or read for an hour, while the machines, after performing all the washing and drying operations by themselves, simply automatically shut off. The charge is 30c for washing and the same amount for drying a tub-full of clothes.

Betty Carlson, the friendly cashier, says that many women in the neighborhood seem to find the laundry a valuable service, and have become steady customers. A typical comment from a hurrying housekeeper is, "This place is a wonderful thing."

Now that the age of the automatic washer is upon us, it seems that many old customs are being discarded. Monday is no longer wash-day—the laundry, which is open every day, except Sunday, has an equal volume every day of the week.

Indeed, there's something new under the sun on the Hilltop.

The concert is being sponsored by the West District Campfire Leaders Association. Tickets are being sold by all members of the Campfire organization for 60c, including tax, for children and adults. All proceeds realized by the Campfire Girls will go toward a fund to build a swimming pool at Camp Wyandotte.

Two of the group's soloists, both heard recently in the 19th annual Hilltop Minstrel, will have places on the concert program. They are Allyn Snoddy, tenor, and Ivan Reed, bass. The concert is scheduled for 8:15 p. m.

Chairman of the concert is Mrs. K. L. Birkhead, 76 N. Powell-av. Ticket sale will be in the hands of Mrs. Richard Wright, 140 Columbian-av, while publicity and advertising will be handled by Mrs. Ernest Henry, 159 N. Oakley-av, and Mrs. Charles Siegfried, 175 Belvidere-av, respectively.

Prizes will be awarded to the girls selling the most tickets. First prize will be a week at Camp Wyandotte this summer.

Adair Services To Be Held This Morning

He is survived by his wife, Fannie; three daughters, Mrs. Mabel Schmidt, Mrs. Noel Maher and Mrs. Ray Poenisch, and three grandchildren. A son, John, former stereotyper for The Hilltop Record and later the Dispatch, was killed in action in the Philippine Islands.

Mr. Adair was likewise a stereotyper, having worked for the Dispatch and later Western News paper Union. He was a member of West Gate Lodge No. 623, F and AM.

Bus Driver Tells Of "Pet" Peeves

By Ginny Martin

The man who takes you to work every morning, has a mind and troubles of his own, and carries upon his shoulders a load of responsibilities. Life for a bus driver isn't just a bed of "Move to the Rear's". There's a lot more to it than that!

To tell of some peculiar happenings while driving a bus, we would like for you to know Clarence H. Vagnier, 405 S. Richardson-av, who is married and has a son four years old.

Mr. Vagnier has been driving a bus for almost 10 years. He has had some experiences which were funny, others not so funny! For instance, Mr. Vagnier cannot understand why people will take a last puff on a cigar, then step on the bus and blow the smoke in your face!

Why do people wait to unfold their transfer until they get on the bus, and then stand there and try to unfold it in a hurry. You might as well leave it folded, because the bus driver can unfold it twice as fast!

It seems odd to Mr. Vagnier to see a young boy or girl who should pay full fare try to get on the bus and escape the bus driver by paying only half fare. "Then if you ask them for the full fare, they look down on you as an old meany, but they get over it," says Mr. Vagnier.

When your reporter asked Mr. Vagnier for advice to the passengers who are in a hurry to get to their destinations, he replied, "To get on the bus and not take your good old time is one way to avoid losing time."

To be at the corner waiting for the bus, instead of the bus having to wait for you, is another Vagnier opinion.

"This business of the bus waiting for you when it is already a minute late is what causes bus tie-ups," he said.

Mr. Vagnier claims the Sullivant and Cleveland lines are "heaviest," which proves there are a lot of good old Hilltoppers who patronize the trolley.

Fr. Township Graduation Is Next Wednesday

Commencement exercises for 88 Franklin Township eighth grade graduates from the township schools will be held in the auditorium at West High School Wednesday evening, May 19.

E. R. Beck, assistant superintendent of Franklin County schools, will give the address. Elbert Becker, president of the Franklin Township School Board, will award the diplomas. Music will be under the direction of Mrs. Keith Fields, school music teacher.

An unusual feature of the program will be the singing of "On Guard America," an original composition to be presented for the first time in public. It was written by Elzie Radcliffe, principal of Wilson School.

The eighth grade class banquet for students at Wilson School will be held Tuesday evening, May 18. The school picnic will be held Thursday with school closing the following day.

Moon To Head Glenwood Players

The Glenwood Players Guild, the amateur dramatics group of the Glenwood Methodist Church, elected Howard C. Moon as its president for the 1948-1949 season, at the annual meeting held last week. Other officers elected were Jack Galloway, vice-president; Ethel Galloway, secretary, and Lee Harlow, treasurer.

For their fall production, the group selected "Polishing Papa," a three-act comedy by Clark Willard. Casting for the five men and five women characters will be completed in the near future, and it is planned to have the play ready for presentation in Motter Hall.

West Dropped From Tourney Tuesday By Central Pirates

By Dave Miller

The battery combination of Tom Jones, pitcher, and Bobby Logan, catcher, was just too much for West High's Cowboys, both defensively and offensively, as the Central Pirates defeated the Cowboys in the semi-final round of tournament play at Ohio State diamond No. 4, 11 to 0, Tuesday.

In addition to the three-hit pitching of Jones, he also had four hits for five turns at the plate. Logan, Jones' battery mate, hit two home runs to deep left-center field in three trips to the plate. The peppery little receiver scored five runs of the Central total.

The Bucs scored three in the first. The very first pitch of the game by pitcher Paul Theisen was hit for a four-master by Logan. Three hits and a duo of errors accounted for the rest of the Pirate total. Three hits along with two more Cowboy errors put the Central cause way out in front, 5-0. Central scored two in each of the fourth, sixth and seventh innings. Logan's second homer came with one man on in the final frame.

West's three hits were very well scattered by Jones. Dick Culbertson got the first one, in the fourth inning. John Cherup got one in the sixth and Al Andrews got one in the seventh. Jones walked two and struck out five. The two walks were to shortstop Dick Lamprecht and catcher Andrews, "Ty" Theisen, who went the route for the Cowboys, struck out two and walked the same number.

Tuesday's line score:

Central	320	202	2	11	12	1
West	000	000	0	0	3	5

Jones and Logan; Theisen and Andrews.

proximately 67 kindergarten pupils are expected with 37 new first graders, Frank Mason, principal, reported. Ordinarily there would be two 1B classes there but this year one class will handle the students. An additional teacher will be assigned, however, because of a general increase in the number of pupils.

Matilda Stuart, principal of West Broad Street School, said she expects 114 kindergarteners in September with about 60 beginners as compared to 102 last fall. An average of 60 pupils have been enrolled in the privately-supported kindergarten program during the current year, she said. The school has sufficient room to take care of the additional enrollment, the principal stated.

At West Mound Street School, Mrs. Gladys Schake, head teacher, said that a survey indicated that about 38 kindergarten pupils now live in that area. Fourteen first graders are expected under the new age limit.

Six Tennis Courts Await Net Players

Six tennis courts at Westgate Park are ready for play and lack only one thing to date—players.

Jim Slager, former West High grid star, who is looking after the courts, said this week that Hilltoppers are apparently not aware of the fact that the courts were opened a full month earlier than usual this year for few net enthusiasts have shown up thus far.

Lights have been installed and should be ready for use for night play within a matter of days. At present the six courts are open for public play from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. As soon as the lights are in operation, closing time will be moved up to 10 p. m.

Slager explained that rates this year would be as follows:

Adults—25c per hour for singles; 20c for doubles.

Children—20c per hour for singles; 15c for doubles.

Beautification Program Being Planned At West

By Harper

Already "The School Beautiful," West High School, instructors Clarence Bateman, Earl Reed, and Principal I. F. Young, in charge of the beautification there, are planning a long-range flower garden program to perpetuate the idea promoted by Principal I. F. Young three years ago.

All mums which were frozen during the winter are being replaced, Mr. Bateman said.

Several plots of new slips have been planted and will later be transplanted in strategic points about the landscape.

Leo McComb, owner of the Rosebud Floral Company, visited the school last week, surveyed the grounds, and made valuable recommendations to the committee.

The tulips are in bloom in the inner court in various colors. Zennias and petunias are being cultivated in the greenhouse and will later be set about to add more color to the grounds.

Several of the janitors are putting the ground in condition.

The football field has been completely fertilized and seeded. In order to keep up with the rapid growth of the grass, a new style lawn mower had to be purchased.

The gridiron at the Hilltop school has probably the most colorful and well developed turf of any field in central Ohio, the committee believes.

The school would be interested in receiving any peony slips, Mr. Bateman said. They will be set out next fall.

Local Band Parent Officers Aid Bexley In Starting Club

Realizing the need of an organization to back the band and cooperate with the band director, a group of parents met in Bexley High School on April 27, for the purpose of considering such a move. Having heard of the success attained by West High Band Parents' Club, they invited Mrs. F. B. McCrady and Mrs. Dennen Leach, president and vice-president, respectively, to attend and explain the formation and workings of the club. Everyone caught the enthusiasm of the two speakers, and, as a result, voted to organize the Bexley Band Parents' Club. A slate of officers was elected.

They immediately went to work to support and promote the Band Festival to be held in Bexley, May 14. The high school bands from Newark, Lima Central, Van Wert, Kenton and Spencerville will join Bexley High School Band to present an outdoor concert under the direction of guest conductor Manley R. Whitcomb of Ohio State University.

Juvenile Council To Sponsor Camp Awards, Pictures

By Ruth Platt

The Juvenile Council of the Hilltop has been in operation a little over one year. In its short lifetime it has been responsible for the completion of several worthy projects in the community.

Recently, Donald Smith, chairman of the council, announced that this group will sponsor free motion pictures for the children of the Hilltop. It is not known as yet where these afternoon shows will be held, but plans are being completed to hold these entertaining features several times a week.

The council has also established $100 scholarships for two seniors of West High School to be awarded every year. Along with these academic scholarships, the council has provided for ten underprivileged boys to attend a summer camp, directed by Judge Clayton W. Hess.

Camp scholarships have also been established in order that boys in the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th grades might attend camp for three weeks this summer.

In addition to these many extra projects, for which the Juvenile Council is responsible, it is engaged in a continual program of child welfare in cooperation with Irvin F. Young, principal of West High School.

Serves 34 Years As Mail Carrier

By Jeanette Chakeres

On July 1, this year, Columbus will celebrate its 75th year of free mail delivery. Yes, it is such a common occurance to open our door and walk a few steps to our individual boxes to receive our mail every day, that few of us take the time to realize how fortunate we are.

When the U. S. Government started free delivery of mail in Columbus in 1873, nine men were appointed as carriers. So poor were these men, that firms and individuals made small Christmas gifts to those faithful carriers in their route. The gift custom was adopted so that the men would have sufficient compensation to prevent them from resigning.

Now that we know some of the past, let us look to the future and to the present Hilltop P. O. Branch at W. Broad-St.

All carriers and clerks in the post offiee, to comply with government regulations, must pass a civil service examination, a physical examination, and must be at least 18 years of age.

The regular carriers at the Hilltop Post Office number 23, among whom 58-year-old O. R. Siler is the oldest and has 34 years service. The youngest carriers employed are 30-year-old twins, Lloyd and Floyd Clark with seven years service each.

Ninety-eight per cent of all the carriers employed here are residents of the Hilltop and each furnish their own uniforms.

It is easy to see why these men must pass a thorough physical examination when you take into consideration the fact that they carry an average of 200 pounds of mail a day and walk at least five miles on one trip.

During this trip an average carrier makes 535 stops and carries approximately 1,500 pieces of mail. This mail consists on an average of 1,164 letters and 436 papers and magazines.

The maximum weight carried in the carrier's bags is 40 pounds and the rest is sent by truck to relay boxes along the carrier's route.

When at times you receive your mail later than usual, hold your temper and remember that these men who deliver your mail—in rain or snow—are performing a very important public service for you and your neighbors.

The superintendent of the Hilltop Post Office is John F. Raymond, and the regular clerks employed at this office are: Earl Struble, Ray Anderson, Roy Krouse, Bernor Stout, and Charles O'Conor, a substitute.

Joplin, Missouri, is located in a rich mining district, that produces lead, zinc and coal.

Young Earns $100 Hilltop Record Scholarship

The firs annual Hilltop Record $100 scholarship was awarded last week to Don Young, 159½ N. Ogden-av, a senior at West High School. The announcement was made by C. Carlton Hartley, publisher of the Record, at a luncheon meeting for West journalism students at the Airport Restaurant Thursday.

The scholarship will be given each year to some senior for outstanding work in the field of journalism. Don served as news editor of the Record last week when West students wrote and edited the paper.

Those attending the luncheon included Irvin F. Young, principal of the school, Harry L. Zuluaf, business manager, Myron Seifert, journalism instructor, Paul Wichterman, editor of the Record, and the following students:

Jeannette Chakeres, Virginia Casey, Don Young, Ruth Platt, Lois Waters, Martha Smith, Lee Eisner, Mark Mowrey, Virginia Martin, Ray Bostic, Ronnie Burgeon, Robert J., Smith, Martha Brown, Wilbur Ehlers, Barbara Harper, Pat LaValle, Ruth Paul, Marilyn Norris, Charlene Gilmore, Gene McGurer, Ida Mae Emrick and Harriet Hutson. Jack Kelly, another student, was unable to attend.

Young, who moved to the Hilltop less than a year ago, has had varied experience on school publications, newspapers and magazines. During the present semester he has been news editor of the Occident, West student publication. In Detroit and Hinsdale, Ill., where he formerly resided, he had worked on several publications both in and out of school. He plans to follow journalism as a career. He is a member of Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP—Don Young, 159½ N. Ogden-av, was awarded The Hilltop Record $100 scholarship for outstanding work in the field of journalism among West High School students. The award was announced at a luncheon meeting Thursday at the Airport Restaurant following publication of the Record last week by West High School journalism students. The scholarship can be used at any college or university.

Fred Wolf Hits 679

Fred Wolf, one of the managers of the Hilltop Recreation, tried vainly for the coveted 700 mark Thursday night as he ended the regular bowling season with a blazing 679 count on games of 194, 253, 232. Fred went into the last frame needing only a strike for 700 but failed to gain it. They tell me Fred is still looking for the bump in the alley. Fred rolls with the Shank & Saunders team, which won the league championship.

Cowboys Win First Two Tourney Games By Downing Grandview and Rosary Nines

By Dave Miller

West's Cowboys emerged victorious in both games of tournament play this past week-end, defeating Grandview, 1 to 0, and downing Rosary, 8 to 0, Monday.

On Saturday, the George Williams-coached nine defeated Grandview behind Charlie Weeks' one-hit twirling at Ohio State diamond No. 4. The only hit off Weeks came in the next-to-last frame, the sixth, by shortstop Don Lindsley.

Weeks was unconquerable throughout the game, although he did issue six free passes to first base. One man, the Grandview center fielder, Dick Wagle, walked and stole second in the first. The West hurler walked one more in that frame. Weeks then in the next inning struck out two in a row only to walk the next man, but struck out the following.

The mound giant was saved in the sixth inning, Grandview's biggest chance. Lindsley, first man up, hit the first pitch for a single. Jack Rudy walked. Willard Merrick, Grandview third baseman, attempted a bunt, and was safe when Weeks fumbled it. This made the situation, none out, and the bases full.

"Tink" Taylor, Grandview's pitcher, sent a line drive right in to the hands of center fielder John Cherup for the first out and no one scoring. Jim Rudy hit a ground ball to Dave Dupler at third, and the All-City third-baseman pegged to Al Andrews at the plate to force out Lindsley. Jim Devlin, Grandview's tall first-sacker, struck out to end a thrilling inning. Weeks got the last man in the seventh inning to clinch the victory. It was Weeks' second win against one setback, although he pitched that tie 12 inning affair at North.

The Cowboys got their one and only run in the second inning.

The West nine looked bad in the first frame as Taylor pitched only 11 pitches to strike out the first three men. However, in the next, Dick Kirk, first batter up, drew a base on balls. Dave Dupler was hit by a pitched ball. Al Andrews hit one back to the pitcher, forcing Kirk at third. Don Little made the second out of the inning by striking out. Then Don Skipper, West's second-sacker, clubbed a long drive to right, scoring Dupler. Skipper's blow was a drive down the right-field line and the right fielder booted it so it was not classified as a double, but a single and an error by the official scorer.

West Garners 4 Hits

West got only four hits off Taylor's curve balls. Aside from Skipper's one-baser, other singles were made by Dupler in the fourth, pitcher Chuck Weeks in the fifth, and Al Andrews in the sixth.

Probably the most outstanding player in this contest was the catcher, Al Andrews. His hitting was timely, and he saved the day in that Grandview sixth inning when he stopped some of Charlie Weeks' low throws to the pan and making two good catches of foul balls.

In the Rosary fray, at East, on Monday, another West twirler hurled a one-hitter in tournament play as Phil Young, 15-year-old sophomore at West, halted the Rosary East Siders, 8 to 0. This was the identical score of the 8-0 win Young pitched against Hilliards on April 19 as he also hurled a one-hitter.

The lone hit off the former Junior High star was a broken bat single to center by shortstop Bob Purpura. The Rosary baseballers got a man as far as third base in the second frame when two walks along with a wild pitch set the scene for first baseman Dick Culbertson to grab a hot grounder by the catcher, Ray Dearley, and force out the man on third.

West seemed to be able to score at will against the two Rosary pitchers, starter Ray Bott and Jim Birch. The current City League leaders tallied two in the very first. After two were away, Dick Culbertson and Dick Kirk both singled, and two runs scored on third-baseman Jim Frost's untimely error on Dave Dupler's grounder. Pat Collins and Don Skipper both knocked one-basers to right and Phil Young walked to load the sacks. Cherup forced Young, scoring Collins, and Skipper tallied on Culbertson's second straight single.

Two Runs In Sixth

Two more runs made it 6-0 in the third frame. Dave Dupler led off by singling, Pat Collins was hit by a pitched ball, and they both advanced in a wild pitch. Phil Young lofted a fly to right, but the right-fielder dropped it and Collins scored.

The final tally of the day was chalked up in the fifth when Don Little was safe on an error, stole the next base and scored on Skipper's hit. The Cowboys got two hits with two gone in the seventh by Little and Pat Collins, but nothing resulted.

Dick Culbertson and Don Skipper, both infielders, got two-for-four at the pan and Pat Collins, an outfielder, had two-for-three.

Young's win was his second of the year as against one setback. As indicated above, Young beat Hilliards, but dropped a close 4-3 decision to Chillicothe. He should, with all that experience, be one of the most outstanding pitchers in the City League next year and the following season. In Monday's game he struck out 12 and walked four.

The two line scores:

Grandview	000 000 0	1	3
West	010 000 x	1	4

Taylor and Jim Rudy; Weeks and Anderson.

West	232 010 0	8	9
Rosary	000 000 0	0	1

Young and Andrews, Little (5), Nafzger (6). Bott, Birch (2) and Dearley.

This week's City League schedule is being nullified because of tournament play. Tuesday the Cowboys met Central in a tournament affair. The story can be found in Section A of today' paper. Providing the Cowboys won Tuesday, they go to the finals at Ohio State on Friday.

Starling Blanks Junior Cowboys By 11-0 Count

By Dave Miller

Starling Junior High's baseballers visited West Junior last Monday afternoon and went home on the big end of an 11 to 0 score.

Things started happening just a little bit too soon for Coach Red Lehman's Junior Cowboys. Dick Spriggs, first man up in the game, tripled over Glenn Hayes' head in right and Frank Wycuff, the visitors' catcher, plated him with a one-baser. Another hit, along with a few infield outs and an error, plated two more Central Avenue baseballers and the locals came in to bat already behind, 3-0.

But the bats weren't ready for the Junior Broncos because they got to starting pitcher Bernie Feen for only two hits in his five inning appearance. Dick Scott finished up for the winners and allowed two hits in the lone frame he pitched.

Dick Blake, in the third inning, singled and advanced on a passed ball and stolen base and later plated on second baseman Russ Friend's error of Dick Powers' grounder. Three more runs were tallied off starting pitcher Bill South in the fourth. Another extra base blow by Spriggs along with four other hits and walks accounted for this total.

Bill Earl then relieved South at the end of the fourth inning and gave up four runs and as many hits. Ted Fladt, who had pitched the other West Junior League games, came in and was greeted by a single, but he settled down and retired the next three men in order.

Starling had 14 hits. Frank Wycuff and Gene Brown had three-for-four and Dick Spriggs had a triple, double and a single in five appearances at the plate.

Ron McElwee, Russ Friend, Bill Earl and Ted Fladt had the four baby Cowboys' bingles.

The West Junior nine, in league play, have one win and three losses. They have one more league competitor. They entertain Roosevelt, in what should be a good game, Wednesday.

The line score of the Starling game:

Starling	301	340	11	13	1
West Junior	000	000	0	4	3

South, Earl (5), Fladt (6) and Farley, Bradley (6); Feen, Scott (6) and Wycuff.

Rain Disrupts West Schedule; Injured Pickens Tops Hitters

By Dave Miller

Rain again played havoc with the West High Cowboys' schedule this past week. In the City League, Tuesday, they were to play their closest competitor, Linden McKinley, at the latter's diamond. However, after West had batted in the top of the third, Umpire Carlton Rayl called the game. West was leading 1-0. This one marker was counted in the very first off Johnny Hayes, Linden starter. John Cherup, lead-off man, was hit by a pitched ball, advanced two bases on a walk and sacrifice hit and scored on Dick Kirk's very long drive to left.

The tournament, scheduled to start last Thursday, was also rained out and was set for Friday. However, that date was too wet, so the Cowboys played Grandview on Saturday. That story can be found elsewhere in today's paper.

A tough schedule faced the Cowboys this week. They were to meet Linden in a re-play on Monday, will travel to Central Tuesday and will play another first division school when they entertain North. The first time these two schools met, it ended in a two-all deadlock called at the end of 12 innings because of darkness. Stories on these games also can be found in today's paper with the exception of the North fray.

As far as figures go, the Cowboys rate just as good as any other CL team. An over-all record shows that the locals have won six, while losing two. The two defeats were at the hands of non-league opposition. Chillicothe beat the Cowboys in the second game of a double-header, 4 to 3, and the St. Charles boys were victors over the CL leader, 7 to 1.

Paul "Ty" Theisen has won all games he has started, four in all. Three have been league games. Charlie Weeks won the other league game, and pitched that full 12 innings in the North game. Weeks, however, lost the St. Charles fray.

Jack Pickens, West infielder, who was spiked in the Hilliards game, was injured again after almost being healed from his first wound. The shortstop probably will not play again this year, but he will be back for service next season. This same player leads the Cowboys in hitting, that is by averages. Dick Kirk, an outfielder, is leading the team in total hits with 10. Don Skipper and Dick Culbertson, both infielders, have one less safety.

The averages of the week ending May 8 are shown in the adjoining box.

5th Motorcycle Race Slated By Charity Newsies

The Charity Newsies will hold their 5th annual motorcycle races June 6 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds, it was announced recently by George W. Hicks, president of the Newsies.

The Newsies, charitable organization serving in Columbus and vicinity held three races prior to World War II. This year's event will be the second time since the war's end. "The Columbus races have become known as the "classic of the year" in motorcycling circles.

Conducting the races for the Newsies will be the American Motorcycle Association, headed by Earl C. Smith, whose headquarters are in Columbus. Aiding in the presentation of the racing card will be the five motorcycle clubs in the Columbus area — the Wyandotte Club, Golden Arrow Club, Columbus Club, Buckeye Club and the Ohioans Club.

The nine-race program is expected to draw some of the top riders in the country. Purses for the race will total $2100. The Columbus races, according to motorcycle racing officials, is one of the top paying events in the world.

Flock Due Home For Game Saturday

An improved Red Bird team will arrive back in town for the opening of the second home stand on Saturday afternoon after its first western trip of the 1948 season.

The Birds will meet Toledo in an afternoon game Saturday and then in a double-header on Sunday afternoon. Indianapolis will move in for single games on May 17 and 18 to be followed by Louisville, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Kansas City and Minneapolis with the home stay ending on May 23.

This will be the only time local fans can see the entire league in operation in Red Bird Stadium in a single home stay all year. The coming series of games will have a strong bearing on the Birds chances for

Junior Broncs Bow To Mound And Franklin

By David Miller

Dave Hoyle, Mound Junior High pitching ace, hurled a no-hitter against the West Junior Broncos last Wednesday afternoon as the league-leading Mound baseballers beat the locals at Central, 4 to 0.

The locals never even got a "smell" of a hit throughout the one hour and forty-five minutes of baseball. Ted Fladt allowed Mound only three hits but was in trouble several times. He walked only two, but his mates committed seven errors to account for his trouble on the hill. Hoyle walked only two, these being in succession in the second inning to outfielders Bill South and Al Shade, but catcher Ron Farley struck out to end the closest inning for the baby Cowboys. Altogether, the Mound twirler struck out 12 men in facing only 22.

The closest time the Broncos came to scoring was in the final inning. With two away, Ron McElwee struck out, but catcher Bill Johnson dropped the third strike and the Junior Cowboy reached first base. McElwee stole both second and third base but the game was ended when third-baseman Morris Dobbs grounded out. Dobbs, incidentally, hit about the longest drive off Hoyle in the game, driving the center-fielder way back on his fly ball.

The Cowboys of West Junior lost another ball game April 30. They dropped a 7 to 1 decision to Franklin Junior High on East High's diamond.

The host nine tallied three in the very first frame when outfielder Bill Cochran singled, and this, along with an error, wild pitch, and a walk, combined with two more hits, tallied the markers for the East Siders. A double play, from shortstop Chuck Leipensperger to second baseman Russ Friend to first-sacker Jerry Johnson, erased any more scoring for the Red Tomkins coached nine. Coach Red Lehman of the Junior Cowboys said that it was the first double play he had ever seen in junior high baseball, that is, by a ground ball.

The East Siders went back to scoring in the very next frame after two were gone on another double by Cochran, along with another solid base-hit, and this, combined with an error and a stolen base, gave them the two runs they scored. That one stolen base was by Frank George, Franklin infielder, who stole home. Two more runs were added to the East Siders' total on just one hit in the fifth. A hit-by-pitcher, a fielder's choice, double and an error scored Franklin's final tallies.

The locals scored their only run when, after two straight singles by Ron McElwee and Morris Dobbs, McElwee attempted to steal home with Bill South, a left-handed batter, at the plate. McElwee was safe and South was awarded first base on catcher Jim Daniels' interference.

It was not announced in this weekly story who had made the West Junior team after at least 90 boys tried out. The infielders are Jerry Johnson, Russ Friend, Chuck Leipensperger, Morris Dobbs, Don Mehrs, Ron Gross, Eddie Gleibs. Catchers: Ron Farley, Harry Bradley, Walt Meredith and Roger Meyer. Pitchers: Russ Garner, Ted Fladt and Jerry Traube. Outfielders: Ron McElwee, Al Shade, Bill South, Glenn Hays, Bill Earl, Dick Wray.

The line scores of the two recent games:

Camp-O-Ree Expected To Attract Most Scouts From Southwest District Saturday

Increased Boy Scout activity with the advent of spring will be climaxed this week-end with the Camp-O-Ree to be held Saturday and Sunday in the Derrer-Woods, just west of the city limits on Sullivant-av.

Virtually every troop in the Southwest District is expected to participate in the overnight camp that will be held "rain or shine." A number of awards will be given in recognition of camping skills.

Troops will register and start setting up camp Saturday at 12 o'clock. A campfire will highlight the activity that evening. On Sunday morning church services will be conducted on the grounds followed by a picnic lunch in which parents are invited to take part with their boys. By 4 p. m. the "break camp" order will be given and the boys will return home.

Sam Alford, camping activities chairman, and William Ewald, co-chairman, will be in charge of the event.

Scout Commissioners Discuss Program

The May district commissioners meeting was held on May 5 at the home of Scouter H. Rowley, 151 S. Eureka-av. The meeting was opened by District Commissioner James McCready, who called for reports from the districts. Scouter Barbee of Grove City reported that Troop 86 held a mothers night program which proved quite successful. Scouter Crawford reporting for the 2nd District advised that Troop 250 had a very nice turn-out of mothers at their tenderfoot investiture service. Movies of Camp Lazarus were shown.

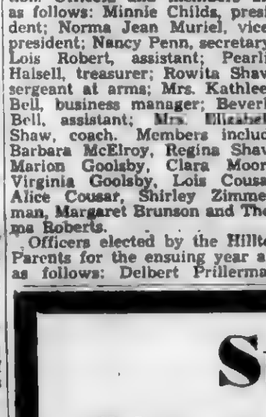
It was also reported that Scouters Cliff Matthews and Crawford had held a charter review of Troop 219 of the Rainbow Addition. This troop has now registered for the coming year. Scouter Eisle of District 3 advised that he was expecting to secure the services of two new men to serve as neighborhood commissioners. Scouter Ralph Duncan was appointed assistant District Commissioner of District 1. The district which embraces all units east of Central-av needs about six more men to serve on the commissioners staff.

A demonstration of the proper and improper methods to use in teaching scouts was given by Scouter Matthews. The staff was then divided into two patrols for the purpose of instruction in program planning. Each patrol set up a month's program as part of this instruction period.

A general discussion of scouting was then held. Scouter De Vore suggested that all units should use the term "Scout" and "Scouter" when addressing the boys and men in scouting. The use of the scout hand clasp should also be used more extensively, he said.

Spiced Lentils With Frankfurters

1 cup dry lentils
1 medium onion
1 clove garlic
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Salt, pepper
½ teaspoon mixed whole spices
3 cardamom seeds
1 slice lemon
4 frankfurters



Cover lentils with boiling water and cook in a tightly covered pot over low heat (or simmer) for 2 hours. At this point they will be tender but will still hold their shape. In the meantime, chop up onion and garlic very fine and brown lightly in a skillet in butter or margarine. Add cooked lentils, salt and pepper. Tie up the whole spices, cardamom seeds and lemon slice in a bit of cheesecloth and drop in with the lentils. Continue cooking over low fire for 15 minutes. While this is going on, brown sliced frankfurters in a little fat. Remove spices from lentils and add frankfurter slices. Serves 4 very well.

The boys will spend May 15 and 16 at South "Y" Park. Members of the committee and the den chiefs will accompany the boys.

25 Enrolled in Scouters Class

About 25 scoutmasters and troop committeemen enrolled in the scoutmasters' training course that started at the West Park Methodist Church last Thursday evening. The course will consist of four evening meetings plus an overnight camp at Camp Lazarus on the week-end of May 22.

HBA SPEAKER—Charles L. Sherwood, director of welfare for the State of Ohio, will be the speaker at the May meeting of the Hilltop Business Association. His topic will be "Public Welfare in Ohio."

The dinner meeting will be held May 18 at the Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av, starting at 6:45 p. m.

George Green was a normal young man (until yesterday). By normal I mean that he lived the same rule-abiding life that you and I and several million other folk consider so necessary. It's MY theory, however, that this was the crux of the whole thing. George let normalcy go too far. But I'll just tell the story and you can judge for yourself.

Wilson

George's life began each morning with the ringing of his alarm clock at precisely 7:00 a. m. Never any earlier and never any later (until yesterday). At 7:03 a. m. he got out of bed, put on his robe, and marched faithfully into the bathroom (until yesterday). By 7:23 a. m. he had finished with his shaving and was getting dressed (until yesterday). By 7:55 a. m. he had finished dressing, checked the gas jets, locked his door, walked to the corner, and was waiting for the bus (until yesterday).

"What happened yesterday?" you ask. Well, nothing of any great importance, but it set poor George right off his trolley.

The alarm clock didn't ring at 7 a. m. As a mater of fact, it didn't ring at all. And George awoke at a carefree 7:46 a. m. This gave him just 14 minutes to catch his bus, and George's panic killed a third of that time by causing him to fumble everything he did. With luck however, he caught his bus But this wasn't the end of George's woes for, like his fellow creatures of habit, he lived by a time-schedule. And, this day, that time-schedule had exploded in his face. A feeling of guilt climbed up his spine and lodged in his imagination. He knew that he had done something wrong and he began to feel that everyone else knew it, too. Innocent stares from the other bus passengers, and later, the people on the street, and still later, the other men at the office gave George the idea that he was being disapproved of.

"I know what they're thinking," George said to himself, "They can see, and they don't like it a bit. Well, maybe they're right but could I help it? Well, what's a person to do? My alarm clock didn't go off. That's not MY fault, is it?"

This mental argument of George's went on through the morning, during the lunch hour, and into the late afternoon. By this time, George had worked himself up to the point where he was gesturing with his hands and mumbling aloud. The other workers heard this, looked at one another blankly at first, and then agreed with silent nods that George's cap was snapping. Cautiously, one by one, they left their desks and assembled at the rear of the room. George turned around and saw them, and the picture fit perfectly with what he had been telling himself. He jumped from his chair and let go a shriek that dispelled any doubts his closer friends might have held to.

"SO!" he shouted, "Now you refuse to stay in the same room with me. And all because I didn't shave today."

About Last Week

It's tough to get back to doing my own work again.

Last week I had at my beck and call the services of 18 aspiring journalists. They were members of The Occident staff at West High School who came down to demonstrate their several abilities in newspaper work.

Having all those energetic students to do my work for one week gave me a false sense of importance. It's fun to be boss if only for a week. Now they're back at school. Things have quieted down around the office and Libby Downing and I have to do all the editorial work once more.

May I say, we had a swell bunch of students. They worked hard and enthusiastically as the product of their efforts confirms. The school can well be proud of their work. They worked so enthusiastically that little more than half of their material could be crammed in the single issue they had at their disposal. They could very easily have filled that many more pages. Some of the stories scattered throughout today's Hilltop Record will bear the "by line" of West students.

• • •

Tells of Miss High School

If you read this column last week you will now realize that I am an authority on the habits and conduct of "teenagers," thanks to a good job done by Virginia Casey. I'm sure you must have enjoyed her own analysis of Miss High School Student and how she compares with some of West's feminine set.

A really swell job was done by Jeanette Chakeres on Mr. Hartley's front page Spectator column. Don Young also performed yeoman service as news editor as did the several other department heads and feature writers.

• • •

The old adage: "Do as I say, not as I do," would have to apply to the small part I had in getting out last week's Hilltop Record.

Of the two headlines I wrote, in the absence of eager Occident staff members, one had a serious error as to the time element.

Was my face red?

Office Newcomer

Visitors to the Record office last Thursday morning might have got the mistaken impression that an aquarium was being started behind the front counter. There on the floor was an 18-pound turtle taken from Mr. Hartley's lake out on Wilson-rd. Libby Downing, society editor, kept a wary eye on this office mascot all morning, keeping a respectable distance when Mr. Turtle gave indications of wanting to get acquainted.

The interesting angle on the reptile's capture is Hartley's explanation of shooting at what he "thought" was its head. The only bullet wound visible was in its tail. All that gunnery practice he got in the Navy must be a bit rusty by now.

Have no fears of coming to the Record office though—the Ex-Mr. Turtle is reported to have made a fine kettle of soup.

Philharmonic Plans New Concert Series

The Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Izler Solomon, has announced that orders for season tickets for the 10 1948-49 subscription concerts are now being taken. The season promises to be the most brilliant in Philharmonic history and features the guest appearance of eight artists.

Until June 15, prices for the 10 concerts are $9, $12, $18 and $24, tax included, after June 15 prices will be increased. Orders may be sent to Room 228, Virginia Hotel and a $2 deposit will hold such seat ordered until fall. Seats requested are set aside in order of receipt of the reservation so an early request for seats insures the purchaser of a choice seat at a low price.

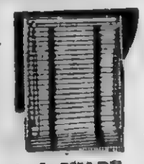
Call MAin 4754 if you wish to order by telephone.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor,

I wish to speak a word of praise for the wonderful cooperation which The Hilltop Record showed in helping to make it possible for hundreds of ex-service men and women to have their discharges properly recorded, in view of the great rush brought about by the state bonus.

Many veterans took advantage of the fact that I kept my office open after hours on Saturday from 1 to 3 p. m., and I feel you should receive a great deal of credit for the way you set the message up, and the nice space you allowed in your paper.



I think it was wonderful, and you should be given due credit.

Thanks loads,
Raymond E. Schaefer

KEEP AMERICAN "KNOW HOW"

Doctors, lawyers, pharmacists, teachers, grocers, farmers and many others have their "trade associations" for the purpose of self-improvement, self-regulation, protection and improvement of public service and welfare. None wish political domination, or to be regulated out of existence.

79% of all families interviewed in a recent national survey had a "Family Physician" consulted for all illness. The family physician is the fundamental and dominating feature of rendering medical service.

This Doctor's education or "know how" is highly important to maintaining America's present highest level of health on earth. Hospitals and Pharmacists are part of the Doctor's vital working "equipment" that help to round out competent medical service to the patient.

Experienced, qualified medical men, Pharmacists and hospital executives—all are using every effort to keep politicians from lowering the standards of education and supervision in medical care fields.

Approximately 25 Local Churches Plan Daily Vacation Bible Schools

June - July Dates Chosen By Many

What is believed to be the largest number of Daily Vacation Bible Schools ever held in the community will get under way shortly after the close of public schools next month. Twenty-five or more churches in the Hilltop area are known to be planning the church school work.

Dates for the various schools vary from mid-June to late summer with most of them to be held in late June and early July. While it is not known how many children will be enrolled in these Bible classes this year, past enrollments would indicate that the number will run in the thousands since many of the schools attract upwards of 100 pupils.

Churches known at this time to be planning vacation schools, the dates, their locations and the person designated as dean of the schools are as follows:

Apostolic Gospel Church, 1074 W. Broad-st, June 21-July 9, Mrs. A. W. Witherspoon.

Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, Burgess and Sullivant-av, June 14-25, Rev. C. F. Lutz.

Dr. Newburger To Address Parent Group

The general public is invited to hear Dr. Maurice Newburger, executive psychologist of the Bureau of Juvenile Research, when he addresses members of the Chosen Parents League, on Monday, May 17. This meeting will be held at the Southern Hotel at 8 p. m.

Dr. Newburger has had much experience in the juvenile field both here and in Cincinnati and has contributed much to the cause of child psychology. Statistics of the BJR show that in the past 10 years, 5,886 cases have been handled, only 200 of which have been adopted. The Chosen Parents League is particularly interested in these figures as their members are those having adopted children, having been adopted themselves, or those interested in adoption and child welfare.

All those people concerned by the general child welfare program are welcomed by the League to attend these meetings, and help in the ever-present problems confronting those eager to advance the cause of the child in the county and state.

This Balance Does NOT Show On OUR Books

The careful balance which must always be maintained between service to our customers on one side and, on the other, safety of funds entrusted to our care, is something which does not show in figures on our books. But it enters into every transaction, particularly loans.

We encourage and invite loans—and when an applicant views his request from the standpoint of the investor whose money he will be using, he can be assured that we will give him every possible consideration which is consistent with our obligation to our other customers.

That is the kind of Savings and Loan he wants to do business with—either as a borrower or an investor or both.

SUNDAY LESSON
FOR MAY 16

Needy World's Hope Still Lies in Its Patriots' Faith

ONE of the reasons why reforms do not stick and why periods of great moral awakening and religious revival are so often followed by periods of relapse is that reforming zeal is not shared by all and does not seriously affect every phase of life.

Under the influence of the reform wave, those who may not believe in the method or purposes of the reform become subdued and silent. But their attitudes or convictions are not changed. Their opposition is latent, awaiting an opportunity to find expression.

The influence of Judaism upon the moral, social and religious life of the world has been incalculably great, in itself and as the moral and spiritual background of Christianity. But it is interesting to speculate upon how much even greater that influence would have been had the entire history of Israel always been upon the high plane of Israel's greatest saints, teachers and prophets instead of that history being one of moral rise and relapse.

In the same way, one may speculate upon what might be the influence and power of such democratic countries as the United States, Canada, and Great Britain in the crises that confront the world today, if every individual felt, lived and acted in full accordance with the professed spirit and the actual declarations of democracy.

What might our strength be if we attained a democratic life, above and free from all racial and religious prejudice, in which the vestiges of caste and special privilege were swept away?

To ask this question is not to disparage the progress the democracies have made or to express any spirit of pessimism. Only the goals, and the God-given call to greatness, for us as for ancient Israel, are so much more than we have attained or achieved.

It is because so many in that ancient day were Israelites without guile, fired with a pure passion for Zion, that their influence was so great. And the hope of a needy world is still in its patriots of faith and vision.

Elementary School Happenings

John Burroughs

Our school is certainly full of scouts. We have 29 Boy Scouts, 77 Cub Scouts, 95 Girl Scouts, and 84 Brownies.

Miss Lorraine McCarthy of Melbourne, Australia, gave a talk on Australia to our sixth and seventh grades on Thursday, May 6. Miss McCarthy, who is secretary of the Melbourne Restaurant Association in Australia, came to the United States to study the ways and business methods of our country. She will remain here for six months.

There will be no seventh grade at Burroughs after this semester. The seventh graders will all go over to West High School.

We are expecting about 125 kindergarteners, and about 60 new first graders next fall.

Mr. Stump, our head janitor, lost his father-in-law by death last week.

Our boys' shower room, off the gymnasium, was used for voting last week. A real crowd showed up in spite of the weather.

A new Mothers' Club is being formed, a Kindergarten Club. They have had their first meeting and their new president is Mrs. Wildermuth.

The following seventh grade pupils found their names on the Liquor Business On Increase In Community

Elsewhere in today's paper is a story relative to several applicants for D-5 liquor permits for firms in this community. Controversies over the granting of some of these permits has made considerable news in recent weeks.

The Record's policy to date has been to carry the news of such applications and allow the people an opportunity to know such permits are being sought before they are actually granted. We are taking no stand that any particular firm should or should not be granted a permit.

However we are of the opinion that the Hilltop has enough liquor spots and that the addition of more such places will not improve our community.

We recall back several years ago when this community voted on the matter of local option and the question lost by a slight margin. At the time the matter was brought to a vote because certain places needed cleaning up and this seemed to be the only way to bring about such a cleanup. At that time local permit holders who were running decent places organized and were able to bring about some reforms among the permit holders that were appreciated by the public.

We know it to be a fact that today certain groups are talking about local option for the Hilltop again. The increasing number of permits issued in this community has fanned this ember into a flame again. The continued handling of this matter by the state in granting more and more such permits here will not be tolerated by people of this community. It would appear that present permit holders can help themselves by seeking to prevent further expansion of the liquor business on the Hilltop.

Shorts and Middlings: That's a nice big hot dog for a dime the boys are serving out at Phillips Coney Island just west of the viaduct . . . A local man was in quite a predicament one evening last week in a downtown hotel when he made a mistake in the signs on one of the little rooms only to turn around and find his wife coming out as he was entering . . . The memory expert who addressed the Kiwanis Club banquet last week remembered everything but when to stop talking . . . To those people who can't read too well, better take another glance at that story in the Record of two weeks ago regarding the Cotillion restaurant 'cause it did not say youngsters were playing pin ball machines there . . . Showman Lee Koontz on his way to Carey, O., to give a show was caught with a flat tire in a downpour of rain Sunday nite so rather than spoil his clothes for the occasion he outwitted nature and stripped down to his shorts and proceeded to make the necessary repairs . . . A local resident calls in to see if we can't do something about the matter of getting eligible people together in a matrimonial state and he points out that many such good eligible men are a menace to society in their state of unwedded bliss . . . We agree but we just never were good at playing, cupid . . . And comes another request for removal of the dead trees in Holton Park but the city says there are so many dead trees to be removed they can give no promise when any particular ones will be eliminated . . . First dirt was turned Monday on the new Ernie Brown home . . . Their son Bob will take unto himself a wife this summer, tis reported . . . C. A. 9 Liquor Permits Are Sought For Hilltop Area Since Jan. 1

Nine D-5 night club permits on the Hilltop and adjacent areas are on file or have been issued by the State Liquor Control Department since the first of the year, a check of pending applications revealed this week.

Three of the nine have been issued, two are now under advisement following public hearings, and four have not been acted upon at this time, according to state records.

Locations where liquor permits have been issued include:

Robert A. Moyer, 917 Sullivant-av.
Schmeiser's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st.
West Mecca, Inc., 2463 Sullivant-av.

In addition to these three night club permits, a state store license for the package sale of 42-proof beverages was granted to Jean's Beverage Shop, 3105 W. Broad-st, a month ago.

Still on file are the following applications for D-5 permits:

McKinley Restaurant, 1647 McKinley-av.
Eddie's, 2329 W. Broad-st.
Helen and Clark Dildine, 207 N. Central-av.
Club 920, 2330 Sullivant-av.
Biltmore Restaurant, 2414 W. Broad-st.
Cotillion Restaurant, 2776 W. Broad-st.

Public hearings were held in the case of the Biltmore and Cotillion Restaurants because churches or schools were located within a 500-foot radius. A state law makes it compulsory for churches, schools or libraries to be notified and an opportunity given for hearings where applications fall within the 500-foot radius. No decisions have been reached by liquor department officials in either case, a check Tuesday afternoon revealed.

Memorial Day Services are Planned; Plaque to be Dedicated at West High

Arrangements were completed this week for two special Memorial Day assemblies at West High School to be held May 28. At that time the Hilltop Kiwanis Club will present and dedicate a plaque to the memory of West High graduates who gave their lives in World War II.

Speaker for the first assembly to be held at 8:45 a. m. will be Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert. The junior high speaker will be a representative of Ft. Hayes, not yet designated. Other than the speakers, the two assemblies will be almost identical.

Paul Theisen will preside at the first assembly, which will feature music by the band and choral selections by the school choir. The singing will include a special arrangement of Fred Waring's "Sky Anchors" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Bob Burnett will lead the Pledge of Allegiance. Marilyn Ring will sing "The 91st Psalm" and Richard Bowles will be heard in "I Had A Little Talk With The Lord."

A representative of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club will make the presentation followed by response by Principal Irvin F. Young.

Camp Chase Post 98, of the American Legion will hold Memorial Day services at both Sunset and Alton Cemeteries on Sunday, May 30.

Those participating will leave Burgess-av and W. Broad-st at 2:45 p. m. Ceremonies are scheduled for Alton at 3 p. m., with services at Sunset at 4 p. m.

The post's uniformed firing squad and color detail, captained by Don Novak will be on hand, with John Kelly sounding taps.

Rev. C. F. Lutz of the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church will speak at Sunset Cemetery.

The graves will be decorated on May 29, under the direction of C. W. Wagner and William Booth at Sunset, and Edgar G Planck and Larry Scales at Alton Cemetery.

Services will be held at Green Lawn Cemetery Monday morning immediately after the parade.

The Memorial Day parade will form at Sixth and Broad-sts at 8:45 a. m. and leaves at 9 a. m. following a set schedule for the Broad-st bridge where Navy and Marine posts of the Legion will hold their services.

$3,800,000 Is Spent Here Each Year By Welfare Department

The State of Ohio spends approximately $3,800,000 per year in its three Hilltop institutions, Welfare Director Charles Sherwood told members of the Hilltop Business Association at its meeting at Westgate Methodist Church Tuesday night.

This amount is spent for salaries and general upkeep and operation of the Columbus State Hospital, the Columbus State School and the Bureau of Juvenile Research, the speaker pointed out.

The welfare official explained that $227,000,000 is spent annually by his department to operate 27 state penal and correctional institutions throughout Ohio.

Sherwood explained some recent developments in the field of treatment for the mentally ill and research that is being done in that direction.

Work To Start On Franklin Twp. School Building

Steps toward erection of a new school building and the enlargement of Skidmore School will be taken by members of the Board of Education of Franklin Township when they meet with the architect on Tuesday, May 25, it was learned this week.

At that time it is expected that the architect will be given the "go ahead" to prepare estimates and ask for bids on the first 10 rooms of a new building to be erected on Frank-rd, near Briggsdale, and the two-room addition at Skidmore.

It is expected that work may be started yet this summer.

A school levy passed in 1945 makes available $340,000 for this purpose but costs have more than doubled since the original estimates were made, a school official said.

Tuesday night's action follows an open meeting of school officials and PTA members held last Wednesday night at the Township House.

"The feeling there was that we should go as far as the money will permit at this time," William Becker, board president, said this week.

IT'S ALL FOR DEAR OL' WEST HIGH—Smiles were the order of the day, when Paul Leighninger, as chairman of the recent West High Booster Club-Hilltop Record drive, accepted the commission check from Charles P. Maus, circulation and promotion manager of the Record. Jack Allgire, chosen as the most energetic Booster supervisor, wears the new Stetson he was awarded.

The drive netted 417 new subscriptions to the Record, with 521 renewals also collected.

Barbara Clarkin, Jim Slager Win Kiwanis Scholarships

Barbara Clarkin, 135 N. Chase-av, and James Slager, 3122 Wicklow-rd, will each receive a $300 college scholarship in special ceremonies at today's luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

The scholarships are the first in a series of annual awards to be made to the outstanding girl and boy in the West High School graduating class.

Today's luncheon meeting will be highlighted by an address by Governor Thomas J. Herbert. He will speak on a theme in keeping with "I Am An American Week."

Donald F. Smith, chairman of the youth work committees for the local club, will make the scholarship awards.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clarkin. She has 57½ service points, the highest number of any girl in the graduating class. She also has a 3.68-point average scholastically. School activities have included home room business manager, office monitor, cheer leader, Student Council, senior class chairman, work at all football games, Photography, Dramatics, Latin and Y-Teen Clubs, L Society and National Honor Society. She has an almost perfect attendance record. She plans to study surgical nursing at Ohio State University.

Slager is a member of the January graduating class. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Forman Slager. His brother, Dick, is a member of the OSU football team and was one of the most outstanding athletes to graduate from West.

Jim rated all-city selection for his work as quarterback on the 1947 Cowboy eleven. He has a 3.43-point average and was seventh, scholastically, in a class of 112. He has accumulated 46 service points. He was selected as one to attend last year's Rotary luncheon, took part in basketball, tumbling and tennis in addition to football. He was president of his class, member of Hi-Y, Student Council, Latin Club, 100 Club and chairman of the Roman banquet last winter.

Selection of these two students was made by a committee of Kiwanians composed of Smith, Dr. D. S. Cowles, Vernon Fiscus, Carl Dale, George Williams, Mack Pemberton, James Miles, Sr., and Dr. Jack Miles. They were chosen from a list of 10 nominations made by school officials.

The scholarships are good in any college and for any course. They were not based on scholastic ability alone. Points considered in making the selections were need of the pupil; scholastic standing; service to their school; moral standing, attitude and character as well as athletic achievement.

The scholarships are payable $100 per semester during the first year with the third portion to apply on the second year of college work.

Don't Worry—That "Clean Up" Campaign Will Be Completed

If that rubbish has not been removed from the back of your property — don't despair, the "clean up" campaign is being carried out.

Inquiries early this week as to what had happened to the Saturday-Monday Hilltop "clean up" drive revealed that city refuse collection crews were working two days behind schedule.

According to latest reports from City Hall, a few of the men started work on the Hilltop Tuesday with the full force moving in the following day.

"The Hilltop will be cleaned up by the end of the week at the latest."

That's the official word.

"Yip," as he was known to Hilltop fans, graduated from West in 1916. He served two years in World War I and was later a four-letter grid star at Denison University. During World War II he served with the Red Cross in Burma.

On the affirmative side will be John Nippert and Orval Linebrink and the opposition will be voiced by John Brown and Robert Teaford. C. C. Hartley will act as moderator of the meeting.

Two local pharmacists were named to official positions in the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association at the convention held in Cincinnati May 9 to 12.

C. H. (Doc) Campbell, owner of Campbell's Pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad-st, was elected treasurer of the state-wide pharmacy group, and Joe Goodwin, proprietor of Goodwin Pharmacy, 2772 Sullivant-av, was elected to the council for the Ninth District, of which Columbus is a part.

Other Hilltoppers attending the 69th meeting of the OSPA were Woody Clark and Harold Cramer.

Six New Traffic Lights To Be Installed On Hilltop

Traffic Commission Goes "All Out" To Slow Down W. Broad St. Traffic

Six new traffic lights on W. Broad-st and one on Sullivant-av are to be installed on the Hilltop during the next two weeks, the City Traffic Commission decided in a special meeting Tuesday afternoon.

According to E. O. Melvin, 107 S. Warren-av, a member of the commission, traffic signals will be installed on Broad-st at Southampton-av, Westgate-av, Warren-av, Burgess-av, Highland-av and on Sullivant-av at Binns-blvd.

The six new lights almost double the number now in use on the Hilltop and represents a drastic effort on the part of the commission to slow down traffic through the Hilltop where numerous accidents have occurred in recent months.

Melvin said that operation of the new radar speed indicators, installed in two places on W. Broad-st last week, show that many drivers are not complying with speed limits clearly marked through this area. He said a check with Capt. Frank Harrison, in charge of traffic enforcement, showed that an average of 25 persons were being stopped here and on N. High-st and warned that they are violating speed laws. The warnings are being given out as a prelude to rigid enforcement of traffic regulations that the radar equipment will make possible, Capt. Harrison pointed out.

Last week aroused Hilltoppers were circulating petitions for at least three of the lights approved for installation this week. Efforts have been made by various groups over a period of many months to obtain lights at the other intersections.

One petition last week sought a traffic light at Sylvan-av, one block east of Southampton-av, at the spot where six-year-old Judy Wolfe was critically injured three weeks ago while attempting to cross W. Broad-st on her way to school.

Highland Avenue School PTA members were asking for a light at Highland-av for the protection of their children while a group headed by St. Mary Magdalene School parents was asking for the light at Sullivant-av and Binns-blvd.

July 28 Is Chosen For Bean Dinner

July 28 might well be designated on the Hilltop as BD Day.

For the enlightenment of all, BD stands for Bean Dinner for it is on that day that the fifth Hilltop Bean Dinner is being planned. Joseph Briggs, general chairman of the event, announced the date at the Hilltop Business Association dinner meeting Tuesday night.

Members of his committee are working out details of a gigantic script auction whereby Hilltoppers can spend script money given out at HBA business places. A total of $1,000 in merchandise will be on sale to the highest bidder with the token money.

3 Are Dead In Traffic Accidents

Traffic accidents and a train-auto crash claimed the lives of three Hilltoppers over the weekend.

Dead are Mrs. Mabel Spencer, 34, of 458 Eldon-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Adin Isaac Beard, 1063 Sullivant-av.

A Sunday afternoon pleasure ride ended in fatal injuries for the local couple when their auto was struck by a passenger train at the New York Central Crossing in Alkire-rd, three miles west of Galloway.

The couple, parents of seven children was trapped in the auto when it was struck by a double-header train and dragged about 700 feet along the tracks. The Beards had resided most of their life in Columbus. Double funeral services will be held today at noon in Memorial Baptist Church with burial following in Union Cemetery.

Surviving are three sons, Herbert E., 21; Robert, 18, and William 16, at home and Adin L. Beard, 3566 E. Main-st; three daughters, Mrs. Leona Eyester, 2780 Grasmere-av, Mildred Leahy, 3375 Karl-rd, and Mrs. Alice Davies, 3573 E. Main-st.

Funeral services were held in Lancaster Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Spencer, victim of an auto crash in Rt. 33, near Carroll, Saturday night. Also hurt in the wreck was Vaught Winter, 1893 Wager-st, driver of the car. He suffered leg abrasions.

Mrs. Spencer is survived by a daughter, Patricia Ann Snyder, and a brother, Charles L. Wilson, both of the Eldon-av address; two other brothers, James R. Wilson and George A. Wilson, and two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Matz and Mrs. Roseanne Wilkinson. Burial was in Sugar Grove.

Early Delivery Is Inaugurated On Broad St.

Merchants along Broad-st between Wheatland-av and Wayne-av have been receiving an early morning mail delivery inaugurated by the Hilltop Station Post Office, it was reported this week.

John Raymond, superintendent of the local office, said that a carrier now leaves the Hilltop Station at around 8 a. m. He starts at 2403 W. Broad-st and works the south side of Broad-st to Wheatland-av and back along the north side.

Raymond pointed out that some business houses have not been getting their mail at this time because there are no mail boxes or mail chutes where mail can be left. The installation of such mail chutes would be a convenience to the business firm and postal carrier as well, he said.

2 Six-year-olds Are Recovering From Traffic Injuries

Little Judy Wolfe, 6, seriously injured April 26 when struck by an auto on W. Broad-st at Sylvan-av, has regained consciousness and may be allowed to go home soon.

Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wolfe, 336 N. Sylvan-av.

Meanwhile Larry Mead, another Hilltop six-year-old, is in Children's Hospital recovering from injuries he suffered last Thursday when he was struck by a truck in W. Broad-st just east of Lechner-av. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mead, 165 Columbian-av.

A check on his condition Wednesday revealed that he was in considerable pain from adjustment of a broken right leg that will keep him in the hospital for several weeks.

Controversy Arises Over Play Area

Efforts of the City Recreation Department to install playground equipment on the city-owned Columbian-av tract of waste land were stymied this week when residents of the Columbian-av side of the site raised objections to its location.

Workmen who were to start on the project were halted by some of the residents. They were called off the job and as of Wednesday of this week the future of the playground area was not certain.

N. J. Barack, recreation director, said he was uncertain just what the next move would be. He said he had talked personally with some of the residents and believed that a compromise might be reached.

Mrs. James Mooney, 469 Columbian-av, told The Hilltop Record that she and her neighbors were not opposed to use of the five and one-half acre tract for playgrounds but felt they should not be placed so near the Columbian-av side.

"There's plenty of room out there in that area without putting them so close to the street and our homes," Mrs. Mooney said.

"We were trying to follow the Dr. Batchelor report of best use of all city-owned playground sites," was Barack's explanation.

VFW Carnival To Run Through Sat.

Despite cool weather the early part of the week, the Gooding Amusement Company's carnival has been doing a good business at the corner of Chase-av and W. Broad-st.

Proceeds from this one-week stand go to Westway Post No. 3441, VFW, for the support of its welfare program. The carnival will be in operation through Saturday night at the Hilltop location.

A special matinee for children will be held Saturday afternoon with all rides 10c.

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club will observe its first "Kiwanis Sunday" this Sunday, May 23. For its first observance of this day the Hilltop Club has selected the Hillcrest Baptist Church at the corner of Eldon-av and W. Broad-st. The Hillcrest Church counts among its members the club president, Dr. R. J. Miller. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. Herbert Goewey, is also a member of the club. It is the expectation of the club to select a different church each year for its annual observance.

The Kiwanis Club will attend the church in a body and occupy seats reserved for the Kiwanians and their wives. The service begins at 10:30 a. m. The pastor of the church will use as his sermon theme, "Builders of Dreams."

Senior Hi-Y To Help Clean Up "Y" Grounds

The Senior Hi-Y Club at West High School has volunteered its services to help clean up the premises of the Hilltop Teen Club, corner of Broad-st and Burgess-av, as the first step in setting up the YMCA program on the Hilltop.

Members of the Hi-Y Club and other teen-agers who have volunteered their services will start about 9:30 a. m. to cut weeds and mow lawn, Averille Thorn, new "Y" secretary said. Other volunteers are invited to help with the work. Bob Wolfe is chairman of the West group.

Hilltop Community Council Plans For Five Local Playground Openings

The Hilltop Community Council, in conjunction with the City Recreation Department and the Board of Education, will again open the five Hilltop playgrounds with fitting exercises. The opening dates are to be announced shortly.

In addition to opening ceremonies, several athletic events and competitive sports games are being planned.

The Hilltop Business Association and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club will donate the prizes for the various events.

Bowman-Radcliffe Vows Are Exchanged In Sunday Ceremony

At 4:30 Sunday afternoon, May 16, before a flower-banked mantel of white gladioli, carnations, snapdragons, and ferns, Miss Elaine Radcliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Radcliffe of 1532 West Broad-st, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Arthur K. Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bowman of 416 East Franklin-st, Circleville.

Seven-branched candelabra with burning tapers, cast a soft glow over the wedding party as the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Circleville.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, 308 Northridge-rd, Circleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father ,wore an aqua street length with a portrait neckline and sweeping side drape.

Her coronet was of pink rosebuds and brown veiling. She carried a white Bible topped with pink roses. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

COMING HOME

You're coming back dear boy of mine—
Yes, coming home to me.
From far away in foreign land,
Across the deep blue sea.

You came on that sad fatal day
Released . . . in spirit free
You went to God, and now dear boy,
You're coming home to me.

You went away so joyously—
So young and full of life:
You counted not the cost but gave
Your all—love's sacrifice . . .

Ethel Titus Worthen.

Silk Industry Was Started In 2640 B. C.

One woman, the wife of a famous Chinese emperor, Si-Ling by name, is credited with having originated in 2640 B. C. one of our most important textiles—silk. She personally devoted herself to the care of the silkworms and invented the loom. Until 300 A. D. this secret of sericulture was jealously guarded by the Chinese. Eventually some Koreans were sent from Japan to China to engage competent people to teach the arts of weaving and preparing silk goods.

From this obscure beginning has sprung an industry that prior to the war was one of world-reaching importance. Today an effort is being made by our government to re-establish the silk industry in the position it held before Pearl Harbor.

There is no doubt that silk is on its way back. Pure silk in solids and prints, silk shantung, silk taffeta and silk satin are once again appearing in designers' collections in street dresses, suits, cocktail dresses and ball gowns. Vibrant colors can be achieved in silk because of the fine, lustrous fiber. The very feel of silk is a luxury in itself, yet the fact that silk can be easily laundered is appealing to those who prefer to preserve the freshness of a garment by personal laundering. Couturiers praise the draping qualities of silk which lends itself to soft or bulky poufs with equal grace of line. Durability is another inherent quality.

Junior Broncos Top Roosevelt

By Dave Miller

Roosevelt and West Junior tried to play three times, but twice the rains halted any playing. A cloudy day last Thursday, however, didn't stop the two nines as they met at West and the West Junior Broncos emerged victorious in their final league game of the 1948 season. The score was 9 to 7.

The scores of the West Junior League games are as follows:

West, 4; Champion, 2.
West, 1; Franklin, 7.
West, 0; Mound, 4.
West, 0; Starling, 11.
West, 9; Roosevelt, 7.

Roosevelt scored in the very first inning on no hits. Four walks by starter Tgd Fladt along with two infield miscues accounted for the two-run Roosevelt margin. However, the baby Cowboys scored one marker in the bottom of the first. A walk to outfielder Bill Earl, a single by Morris Dobbs and a double to right by Ron McElwee plated the one needed marker.

The visiting South Siders counted two more runs, again on no hits. Another walk by Fladt, a duo of infield errors and a fielder's choice totaled these two. The host nine knotted it all up in the bottom of the second. Jerry Johnson singled and stole second, Ron Farley walked and Fladt duplicated the feat and the sacks were full. A squeeze play, with Russ Friend at the plate, tallied Johnson with the first run of the inning. Chuck Leipensperger singled home the two runs with his one-baser to center. Roosevelt tallied two runs in the fifth on a walk and two doubles by Bill Hewitt and Ralph Willoughby. The final South Side run was tallied in the sixth inning, the final frame on a walk, a stolen base, and an error.

The Broncos scored their fifth run in the third. Bill Earl walked, took second on pitcher Stan Keller's error, and scored the same way. The Hilltop Juniors scored two more runs in the fourth. A couple of walks, a single, and two Roosevelt errors accounted for the locals' seventh run.

Two more errors, a sacrifice, and Charlie Leipensperger's second hit of the day scored the Broncos' final runs.

The line score:

Roosevelt	220 021—7	5	3
West Junior	131 22x—9	6	5

Bachman, Kauffman (2) and Hewitt; Fladt and Farley.

Name Committee To Solicit Funds For OSU Program

Alumni of the Ohio State University living in the West Side area are being contacted this month regarding their contributions to the 1948 Franklin County campaign for the Development Fund of the university.

Ralph B. Goodsell, 1177 Westwood-av, an official of the Goodsell Brothers, Inc., is chairman of the Franklin County campaign. Henry L. Wagner, 1818 Coventry-rd, of the Kroger Company, is area agent for the entire county.

In Franklin County more than 400 workers are seeking to raise the county's goal of $30,000. In a similar campaign last year, 2,672 alumni and friends residing in the county contributed $35,394 to the national total of $306,337 that was raised for the university in 10,944 individual contributions.

The national goal of the fund for 1948 is $225,000. This year, as in previous years, the gifts will be allocated to scholarship funds, student aids, research in many fields and projects not normally financed through appropriations of the General Assembly. One of the objectives for 1948 is an additional $25,000 for the War Memorial Scholarship Fund, honoring the memory of Ohio State's 603 dead of World War II. In three previous campaigns, $67,000 has been raised toward an eventual permanent endowment of $100,000 for this special fund.

Chairman of the Hilltop division for the campaign is Thomas J. Murnane, 2930 Palmetto-st. Assisting Murnane in the drive are George Armour, Margaret Armour, Howard L. Beougher, Virgil L. Furry, Carl F. Glade, Jr., Fred M. Marsch, Richard D. Mindigo, Alice R. Murnane, Thomas J. Murnane, Mrs. Frank R. Nairn.

Aquinas Upsets West 5 To 4 For First City League Loss

By Dave Miller

Aquinas High turned in a major upset in the City League Tuesday afternoon by turning back West, 5 to 4, at Aquinas.

The Terriers were very lucky in scoring the winning run in the bottom half of the seventh frame. It was West's first loss and Aquinas' first win of the City League campaign.

The Cowboys got three quickies in the top of the first. Walks to Jack Pickens and Don Little and a single, along with a stolen base and a long outfield fly ball, scored the three for the locals. However, the Terriers hopped on starter Phil Young in their half of the first. Five walks, an infield single, combined with an error, tallied the four runs for Aquinas in the first.

This score remained until the top half of the seventh. With two away, Dick Culbertson was on by an error, Dick Kirk drew a base on balls, and Al Andrews, who had earlier in the game hit a foul ball over the fence, sent a terrific drive to left, plating Culbertson. However, Kirk was anxious to tally, and was out at the plate, left-fielder Ort to third baseman Schmidt to pitcher Mike Zack.

Mike Zack, Aquinas twirler, started the seventh inning by being safe on an infield error. Zack, with one away, stole second, and tried to duplicate the feat on the next pitch. Catcher Andrews threw the ball a bit wild to third, scoring Zack with Aquinas' luckily earned run.

The visiting Cowboys out-hit the Terriers easily, five to two. Both Aquinas hits were of the lucky variety. The first one was a single off pitcher Young's leg, and the other a single past Culbertson at first. Both could have been called hits or errors.

Paul Theisen relieved Phil Young, the starter, and, of course, was the loser.

The line score:

West	300 000 1—4	5	3
Aquinas	400 000 1—5	2	5

Young, Theisen (1) and Andrews; Zack and Stapleton.

Few Openings Are Available For YMCA Campers

A number of Hilltop boys have already registered for Camp Alfred L. Willson, the YMCA camp for boys from 8 to 17 years of age. Only a few places remain for those boys who still wish to register in the mid-summer periods and enjoy the fun with their friends.

Camp Willson is located on a lake near Bellefontaine in the highest part of Ohio, and for many years has been known as one of the best camps in the country. The natural lake provides good fishing and excellent opportunity for all kinds of aquatic sports, including boating, canoeing and sailing.

Ed Van Allen, a West High graduate and now a student at Ohio State, will direct the waterfront activities.

Excellent leadership has been secured to fill the positions on the program and counselling staff. Mature persons with varied skill qualifications will constantly supervise the boys in their cabin and program groups. Charles H. Klippel, who has directed the camp for 10 years, will have as his assistant, Dan Lotz, YMCA boys' physical director, who has also had many years in camp leadership.

Parents and campers who wish further information may write the camp director at the YMCA, 40 W. Long-st, or call AD. 1131.

For Ladies Only -- Helpful Hints On That Home-style Permanent

By Libby Downing

Lady, are you tired of dull, uneventful days and evenings?

Well bend an ear in this direction and learn how to overcome your problems. For five and one-half hours of sheer horror, just give yourself a home permanent.

You will achieve one of two results, either your hair will come out looking natural and lovely or else, it'll just come out!

The first step is to read the directions carefully: DON'T GET THIS STUFF IN YOUR EYES, KEEP THE KIDS ABOUT SIX FEET AWAY, etc.

Contrary to some advertising we've read, you cannot quickly roll up your hairs, unroll them, and go out on a date. That is, unless you care to begin about 6 a. m. (It is not advised that married women plan to go on a date, either.)

If you happen to have an idle gas mask in the house, install it upon yourself before beginning this process. To be quite frank, this stuff, SMELLS.

We'll skip the quick job of shampooing and cutting the tresses and jump right into the torturous part. After drenching your head (always choose a warm evening on which to perform this operation) with waving solution, rolling the hair on the curlers and putting on your gunny sack, you have two whole hours in which to suffer.

After clamping the sack securely to the head, here's a thought. You have to admit to yourself that you look ghastly. So if you have a "friend" that you'd like to annihilate very subtlely (if that's the word) call her up and invite her over, maybe she has a weak heart. And believe me this will do the job for you.

You realize don't you that it only takes about two hours to get the hair rolled? Well, we've been working for four hours now, tired?

Do-doddle, do-dit-do! TIME MARCHES ON!

Then comes the fun, now you rinse the head three times in clear water, daub on the neutralizer and sit down and drip for 15 minutes. Your time is up, now with the remainder of the solution rince the head three more times. It's always helpful to have about four persons to assist you. One to hold the blinders, two with towels, and one for moral support.

Now of course during the waving time all the men in the household will complain of the odor, the fact that you mess with your hair for so long, and anything else they happen to think of at the moment, to distract you.

To get back to our story, believe it or not, you are now ready to unwind the curls. Think of it, finished! Don't ponder it too long, the shock may be too great. The only step now is to set your hair "in your favorite style." Only 45 more minutes to go!

South Hi Graduates Plan Anniversary Program June 4

The 1923 graduating class of South High School will hold its Silver Anniversary Banquet at South High School, Friday, June 4, at 6:45 p. m.

Following the banquet at 7:45, there will be a reunion for all South High School Alumni.

Husbands, wives and friends are invited as associate members. The $1.00 fee pays alumni dues for the coming year.

Exams Dates Set For School Positions

Civil Service examinations for clerk-stenographer and clerk-typist for the Columbus Board of Education will be held on June 12 with final date for filing applications set for June 5.

Salaries for the positions range from $162 to $192 for clerk-stenographer to $197 to $227 per month for clerk-typist. Application blanks and further information can be obtained at Room 200, City Hall.

Elementary School Happenings

Highland Avenue

The children in the 3B class at the Highland Avenue School are observing many interesting developments of nature this spring.

Our science unit began when Donna Wilson brought in a tadpole which looked much like a fish about five inches long. We have enjoyed watching the different stages through which the tadpole has passed and as its tail becomes shorter, we expect to see a frog in our fish bowl.

Other children brought in butterfly chrysalis, Cecropia Moth cocoons, praying mantis cocoons and others. The children are learning which insects are enemies of the garden and which are friends.

Mrs. Tait's class has just completed a unit of bird study. We talked about the following birds: cardinal, robin, woodpecker, oriole, bluebird, bluejay and hummingbird. We have made notebooks containing stories and pictures of the birds. Mrs. Price and Miss Ross brought their classes in to see the displays.

The Girls' Glee Club of Highland will sing for the PTA Mother and Daughter Tea on Thursday, May 20. They will sing Brahms Lullaby, Bendermer Stream, Over The Rainbow and Trees. The group is under the direction of Mrs. Clark.

John Burroughs

The sixth grade graduation is planned for June 9, at 2:00 p. m. in the school auditorium. This will be the first group to go on to West High School for nearly 10 years.

Melvin Griggs, photographer, has been taking the sixth grade graduating pictures this week.

All safety patrol groups of the city are to be entertained at the RKO Palace, Saturday, May 15. We expect our 40 regular and 16 substitutes to be there in full force. This is an annual affair sponsored by the Columbus Auto Club Safety Department and the City Police Force.

Our PTA has elected its new officers for the coming year:

Mrs. Ralph Strickler, president; Mrs. W. J. Nolteineyer, first vice-president; E. B. Graham, second vice-president; Mrs. Harrison Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. William H. Coon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Donald Hessler, treasurer.

Mrs. Edward Bradfute, Mrs. H. C. Booth, and Mrs. Russel Adams are the new councillors. Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. J. W. Bower, and Mrs. William H. Miller are alternates.

The pre-school roundup for beginners is now in progress. Parents are to call the school principal to make appointments with the school nurse.

Fifth and sixth grades are being given vision tests this week.

The National Guild of Piano Players has been holding an audition at the Art Gallery this past week. Twenty-four of our students were lucky enough to have the opportunity to play before this group.

After the last noon time movie of the school year, David Kessling, a student drum major from Ohio State University demonstrated some of his fancy baton twirling for a delightful and appreciative audience.

Starling's Festival

Starling Junior High School held a Spring Festival on May 6 and 7, in the high school auditorium.

The festival consisted of two one-act plays, produced by the dramatics department and music by the chorus and orchesta. The festival was a big success, and everyone liked it. So we say "thanks" to all who helped to make it a success, including Mrs. Helen Bauer, who did a splendid job on the make-up.

Others who participated in helping to make this festival a success were the dramatics committee, who chose the characters for the plays, those who had charge of publicity, lights, setting, staging, costumes, and make-up, the girls glee club, boys' chorus, bass boys, and the orchestra which gave a fine performance.

A group of Camp Fire Girls, a Red Feather agency, is making cross word puzzle boards for the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe.

Weeks, Theisen Rack Up Wins

By Dave Miller

West High's Cowboys notched two more league wins under their belt last week-end. On Thursday the locals were 4 to 2 victors over Linden McKinley at Linden, and on Friday they knocked off North, 7 to 3.

These two wins gave the West league total six wins and no setbacks.

At Linden Thursday a pitchers' battle was on for five and a half frames between Johnny Hayes of the Panthers and big Charlie Weeks of the Cowboys. Each twirler had allowed two hits throughout this period.

But Linden broke the "ice" in the sixth when shortstop Gary Barber capitalized on Charlie Weeks' error and Eddie Hanawalt, next man up, singled the former to third base. Harold Butts, Linden third sacker, struck out, but catcher Bob Parker doubled to left-center, scoring Barber. Forrest Murphy, next Linden batsman, sent a grounder to Dave Dupler at third, and in all the excitement Dupler tossed the ball over catcher Al Andrews' head.

That previous inning didn't mean anything to the Cowboys as they rallied for four markers. Dick Culbertson started off by socking the third pitch for a single to left field. Dick Kirk socked a blow to the same spot, but left fielder Murphy let the ball go through him, and Culbertson tallied. Dupler sent Kirk down to third when he bounced back to the pitcher. Al Andrews, next Cowboy batter, drew a walk on five pitches. Paul Theisen pinch hit for John Cherup and drove home the tying run with his single to center. The Cowboys didn't halt their scoring parade, however.

Don Skipper singled to center, sending Andrews home. Skipper was forced out on Weeks' grounder, but Pat Collins dropped a single in front of center-fielder Ed Hanawalt, plating Theisen with the fourth run. Bill Thrush ended the big inning by going out.

Panthers Threaten

The Panthers threatened in the bottom of the seventh when the first baseman was safe on a liner missed by Dupler at third. He stole second, but Weeks held the opposition tight by forcing one to ground out and strike out two.

At West, against North, the Cowboys made up for the time the two ended up in a tie affair after 12 innings on April 16.

The visiting Polar Bears were just never in the game after a scoreless first inning. The locals tallied four runs on five hits by batting around in the second frame. Al Andrews singled to left, Dave Dupler duplicated the feat, and Pat Collins did the same, putting Andrews on third. Both Dupler and Collins attempted to sacrifice, but both beat their bunt out. Paul Theisen, who was pitching very well, struck out for the first out. Jack Pickens, who just returned after two bad injuries, grounded to shortstop Bob Blanchard, who in turn threw to the plate, where Dupler was called out, but the catcher, Don Davis, dropped the toss and, therefore, Dupler was safe. Andrews had already tallied.

Don Little got his second hit in as many times, to score Collins, and Don Skipper, who had singled Andrews home earlier in the inning, scored after the catch of Dick Culbertson's long fly to center field.

One more run was counted in the third inning when Andrews singled, again leading off the inning, and Dupler sacrificed him along. A single by Pat Collins tallied Andrews.

The final two markers were made by the Cowboys in the fourth and sixth rounds. Three singles, by Don Little, Dick Kirk and Al Andrews, scored the one tally in the fourth. In the fifth, Dick Culbertson tripled with two away and Dick Kirk plated him with his double to center.

Paul Theisen weakened slightly in the final inning, the seventh, but came out of the game the victor.

An error on a ground ball by Dick Eaton, a walk to Skip Barker, and a short single to left by Don Davis scored Eaton with North's first run. Lafe Dodds popped out, but Theisen walked Bill McBride, North's third-baseman, and Tommy Thomas singled to left to score both Barker and Blanchard, who had earlier singled.

Hitting stars in the game for the Cowboys were Don Little and Al Andrews, both with three-for-four averages, and Pat Collins and Dick Kirk, both with two hits.

The line score:

North	000	000	3	3	4	1
West	041	101	x	7	14	1

Allison, Dodds (5) and D. Davis; Theisen and Andrews.

Starling Nine Topples Cowboys In 2 Contests

It looks like the Starling baseballers are a nemisis this season in baseball to West Senior and Junior Highs.

The Starling Junior High baseballers walloped the West Juniors 11 to 0, and the Central High School team, composed mostly of former Starling baseball regulars, trounced the West Senior team by an identical 11 to 0 count.

Eight regulars on the Central High team played for Carl Smith at Starling. They are Logan, catcher; Jones, Malone, Cloud, Kelly, pitchers; Emmelhainz, second base; Hill, shortstop; Wolfe, third base; and Morgan, Martin and Hoffman, in the out field.

To be a 100 per cent Hilltopper, read The Hilltop Record every week.

HOT BOWLERS — Two of the hottest bowling teams on the Hilltop are the quintets shown in the above photos by Mel Griggs.

The lower group is made up of Shank & Saunders' winning keglers in the Hilltop Business Men's League. They finished the season with 885.

In the front row are Jack Franken, 178, and Carl Breckenridge (the same Carl shown on the Esquire team), 179. In the back row are Jack Shank (the sixth man on the team with an average of 172 with Grotto), Joe Kennedy, 168; and Dan Wolf, 178. Fred Wolf, who was the fifth man on the team, was not present when the picture was taken. He rolled a 181 for the season.

West Thinclads Come In Third In Dist. Track Event At Delaware Saturday

The West High School thinclads were nosed out of second place by one-half point in the Central District Class A track event held at Ohio Wesleyan University Saturday. The Cowboys totaled 31½ points, right behind Newark's 32 tallies. Central won the meet with 57 points.

Scoring points for West were the following:

Don Eitle finished third in the 100-yard dash after stumbling at the start of the race. His 10-second time in the Hilltop Relays last week set a new West best record for the school as well as a new Magly Field, and Hilltop Relays time.

Robin Schmidt was second in the discus throw. The Cowboy 880-yard relay team came in second in the 440-yard dash and Jim Dennis finished fifth in the 440-yard dash event.

Bob Janes was the number two man in the 220-yard hurdles while Dick Lanigan tied for fourth place in the high jump. Walter Hicks took second place in the broad jump and Don Eitle came in third in the 220-yard dash event.

The mile relay race was won by West with Roland Stout, Kenneth Mahan, Walter Hicks and Jim Dennis making up the team. The time was 3:36.7.

West High Golfers Defeat University

The West High School golfers battered a University High foursome 12 to 4 at the Columbus Country Club Saturday. The victory brought the Hilltoppers to seven wins against four losses for the season and placed them in fifth place in the City High Golf League.

Aquinas finished the season with a perfect record of 11 wins to top the 11-team loop.

West's scoring against University was as follows:

West (12)

DePaul	86
Lombardi	88
DeAngelo	85
DePaul	97

University (4)

Summer Leagues Start

Four new leagues started blasting away at the pins on the Hilltop alleys last week. One of the leagues, the Tuesday Summer League, is a repeater from last year, while the other three are new to the alleys. The leagues will run on the average of eleven weeks since the regular season begins around September.

The other teams besides the Tuesday Night League are Veterans Administration League which bowls on Monday evenings, the Bethlehem Lutheran League on Thursday evenings and the Wednesday Night Lutheran League. The Veterans' League is composed of six teams, each containing five men, and will roll on a handicap basis. The other three leagues each contain eight teams and are composed of both male and female bowlers. They will also roll on a handicap basis.

In the Veterans' League it was Sid Ralner with 205 and H. Beckett with 514 who took the individual honors and the Section V-2 who topped the teams with 754-2160. The collectors team was the only team to win three games. The standings after the first week are:

They tell me everyone is entitled to one mistake and it seems I made my only mistake (so it says here) last week while writing up the season highs in the St. Aloysius Mothers' League. It seems I confused the season highs with the weekly highs and so with due apologies to everyone concerned, here are the corrected scores:

First place, Lytle's Pure Oil, 61-44; high averager, Dorothy Goetz, 138; high single game, Mary Ryan, 218; high three games, Mary Ryan, 532; high team game, Midland Market, 694; high team series, Lytle's Pure Oil, 1968.

Hagedorn Hurls No-hitter Friday

Chuck Hagedorn pitched a no-hit ball game against Sacred Heart Friday. The St. Aloysius pitcher came into the ball game in the first inning to relieve his fellow pitcher who had filled the bases on walks and then issued another walk to score a run. Hagedorn came into the game with the bases filled and one out. He struck out the next two batters. From then on he was never in trouble. He walked only two batters and struck out 11. Bill Nye led the hitting parade with three hits for five tries at the plate.

The final score was St. Aloysius 13, Sacred Heart, 1.

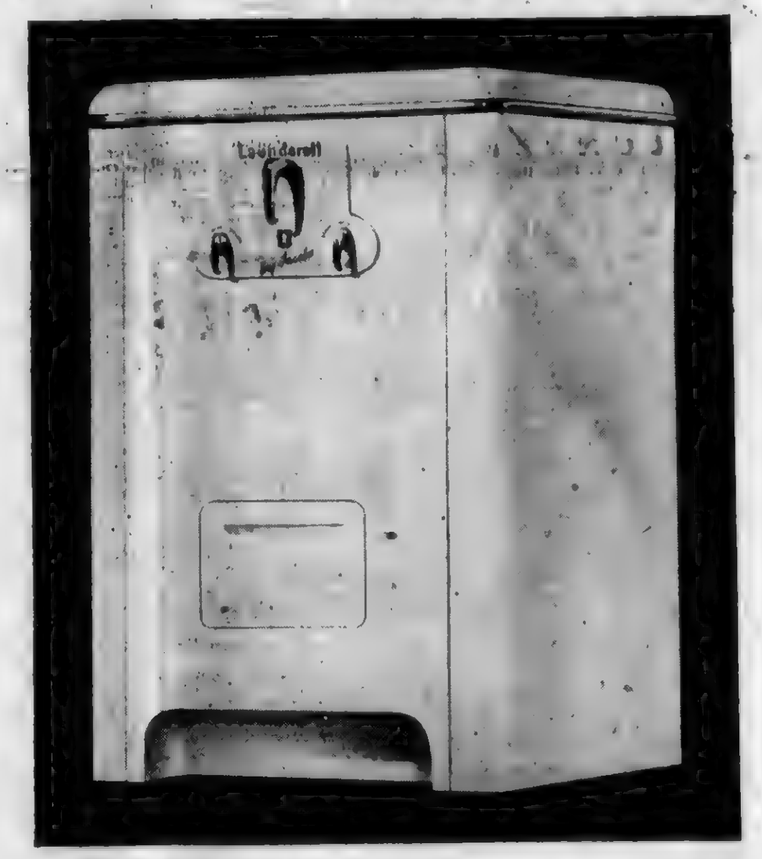
This second home stand will include visits from every team in the American Association. All night games start at 8:30 o'clock, Sunday's double header begins at 1:30 p. m. and Saturday games at 3:30 p. m.

Of the 19 camps listed in the 1948 directory of camps in the Central Ohio Area, 12 are Red Feather camps, that is, operated by Community Chest organizations. Copies of the directory will be sent free on request to the Community Chest office.

Starling Jr. Defeats Barrett For 5th Win

Starling chalked up its fifth league win of the season by downing Barrett 1 to 0 in a well played game at State Hospital.

Starling was held to one hit, a two-bagger by "Chuck" Wycuff, who stole third and came home on Maier's fly to left.



Feen, on the mound for Starling, struck out nine, and held Barrett to two hits. Strawser fanned eight Starling batsmen.

Public Health — The Concern Of All

Recent publicity on work being done by the City Health Department is welcome news to the citizens of the Hilltop and the entire city.

Efforts to clean up the alleys, destroy rats and the spraying program to kill flies, mosquitoes and other insects are recent moves in which the health department has either pioneered or given full cooperation to other organizations.

One of the newest ideas to be put into effect here in Columbus is the open war on flies and other insects. The city has purchased a Todd Insect Fog Applicator, a device used by the navy during the last war. Starting this month, the truck will begin spraying alleys. It is the plan to spray every alley in the city once every two weeks throughout the summer and early fall. The markets and downtown area will be sprayed in early morning hours and the ponds and catch basins will also be sprayed to kill larvae.

This spraying program plus regular garbage collection should cut down the insect nuisance noticeably. This program deserves 100 per cent cooperation on the part of every resident in helping to reduce the disease-carrying insects and rodents.

'Now to Make Some Time'

HILL TOPICS —By PW—

Better Late Than—

It's still hard for this country boy to get used to the habit of people going everywhere a few minutes late. Here in the city it seems the thing to do but down in Monroe County you seldom saw people go anywhere after the designated time.

Quite the contrary, if a meeting was set for 7:30 p. m., the farmers usually started congregating by 7 o'clock to exchange small talk about the crops, etc. Most people worked on the theory that if it was worth attending at all, it was worth going on time.

You can't explain away their point of view either. Few people in town have as little spare time as does the average farmer. Most of them have little or nothing to do from the time they get home from work until the appointed hour of the engagement and yet they go late.

I noticed the general tendency toward tardiness at a recent showing of the West Band Variety Show. Although all publicity clearly indicated that the show was to start at 8 o'clock, less than half the crowd was seated by that time. Maybe part of it was due to the fact that all seats were reserved and there was no need to go early. Yet the constant late arrival of the show goers was a source of annoyance to many people who were forced to rise in their seats to let them through or otherwise suffer distraction from a fine concert that had started on time. To say the least, it was a discourtesy to the performers and their director.

"Be on time," I always say, and the boss always agrees with me when I show up 30 minutes late for work in the morning.

• • •

The Whole Works

An exchange prints a little story, clipped from an unknown source, which is very good and perhaps very old. Anyway it's worth repeating.

It concerns an Omaha jobbing house and a customer merchant in a small Iowa town. A shipment of goods received by the customer was rejected as unsatisfactory.

The jobber prepared to institute suit for collection, and wrote to the railroad agent at the village for information about the arrival of the merchandise; to the president of the bank for information concerning the financial standing of their customer; to the mayor of the city asking him to recommend a good lawyer to handle their case; and to the merchant himself, threatening suit, if he did not make payment at once.

All the desired information came in a single letter, as follows:

"I received your letter telling me I had better pay up.

"I am railroad agent here and received the letter you wrote the agent.

"I am president and sole owner of the local bank and can assure you of my financial standing.

"As mayor of the city, I hesitate to refer you to a lawyer, since I am the only member of the bar in this vicinity.

"If I were not the pastor of the only church here, I would tell you to go to---."

Student Gives Outline Of How News Story Forms

By Don Young

Like everything else, a news story develops from a nucleus. In the case of the news story, however, the germ hatches, breeds and develops within the mind of the writer who sets the story on paper. The original tropism which attracts this germ may be an item in a newspaper, a bit of conversation or even a photo or drawing —any everyday occurrence which stimulates an idea within a man's mind.

From random thoughts, the story-germ begins to take shape. Branches form, linking it with other items, past and recent, and making the continuity even and symmetrical.

After this the writer's work begins. He traces his facts. He sees people who are affected by the situation about which he is writing. He interviews authorities on the problem, and he compares their views on the matter, translating these for the public in his finished article.

He traces the history of the situation and ties in recent events to show the evolution of his story from start to finish.

Story Takes Shape

It is only after these facts have been gathered that the reporter may begin to write. From his pen, pencil or typewriter the words form the finished product of his research, moulding it into its final form—the form in which it will appear before the public.

This is as far as the writer may take his story-germ. From this point, the article goes to the copy-reader, who checks it for grammatical errors. Then, the headline editor gives it a headline or title.

The article is then sent to the printer, where it is run through the linotype machines and transformed into type. Printers run off a trial copy of the article, which is sent back to the proof-reader for final checking. These printed strips of paper are called galley proofs.

It is the proof-reader's job to check carefully all of the galley proofs and to see that there are no errors in the finished newsprint, either typographical or otherwise. Here is the last office in which errors may be caught before the story goes to press.

When all of the galley proofs are checked, the paper can be "put to bed," or, to be plainer, it can be made up preparatory to the printing.

The paper is run off, folded and distributed in a manner of careful planning—its last stop the hands of its readers, being at last reached.

Of course, the primary duty of the news story is to inform. It is through this newsprint, in thousands of newspapers all across the country, that the public may find what it wants to know. Here lies the power of education—the power of knowing the events of the world within a few hours of the time when they occurred.

Such is the power of the press. Such is the power of a germ—of a thought in a reporter's head.

QUERY

Why do I
In a northern noon
Long for the spell of a tropic moon?

Why do I
In a southern night,
Dream of borealis light?

Why do I
With a bird in hand,
Flush the bushes of every land?

Like altar candles light the room;
Their perfect ivory, carved and frail,
Seems emblem of some Holy Grail,
Whose quiet pilgrim keeps unbroken

THRENODY

Word of her plight is on the wing,
Yet none will give it place so soon;
Never has fared so strange a thing

With unrelenting feet.

O none will give it place tonight,
Word of her sleeping over-long;
Wait till her rose-tree looks for light,
And her lark goes up for song.

TO ALL OTHERS AFTER

The door of my heart is closed—

Hilltop Library Is Largest Of All City Branches; Started In 1928

By Ruth Paul

The Hilltop Library, which is located at 21 N. Hague-av, was built in 1928 and has grown in size and importance until at the present time it rates highest among Columbus branch libraries in the issuing and circulating of books.

There are approximately 17,280 volumes on the shelves, and 5,582 patron memberships, 3,221 of which are held by adults, 2,661 held by students.

Miss Mildred Phalor, head librarian, reports that already 5,000 questions asked by readers and students have been answered found in the library. This record is kept in the form of an annual report. To provide for the diverse interests of readers, the shelves are filled with books of reference on numerous subjects such as world travel, physics, chemistry, modern and ancient history, government, colored illustrations, flowers and insects, plus a large collection of fiction, non-fiction and biographies.

Grade school teachers, along with the library staff, give the students at West Broad Street Elementary School an opportunity to examine and make selections from the many attractions found in the "Children's Corner."

The library doors are open from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m. during the week and from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Saturday. This makes a library visit convenient for all.

Most reading books are issued for 30 days, though the more popular novels are lent for one week only. In addition to books, there are five newspapers placed on the racks daily, and over 50 magazines dealing with business, scholarship, science, housekeeping, manual art, fashion and nearly every topic may be found.

To provide for the increased growth of the library, the two lots west of the Masonic Temple at 2925 W. Broad-st have been purchased. Due to the present building conditions and problems, plans for the new branch library are still incomplete.

Thus it is that the Hilltop Library is rendering an important, essential service and is constantly promoting community welfare.

West Senior Play 'Most Entertaining' Production; Players Are Well Chosen

By Libby Downing

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," the West Senior High Class Play, was the most entertaining high school production I have ever witnessed.

It was presented Friday evening in the school auditorium with Marian Martin and Marilyn Norris doing a fine job in sharing the spotlight, as Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, respectively. Both girls seemed to fit right into the setting of the "flapper era," and wore the appropriate dresses.

Marilyn Norris topped the cast in my estimation. It was she who caused all the confusion about killing a man, smuggling a case of measles off a boat, getting a pair of men's shoes out of the girls' room, and trying to get rid of some "bean bags."

Aside from lasting a bit long, the entire show went along without one detectable hitch. Several people commented that "it was the best show we've seen" and that was in the few minutes between the end of the show and our departure. The odd part of the evening was the fact that there were quite a number of empty seats throughout the house. That's very unusual for any type of West High student activity. The absent persons don't realize what they missed.

The West Junior Band performed before the show, and two soloists, Jack Galloway, with a violin, and James Hill, playing the clarinet, filled in between scene changes.

The cast included Bob Freshcorn in a very humorous role of ship's steward, which he carried through very nicely; Ruth Gildersleeve and Don Henderson had the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, the difference in their actual ages and the characters they portrayed no doubt making their parts difficult; Dave Wetterman was the ship's purser; Geraldine Heyder, the stewardess; Gordon Welker the admiral and Joyce Dungan the ship's inspector.

Tom Greene and Jim Palmer were very good in their roles of "helpers" and boy friends of the girls while aboard ship; Catherine West and Janie Prior gave very realistic renditions of two British gals, dialect and all. Ruth Platt, Joyce Miller, Bill Hawes and Dick Borror all carried Frenchmen's parts. Their flighty mannerisms and French speech completely fulfilled the bill.

Congratulations to the entire case and their director, Lucian L. Copley, for presenting such an enjoyable play.

Local Priest To Celebrate 20th Year As K of C Confers Degrees On 60

Rev. William Maloney

Celebrating his 20th year as a priest this week is Rev. William F Maloney, pastor of St. Aloysius Church since 1940. In observance of the event a class of 60 candidates will receive the three major degrees presented by the San ta Maria Council, Knights of Columbus, at the West Broad-st club rooms Sunday afternoon.

A charter member of the local council, Rev. Maloney will be guest of honor at a breakfast following the 10 o'clock Mass, in which members of the council will receive Communion in a body.

Fred Pagura is in charge of the breakfast arrangements. A color guard made up of fourth degree Knights will lead the procession from the annex into the church. After the degrees a buffet smoker will be held in the clubrooms at 6 p. m. It is expected that it will be the largest class since the origin of Santa Maria Council. Several members from Lancaster will go through with local candidates.

Rev. Maloney was exemplified in the fourth degree assembly at Steubenville.

Francis Effertin, membership chairman, has announced the following local committee: Clarence McDonald, Robert Finneran, Frank Strapp, Clifford Ruff, Donald Howard and Ralph Fischer.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Once again the Unseen Cord tightens about the community of Rome as its citizens extend their deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stauch and family, W. Broad-st, in the death of their son, Douglas. It was quite a comfort for the mother to know he had the right conviction of life, when she found written in his diary: "5:46—Going to surgery. Should I not return, it will be God's will. What may happen to me, must change Dorothy's plans." His twin sister was making arrangements for a very lovely wedding the first part of June. It was going to be a doubly happy affair for the family was looking forward to having him home. He was getting along nicely from the operation but a blood clot formed. His many associates will remember him as a growing, active, full-of-fun ycungster. The last years had been quieter on account of his health. He is survived by his parents, twin sister, Dorothy, an older brother, Donald, and younger sister, Patricia.

Twenty-nine Eighth Graders, the Gra-Y, of Rome School were entertained at the home of Jim Lamb Wednesday night. It was planned to have an outdoor affair, around the fireplace, but the weather made it necessary to have it in the house. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warner assisted Mr. and Mrs. Lamb in entertaining the youngsters. Plenty of refreshments were on hand a good time was had by all.

Friday night the Alton PTA entertained its 12 graduates, their parents and the Prairie Township School Board and their wives with a very lovely and well planned banquet in Alton Grange Hall. The guest speaker was Fern Sharp, WBNS. The pupils on the program who represented the school included: piano solo by June Bishop; "Now Is The Hour," sung by the class; reading by Carl Hankinson; "Asleep at the Foot of the Bed," and piano solo by Carol Rose. There were about 75 guests. Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, president of the Rome PTA, installed the following officers: president, Mrs. Freda Durbin; secretary, Mr. McMillen, and treasurer, Mr. Snyder. Charles Thompson is principal of Alton School.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Smith, Norton-rd, entertained the Monkers Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Shier, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Richey, gave the class a travelogue, views taken last summer when they were in Kentucky, along the Mississippi, and then on west in Wyoming. Delicious refreshments were enjoyed by the guests, including Albert Caris, their teacher, and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Richey, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Butin, Mr and Mrs. W. G. Lamb, Mr and Mrs. Robert Miller, Mr and Mrs. Shier, the host and hostess and the mother of Mrs. Smith.

Last Saturday was the county track meet at Groveport and Prairie Township came in sixth.

Friday morning Rome played Skidmore at softball, at Rome, and won 22 to 5. It had been quite some time since Rome has won from Skidmore.

There were 23 Rome School graduates this year. They are Forest Bennett, Joseph Breckler, Stella Butcher, Charles Delph, Arlene Engel, Rosella Groves, Clarence Jewett, Marian Krieger, Wayne Randall, Marylyn Snyder, Richard Swisher, Helen Toy, Marjorie Warner, Herbert Weisenberger and Avonles Woods. Those in the honorable mention class are Phyllis Ball, Robert Burns, James Lamb, Ella Sue Osborne, Margaret Phillippi and Jesse Porter. First in history: total score 5th, Robert Thompson. 5th in history, total score 23rd, David Warner. Rome School history 3rd; English, 5th; arithmetic, 3rd. Total score, 9th in 8th grade examinations. Next year will be the 15th year for the principal, J. A. Groves.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Barnecut, Maple-dr, entertained her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wells, Friday night. The Wells' have spent the past winter in Hot Springs, Ark., and were on their way home to Gallipolis.

The members on the committee to plan the last meeting of the Rome Study Club were Mrs. Sue Calland, Mrs. Clarice Schroeder, Mrs. Helen Garnett and Mary Patterson. As the May meeting is usually a trip and luncheon out of town, there were 31 ladies who went to Newark and enjoyed the tour through the Heissy Glass Works. Mrs. Leslie Lewis, one of the founders of the club, and Mrs. Al Filicti, one of the past presidents, were guests. Those in the party were Mrs. Emma Bradley, Mrs. Monford Smith, Mrs. Jack Elliott, Mrs. Evelyn Warner, Mrs Clements, Mrs. Rismiller, Mrs. Elwood Rose, Mrs. Calland, Mrs Brooks, Mrs. Breckenridge, Mrs. Whalen, Mrs Russell, Mrs. Riebel, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Caris, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Stormont, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Schiederer, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Sheets, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Butin and Mrs. Armstrong. The program committee for the next year is Mrs. Whalen, chairman, Mrs. Bateman, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Schiederer and Mrs. Elwood Rose.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Garnett, 5345 W. Broad-st, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jo Ann, who is a Hilliards graduate in this year's class, to Virgil Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Galloway. He is a graduate of Grove City High School and is now located in Dayton with the General Electric Co.

The Junior Class of Hilliards High School had a picnic May 15, at Shelter House No. 3, along the river. Those present from Rome were Robert Edwards and his guest, Bill Murphy; Tom Lamb and Violet Salzgaber; Phyllis Armstrong and Bob Wilder; Ted Salzbury and his guest, Roberta Harrison, Dorothy Taylor and her guest, Bob Burnet, of West High; Anna McDaniel and Carl Shambaugh; Eileen Schweinsberger and Donald Upperman; Shirley and her guest, John Phillips; Red Sheets and Homer Busic and Carl Kemper and Herbert Leach. After a delicious picnic supper, softball and other games were enjoyed. Mrs. Mackey and Mrs. Smith, home room junior teachers, were present, and Mrs. Sheman also accompanied the young folks.

Dr. and Mrs. Nelson Wright of Pekin, Ill., and son, "Pete", were overnight guests at the Henry Warner home last week. They were on their way to Kenyon College to make arrangements for their son to enter that school. Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Warner were college classmates.

New Testament Offers Key to Spiritual Growth

A READER has asked me to write something about spiritual growth, or Christian growth.

What can we do better than to turn to the great textbook of the Christian life, the New Testament, and see what it says?

There are many passages that bear upon growth and progress in the Christian life, but three, I think, are outstanding. The Apostle Peter in his Second Epistle, 3:18, exhorts the Christian converts to "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ," and he had already urged them in his First Epistle, 2:2, "as newborn babes" to "desire the sincere milk of the word," that they might grow thereby.

The Apostle Paul, in Philippians 1:9, makes the prayer for the disciples that their love might "abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment."

Both Peter and Paul wrote for ordinary Christians in early Christian churches, so that growth in the Christian life is not a privilege of the few, or of the particularly saintly. It is the privilege of all who profess and seek the Christian way.

With this in mind I turn to the third outstanding passage, the words of Jesus Himself, in John 15, where we have recorded the address to the disciples on the vine and the branches. "I am the vine, ye are the branches." This sets down the condition and law of growth and fruitfulness.

That passage in Peter about growth in grace is differently translated in the Authorized (King James') Version and in the American Revised Version, with a possible difference in meaning.

"Grace" is a word of rich and variously beautiful meanings. Predominantly it is used as favor and pardoning love of God, but it has the meanings also of charm and winsomeness, gladness, good will, and a thankful spirit. To grow in grace is to have one's character become ever stronger and more beautiful, enriched and enlarged into a closer image of Him, who in His earthly life manifested the fulness of the grace of God.

Operation Democracy Seeks To Establish Beachhead

Throughout the country numerous cities of America are today "adopting" cities and communities in war-torn Europe and sending direct aid to needy individuals therein. Such groups have found it to be much fun and the enjoyment has been greatly magnified upon receipt of thanks from those receiving the aid.

A local group of women have asked that we try to determine if there are many people on the Hilltop who would like to sponsor such a program for our community. Full details of the plan can be obtained by calling Mrs. J. G. Bowser at Ra. 2155. If you would like to see the Hilltop take a step toward some such direct aid to the needy of Europe why not call Mrs. Bowser and advise of your interest.

City Needs Improved Business Methods

When you are being solicited by a city fireman or policeman for your support for the city income tax on June 8 why not get on the band wagon to get the city out of the red but go even further and make a determined stand that the city change its way of doing business.

As the city income mounts higher and higher and as the city services increase in numbers no changes are being made in the expenditure of city finances for better legislative and administrative heads.

Members of city council receive a measly $1000 per year for the job of attending to the city legislative needs. The mayor, head man in this tremendously large business, receives $6500, less than private business firms pay to men with much less responsibility.

It is time that these and other city salaries are adjusted upwards so that there will be the proper inducement for a man to give faithfully of his time to the city's business.

For hundreds of Hilltop youngsters and adults alike summer will be here (unofficially) on Saturday of this week. That is the date of the opening of the Hilltop Swimming Pool on Valleyview-dr, just east of Hague-av.

Robert (Bob) Case, operator of the popular center, said that all preliminary work would be completed in time for the opening Saturday morning.

Playground To Be Built, Barack Says

The temporary delay in starting work on installing playground equipment on the city-owned Columbian-av tract will not interfere with the plan of the City Recreation Department, N. J. Barack, recreation director, told The Hilltop Record this week.

"We are definitely committed to a playground there this summer," Barack said.

Meanwhile Mrs. Harold Beard, 635 Woodbury-av, president of the West Mound Street School PTA, said that members of that group had voted Wednesday morning to back the playground project.

"We are not going to stand by and have two families block the needed playground installation," she said.

The controversy arose when two residents of the Columbian-av side stopped workmen from [illegible] because it was "too near Columbian-av." The complaint was taken up with Barack who in turn took the men off the job.

The recreation director said he was following the general plan of functional use of the tract of land as proposed in the Batchelor Report, now being used as a guide for recreation expansion and improvement. He explained that the children's play area could be set up in a day and a half. All of the equipment is on hand and a minimum of grading will be needed to install it, he said.

The plan also calls for creation of a softball diamond for use this summer and a second diamond to be added next summer.

Mrs. Beard also told the Record that the West Mound Elementary Improvement Committee had been set up to work on problems relative to the school. At present the group is seeking a traffic light on W. Mound-st at the school and the building of sidewalks so that children are not forced to walk in the street going to and from school.

She pointed out that approximately 40 kindergarten children are scheduled to enter the school next fall and that it is essential that some protection be given to these small children.

Early Copy Requested

The Memorial Day double holiday this week end will not affect next week's publication date of The Hilltop Record but rigid adherance to copy deadlines will be necessary in order to get out the paper on time.

Along with most other Hilltop business firms, The Record will be closed all day on Monday in observance of Memorial Day. Stores will remain open the Wednesday afternoon following the holiday. The Record will be published as usual on Thursday morning.

Pastors of local churches are asked to send in notices early (preferably on Saturday) although they will still be accepted up until 10 a. m. on Tuesday. It will also help considerably to have social and other news items early next week. Classified ads will be taken until 9 a. m. on Wednesday.

Kiwanians Have Outdoors Breakfast Here This Morning

Members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club will arise especially early this morning to attend the annual outdoors breakfast being held at Shelter House No. 2.

Members of the house committee headed by William Ewald will be in charge of the breakfast. Other members are John Apel, Ira Claggett and Charles Reichelderfer. Curt Roberts, Lowell Shroyer and Loren (Bunny) Galloway will also assist in preparing the meal of bacon and eggs, coffee, donuts, etc.

Last Thursday's meeting was highlighted by the appearance of Governor Thomas J. Herbert, who spoke briefly on the theme, "I Am An American."

Governor Herbert pointed out that the United States is the youngest of the great nations and yet is oldest in continuous form of government.

"If we could only sell the rest of the world on the fact that the American way of life is better than the other forms of government being peddled about," he said.

He pointed to the importance of education as an instrument in accomplishing that desire.

Quite in keeping with the occasion, also, was the presentation of $300 scholarships to Barbara Clarkin and Jim Slager, two members of the 1948 graduating class. Miss Clarkin is a member of the June class, while Slager was a member of the January class. Both plan to attend Ohio State University.

June 2 has been set as baseball appreciation night, when members of the West High School team will be guests of the club. Morgan Murphy is heading the committee in charge of arrangements.

Floyd Stahl, baseball coach at Ohio State University, will be the speaker of the evening and Dale Rose, a member of the local Kiwanis Club and football coach at Capital University, will serve as toastmaster.

At a special board meeting following Thursday's luncheon, it was decided to sponsor 100 crippled children at the Shrine Night baseball game at Red Bird Stadium this week.

6 Traffic Lights In Use This Week

All six of the Hilltop's new traffic lights have been installed and are now in operation, it was learned Wednesday.

The erection of the five lights on W. Broad-st and one at Sullivant-av and Binns-blvd constitute the latest move by city traffic officials to slow down motorists on these thoroughfares. On Broad-st new lights are in operation at Southampton-av, Westgate-av, Warren-av, Burgess-av and Highland-av.

The Hilltop and West Side will have another representative on the newly formed Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission, Major James A. Rhodes promised this week. The new body is a consolidation of the former Columbus Traffic Commission and the Transportation Committee. It will have nine "citizen" members in addition to city officials who will be ex-officio members without vote. The five-man Traffic Commission will become members and four more "citizen" appointments will be made.

E. O. Melvin, 107 S. Warren-av, is a member of the former Traffic Commission.

Memorial Day Services Planned

Appraisals Made On Proposed Site For Fire House

Appraisals have been made and steps have been taken to acquire three lots at the northwest corner of Brinker and Sullivant-avs for the Hilltop's second fire house, expected to be built in the near future.

Baxter Evans of the city's legal department, said this week that purchase of the site had been approved by City Council several weeks ago. The lots are owned by two different owners, one of them out of town. This has somewhat delayed the negotiations, he said.

The location was about the fourth in a series of sites considered by city officials during the past year. It is said to have the approval of the fire department.

Hilltop "Y" Will Open Here Tues.

Extensive alterations and repairs are being made this week to the Hilltop Teen Canteen, 3585 W. Broad-st, in preparation for the opening of the newly organized Hilltop YMCA offices there next Tuesday.

Averille Thorn, executive secretary of the "Y", announced this week that the premises should be in readiness by that date. On Saturday about a dozen members of the West Hi-Y Club and friends of the youth center worked diligently to cut grass, clear up rubbish and otherwise tidy up the old Weber property that is to serve as temporary "Y" headquarters on the Hilltop.

A date will be announced next week for "open house" and celebration of the Teen Canteen's third anniversary.

Thorn also said that plans are being made for the organization of a softball program for boys 10 to 18 years of age for operation this summer in cooperation with Hilltop churches. All churches in the community are invited to take part in this program. A meeting to work out details of this program has been set for Wednesday evening, June 2, starting at 7:30 o'clock. All interested churches are asked to have an adult representative at this meeting to be held at the new "Y" headquarters.

Plans are also being discussed for organizing young people in the community who are interested in golf. The program as outlined thus far would provide for the teaching of beginners in this summer sport among both girls and boys of high school age. Those interested in this program are asked to contact Mr. Thorn.

Little Judy Wolfe Still Unconscious At Mt. Carmel

Yesterday marked the 28th day since little Judy Wolfe was struck by a car at the intersection of W. Broad-st and Sylvan-av. It was the 28th day of her life that has been a complete blank, for she has still not regained consciousness.

The Record's source of information last week, stating that she was expected home soon, was in error. At press time yesterday her mother, Mrs. William J. Wolfe, 336 N. Sylvan-av, said that they had no way of knowing when she would be well enough to be released from Mt. Carmel Hospital.

"We are more encouraged today over her physical condition," the mother stated.

The six-year-old child was struck while crossing W. Broad-st to board a bus to go to West Broad Street School on April 28. Seriously injured, she has remained in a coma since that time with the exception of momentary signs of regaining consciousness. One eye was severely lacerated and her right side is paralyzed.

To Dedicate Plaque At West Tomorrow

Hilltoppers will pause this week to pay fitting tribute to the soldiers of all wars.

Highlights of the observance locally will include

Two special assemblies tomorrow at West High School when a memorial plaque will be dedicated to the former students at West who gave their lives in World War II.

Decoration of graves and fitting services at Alton and Sunset Cemeteries by members of Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion.

The memory of former West students who died in uniform will be perpetuated by a bronze memorial plaque to be placed in the lobby of the school entrance. It is a gift of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert will speak at the first of two assemblies to be held at 8:45 a. m. The school band, chorus and two soloists will be heard in patriotic selections. Edgar Planck, a former president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, is in charge of a committee planning the presentation.

Colonel Taylor from Ft. Hayes will be the speaker at the Junior High assembly. Robert Horn will lead the "Pledge of Allegiance." Richard Borror will give the prayer while Bill McCrady and Dave Camp will play taps at the close of each service. Marilyn Ring and Richard Bowles will sing at both services.

Camp Chase, in keeping with a precedent set several years ago, will decorate the graves of all service men in Alton and Sunset Cemeteries on Saturday. Then on Sunday afternoon members will lead a caravan of cars from post headquarters, corner Burgess and W. Broad-st, to Alton Cemetery. The cars are scheduled to leave the Hilltop at 2:45 and arrive at 3 p. m.

Following services there, the group will visit Sunset Cemetery for similar services. Rev. C. F. Lutz, pastor of the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church will be the speaker.

In charge of the grave decoration are C. W. Wagner, William Booth, Edgar Planck and Larry Scales.

Local Legionnaires, will then join in the Memorial Day parade to be held on Monday forenoon. The parade will form at the corner of Sixth and Broad-sts at 8:45 a. m. and move west to the Broad-st bridge where Navy and Marine services will be held. Services will be held at Green Lawn Cemetery immediately following the parade.

Members of Westway Post No. 3441, VFW, will meet at the corner of Hague and Sullivant-aves Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Memorial Day services in local cemeteries. Members of the VFW post will also take part in the parade earlier that day.

Parents Of Students Who Lost Lives Are Invited

Parents and other relatives of Hilltop service men and women who lost their lives in World War II are especially invited to attend either of the two memorial services to be held in the West High School Auditorium Friday.

The first assembly will start at 8:45 a. m. The second will follow immediately upon its completion—about 9:30 to 9:40 a. m.

D-5 Permit Was Issued In March

The Hilltop Record was in error last week in stating that a D-5 liquor permit was pending for Helen and Clark Dildine's place of business at 207 N. Central-av.

That application was approved and the liquor permit has been in use since March 12, 1948, the owners state.

West Students Enthused Over 'GM Previews Of Progress' Assembly Showing What's New In Science Field

By Libby Downing

Who ever dreamed of a bunch of school kids being enthused over something educational? Well, it happened!

The action began Monday morning at West High School when Jack Briley, a General Motors representative, and his assistant, Malcolm Lowther, presented a lively skit on "GM Previews of Progress," which was really a glance into the future.

The assembly was repeated in the afternoon for the Junior High with Lowther as MC and Briley as assistant. The informal manner in which the skits were presented accounted for their popularity among the students. The assemblies were more like little radio programs than school work. The programs are being given throughout Columbus schools.

This is strictly confidential now, but interest in the show was so pronounced that some of the seniors cut an afternoon class in order to see the demonstration again. Out of the corner of my eye, I noticed the teachers enjoyed it, too.

As the curtain parted we saw a very presentable young man walking across the stage, followed by something which looked like a tail. "I want you to understand," he said, "this isn't part of my anatomy, but the microphone wire." On each of Lowther's lapels were flower-like structures, which were really minute mikes. Thus he could walk anywhere on the stage during the demonstration and still be plainly heard.

Set up on the stage were three tables and in front of these was a stand with a cold stove. (These cold stoves are hot stuff!) Between the cylindrical mechanism known as the stove and the specially grooved skillet which fits on top, Lowther placed a paper napkin and proceeded to fry an egg. The finished product was then shown to the eager audience, and later the napkin, still intact, was proudly displayed. This process is called "induction heating." (At the time, I understood all the ins-and-outs but if I would attempt to explain it to you now, we'd both get confused.)

On the first little table were two lights. The first was the same size as the light Edison invented, and gave off a dim glow. A fluorescent lamp nearby was then turned on, lighting almost the entire stage. The GM employee explained that regular light bulbs are 10% light and 90% heat. However, the fluorescent light is 37% light, accounting for the extra illumination.

"You know this fluorescent powder is great stuff," remarked the MC. "The other day some policemen put it all over some fire alarm boxes and then some nasty little culprits set off some false alarms. Well, a few days later the authorities called at a school and had each child hold his hand under an ultra-violet ray lamp, AND the guilty persons' hands glowed."

"Now then, let's have three

Fire Truck Stalls On Way To Fire

The need for additional fire-fighting equipment for the city and the importance of the passage on June 8 of the city payroll tax were brought home to the Hilltop last week in a graphic way.

A grass fire was reported just west of the city in the vicinity of Florence-av. Engine House No. 17, corner of Highland-av and W. Broad-st, was dispatched to answer the call. At that particular time the new pumper truck was in the shop for emergency repairs, so "Old 37", an old piece of equipment on auxiliary duty, was sent.

Just a few feet from the engine house, "Old 37" stalled. Several minutes delay was necessitated to get it going and on its way to the fire.

Lighted Westgate Tennis Courts Are Ready; Westgate Club Is Organized

Through the efforts of the City Recreation Department the Westgate tennis courts are open for play now — in fact, the courts have been open for about two weeks, the earliest date in a number of years. Lighting equipment has been erected this year by the city so that tennis may be played after dark. It is believed that the courts will remain open for use until 10 p. m. on nights that weather conditions will permit play.

The Westgate Tennis Club, composed of tennis enthusiasts who use the facilities at Westgate Park regularly, held a reorganization meeting Wednesday night, May 19, in the club room of the Hilltop Sporting Goods. This is the third year for the club. With the addition of lights to permit night play and the conditioning of all six of the tennis courts, it is believed that the club will attract additional members.

Last year's membership totaled 20, both men and women. The club hopes to increase the membership this year to about 25. Dues are $10.00 per person or $15.00 for a man and wife. Payment of this fee permits members to play on the Westgate courts throughout the season free of the hourly rate charge. Preference will be given to club members but members are also subject to the rules of the recreation department regulating the use of the courts and equipment.

The Westgate Tennis Club plans to participate again in the Franklin County Tennis League organized last season. A schedule is now in the process of preparation by a committee of the Central Ohio Tennis Association. Efforts will be made to promote a tennis ladder in the various classes, in addition to the league matches, the Westgate group plans to sponsor informal tournaments among club members frequently during the season, in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

The officers of the Westgate Tennis Club for the current season are Bill Sherker, president; Francis Harvey, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Slager, assistant treasurer. The tennis courts at Westgate Park will again be supervised by Forman Slager and sons, Dick and Jim.

culp—, students come up on stage," he said.

Solves Mystery

Three students, two girls and a fellow, were chosen. While Lowther turned his back, one of the trio was to take an appointed dollar bill and hide it in his pocket. Each of the three was then told to hold his hands before the ultra violet lamp on the middle table, and—you guessed it—the bill had been sprinkled with fluorescent powder and the boy had to relinquish the cash.

A thousand-watt bulb was turned on facing the group for a few seconds. The heat could be felt as far back as the last row of the auditorium, and the brilliance left spots before our eyes for a little while. This bulb, which was one-fifth as bright as the sun, had an adjoining attachment which kept cool water running over the parts to keep it from exploding.

"Jet propulsion, which we consider as comparatively new," said Lowther, "is really 2100 years old. "It's nothing more than action-reaction."

To illustrate, he blew up a toy balloon and then let it go. The air rushing from the toy was the action, the force which pushed the balloon from its starting point, was the reaction. That's the way jet works. Its power is not called horse-power, but thrust-power.

Briley and Lowther then hitched up a small jet job of four pound thrust-power. The little plane if let loose would have traveled 200 miles an hour. After fastening it securely to a table the man explained that the noise we would hear would be 1000 to 2000 times greater if a real jet airplane were to take off. When the contraption went off the sound was simply deafening. This machine, too, was only operated for a brief time.

"The General Motors Company will feel that the cost of presenting these programs is fully covered if they can find ONE person who is interested in devoting his life to science," Lowther concluded.

IN CHARGE OF MAY DAY—These three ladies have charge of May Day festivities at St. Aloysius School yesterday and today. They are (left to right) Mrs. Marie Ferguson, 2472 Westwood-dr. co-chairman; Mrs. Marie Balthaser, 461 S. Terrace-av, chairman, and Mrs. Louise Schwendenman, 380 S. Eureka-av, treasurer. Yesterday's program was planned for the children themselves. This afternoon there will be a dessert luncheon and card party for the mothers. The affair is sponsored by the Mothers' Club.

Just as it did on the other side, Just as it will for evermore.

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Marilyn Miller O'Donnell, who passed away three years ago, May 30, 1945.

Sadly missed by parents, brothers and aunt.

IN MEMORIAM

THE ROSE STILL GROWS BEYOND THE WALL

Near shady wall a rose once grew,
Budded and blossomed in God's free light.
Watered and fed by morning dew,
Shedding its sweetness day and night.
As it grew and blossomed fair and tall
Slowly rising to loftier height,
It came to a crevice in the wall,
Thru' which there shone a beam of light.
Onward it crept with added strength,
With never a thought of fear or pride,
It followed the light thru' the crevice's length
And unfolded itself on the other side.
The light, the dew, the broadening view
Were found the same as they were before,
And it lost itself in beauties new,
Breathing its fragrance more and more.
Shall claim of death cause us to grieve,
And make our courage faint or fail?
Nay! Let us faith and hope receive;
The rose still grows beyond the wall.
Scattering fragrance far and wide,
Just as it did in days of yore

Westgate To Conduct Laundry School

A Bendix automatic home laundry school will be conducted by Cornell Federer, factory-trained in modern laundry practices, at the Westgate Electric Company, 2855 W. Broad-st, Wednesday, June 2 at 2 p. m. This school will inform the Hilltop women of laundering procedures with the Bendix products. Don Rice, store manager, announced that refreshments will be served and door prizes will be given away.

Miss Federer

Miss Federer will discuss soaps and detergents, conditioning water for home laundering, new fabrics and how to wash them, various types of boils and stains, and related topics. She will demonstrate modern home laundering practices with the Bendix automatic washer, dryer and ironer.

Well qualified to conduct the school, Miss Federer is specially trained by the Bendix Home Laundry Institute at South Bend, Ind. She is the home service director for Thompson & Hamilton, Inc., distributor of Bendix home appliances. Also, she is a pioneer in automatic laundering, and has been demonstrating Bendix automatic laundry equipment for the past 10 years.

At the close of her talk, Miss Federer will answer questions on home laundry problems.

The man who engages in cut-throat competition sooner or later feels the effect around his own neck.

Trading on the Hilltop is common sense; merchants and customers should keep this thought always in mind.

2 More Chances To See Birds Here

Two more home appearances of the Columbus Red Birds are still available before they take to the road for the second trip away.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Flock takes on Minneapolis. A sellout crowd is expected this evening—the 10th annual Shrine Night. The home team will not be back at Red Bird Stadium until June 17.

Cowboys Take 7-2 Win From Chillicothe; To Meet East High Tigers There Friday

The West Cowboys won a non-league tilt from the Chillicothe Monarchs, 7 to 2, Friday afternoon on the West diamond.

This game was the third time this year that these two nines had met. At Chillicothe, on April 10, the two schools split a twin bill. West took the opener, 10 to 4, and the Chillicothe lads won out in the nightcap, 4 to 3.

Phil Young, who started on the hill last Friday, pitched no-hit, no-run ball for five innings. Then, by agreement, Charlie Weeks took over the final two rounds and was socked for the two earned runs.

However, Chillicothe was never in the game. The City League leaders, by virtue of Central's loss to Linden last week, had a five-run spurge in the opening inning, the same as they did at South on May 2. From there on, the Cowboys just settled back and coasted to the victory. It was West's twelfth win, as against four losses and a tie.

Jack Pickens led off the inning by drawing a base on balls from starter Al Millet. Pickens moved to second when catcher Bob Overman made a wild throw to second in an attempt to get Pickens, stealing. Don Little then promptly put the locals ahead when he singled into right field. Don Little was safe at the plate, and Culbertson the same on his bounder to third. Dick Kirk walked and Al Andrews bounced one back to the pitcher, advancing the runners along. Dave Dupler was then hit on the side by a pitched ball and this loaded the bases. Pat Collins made the second out of the inning by going down on strikes, but second-baseman Don Skipper pounded one of Miller's offerings for a single to right, scoring Culbertson and Kirk. Phil Young, West starter on the mound, was the ninth man to bat in the inning, and he sent a high blooper over third baseman Ralph Ardledge's head, scoring Dupler, but Skipper was out trying to take third on the hit, Ardledge unassisted.

West Out In Front

The Cowboys went way out in front, 7-0, to be exact, in the fifth when they scored two more runs on as many hits.

Dick Kirk was on through second baseman Bobby Worf's error, and both Andrews and Bill Thrush, batting for Dupler, made outs. However, Johnny Cherup, pinch-hitting for Pat Collins, sent a single to center, sending Kirk to third. Dave Caton, another sophomore, batting for Don Skipper, walked; loading the sacks. Then big Charlie Weeks slammed a long drive between the center and right fielders for a double, and all three men on the bases apparently scored. However, an appeal play by Chillicothe proved that Caton had missed third. But this did not mean much at all, because the Cowboys were five-run victors.

The visitors tallied their only two runs in the sixth frame. Both Bob Overman and Ralph Ardledge singled and Caton's [illegible] on Bob Worf's grounder loaded the bases. A ringing one-baser to center by Jim Hockenberry plated the two runs.

West was scheduled to meet South at West on Tuesday. On Friday the locals travel to East High to meet the Tigers, the last time the Cowboys edged out a 2-1 nine inning victory.

Everything looked sad last Tuesday for the West baseballers as they lost to Aquinas to go into a tie with Central for first place. However, on Thursday, the Central Pirates went down in defeat to Linden, 9 to 2.

Chillicothe	000 002 0—2

Errors — Culbertson, Andrews, Dupler, Caton, Overman, Worf, Summers. Runs batted in—Hockenberry, 2; Little, Culbertson, 2; Kirk, Skipper, 2; Weeks, 2. Two base hit—Weeks.

Thom, McDonald Are Promoted Here By Volunteers Of America

Major Susan Thom, head of the local organization of Volunteers of America, and commander for the State of Ohio, has been made a lieutenant-colonel. Adjutant Harriet McDonald, second in command in Columbus, is now a lieutenant-major. The promotions for the two Columbus officers of the Volunteers of America were announced at the Grand Field Councils held at St. Paul, Minn., last week, by Central Area Commander Charles B. Booth.

Both Hilltoppers, Colonel Thom resides at 524 Townsend-av, and is the mother of two daughters, Mrs. H. M. McFarland of Geneva, Switzerland, and Mrs. Betty Fallon, at home; and Major McDonald lives at 2737 Steele-av.

Colonel Thom, who has been in charge of the Columbus Post since 1939, has been with the Volunteers of America for more than 20 years. At the death of her husband, the late William W. Thom, Mrs. Thom assumed charge of the local organization. Under her administration the Community Chest agency has grown to include transient relief, care of local homeless men, an eight-truck industrial department for salvage, an active youth work, and the recently-organized Sunset Clubs for shut-ins.

Major McDonald joined the Columbus Post in 1929 and has been an officer in the national Volunteers of America organization for 10 years. Major McDonald supervises the young people's work and the organization's prison case work.

Both Colonel Thom and Major McDonald have been active in Columbus civic affairs. The newly-made colonel is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, Partea, League of Women's Voters, Lions Club Auxiliary, and Federal Council of Churchwomen.

Active in the city's musical circles, Major McDonald is a member of Madame Blanche Mathena-Conley's Cathedral Choir.

Mrs. Gatteri, the former Lucy Kelso of the Hilltop, attended both Highland Avenue and West High Schools.

Her mother, Mrs. Harry Allen, 2277 Sullivant-av, is now in Michigan visiting the Gatteri family.

Hilltop Van 9 Wins 2 Gams

Hilltop Van & Storage softballers, getting 12 hits and batting .400 for the game, slugged out an 11 to 8 win over Mercuric-Deluce Produce in a Columbus Night League game at State Hospital Friday night. The attack was featured by a 7-run sixth inning with the big blow being Chuck Dillie's home run with the bases loaded. Dillie also doubled in two runs, making a total of six runs batted in for the evening.

Dick Smith was on base four times out of four trips to the plate and Bill Kearney had two for two scored three times. Ben Henry played a stellar defensive game at shortstop for the Hilltoppers.

Sunday afternoon at Westgate Park, Hilltop Van took the measure of S & W Plastics by the score of 6 to 2, with pitcher, Duffy Bolin, hitting a home-run.

The Hilltop Van team was scheduled to go against Williams-McNabb Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at King Avenue in a Columbus Independent League game. It takes on Whittaker Morticians Friday night at 8:30 in a Columbus Night League game at State Hospital. The Hilltop team will be idle next Sunday due to the Memorial Day holiday.

Hicks Wins 4th Place In State Meet

Walter Hicks, broad jumper and sprint man at West High School, was the only Cowboy to place in the Ohio High School track-field championships held at Ohio Stadium Saturday.

Walter's 21 foot, six inch, jump rated only fourth place among the state's finest broad jumpers. First place went to Gene Stevenson of Springfield who went two and three-eights inches over the 22-foot mark.

West Church Leagues To Be Idle Monday

Because of the Memorial Day holiday Monday, there will be no activity in either of the two West Church Softball Leagues.

The Monday layoff presents a rather unusual situation for on that date the first round of play is supposed to have been completed. Thus far only two of the five games have been played.

Monday night saw last year's champions, Westgate EUB, continue undefeated by downing Burgess EUB 7 to 3 in the No. 1 loop. Salvation Army and West Park still carry unblemished records in the No. 2 league.

Other games in the No. 1 league saw St. Aloysius take a close 2 to 1 decision from Glenwood Methodist while Hilltop Church of God was nosing out Hoge Memorial 5 to 4.

Avondale EUB dropped an 8 to 5 game to West Park; Chicago Avenue Church of Christ toppled Hillcrest Baptist, 13 to 6, and Salvation Army trounced St. John A. C. 12 to 2.

Standings of the two leagues after two games played are as follows:

League No. 1

	Won	Lost
Westgate	2	0
St. Aloysius	1	1
Glenwood	1	1
Hilltop C. of G.	1	1
Burgess EUB	1	1
Hoge Memorial	0	2
League No. 2
Salvation Army	2	0
West Park	2	0
Avondale EUB	1	1
Chicago C. of C.	1	1
St. John	0	2
Hillcrest	0	2

Agonis Honor Goes To James Slager

Added honors came to James (Jim) Slager when he attended the annual Agonis Club dinner at the Neil House Monday night.

Last Thursday the former West High quarterback was awarded a $300 college scholarship by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and was a guest of honor at the noon luncheon meeting.

Jim, who is 18, graduated from West in the January '48 class. He will enroll at Ohio State University next fall where he plans to study architectural engineering. His parents are Mr. and Mrs Forman Slager, 3122 Wicklow-rd.

The Agonis award goes to the outstanding athlete in each of the greater Columbus schools each year.

Mrs. Ray Cave, 2936 Olive-st, president of the Partea Club, presented dictionaries to the 15 young men honored. The Partea Club is made up of former presidents of parent-teacher groups of the city.

Vina Frankenberg Outstanding Teen Age Bowlers

Sunday was a big occasion for some 50 teen agers as they were honored by Paul Leighninger of Seiler's Department Store for their fine showing in the two teen age bowling leagues. The party was held at the Riverview Alleys with prizes, fun and refreshments for all.

Ardle

The biggest event of the day was the selection of the girl and boy who were considered the outstanding bowlers of the year. The selection was made on the basis of sportsmanship as well as their bowling ability. Barbara Vina and Willie Frankenberg were chosen by the groups and were presented with trophies with their names inscribed on them. Congratulations, Barbara and Willie.

Medals were presented to the two teams winning their respective leagues. For the boys it was the Curlee team, repeating from last year, captained by Eddie Harold, and for the girls it was Martha Maid, captained by Barbara Vina. A ring was given to Bob Horch, by the American Junior Bowling for his 289 game. This game was the highest one bowled by a teen ager in the country. I was presented a Rainfair raincoat for my season high of 611.

A mixed doubles tournament was held between the 15 girls present and the 15 lowest averagers of the boys. Bing Reeves and Diana Smith were the winners. Bing received a McGregor jacket and Diana Smith a dress. For the remaining 15 boys a head pin tournament was staged with Eddie Harold walking off with the top prizes for his 107-288 score. He was presented a McGregor jacket and also a key chain for being the top averager in the boys' league. Other prizes were awarded to Barbara Stewart and Dick Swisher for second place in the doubles; Martha Smith and Carl Shade, third place; Julia Ammon and Al Shade, ninth, and Brucilla Smith and Chuck O'Connor, fifth place in the doubles. Gene Urban received a Tom Sawyer shirt for second place in the headpin and Gene Harold a T-shirt for third place in the same event.

All the boys not winning a prize were presented with key chains from the Hickok Company.

Maybe
It's Just Because

Maybe it's just because
We kinda like to brag—
Maybe we're just prejudiced
Because our springs don't sag.

Maybe we've been lucky
'Cause our covers stand up longer—
Maybe it's coincidence
Our hardwood frames are stronger.

Maybe it's the lights we burn
That make our suites look brighter—
Maybe imagination
Makes our styles look ritzier.

'Cause our suites have just everything
And some a little more.
So come and take a gander
At the styles upon our floor.

Support the Columbus Income Tax Ordinance

The time has come for citizens of Columbus to once again pass judgement on a tax levy essential to the continuance of good government and to provide minimum public services. On June 8 Columbusites will vote on the one-half of one percent tax levied on personal and corporate incomes since Jan. 1, 1948.

In many respects this is the most equitable source of revenue to be put into effect in the city. Real estate owners are by and large in favor of it because for the first time they feel that they are not being penalized for owning real estate. For years real estate has borne the brunt of the tax load since it was the easiest way to pick up added tax dollars. Many renters gladly placed their stamp of approval of any new tax on real estate because they realized that while they would eventually pay part of the freight, frozen rents left the landlord holding the bag in many instances.

The tax has another strong point in its favor. For the first time residents of adjacent municipalities and local subdivisions will be paying a fair share for the many services that have been provided them by the City of Columbus in a rapidly-growing center.

While we all hate to pay more taxes, it's time we woke up to the fact that if a city of this size expects to render services in keeping with the population of Greater Columbus, we must pay for said services. The Fire Department, Police Department, Health Department, in fact almost every phase of city government has outgrown its budget in recent years. We can't afford to continue to let them go undermanned.

In the field of fire protection alone every property owner should know that unless the Columbus Fire Department is built up to strength and adequately equipped, a reclassification of fire rates for the entire city will surely follow. The decrease in fire insurance rates will go far toward offsetting the amount of the tax the wage earner in that family will pay via the income tax route.

We believe the City Council missed a good bet in not bringing about some reforms in its methods of handling city finances at the time the tax was invoked last January. However, it is not too late for an interested citizenry to insist that the needed changes be made. The city's financial structure is too complicaed for anyone but competent persons to analyze. Citizens' Research, a non-partisan fact-finding body, has urged that certain reforms are needed in the method of handling the city's finances to keep pace with its rapidly expanding budget. We should see that something is done in this direction.

However, this point need not stand in our way at this time. We can still bring about these reforms if we are interested enough to see it through. The thing to be done now is to go to the polls on June 8 and vote FOR the city income tax measure.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Highland Avenue Parent-Teachers' Association would like to thank you for your cooperation in helping us to get the traffic light at Highland-av and W. Broad-st.

We are sure that you will see in the future how much it will help the small children of our school, and how grateful the parents are for this light.

Thanking you again, we remain,

Highland Avenue PTA
Mrs. Edward Thompson,
Corresponding Secretary.

Editor, Hilltop Record:

With thousands of requests for assistance in paying a last tribute to our returned honored dead, pouring into every post of the organized veterans all over the land, we feel that this Memorial Day will bring a new meaning of the true purpose of this day to many homes of the nation, homes that have never before been touched by war.

To the majority of us, Memorial Day was just another legal holiday, one in which we sought our own personal pleasures, giving no thought to the thousands who have died that we may live in a nation free from the dictators of earth.

Your local newspapers will carry a list of the many services being held on Memorial Day, by the organized veterans of this county and city and we urge each of you to scan that list with the thought in mind that you will join the veterans of your own community at these services.

Your Hilltop post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will meet at Hague and Sullivant-avs at 2 p. m., Monday, May 31. We extend a cordial invitation to all citizens of the Hilltop and city, to join us in paying a fitting tribute to the war dead of our community.

The joint memorial committee of veteran organizations has assigned the various cemeteries to each post of the county and a parade will be held in the morning of Monday, May 31, forming at Memorial Hall at 8:30. We urge every veteran to join us. (You do not have to belong to any veteran organization. It was your comrade who died, just as he was the comrade of the organized veterans, so we urge each of you to join in a fitting tribute to the memory of our fallen comrades of all wars.)

The county commissioners of Franklin County have just purchased a tract of land, of approximately 3300-grave capacity, at Greenlawn Cemetery, this to be used "exclusively" for the veterans of Franklin County.

An elaborate ceremony is being planned, at the dedication of this hallowed spot, by a joint committee of all veteran organizations.

Our thanks go to our commissioners, so ably assisted by Dr. Brehm, Harry Goldberg and secretary George M. Ward, for this is a step forward in securing for our county a final resting place for the fallen comrades of this county.

Unlegal Tender

Since I first came to The Hilltop Record in 1936 I have seen almost everything from a calling card to a newspaper roll off the presses but this week we started a new racket.

We're printing money.

That's right. You'll soon be seeing it in large denominations and small at many places of business on the Hilltop. Now don't call the FBI or the Bureau of Internal Revenue for it's strictly legal—for the purpose for which it's intended, that is.

It's all a part of a big business promotion being sponsored by the 172 members of the Hilltop Business Association as an added attraction at the fifth annual Bean Dinner to be held at Westgate Park July 28. The money is script that will be given in full value for purchases you make at HBA member stores between now and that date. Approximately $1,000 worth of merchandise will be auctioned off at that time to the highest bidder—payment to be made in the script currency. You'll be hearing more about it from week to week.

Meanwhile Pressman Henry Jones is getting a little slap happy from seeing so much money piled up around his presses. Hank decided to get used to the new experience gradually so he started off with "dollar day." Nothing but dollar bills (scrip ones of course) were printed on the first run. Fives, ten spots, fifties and "C" notes are expected to follow.

Before he gets through, Hank will be feeling like a millionaire and well he might for the total press run will no doubt run well above that figure. Don't be surprised if you see him light his cigarettes with ten spots.

So for the next eight weeks you don't need to worry about wooden nickels on the Hilltop, but watch that you don't accept any payment in scrip.

Zipper by the Yard

If you need a zipper from here to yonder, just drop in at the Economy Variety Store. Jack Alkire was surprised to see "zipper by the yard" featured as an exclusive item by one downtown store.

"Why we've got encugh of the stuff to zip up your whole back yard," Jack explained.

You don't have to shop around for the exact length of zipper you need. Just measure how long you want your zipper and the clerk can supply it from a roll. You can buy anything from one inch up to 10 yards.

In The Line of Duty

Many and varied are the favors Charlie Maus, Record circulation manager, is known to have done for his customers in the past but this week he added a new wrinkle.

Calling at a local home a few days ago to collect the $1.50 renewal, Charlie was confronted with this proposal.

"Mind the baby for me a few minutes while I go out in the yard and take down the diapers and I'll renew my subscription."

Charlie came in with the buck-and-a-half.

Governor In The Kitchen

Ralph Schmelzer had an unexpected visitor in the kitchen of his restaurant at 3178 W. Broad-st last Thursday. Scheduled to appear at four different luncheons on the same day, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert made a brief talk before the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and then hustled for his auto to make the next appointment.

"What's the closest way to get to my auto parked in back?" the Governor asked Schmelzer as he was leaving the dining room.

"The only way to get to the back through the restaurant would be through the kitchen," the restaurateur replied. "I'll take you out through the front and around the side."

"Take me through the kitchen then," His Honor retorted.

So the Governor went through the kitchen.

Modern Poetry

By Esther Weakley

FOR AN UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Here lies . . . God knows how much of what is best:
The songs unsung, the poems none may write;
The cities all unbuilt, the burned-out core
Of dreams no man may estimate how bright!
Here lies . . . four years of science; twenty-three
Wind-riffled pages in the book of life;
Laughter, and courage driven like a flame
Before dark winds in shadowy worlds of strife.

Here lies . . . what does it matter if the name
Be strange to utter, or a name you knew?
The place and date? Sufficient that he died.
The words spelled out above him are so few
Too few to tell how, with his flesh there lies
Entombed from sight in this forgotten place.
With all achievements he had hopped to win,
The bitter pride and folly of his race.

RING THE BELLS SOFTLY

Ring the bells softly on this sacred day,
Muffle the beat of the drum,
Scatter bright flowers while soft breezes play,
For maybe today they will come . . .
Column on column perhaps they will pass,
Ranks of the boys we once knew,
Making no shadow, no track in the grass,
But bearing the red, white and blue.
Scatter white flowers where their feet once trod,
Whisper a prayer as you go.
Now they are safe in the portals of God,
Ring the bells softly . . . and low.

The Fire Department, Police Department, Health Department, in fact almost every phase of city government has outgrown its budget in recent years. We can't afford to continue to let them go undermanned.

In the field of fire protection alone every property owner should know that unless the Columbus Fire Department is built up to strength and adequately equipped, a reclassification of fire rates for the entire city will surely follow. The decrease in fire insurance rates will go far toward offsetting the amount of the tax the wage earner in that family will pay via the income tax route.

We believe the City Council missed a good bet in not bringing about some reforms in its methods of handling city finances at the time the tax was invoked last January. However, it is not too late for an interested citizenry to insist that the needed changes be made. The city's financial structure is too complicaed for anyone but competent persons to analyze. Citizens' Research, a non-partisan fact-finding body, has urged that certain reforms are needed in the method of handling the city's finances to keep pace with its rapidly expanding budget. We should see that something is done in this direction.

However, this point need not stand in our way at this time. We can still bring about these reforms if we are interested enough to see it through. The thing to be done now is to go to the polls on June 8 and vote FOR the city income tax measure.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Highland Avenue Parent-Teachers' Association would like to thank you for your cooperation in helping us to get the traffic light at Highland-av and W. Broad-st.

We are sure that you will see in the future how much it will help the small children of our school, and how grateful the parents are for this light.

Thanking you again, we remain,

Highland Avenue PTA
Mrs. Edward Thompson,
Corresponding Secretary.

Editor, Hilltop Record:

With thousands of requests for assistance in paying a last tribute to our returned honored dead, pouring into every post of the organized veterans all over the land, we feel that this Memorial Day will bring a new meaning of the true purpose of this day to many homes of the nation, homes that have never before been touched by war.

To the majority of us, Memorial Day was just another legal holiday, one in which we sought our own personal pleasures, giving no thought to the thousands who have died that we may live in a nation free from the dictators of earth.

Your local newspapers will carry a list of the many services being held on Memorial Day, by the organized veterans of this county and city and we urge each of you to scan that list with the thought in mind that you will join the veterans of your own community at these services.

Your Hilltop post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will meet at Hague and Sullivant-avs at 2 p. m., Monday, May 31. We extend a cordial invitation to all citizens of the Hilltop and city, to join us in paying a fitting tribute to the war dead of our community.

The joint memorial committee of veteran organizations has assigned the various cemeteries to each post of the county and a parade will be held in the morning of Monday, May 31, forming at Memorial Hall at 8:30. We urge every veteran to join us. (You do not have to belong to any veteran organization. It was your comrade who died, just as he was the comrade of the organized veterans, so we urge each of you to join in a fitting tribute to the memory of our fallen comrades of all wars.)

The county commissioners of Franklin County have just purchased a tract of land, of approximately 3300-grave capacity, at Greenlawn Cemetery, this to be used "exclusively" for the veterans of Franklin County.

An elaborate ceremony is being planned, at the dedication of this hallowed spot, by a joint committee of all veteran organizations.

Our thanks go to our commissioners, so ably assisted by Dr. Brehm, Harry Goldberg and secretary George M. Ward, for this is a step forward in securing for our county a final resting place for the fallen comrades of this county.

Unlegal Tender

Since I first came to The Hilltop Record in 1936 I have seen almost everything from a calling card to a newspaper roll off the presses but this week we started a new racket.

We're printing money.

That's right. You'll soon be seeing it in large denominations and small at many places of business on the Hilltop. Now don't call the FBI or the Bureau of Internal Revenue for it's strictly legal—for the purpose for which it's intended, that is.

It's all a part of a big business promotion being sponsored by the 172 members of the Hilltop Business Association as an added attraction at the fifth annual Bean Dinner to be held at Westgate Park July 28. The money is script that will be given in full value for purchases you make at HBA member stores between now and that date. Approximately $1,000 worth of merchandise will be auctioned off at that time to the highest bidder—payment to be made in the script currency. You'll be hearing more about it from week to week.

Meanwhile Pressman Henry Jones is getting a little slap happy from seeing so much money piled up around his presses. Hank decided to get used to the new experience gradually so he started off with "dollar day." Nothing but dollar bills (scrip ones of course) were printed on the first run. Fives, ten spots, fifties and "C" notes are expected to follow.

Before he gets through, Hank will be feeling like a millionaire and well he might for the total press run will no doubt run well above that figure. Don't be surprised if you see him light his cigarettes with ten spots.

So for the next eight weeks you don't need to worry about wooden nickels on the Hilltop, but watch that you don't accept any payment in scrip.

Zipper by the Yard

If you need a zipper from here to yonder, just drop in at the Economy Variety Store. Jack Alkire was surprised to see "zipper by the yard" featured as an exclusive item by one downtown store.

"Why we've got encugh of the stuff to zip up your whole back yard," Jack explained.

You don't have to shop around for the exact length of zipper you need. Just measure how long you want your zipper and the clerk can supply it from a roll. You can buy anything from one inch up to 10 yards.

In The Line of Duty

Many and varied are the favors Charlie Maus, Record circulation manager is known to have done for his customers in the past but this week he added a new wrinkle.

Calling at a local home a few days ago to collect the $1.50 renewal, Charlie was confronted with this proposal.

"Mind the baby for me a few minutes while I go out in the yard and take down the diapers and I'll renew my subscription."

Charlie came in with the buck-and-a-half.

Governor In The Kitchen

Ralph Schmelzer had an unexpected visitor in the kitchen of his restaurant at 3178 W. Broad-st last Thursday. Scheduled to appear at four different luncheons on the same day, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert made a brief talk before the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and then hustled for his auto to make the next appointment.

"What's the closest way to get to my auto parked in back?" the Governor asked Schmelzer as he was leaving the dining room.

"The only way to get to the back through the restaurant would be through the kitchen," the restaurateur replied. "I'll take you out through the front and around the side."

"Take me through the kitchen then." His Honor retorted.

So the Governor went through the kitchen.

Modern Poetry

By Esther Weakley

FOR AN UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Here lies . . . God knows how much of what is best:
The songs unsung, the poems none may write;
The cities all unbuilt, the burned-out core
Of dreams no man may estimate how bright!
Here lies . . . four years of science; twenty-three
Wind-riffled pages in the book of life;
Laughter, and courage driven like a flame
Before dark winds in shadowy worlds of strife.

Here lies . . . what does it matter if the name
Be strange to utter, or a name you knew?
The place and date? Sufficient that he died.
The words spelled out above him are so few . . .
Too few to tell how, with his flesh there lies
Entombed from sight in this forgotten place,
With all achievements he had hopped to win,
The bitter pride and folly of his race.

R. H. Grenville,

RING THE BELLS SOFTLY

Ring the bells softly on this sacred day,
Muffle the beat of the drum.
Scatter bright flowers while soft breezes play,
For maybe today they will come . . .
Column on column perhaps they will pass,
Ranks of the boys we once knew,
Making no shadow, no track in the grass,
But bearing the red, white and blue.
Scatter white flowers where their feet once trod,
Whisper a prayer as you go.
Now they are safe in the portals of God,
Ring the bells softly . . . and low.

IT'S BAD MEDICINE!

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Yes, we earnestly believe that the Columbus payroll tax is bad medicine for our people.

Just take a look for yourself:

*It allows no exemptions for dependent children, for large medical bills, for church and charitable contributions. It has none of the humane exemptions and deductions of a federal income tax law. That's not right!

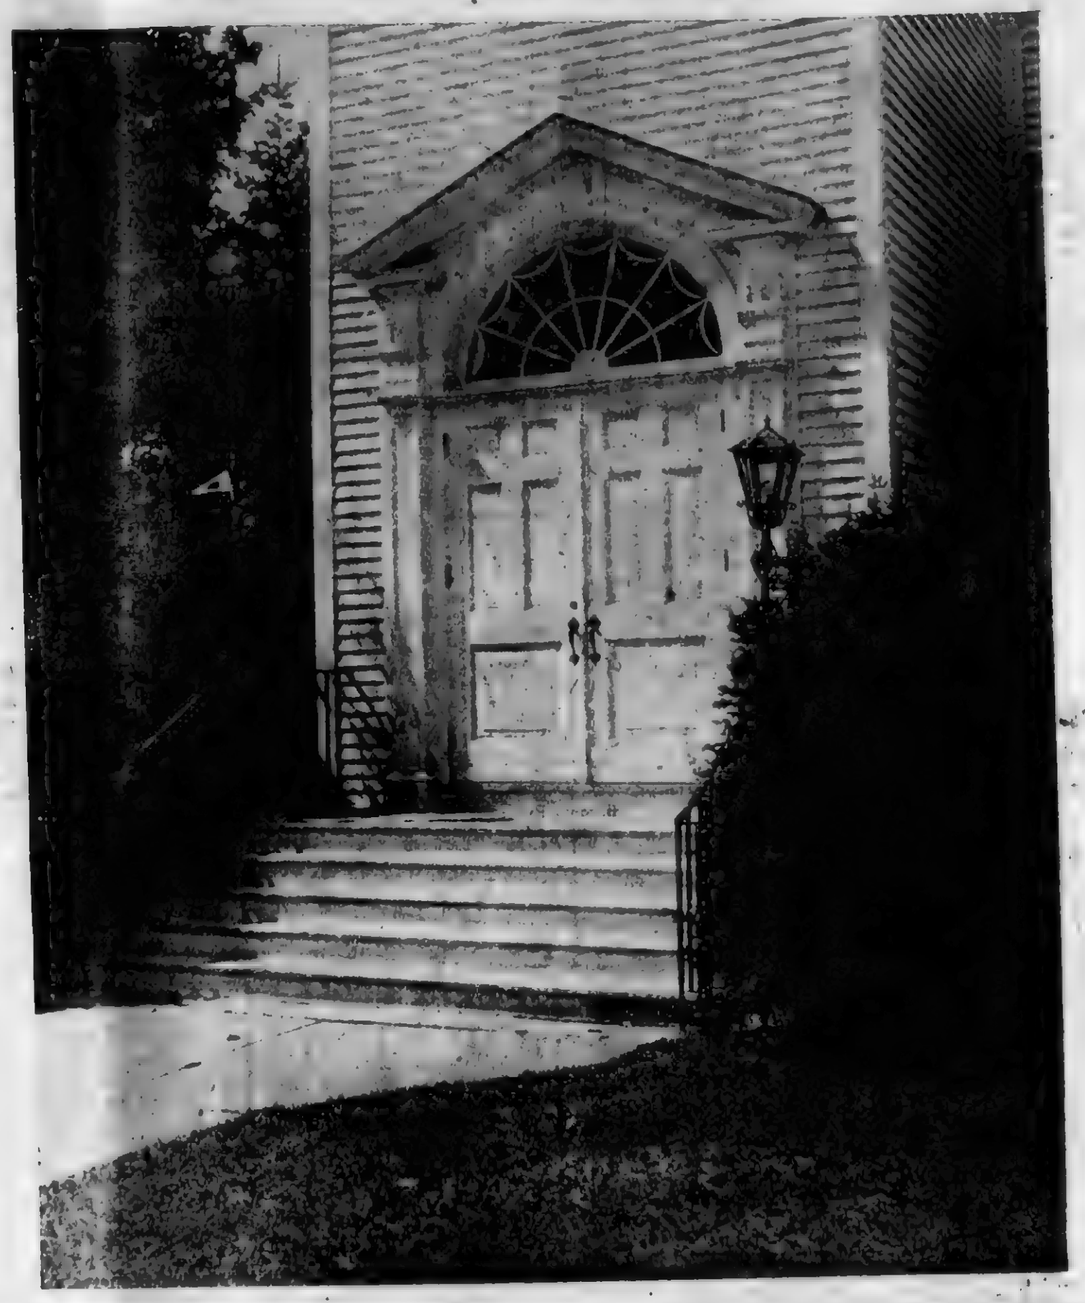
*The poor man making $35 per week pays exactly the same rate as the rich man with a thousand-dollar income per week. That's not fair!

*Coupon clippers—people who receive dividends from stocks and bonds—don't pay any tax on these dividends under the Columbus payroll tax. Why should $50,000 a year coupon clippers be given special preferential treatment? That's rank discrimination!

*Wage earners pay on GROSS earnings (without any deductions). Corporations pay on NET earnings (with many deductions). That's not equitable!

*Many of our Columbus families can't afford more taxes. With the cost of living at an all-time high, the Columbus payroll tax means another attack on their standard of living. They can't stand it! Let's not soak the little fellow!

Thanks for reading this short note from those who believe that the way to a bigger and better Columbus is not over the backs of the little folks.



Sincerely,

John Hayes, Secretary
Columbus Committee Against the Payroll Tax

Knock, And It Shall Be Opened

"Ask, and it shall be given; seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Here are the doors which open into a lovely and peaceful country church in the State of New York. Members of the church embrace the Congregational faith, but above all, they are followers of Christ.

The doors of the world's churches are literally open at all times. The closed door, however, suggests that before one can experience the power of Christian fellowship and the "peace that passeth understanding," he must be born again.

Such a person must seek the Kingdom of God and His righteousness. He must ask, that forgiveness and light may be given him. He must knock that the doors of Christ's love may swing outward.

In the peace of the spirit which comes within most men when they gather together in God's church, is a reassuring, satisfying sense of well being which makes a brighter day, a week more full of promise.

By seeking first God's Kingdom, you have His assurance that all of the things which bring out life's fullness shall be added unto you.

Prayer Is Greatest Source for Keeping One's Hold on God

"I HAVE lost my hold on God," said a woman recently, speaking out of a deep sense of frustration and sadness.

She was the victim of an incurable disease, not fatal, but subject to control and very strict regimen. In addition she was denied the outlet and means of relief that mean much to many sufferers. Her eyes were bad, and she could not read to any extent. She was shut out from the worlds of romance, adventure, and beauty through which most ill persons find relaxation and escape.

Everything combined to induce a condition of physical and nervous breakdown, in which her religion and faith in God, that should have been her stay and support, had become blacked out. And the consciousness of this seemed to be troubling her more than her physical disabilities. For she had lost the power and will to conquer with the loss of her sense of God.

Manifestly, her case called for something more than the skill of medical doctors.

One must meet such a situation as if it were his own, not minimizing in any way its depth of tragedy or attempting to make light of what is really dark and serious.

What, then, can one say and do? It is certain that if help is to come, it must be from those who have been in a similar situation but have not lost their faith. Help must come from those who, even under the deepest sufferings and trials, have given the richest and truest witness concerning the reality of God.

Who are these, and how did they conquer? First of all is the Master Himself. And prayer was His greatest resource and power. "In those days," we are told, "He went into the mountain, and continued all night in prayer to God."

And is there not inspiration and help in the lives of those who, following in the Master's footsteps through prayer and consecration, have similarly conquered in every situation? Read what Paul has said in the closing verses of Romans 8. Here is the greatest help that one can get.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Violet Sulzgaber, a junior at Hilliards High School, has been elected president of the Tri-Hi-Y for next year. This honor covers scholarship and leadership among her classmates. She will also represent this district as student guest for the week of June 25 to 30. All the representatives will live at the dormitory, expenses paid.

The eighth grade banquet for the graduates of Rome School was held in the dining room of the Columbia Heights Church. This annual affair is sponsored by the PTA and prepared by a committee of eighth grade mothers. The guests were the teachers of the school pupils, Miss Wilson, Mrs. David, Miss Weber, Mrs. Grooms, Mrs. Wilcox, Miss Ansel and Mr. Groove, who is the eighth grade teacher and principal. Robert Thompson, who was first in his class, gave the valedictory address; David Warner, who is second, also spoke; Stella Butcher and Prudence Woods gave piano solos and Arlene Engle gave a vocal number, "Just a Song at Twilight."

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Hegwood, 150 Lennox-av, announce the birth of a son. They have named him David Emmet.

To answer the question that has been asked many times, "When are we going to get our lights?", I have just contacted the proper authority and was told within 90 days.

George Fannen of Cincinnati, classmate of Gerald Ball at OSU, was supper guest at the Ball home, Evergreen Terrace, Wednesday night, after which they went to the Red Bird Stadium.

Clyde Wycker, Norton-rd, and Lee Allen Mitchell, W. Broad-st, were home for a few days from Otterbein College.

The annual school picnic was a big success this year. It was conducted on a different plan. Owing to the growth of the school the committee decided to have each room responsible for its picnic spread. Each child was sent home with slips for the menu, so every room would have the same. The room mothers were on hand to take charge. The Rome students in Hilliards High were guests. Mrs. Shaner was chairman of the picnic committee.

The 4-H Nimble Fingers Club held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Roe Moore, Norton-rd. The leader is Mrs. Wright, Alton. The meeting was in charge of Jackie Rhodes, vice-president. Projects were planned and it was decided to attend the 4-H meeting at Mifflin High School for the teachers and officers.

The Good Little Cooks 4-H Club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Rines. Mrs. Harry Fox and Mrs. Golden Yeater are the leaders. They have 10 members. When they attend the 4-H meeting at Mifflin High School, it will be a picnic spread. The next meeting will be at the home of Carol Clark, when each member is to bring something to eat.

A graduate on an ambulance cot is unusual, but such was the case for Mary Ann Geihl, Greiner-rd. At 4 o'clock Thursday morning, she was rushed to the hospital for an emergency operation. She asked to have it postponed as it was her exam day. The doctors said if they waited, the diploma would no doubt be useless to her. She got along just fine and received her diploma from the wing off the stage, from the school principal, Mr. Hartsok. She is none the worse for her trip, and had good reasons to be present as she was on the honor society and ranked sixth in her class.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Richey and family spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sessler of London.

D. C. Warner, Pasadena-av, accompanied an old friend, Mr. Hughes, to Pecos Springs, Colo., which is about 1644 miles from here. While there he thought he would go on to Burbank, Calif., and visit his brother and then accompany them back to Ohio. They are now staying with one of their daughter's family, while this daughter flies to South America to stay with a sister who is sick.

Dr. and Mrs. Knisely were Sunday night visitors of R. G. Barnecut and family, Maple-dr.

Children are being enrolled in the summer Sunday School at Columbia Heights Church, starting June 7.

Mrs. Elwood Rose, Smith-rd, is visiting her mother in Gunnison, Colo., while the parsonage for the Columbia Heights Church is being built.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kackley (Mr. Coulter's sister) visited Sunday afternoon with the Coulters.

Ruth Degen, Pittsburgh, Pa., has returned to her home after a week's visit with the Coulters.

World Citizenship Project

Mr. Wiseman's 8A civics classes have been having a very interesting time recently. They have been writing letters to other countries, and have received many interesting letters from Canada, Sweden, Scotland, England, Ireland, South Africa, and France.

Here is the one received by Beverly Kindall.

Dear Beverly,

Your letter reached the Cape Education Department on 3rd of April where my daddy works so he brought the letter to me.

I am 13 years old, nearly 14. We live very near the high school where I am at school. Bellville is 12 miles along the Great North Road from Cape Town. Huge buses run from Bellville to Cape Town.

I have a little brother 5 years old. I have pen friends in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, England and you. I have written to American States for more such friends. I am interested in music, geography, movies, history and stamp collecting. I will get some names of children in my class and send it to you the next time I write. We studied of N. America and the U.S.A., so the children in my class will be interested in having pen friends there. Thank you for your photo. I will send you one of myself next time I write, as I have not got one at the moment. Write soon again.

Your sincere pen friend
Marie Steenkamp

The purpose of these letters is to get children in all countries better acquainted.
